OF ALL KINDS AT THE REGISTER OFFICE

From Bellevue.

Ed. Register—The excessively hot weather has given place to the beautiful, blue, dreamy, Indian summer and soon Bellevue Valley will be decorated with that variety of light and shade of color which makes autumn.

The people in the valley who engaged in the soap business are all at home except Marion Newman. He is in Indiana, and from what we can learn is doing well.

Nearly all the public schools are in session in the valley, and all seem to be doing well. These exceptions are Thorn Grove and Hard Scabble, and these will begin next Monday, the former under the tutelage of Mr. Jesse Hawkins, and the latter under Mr. Philip Hartman.

The Bellevue Sunday Schools enjoyed a picnic last Saturday, at which free ice cream and lemonade and a bountiful dinner was served to the pupils.

Little James Arthur Simms, a four year old son of Louis Simms and wife, died of a congestive chill on the 20th ultimo, after a three days' illness. Little Jimmy was a very bright little boy, the pride of his father and mother and the joy of their home.

"Aunt" Polly McMurtry and Mrs. E. E. Black both died at their homes near Thomas Chapel, on Sunday night, August 26th. Mrs. McMurtry was 88 years old and Mrs. Black was 78. The former died at 8 p. m. and the latter at 1 a. m. of the same night; they were taken to the church arriving there at the same time, and after a brief funeral service, they were both lowered into the grave at the same time. A very large concourse of friends accompanied these two mothers in Israel to their final resting place, in the Thomas Chapel burying ground.

JANE BELL, nee Warner, lives with her son-in-law, D. Marion Newman, in Bellevue. She was October 6th, 1811, hence will be 85 years old on the 6th of October next. She was born and raised in Iron county, but lived twelve years near Caledonia. Mrs. Bell is the mother of thirteen children, eight of whom are still living. She attended the Sunday School picnic at Bellevue last Saturday, and seemed to enjoy herself. Mrs. Bell has been a member of the church over 35 years.

SALOMA MAXWELL, nee Bryan, lives with her stepson, Thomas Maxwell, near Belgrade, in Washington county. She was born in Salem, Washington county, Va., in February, 1815, hence will soon be 82 years old. Mrs. Maxwell was married at the age of 26 years and is the mother of one child. She was a member of the Presbyterian church over 60 years.

CHARLES BRYAN is 86 years old and lives with his son-in-law, Mr. Tonnison, near Belgrade. Mr. Bryan has lived for 75 years on the same place where he now resides. He remembers very distinctly when there were no roads in this country, and in killing deer a man could select the one he wanted from the droves which roamed the woods. Mr. Bryan is one of the smooth, even tempered men whose reminiscences of the early history of this country are very enjoyable.

CHARLES LOOMIS lives at Belgrade in Washington county. He was born at Andover, Mass., in 1811, hence is 85 years old. Mr. Loomis lived 40 years in New York, but the last 35 in Washington county, Mo. He was at one time somewhat famous as a musician and taught music many years. He still loves singing and, although not a professor of religion, he attends Sunday School to hear the children sing. Mr. Loomis is a remarkable man in the fact that although he is 85 years old, he has never had to call in a doctor, nor has he ever had a tooth pulled. He is hale and vigorous and bids fair to live to see the year 1900.

JANE SATTERFIELD was born in Washington county, Mo., in 1825, and has resided there most of her life. She is the mother of seven children, all of whom are still living. She has been a member of the old school Presbyterian church many years. She now resides with her son, Riley Satterfield, near the head of Zion's Creek in Iron county.

NANCY RAGSDALE lives with her son-in-law, Riley Vinyard, on Zion's Creek, in Washington county. She was born in Tennessee, 1824, and is the mother of 7 children. At the age of 71 she is quite vigorous and bids fair to reach her four score.

Sept. 1, 1896. A. S. COKER. Sovereign to the Tilters. General Master Workman Sovereign of the Knights of Labor places in striking antithesis the present political situation between the producers and non-producers when he says: "There is no middle ground on which labor and non-producing, speculating capitalists can ever meet in harmony and friendship. The one class is the mortal foe of the other. Since the dawn of civilization these two elements have maintained in one form or another one unbroken chain of hostility toward each other."

Mr. Sovereign's picture of the concentrated efforts the corporationists are making to force their employees to vote for McKinley is not overdrawn. On this point he says: "The money power, in its desperation to conquer the people, is now closely canvassing the employes of great corporations and an implied threat of discharge is imposed on employes if they dare support the free coinage of silver. They pay employes in silver and then tempt them with the ridiculous cry about 50-cent dollars, but they never pay off in gold, for they know there is not enough gold in the country to pay off the laboring people for a single month if they were all working at a dollar a day. It would require the entire gold production of this country for a space of more than ten years to pay off our 20,000,000 working people for a single month if they were all working at the present low wages."

The general master workman will lead 100 able speakers into the field among the workmen of the country and wage a forerun war against the forces of greed and gold. He adjures his fellow-laborers not to submit to the bulldozing and coercive threats of employers. "Submission to wrong that can not be righted," Mr. Sovereign declares, "is a virtue, but a submission to wrong that can be righted is a crime. The working-man who is willing to sell himself into slavery rather than suffer temporary inconveniences or incur the displeasure of this hybrid angel of gold and greed deserves to wear the yoke of bondage."—A. C. Times.

Fall Festivities at St. Louis.

The committee having in charge the St. Louis Fall Festivities, which have contributed so much to the pleasure of the good people of the Mississippi Valley, as well as those residing in adjacent States, again announces its programme covering the nineteenth annual season of mirth, melody and mystery. After a voluminous correspondence, carried on with the aid of Uncle Sam's postal service and mysterious messengers from foreign lands, it was decided that all the novelties of the world, including the queens of song, kings of humor, princes of melody and wisecracks of mystery, could by land, water and aerial flight, reach St. Louis September 9th, 1896, and take their places on her carnival stage where no curtain will drop between the twilights of September 9th and October 24th.

The first attraction announced on the programme of glee is the opening of the Thirtieth Annual St. Louis Exposition, which will be open to the public September 9th, and for forty days and nights, until October 24th, will be the home for all wishing to be delighted with its magnificent displays and enraptured by the strains of Gilmore's and Innes' Peerless Bands.

The master of ceremonies next announces our newly discovered but highly esteemed friend, King Hotu, supreme high chief of the Queen of Song. The jolly king with his band of humorous chaps will entertain the young and old on Saturday afternoon, October 3d, by a mirth-provoking parade through the decorated thoroughfares of the city. Act No. 3 on the programme of gold will be delineated by the St. Louis Fair Association through its Thirty-sixth Annual Exhibition. The stage for this event will be set on the morning of Monday, October 6th, and will not be disturbed until Saturday, October 10th, when the curtdrops on a pleasing feature of St. Louis' Carnival. A blaze of light athwart the darkened Eastern skies, strange creatures of inconceivable forms darting to and fro in the heavens and weird sounds on discordant tom-toms wafted on the breezes from the seas announce on the evening of Tuesday, October 6th, the approach of a mysterious cavalcade of beings from another sphere. As this mighty army settles on the streets of St. Louis for a triumphant march through its avenues of wealth and beauty, his august highness, the Mightiest of the Mighty, the astute Velled Prophet, is seen in his van, robed in purple and gold and carrying a wand charged with the powers of magic. In order that the season of carnival be highly successful, his highness, the Velled Prophet, King Hotu and couriers from the Fair Association and St. Louis Exposition have issued an edict ordering the MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY and IRON MOUNTAIN ROUTE to sell tickets to St. Louis and return at greatly reduced rates from all points on their lines. Complying in full with the edict of such notables, the management of these lines will place the above mentioned rates in effect. For full particulars and copy of programme giving attractions in detail, call on local agent, or address H. C. Townsend, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, St. Louis, Mo.
