SHE LOST ALL.

Miss Jane Armstrong, of New York City, flitted with Fictile Fortune at Monte Carlo and Lost Her All—LIFE Without Money was Useless, So She Killed Herself.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Particulars have been received of the suicide of Miss Jane Armstrong, of New York, after she lost a fortune at Monte Carlo. Miss Armstrong was an orphan 26 years old. She sailed from New York early in August, and after having visited friends in Lyons, proceeded to Ventimilla, about twenty miles from Nice.

From here she first went to the casino at Monte Carlo on September 3. She played insensibly the first day and won 1,000 francs on the "twenty-four." She was so possessed of the desire to try her luck again that she slipped with the twenty-four over night at a hotel near that which she might begin playing soon as possible on the following day.

As on the first day the "twenty-four" had won six times in succession, Miss Armstrong continued to play it and lost heavily. She remained at the table from midday to midnight, and quit it $200,000 loser. On the third day she recovered what she had lost, and left the casino saying that she was ill and would never play the game again. She returned, however, and began betting again with the twenty-four over night, steadily, her fortune of $250,000 soon being gone. As the croupier took in her last coin she rose and left the casino.

To an acquaintance who met her at the casino she remarked her paleness, she said she had lost all, and was going to friends in Trieste who would see that she got back to the United States. She did not go to Trieste, but shot herself in a room in a villa at Ventimilla.

The usual effort was made at Monte Carlo to suppress the news and the report was sent out that the Miss Armstrong who had killed herself was an elderly lady who had left Monte Carlo for Trieste some days before and committed suicide there. Two men, said to be Englishmen, who had lost all their money at the casino, sprang into the sea on the night of Miss Armstrong's suicide.

THE DALTON GANG ARRESTED. Five of the Fugitives Taken in by Deputy Marshal Sam Williams.

PARIS, Tex., Sept. 15.—The Dalton gang was arrested Tuesday. The arrest was made by Sam Williams, deputy marshal, who identified Marshall Dickerson here by wire Tuesday night. The arrest includes Bob, Amy and Grant Dalton, Three-Fingered Jack and Sam Williams. There are three still at large whom Williams thinks he will get shortly. The crime for which Williams has been after them was the robbery of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas express at Adair, I. T., June 4, when the officers guarding the train fought the robbers, but were beaten off. The express and railway companies have offered $5,000 for each of them and the state of California has $1,000 reward outstanding. Williams has trailed the robbers alone for about five weeks.

FORREST'S VICTIM DEAD. And the Author of His Taking Off in Danger of Lynching.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 15.—Lee Duke, the young man who was shot Tuesday by George Forrest, nephew of the late Gen. Forrest, died from his wounds yesterday. The tragedy has caused great excitement in this city and open threats of lynching the murderer are being made. Duke was prominent in social and business circles and had a large circle of friends. The recent miscarriage of justice in the case of Col. Henry Clay King, the murderer of David H. Poston, is being used as a pretext by Duke's friends to justify taking the law into their hands. Sheriff McLenahan has placed a strong guard around the jail, and if a lynching is attempted the mob will meet strong resistance.

They agreed upon a duel with pistols. The encounter came off Tuesday night, each party having seconds to attend them. The German baron proved the better marksman, and the Spanish marquis received a bullet in the leg, which was considered sufficient to satisfy wounded honor. The baron was unhurt.

THE WAR OVER. The Trouble Between the Choctaw and the Creek.

MALESTER, I. T., Sept. 15.—The recent trouble between the Choctaw and the Creek is settled for the time being. Twelve of the Choctaws who did the killing have laid down their arms and surrendered themselves for trial. The other twelve will give them up today and the trial will be held at Wilberton, I. T., in November. The remaining armed men have agreed to lay down their arms. The governor has promised protection to the prisoners.

German Liners Returning from This Side with Light Loads.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The steamship companies are paying a heavy penalty for their carelessness with their steaming passengers, may be seen from the fact that the North German Lloyd steamship Spret left this port Tuesday for Bremen with only ten first cabin and twenty-five second cabin passengers. She carried no steerage passengers. The Hamburg-American steamer, the Birbeck Bank, left for Southampton without a single passenger, cabin or steerage, and also without a single ounce of freight.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The run on the Birbeck bank is subsiding. A few hundred of the poorer customers are still thronging the doors for their money, and the cashiers continue to pay out on demand. The large majority of depositors, however, have apparently made up their minds that the institution is sound and the prospects are that Saturday will see matters resuming their normal course, much to the relief of the stock market, which has been somewhat depressed by the large amount of consols sold by the Birbeck bank.

THE TRADE OUTLOOK.

Summary of the General Trade Situation Throughout the Country Shown by R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review—The Outlook for Fall Trade Good, but Speculative Operations Quiet—Money Generally in Ample Supply for Current Needs. Business Futures for the Week. Etc.

Cholera has landed, and the business of New York is at a standstill. It has not been so crowded with passengers and streets as badly blocked with carloads of merchandise as they were one week or one year ago, which means that the heaviest trade ever known at this season is now in progress. The same is true of other cities, almost without exception, and the outlook for fall trade at all points regarded as exceedingly good. But many people are afraid that all other people will be afraid, and consequently speculative markets decline. The selling of stocks has been quite heavy and the decline in prices has been about $2 per share for all the active list. Money is in ample supply and the demand from the interior is less than usual at this season, but large amounts are held out of the loan market by people who are looking for exceptional opportunities to buy cheaply. There is much talk about a boom, but it is an excess of low prices of broadstuffs and cotton. But the fact is that enormous stocks brought over from last year afford a sufficient reason for exceedingly low prices. Receipts of wheat at the principal western ports in four days of this week have been 5,316,882 bushels, while the Atlantic receipts have been only 1,005,435 bushels; and it is not strange that the price has declined three-quarters of a cent. It is the fact that western wheat has been in New York, excepting two days in 1894. Corn has declined three-quarters of a cent, but it is the fact that western wheat has been in New York, excepting two days in 1894. ANOTHER VOYAGE OF DEATH.

Arrival at New York of the Steamship Bohemia from Hamburg with a Record of Eleven Deaths En Route—Four Patients Removed to Swinburne Island—The Victims for the Most Part Children—The Last of the Expected Plague Ships.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Another plague ship in the port and another story of Bohemia from Hamburg with a record of eleven deaths en route—four patients removed to Swinburne Island—The victims for the most part children—The last of the expected plague ships.

Her coming had been dreaded as much as the coming of her sister ship and sister death-house—the Scandia. She left Hamburg at the time when the pest was at its worst, and her 681 steerage passengers, gathered from the infected regions of Germany and Russia, were confidently expected to bring the cholera to this country.

The Bohemia sailed from Hamburg on September 8, and was due Thursday morning. On Wednesday morning, 450 miles east of Sandy Hook she was passed by the Trave, which arrived Thursday morning. Knowing the anxiety with which the health officers were for her coming, she was reported from Fire Island, which she passed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, not from Sandy Hook, which she reached at 9 o'clock. Half an hour later she was added to the cholera fleet, which rides in the lower bay.

Capt. Schaefer was unwilling to say much about the deaths on board until he had made his report to the health officer, but he admitted the essential facts of the misfortunes that had befallen the company.

The Bohemia is of the unucky Hamburg-American line, and since the year 1901 in the service, and since the appearance of the fast express steamers, she has been devoted almost entirely to the immigrant business. She brings no cabin passengers.

THE Bohemia's Death List. QUARANTINE, Staten Island, Sept. 17.—Dr. Byron has visited the Bohemia. He reports that there were eleven deaths at sea on the steamer and that four cases have been removed to Swinburne Island. He reports that those who died on the steamer died of gastrointestinal trouble. The names of those who were removed to Swinburne island, are:

Max Feinold, aged 6 years. Chicago, Ill., aged 25 years. L. W. Hagedorn, aged 26 years. A small child from the steamer.

The Bohemia has on 638 steerage passengers, 10 cabin and 77 crew, all found well. The ship condition as to cleanliness is first-class.

The following is the death list of the Bohemia: Sarah Dieler, aged 25; September 6. P. W. Wess, aged 35 years; September 6. Jenkel Fawadnia, 1 year old; September 7. Marianne Bismark, 2 years old; September 7. Sebastian Friedman, 5 1/2 years old; September 7. Isabella Biss, 1 year old; September 8. Mosche Welsford, 8 years old; September 12. Selig Lipschitz, 1 year old; September 13. Tante Mandelbaum, 3 years old; September 15. Louis Mandelbaum, 1 year old; September 15. When Dr. Jenkins came from his private office with the telegraph report of Dr. Byron's visit to the Bohemia he said: "I am mighty glad that this is the last of the ships we expect serious trouble from."

An Important Conference. NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A conference of health officials with the mayor yesterday morning for preventing through immigrant travel from entering the city were discussed. It was decided that if the co-operation of the railroads can be secured, a distributing depot will be established on one of the belt lines, so that all immigrants not bound for Chicago can be carried around the city.

Sent to Willard Park Hospital. NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The four immigrant girls, who landed from the Friesland and who were supposed to have introduced the cholera into this city, have been sent to Willard Park hospital, where they will be detained until the disease is stamped out.

An Unfounded Report. MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 17.—Reports of yellow fever telegraphed from here are unfounded. The steamship New Orleans, which arrived at Mobile on September 16, had a case of cholera, but the vessel was ordered to Chandler's islands, before reaching quarantine. The islands are twenty-five miles below the city. The health of coast towns is excellent.

Opening of Camp Low Postponed. CAMP LOW, SANDY HOOK, N. J., Sept. 17.—The opening of Camp Low for the reception of passengers now quarantined on Hoffman island has been postponed. Dr. Hamilton says that he was forced to postpone the opening of the camp because the New Jersey authorities refused to allow the New Jersey Central railroad to run freight trains to the camp as they had promised to do. This will complete the arrangements for the transmission of supplies. The camp is all in readiness for business, and everything is on hand, with the exception of some supplies.

Examined and Found to be All Healthy. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 17.—Two hundred and forty-seven immigrants were held at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad quarantine station at Rankin yesterday, and were examined by Dr. Sands who pronounced all in healthy condition. Two hundred and twelve of the party were destined for Chicago; twenty-one for Cleveland and the remainder for local points. To-day the Pennsylvania railroad will establish an immigrant quarantine distributing station at Brinton, where this class of travelers will be examined and sent to destination.
