

THE REGISTER respectfully directs the attention of the Pure-Ballot Republicans of Missouri to the census frauds in Maryland, whereby the party of Moral Ideas hoped to retain control of the legislature of that erstwhile and naturally Democratic State. So patent were these frauds that the Democratic Governor, despite the opposition and abuse of the Mark Hanna organs, called an extra session of the legislature, which was duly held and the State saved from the ballot ravers.

It was proved beyond all question that the schedules made out by them a month later were made, almost without exception, of fraudulently fictitious names, about 1700 in all. Ching's connection with all these false schedules was proved to have begun when he procured Supervisor Rollins to send extra schedules with his instructions to further complete the work. Ching at once advised the enumerators what class of persons and names they were to put down on those extra schedules, hardly one of whom was proper to be enumerated. Then he urged them to get in the schedules by the first of August, so that they would be sure to be counted in the total of St. Mary's population. He urged Guyther to get the additional names and advised him just how he was to do it. Abell's schedules were kept back to the last, and when Abell, after putting down over 400 names, refused to do more, Ching, with his own hand, wrote down 70 additional fraudulent names, in order that there might be the numbers required to effect the scheme, namely, to entitle St. Mary county to an additional delegate in the state legislature.

THE REGISTER expects the Poplar Bluff Republican and the other Pure-Ballot papers of Missouri, while rejoicing at this legal vindication of their virtuous cause, to put on sackcloth and cover themselves with ashes in token of the loss of party honor in Maryland. That commonwealth lies far from the bounds of our own beloved Missouri, it is true; but contagion travels rapidly and State lines are no barriers. So, gird up your loins, ye valiant! Cease charging the windmills at your doors, and couch your puissant lances at the Real Thing!

St. Louis Letter.

EDITED BY J. W. JAQUITH & CO. Fred. Killalee has accepted a position with the Madison Coal Company. Fred. is "right up to snuff," and knows more about the coal business than the man who invented it. Fred. Katha has tendered his resignation to the Bell Telephone Company to accept a position with the Hargadine-McKittick Dry Goods Company. Ford's headquarters will be at the Iron County Club. Miss Frankie Crawford has returned after a month's visit to Chattanooga, Tennessee. Rabbi M. Spitz, editor of the Jewish Voice and one of the best known Jewish ministers in the city, and whose office joins the Iron County Club rooms, will, accompanied by his beautiful and talented daughter, Rose, on July 10th, take a trip to Cleveland, for the purpose of making his annual visit to the Jewish orphan asylum there of which he is an official. This asylum shelters over five hundred orphans and expended last year the sum of $67,000 in their behalf. Rabbi Spitz and Miss Spitz will visit the Buffalo exposition before their return. Father Furlong of New Madrid, Mo., is spending a few days in our city, the guest of his brother. The Free Religious Association of Buffalo refused the use of their tent for one evening, because one of the speakers, Dr. Israel Aaron was a Jew, although his topic "Ralph Waldo Emerson and the Transcendental Movement," was approved. Dr. Aaron now comes out in a very pointed letter, inquiring if this would not have excluded Jesus of Nazareth, who was a Jew, who prayed in Hebrew, and quoted the prophets of Israel to substantiate his utterances. Mayor Ed Immer of Pilot Knob, accompanied by his sister, Miss Rene, have just returned from the Buffalo exposition and left the same evening to visit their sister, Mrs. H. Jones of Tuckerman, Arkansas. The Iron County Club is just at present somewhat worried over the continued absence of Sheikh Havsum Ginfiz. We have not seen him for the past three days and only occasionally hear of his doings. The St. Louis letter for whom the Shiek is supposed to write local political and city hall news has sent to our headquarters seven different times in an effort to locate the Shiek; but the nearest we have been able to get to the real facts of the case are a few evanescent glimmers from his trail. We are thinking of going out rounding up our venerable potentate if he does not appear in a day or two, and the I. C. C. letter will probably soon contain something over his signature. John Flynn, well known in political, racing and sporting circles, visited the Iron County Club this week. Mr. F. is a gentleman of extreme affability and one whom it is a pleasure to meet. With perfect justice we hold Mr. F. responsible for giving the President of the club a bum tip on the races, when the President had in reality picked the winner. Just what this tip cost the President that individual prefers to keep secret. The president does volunteer the information that he played according to his own convictions the following day, and has the money in his pocket to corroborate this statement.

We notice in the last issue of the REGISTER that Mr. C. Brassel is contemplating the opening of a saloon in the Killalee building. We also understand, which was not published in said paper, that our brother member is seriously considering the question of taking the rent of the building out in trade.

What in the world has become of Phil Walter? The last time we saw him he was getting on the train bound for some place with an outlandish name that sounded Irish—like Dennis—down in Texas. Since then we have not heard from Phil, either directly or indirectly, and consequently are not in a position to tell his Iron county friends much about him. We do know, however, that when he left here his prospects were very light and that he went to Texas to secure a position on the M. K. & T.

Miss Carrie Gest of Columbus, Ky., is the guest of Miss Alma McGuire of Taylor Avenue.

One of the many oil companies of Texas is called the Buffalo. It would be in keeping with the name if the shares sold at eleven cents a piece. I. C. C.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

From Goodwater.

Ed. Register—The drouth has not yet been broken here. Excepting a few light showers—not sufficient to lay the dust—no rain has fallen hereabouts since May 23d. Vegetation of all kinds is suffering from the lack of rain. Meadows and oats-fields produced a very light yield; in fact, in many instances, no crop has been, or will be, harvested therefrom this year.

Wheat has also yielded an unusually light crop throughout this section. Though a few fields yielded well, most of them failed to produce satisfactorily.

Corn, which bore the drouth remarkably well until a few days ago, is now suffering much; unless we have ground-soaking rains within a week, the corn crop throughout this section will be very light.

It is feared that the extreme heat and the dearth of moisture have killed the grass roots in meadows and pastures, and that, in many instances, re-seeding will become necessary.

A furious wind storm passed over this locality on the 11th inst.

Dr. Morehead and Mr. Adam Henderson, of Burgundy, were in this neighborhood on business on the 7th inst.

On the 13th inst. James Crocker left here, to seek employment in St. Louis.

On the 14th inst. Wm. B. Alcorn went to Mallow's Mill on business.

James M. Lucas has moved his stock of merchandise and the Goodwater postoffice into his new storehouse at what has hitherto been known as Crocker's Mill. That point will doubtlessly be known hereafter as Goodwater.

During the absence from home of John Nelson, Sr., his house near Red Point was burglarized and then burned on the 22d inst. So far as learned by the writer, no definite clue has been secured as to who committed the crime. Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Townsend, of Belgrade, passed through this section last week.

Among those who visited relatives hereabouts during June were Mrs. Anna Brakefield, of near Brazil, and Frank Martin and family, of near Montana.

The following-named persons visited relatives at the points named during the past month: Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Bays, near Caledonia; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Alcorn, near Tolu, and Wm. B. Alcorn, near Oates.

Many farmers throughout this section are much discouraged by the continuance of the drouth. It is by far the worst drouth we have ever experienced during the first half of the year.

Though frequently, during the past five weeks, we were led to believe that at last we would be once more blessed by a ground-soaking rain, we have, so far, been disappointed and many of us realize the truth of the saying, "Hope, deferred, maketh the heart sick." June 30, 1901. R. E.

IN THE WORLD OF FASHION.

Some of the Pretty Fancies That Go to Make Up the Season's Costumes.

The latest fad is to fasten the belt on one side, directly under one arm, sometimes with a buckle, sometimes knotted with ends, again with ribbons finished with dangling pendants, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

An applique of white batiste flowers is seen on some cloth and sheer fabric gowns. In garland form this trimming is very effective.

A cluster of turquoises or a band of enamel embellishes some of the gold buckles which are furnished at present for neckwear, but the plain gold buckle is the leader. Buckles of white or smoked pearl are also worn and black enamel with a touch of gold.

The new sweater for going is cut low in the neck like the golf vest and is lapelless. The pattern is a striped one in brilliant red or green and the buttons down the front are of gold, ornamented with crossed golf sticks of green enamel.

The regulation sweater, with high, turned-over collar and cuffs, remains a favorite, and, in fact, is too comfortable a garment to be easily displaced. An opening at the shoulder is the touch of novelty observed in the newest designs.

Golf belts are of leather, with leather buckles and sometimes studded with nails. Ooze leather belts are very stylish and are shaped somewhat wider at the back than in front.

Soft light hats, fastened into odd yet picturesque shape, are admirably set off with large rosettes of soft lustrous satin ribbon, showing a jet buckle in the center of the bows.

Crape de chine of exceeding fineness and embroidered in dull paillettes, is one of the season's fabrics that has met with much favor, but is very costly.

Embroidered canvas as a substitute for lace appears on some new and very handsome gowns. The finest silk canvas, deep yellow in color, is employed for this purpose and it is cut out in medallions and scrolls, beautifully embroidered with designs of silk lace.

White lace with an applique of pompadour roses down the center makes a beautiful trimming for handsome street gowns.

The fashion of wearing a bracelet of black velvet ribbon is being revised in Paris. The ribbon is fastened with a gold or jeweled clasp or simply tied in a fetching little bow.

Sequin robes are more elaborate this season than ever before.

Yokes of point d'esprit threaded with velvet baby ribbon are useful for transforming evening gowns into ones suitable for less formal occasions.

Colored pongee, in the most delicate blue and pink tones, represents one of the novelties of the season and is very desirable for fancy blouses or entire gowns.

Plain colored gauze draped over glace silk in floral design gives the effect of a hand-painted gown. A Parisian model recently imported was of white gauze over silk showing rose design on white background. The yolk and belt were of the silk alone.

THE COLD BATH.

Caution Must Be Exercised or Harm May Result from Indulgence in It.

The cold bath, whether a plunge in the tub or the sea, is not for the delicate, the nervous or those whose heart action is weak. In sad emulation of their more vigorous companions, many have indulged in a cold bath to their subsequent regret, says the Ledger Monthly. The enjoyment of a bath should be the measure of its benefit.

Some who are hardy enough to experience the warm glow that follows quick reaction may derive certain tonic effects from the dip in cold water, but when nature hangs out her danger signals of chattering teeth and purple lips let one beware of repetition. No good can result, and harm may.

It is only by experimenting that one can ascertain the temperature of a bath that is most conducive to health and cleanliness, but having found it let her not be tempted by the advocate of the daily cold plunge.

The cold bath, besides having little or no value as a cleansing agent, consumes more of the vitality in order to effect reaction. Few persons are endowed with sufficient physical vigor to be able to afford so needless an expenditure of vital force. The hot bath is just as stimulating as the cold one, although it is not generally so conceded. Cold baths have been found of value as remedial measures in fevers and kindred illness, but as a rule they should not be taken except under medical supervision, even by the young and vigorous.

Cocoonut Loaf Cake.

Cream half a cupful of butter with two cupfuls of powdered sugar, and when very light add the well-beaten yolks of six eggs and a cup of milk. Gradually stir in two cups of flour with which have been sifted two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a quarter of a tablespoonful of salt. Flavor the batter with the juice and grated rind of a lemon and beat in two cupfuls of grated cocoonut. Last of all fold in quickly and lightly the stiffened whites of the six eggs. Bake in two loaf tins in a steady oven until a straw run through the thickest part of the cake comes out clean. When the cakes are cold cover them with an icing flavored with a few drops of essence of bitter almond. While icing is damp strew thickly with grated cocoonut.—Boston Budget.
