A Few Facts Concerning
Rupture

In order to become proficient in the cure of rupture, years of preparation and experience are necessary in order to practice with any degree of certainty. Dr. W. A. Lewin, the rupture specialist, is a graduate of several European and American colleges and has devoted many years to the study of this particular branch of medical science.

He treats rupture without the use of the knife, without drawing blood, without danger and without detention from regular occupation.

All is accomplished within a few weeks and no one is pronounced cured until the opening through which the intestines protrude is entirely closed and permanently healed. This is done by building up new tissue, a growth similar to that over a wound that has healed, so that the patient is stronger at this spot than he was before the rupture occurred.

Consultation and advice free. No pay required until cured to your entire satisfaction. Send for free booklet containing testimonials. 10,000 patients cured. Call or address,

When Autumn Tints the Leaves.

When Autumn's tints are on the leaves,
When earth, coquetting with the sun,
Half turns away from him her face,
And seeks the Ice-King's cold embrace—
A warring wanton newly won—
They herald death, and Nature grieves.

When Autumn's tints are on the leaves—
The stolen hues of all the flowers—
Of rose and pink and daffodil,—
And swathe in beauty dale and hill,
They lightly flaunt life's closing hours,
And laugh while death bereaves!

When Autumn's tints are on the leaves,
And light the clasp of parent stem,
Then every breeze in passing sings
To every heart that longing clings
To summer's joys, a requiem
As sweet as mired saint receives!

But yet, when Autumn tints the leaves,
And beauty spreads before our gaze,
She loving teaches us that death
Is but the passing of a breath;
That while man lives his fleeting days
May have the joys his heart conceives!

Remarkable Election Results.

The will of the voter was made manifest at the late elections, where results are often surprising, and, in some instances, inexplicable upon ordinary political hypotheses. I select a few of the "surprises" as given by the Chicago Public:

"Although Massachusetts voted for Roosevelt, Republican, for President, it elected W. L. Douglas, Democrat, for Governor, by a plurality of 36,530. Minnesota also voted for Roosevelt for President, but elected John A. Johnson, Democrat, for Governor by a plurality of about 20,000. In Rhode Island, which was carried for Roosevelt by about 15,000, Gov. Garvin was defeated for re-election by George H. Utter by a plurality of about 594.

"Robert Baker was defeated for re-election to Congress in Brooklyn borough, New York, but by what vote is not yet reported. Charles A. Towne was elected and Bourke Cochran, Wm. Hearst and William Sulzer were re-elected in Manhattan borough, New York.

"From Cleveland, although the county of Cuyahoga gave a plurality of some 30,000 against Judge Parker, Robert C. Wright, Democratic candidate for county auditor, the head of the county ticket, is re-elected; but in Nebraska the fusionists (Democratic and People's party) have been defeated and the expectation of Wm. J. Bryan's election to the United States Senate is thereby disappointed.

"The result in Chicago is phenomenal. Although Chicago is normally a Democratic city, its vote for President is 201,658 for Roosevelt and 97,840 for Parker—a Roosevelt plurality of 113,818. McKinley's plurality over Bryan in 1900 was only 7,621. The whole Democratic ticket was carried down in the landslide. Among those defeated is William Preston Harrison, brother of the mayor, who lost a district normally 8,000 Democratic by 7,000 Republican. The Democratic candidate for Governor of Illinois, Lawrence B. Stringer, lost Chicago by a plurality of 98,000 for Charles S. Deneen, the Republican candidate. He lost the State by a plurality of about 289,000 for Deneen—about 175,000 more than the plurality against Altgeld in 1896.

"Robert M. La Follette is elected Governor of Wisconsin by 50,000. He was supported by Bryan Democrats. In Missouri Joseph W. Folk is elected Governor by nearly 40,000, although the State on the Presidential issue went against Parker by about 12,000. The other State candidates on Folk's ticket were defeated."

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago. Since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

The Moral.

The election of Theodore Roosevelt as President of the United States causes no surprise, either to his friends or his opponents. Many of those Democrats who were most loyal to Judge Parker knew, deep in their own hearts, that their candidate was without a shadow of a chance to carry the election.

The secret of Judge Parker's weakness was so plain that the most enthusiastic partisan could not mistake it. It involves a principle so vital that the Democratic party must give it serious consideration if it hopes to be more successful four years hence.

The nomination of Judge Parker represented the supremacy of the so-called "conservative" element of the party. But "conservative" is a term that has been frequently abused, and in this instance it stood for interests that have never been able to appeal successfully to the intelligence of the great body of the American people.

This situation was peculiarly unfortunate in this campaign. The march of events had made imperialism a dead issue with the great majority of the people. It referred to what was no longer a matter of policy, but of history, and both parties were practically agreed that the Philippines were yet at a status where immediate independence would be rather a disaster than a blessing.

There was only one issue on which the Democratic party could hope to make a successful campaign. That was based on the growing power and avarice of dishonest trusts and the despotism of Wall street to which the trusts were intimately related.

There was every reason to believe that Judge Parker's candidacy honestly represented the principles of his party on this vital question. But not so the personalities of the men who were behind his campaign. The people looked beyond the candidate and took notice of August Belmont, Sheehan, McLaughlin and the other acknowledged representatives of the money power who posed as the pilots of the Democratic craft.

No wonder that these men were unable to inspire enthusiasm on an issue to which their own loyalty was open to serious question. If anything was lacking to make easy the task of the Republican managers, it was supplied by the tactics of the local Democratic managers in New York just previous to the election. Their policy savored too much of the peculiar politics of Dave Hill and was entirely lacking in the broad sentiment of party dignity that has heretofore characterized Democratic campaigns.

The defeat of yesterday was not a repudiation of Democracy, but of its leaders. Led by the specious plea of "conservatism" the party placed its honor in the keeping of men who were unworthy of the trust. It was a campaign of the east, in the east and for the east, and it utterly failed in its object.

It is to the honor of the Democrats of the west that they fought loyally and honorably for the candidate of the east. Under the leadership of a man who had been twice defeated by the very interests that were now in the saddle, they battled gallantly for the party honor and the party candidate.

It is still too early to forecast the line of battle of 1908, but it is safe to assume that the element that dictated the nomination of Judge Parker, and which by its own triumph, made his election impossible, will not control the next national convention of the Democratic party. The seaper of power will pass from the sea coast to the great heart of the republic and the Democracy will provide itself with leaders whose allegiance to Democratic principles owns no mental reservation in favor of any power which threatens the welfare of the people.—Kansas City World.

Constipation.

Health is absolutely impossible, if constipation be present. Many serious cases of liver and kidney complaint have sprung from neglected constipation. Such a deplorable condition is unnecessary. There is a cure for it. Herbine will speedily remedy matters. C. A. Lindsay, P. M., Bronson, Fla., writes, Feb. 12, 1902: "Having tried Herbine, I find it a fine medicine for constipation." 50c a bottle. Sold by Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

Mr. Bryan's Say.

"The result was due to the fact that the Democratic party attempted to be conservative in the presence of conditions which demand radical remedies. It sounded a partial retreat when it should have ordered a charge along the line. In 1896 the line was drawn for the first time during the present generation between plutocracy and Democracy, and the party's stand on the side of Democracy alienated a large number of plutocratic Democrats, who in the nature of things can not be expected to return, and it drew to itself a large number of earnest advocates of reform whose attachments to these reforms is much stronger than attachment to any party name."

Mr. Bryan says for two years he has pointed out the utility of any attempt to compromise with wrong or to patch up a peace with the great corporations which are now exploiting the public, but the Southern Democrats were so alarmed by the race issue that they listened, rather reluctantly, be it said to their credit, to the promises of success held out by those who had contributed to the defeat of the party in two preceding campaigns. He continues:

"The experiment has been a costly one, and it is not likely to be repeated during the present generation. The Eastern Democrats were also deceived. They were led to believe that the magnates and monopolies who coerced the voters in 1896 and supplied an enormous campaign fund in both 1896 and 1900 would help the Democratic party if our party would only be less radical. The corporation press aided in this deception, and even the Republican papers professed an unselfish desire to help build up the Democratic party.

"The election has opened the eyes of the hundreds of thousands of honest and well meaning Democrats, who a few months ago favored the reorganization of the party. These men now see that they must either go into the Republican party or join with the Democrats of the West and South into making the Democratic party a positive, aggressive and progressive reform organization. There is no middle ground."
