

LOCAL BREVITIES.

To our readers, grace, happiness and health! Who hath these hath limitless wealth: The wealth of love and goodness and life—

Monday was an exceedingly busy day with our merchants.

Odd Fellows dance at the Academy of Music Friday evening.

The side walks are not in as good condition as they should be.

The colored band has an entertainment at the Academy to-night.

Next Sunday being the 5th Sunday there will be no services at the Baptist Church.

The Christmas drunk which begets the brutal scrap, isn't wholesome—is it, boys?

Communion Service will be held in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Services Sunday by Rev. T. A. Waterman at 11 and 7. All welcome.

Isaac G. Whitworth, Sr., reminded his children—there are six—that it was Christmas time by presenting to each of them a $500 check.

Rev. Berry, who formerly served as pastor of the Ironton Episcopal Church, is now located at Canton, Mo. His many friends here wish him well.

Mr. Cassell Griffith and family will go next week to Carthageville to visit Mrs. Griffith's sister, Mrs. W. E. Taylor.—Fredericktown Democrat-News.

The school entertainment last Friday evening was a very creditable affair, indeed, and was universally commended and praised. The net receipts were $18.

W. A. Schultz, tinner, has opened a shop in the brick building next to Geo. Schultz's. Mr. Schultz solicits the patronage of the public and insures satisfaction.

FOR SALE—The Eager place in Bismarck. Lots 3, 4 and 5 in block 7. Good house and fruit trees. Address Mrs. Ellen Martindal, 2226 Franklin Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

The Willing Workers of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. F. Hanson on Thursday, January 3d, 1901. All members are requested to be present.

Henry Schlie, a former resident of Iron Mountain and well known in Farmington, was married at Decatur, Ill., on Thursday, Dec. 13th, to Miss Anna K. Skidmore.—Farmington News.

The Tuesday's Club will receive its friends on New Year's day, at the home of Mrs. M. Ringo, from 3 to 5 o'clock P. M. By order of Club.

MRS. MARTHA J. FRANCIS, Pres't. MRS. M. RINGO, Secretary.

Rev. J. W. Worsnop left yesterday for London, England, having been called there by the serious illness of his mother. Prof. Watts will fill his pulpit at the Methodist church during his absence.—Jackson Cosh-Book.

Henry Effinger, who has been making his home at Pueblo, Colorado, for the past year, is visiting home folks at Pilot Knob. Henry expects to be employed in the auditor's office of the Missouri Pacific Railway, St. Louis, after the first of the year.

Mr. A. Goza, who owns a farm in Russellville, returned from Butte City, Montana, where he has lived several years. Mr. Goza will likely return to Butte City in the spring, but within a year expects to come back here and make the Valley his permanent home.

News reached Potosi on Sunday of the death of Dr. J. M. Green, which occurred at Newport, Ark., on Sunday, December 16, 1900. Dr. Green was the husband of Miss Lucy Gibson, daughter of the Rev. Wm. Gibson, of Caledonia. His wife survives him.—Potosi Independent.

Rev. T. A. Waterman, who has been holding services at Beaver, Mo., in connection with the Episcopal Church, officiated for St. Paul's Church here last Sunday evening. Also on Christmas morning. He will also officiate next Sunday at 11 and 7, the sermon in the evening being on the prodigal son.

The St. L. Stave & Lumber Company at Arcadia is doing a rushing business these days. Mr. Chambers, the general manager, tells us that he now has a quarter of a million furnished staves on the yard, with about three million staves in the rough in sight. The factory will be kept busy at work for several months.

The public schools of Ironton will resume their labors on Monday, December 31st, and continue on New Year's day, by all that's gracious! Legendary lore informs us that carvers did not ring on a certain night duly designated. If the school bell fails to intonate next Monday morning, is there in the land a poet to fittingly chronicle the fact? We know of one, boys; but there's a rush of job-work on hand and we've no time for lighter things.

There will be a Watch Night service at the Fort Hill M. E. Church, South, Monday night, December 31st, 1900. There may be some who have not thought of it, but this is the only time anyone now living will ever have an opportunity of watching out an old calendar watching in a new. We suggest that you try to get to the church at 9 P. M. and try to spend the night until 12:10 A. M. We will gladly invite the public to be present. W. A. McPHERRIN, Pastor.

F. W. Trauernicht, of Middlebrook, and A. M. Trauernicht, Julius Rodach, C. Osterle, and Chas. Reed, of St. Louis, came to the REGISTER office and gave kindly Christmas greetings to the editor yesterday.

The midget son born to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Hinks, of Long Pine, Neb., has a birthday worthy of note. It is a remarkable fact that this mite of humanity came in the last year of the century; the last month of the first half of the year; the last day of the month; the last day of the week; and almost the last hour of the day—it being 10 o'clock Saturday night, June 30, 1900. He is the first child of a last daughter; the first grandchild; and the first great-grandchild of a great-grandfather still living.

The man—and his name is legion—who sleeps while the preacher preaches has long endured in silence the rebukes of his more wakeful brethren, but we are glad to note that even this unhappy worm takes a turn in his own defense. Speaking of a recent lapse, the sleeping brother says: "I meant no disrespect. Being a hard-working man, a drowsy feeling does creep over me sometimes in a warm church. The rhythmic cadences of a sermon, I find, are calculated to beget sweet somnolence, and I am lulled to sleep. In the New Testament we read of Eutyclus falling asleep while St. Paul was preaching and then tumbling out of a second story window, and if the people then fell asleep under the powerful oratory of the immortal St. Paul, I see no discredit to the Rev. Mr. Jones when I go to sleep under him."

"The Baltimore Belle Who Made the Most Brilliant Match of Any Girl in America" is the title of an article in The Ladies Home Journal for January. "Housekeeping in a Millionaire's Family," "The Little Women Play," adapted from Miss Alcott's charming story, for stage presentation, and illustrated by Reginald B. Birch, and two pictorial pages, "A Winter Service at Church," by W. L. Taylor, and "The Town Meeting," by A. B. Frost, are some others of the leading literary and artistic features with which the Journal begins the twentieth century.

There is also a double page, "Through Picturesque America," giving eleven views of the magnificent scenery of Washington and Oregon. Practical articles show the fashions in woman's wear, and touch upon almost every subject for the home. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

A "scrap" Christmas is not the sort of Christmas that fits civilization, but the boys will have it—as nearly as may be—once in awhile. Last Monday evening, after undue indulgence in good cheer, three young men had a time. One, named Phillips, was so drunk that upon proposition a slight rap from the good right hand of Joseph Keagan floored him instantly. But Keagan kept it up after his victim was down by industriously kicking his opponent in various and frequent spots, as occasion offered. Frank Callison, the third combatant, stood by to prevent interference, and when the town marshal came on the scene boisterously denied his right to intervene. Thereupon Mr. Callison was arrested, and the marshal, upon search, found secreted on his prisoner's person a "gun," contrary to the law in such a case made and provided. Callison was sent before Squire Fairchild and atoned to the offended law in the sum of about $60, fine and costs. Keagan escaped arrest by leaving the city precincts, and Phillips is convalescing to the best of his ability.

The REGISTER's editor gratefully acknowledges the receipt of several Xmas remembrances from the hands of all too-partial friends. He is not egotistical enough to attribute these evidences of good-will and favor to his deservings, but rather to the charity that overlooks shortcomings and considers only intents and purposes. First on the list was a package sent us through the medium of a handsome young lady whose presence for a brief minute gave grace and light to the darksome precincts of our gloomy sanctum. The package was a box of home-grown oranges still encumbering their native stem. Their bright that was set off by the dark green of the leaves still clinging to the golden fruit. The box also contained a beautiful Christmas card from the Sisters of the Ursuline Convent—a token touching to the heart of the recipient who, during a quarter of a century, has, time and again, in joy and in sorrow, received similar evidences of their concern in the material welfare of him and his. To them his best wishes! Accompanying the package was a card from Rev. L. C. Werner bearing this legend: "This is Arcadia product"—referring to the tropical fruit grown in the conservatory attached to the convent. Also, on the said card were the words, "We are saving the blossoms for Frank." Ah, how often the blossoms wither in waiting and hope endeth not in fruition! But, anyway, here's health and happiness to the Rev. Father and his faithful flock! The other presents from our sources were boxes of cigars from Messrs. H. M. Collins and J. Lopez, not to mention one from another source side-tracked on the way; a bottle of Old Bourbon from Wm. Trauernicht and one of Cognac from Mr. A. Roehry. The reader, we hope, will find no evidence of too much Christmas in these columns, but, you know, "it's a poor heart that never rejoices." We do rejoice at these and other evidences of good-will, but endeavor to do so in a suit to the dignity of the profession—not in riotous living, but with a due appreciation of the good things of this life and the kindly surroundings which make them attainable.

Recommends it to Trainmen.

G. H. Hausen, Lima, O., Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., writes: "I have been troubled a great deal with back-ache. I was induced to try Foley's Kidney Cure, and one bottle entirely relieved me. I gladly recommend it to any one, especially my friends the train men, who are usually afflicted." For sale by D. R. Bergen.

It will not be a surprise to any one who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefits they have received from it, of bad colds that have cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia that have averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by D. W. Bergen.

The Twentieth Century.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch will issue an elaborate Twentieth Century Souvenir Number on Dec. 30. It is designed to illustrate the great progress in newspaper making and will present the greatest list of special contributors ever appearing in any issue of any newspaper. The Post-Dispatch takes special pleasure in announcing that, included in this list, are signed articles exclusively for this number, from Grover Cleveland, Emilio Zola, Camille Flammarion, Joseph Jefferson, M. Co. quelin, Sarah Bernhardt, Richard Mansfield, Cardinal Rampolla, Secretary of State to the Pope; Cardinal Satolli, ex-Papal Delegate to the United States; fifteen other Cardinals, Prof. Briggs, Bishop Andrews, Carolus Duran, Lady Jeanne, Queen Wilhelmina, Secretary of the Navy Long, Gen. Miles, Gen. Corbin, Admiral Highborn, Sir Robert Ball, Edward Everett Hale, Andrew Lang, Justin McCarthy, Sir Norman Lockyer, Maurice Maeterlinck, George Bernard Shaw, Dr. Schweininger, Dr. Lappoin, body physician to the Pope, and many others equally prominent. The numbers will be illustrated in colors and half-tones. Although a large sum has been expended in collecting these articles, the number will be presented free with every copy of the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Dec. 30. The number will be well worth preserving, and as the edition will be limited, to insure getting a copy, file an advance order with the newsdealer or mail five cents in stamps to the Post-Dispatch publication office.

J. W. Bryan of Lowder, Ill., writes: "My little boy was very low with pneumonia. Unknown to the doctor we gave him Foley's Honey and Tar. The result was magical and puzzled the doctor, as it immediately stopped the racking cough and he quickly recovered." For sale by D. R. Bergen.

Big Creek Items.

Not having seen any news from our part of the county for some time, I thought I would send you a few items. Health in this neighborhood is very good at present. The weather has been fine for the time of year; the roads are in fine condition; and lumber, hubs, piling, etc., are being moved over the roads at a lively rate.

Mr. James Lewis, of Glover, Mo., is in this vicinity buying hogs and cattle, paying liberal prices for same.

Mrs. J. L. Stokely, of Piedmont, is visiting her parents at this place.

Mr. Joseph Farmer and family will visit relatives and friends at Annapolis during the holidays.

Mr. W. T. O'Neal was down to-day looking after the interest of his farms in this vicinity.

Prof. Perkins, of St. Louis, and a party of hunters, are expected down this week. There have been several parties camped near here in the last few weeks and they have killed several deer and run the remaining ones out of the country.

Mr. Fred Amesen, Brunot, Mo., has bought the Conley farm, and will move to it in the near future. We welcome him as a citizen of this community.

Mr. F. Lasley, Flat River, is at home for the holidays.

G. W. Wallis is still running his saw mill, although orders for the past month have been slow in coming in.

Rev. J. W. Alcorn will preach at the Roberts School House next Saturday and Sunday. We hope there will be a good attendance and more interest manifested than in times gone by.

Our public school closed Friday, the 21st, under the management of Prof. Edward Jones. The attendance has been good, the students have progressed rapidly, and we believe Mr. Jones has given as good satisfaction as any teacher could wish for some time. The patrons, and the citizens, generally, turned out to witness the exercises on the last day, and all brought well filled baskets which were spread out, and to which all present did ample justice. The exercises consisted of speeches, orations, blackboard exercises, etc., all of which were a credit to both pupils and instructor. And last, but not least, were the apples and candy for the little ones. All present joys in voting it one of the most enjoyable social gatherings this community has had for many years.

I wish you Mr. Editor, and every reader of your valuable paper, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! Dec. 23d, 1900. OBSERVER.
