

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The court house is being painted.

Has spring come in truth at last?

Preaching on the corner. Well, some of my neighbors need it.

Mr. Hotson has on sale sweet potato, tomato, cabbage, and other plants.

The present fine weather almost makes us forget those horrible ideas of April.

If the hub-log haulers would use broader tires our roads would be in better condition.

The Drummers' celebration will be held at New Madrid next week. A big time is anticipated.

The luscious raspberry will probably make atonement for the shortage of some of the other fruits.

Granitoid sidewalks for Main street! They would mightily improve the appearance of the town.

FOR SALE—Two mules, 8 and 10 years old; 15 and 16 hands high. Apply to Herman Rieke, Ironton, Mo.

The new station house—it is safely housed and secured from wear, wind and weather. Disturb it not.

The town cow and her clanging bell, is still with us. She waddles in freedom and decorates the sidewalks at leisure.

John Schwab has resigned as United States Commissioner at Ironton. His successor has not yet been named.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Jno. M. Swaringin, Hogan, Mo., on Sunday, April 21, 1907, two sons, one of whom survives.

LOST—On Main street last Thursday or Friday, a Waterman fountain pen. Please return to this office and receive reward.

Circuit court convenes in Reynolds county next Monday. The case of Mary E. Spangh, charged with murder, will probably be tried.

Eight cases for divorce on the Reynolds county docket for the May term of circuit court. "Incompatibility," "legit is thy name!"

Some sort of a shooting affray is reported from Pilot Knob last Monday night. No arrests, so it is supposed no one was badly injured.

The tax levy for the Ironton school district this year is 40 cents on the hundred dollars—30 cents teachers' fund and 10 cents incidental.

Under a new ruling any one can make his letter a special delivery by marking it so and attaching ten cents worth of stamps extra. A great convenience.

Aug. Rieke is taking down the walls of the burned Haller building. I helped mould the bricks now being removed. That was nearly fifty years ago.

The roadway between Arcadia station and "The Maples" now is in good condition, excepting that a few loads of finer gravel are needed as a top-dressing.

The REGISTER is indebted to Sheriff Marshall for a basket of extra fine vegetables, the product of the ground attaching to the jail premises. Finer lettuce I never saw.

The Ironton base ball team last Sunday crossed bats with the Doe Run team at the home of the latter, which resulted in the defeat of the Ironton team by a score of six to nine.

The Governor has again respited the Brooks. The date of their execution has been deferred to June 27th. Sheriff Marshall was so officially notified last Thursday evening.

We understand that an Iron county miss, Miss Essie May Yount, covered herself with glory in the contests at the Cape Girardeau Normal last week. Miss Yount won the medal in the essay contest.

The St. Louis Times, the new paper, had a column or more of falsehoods in reference to the Spanghs in Tuesday's paper. It is singular to us the great love of the metropolitan daily for the criminal.

Last Saturday night Jim Harris was shot and probably fatally wounded by Joe Gould, in a saloon at Flat River. Both parties were formerly residents of Granitville. The details of the affray are unknown here.

The writer acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the Poplar Bluff High School, May 23d. Miss Katherine A. Tetwiler, daughter of Mr. Chas. Tetwiler, is one of the graduates.

FOR SALE—My 10-room residence including one 3-room tenement house, completely furnished with all modern conveniences; hot and cold water, bath and furnace; four acres of ground, two cisterns, one living well, one large barn and other good out-buildings, fine lawn and shade, excellent fruit and large grape arbor, good garden, and alfalfa clover. Also, one horse, buggy and harness, two milch cows, one with young calf, 150 chickens, and a large amount of other furniture. Any one wishing to buy at a bargain, call within the next two weeks.

Mrs. S. E. MANOLD, Arcadia, Mo.

Governor Folk has appointed Hon. Paul B. Moore of Charleston and Merrill Pipkin, Esq., of Farmington, as members of the Board of Managers of State Hospital No. 4, vice Mr. M. P. Cayce of Farmington, and Judge Higginbotham of Washington county.

The friends of the family will be sorry to hear that Mrs. W. W. Nail had to be taken to the Deaconess' Hospital, St. Louis, last Monday. She will undergo an operation to-day. It is not of a very serious nature, however, and hopes are entertained of her immediate restoration to health.

Judge Johnson two weeks ago showed us two ripe, full-grown strawberries in refutation of the statement the REGISTER had made that the earlier crop had all been killed by frosts. He says he thinks he will grow a fair crop of the later varieties. Isn't about time our home strawberry was coming in?

There will be a basket picnic held at the Frank Callison farm, on the Greenville road, four miles south of Arcadia, on Saturday, June 15th. There will be dancing and plenty of other amusements. Refreshments of all kinds can be obtained on the grounds. An invitation is extended to all.

The star mail route west, whose starting point from Ironton was changed to Arcadia about two years ago, has been remanded to this place. The reason for its removal to Arcadia, in the first instance, is such as could be entertained only by an astute inspector, who probably meant well, but is beyond the ordinary mind.

Mr. W. H. R. Brown, a former attaché of this office, is now running as conductor of a Pullman. Last week he sent me a souvenir from Old Mexico, characteristic of that country. It is a silk handkerchief, embroidered, so to say, with pictures of a bull fight in all its phases. The package was enclosed in an envelope marked Ciudad Juarez, Mexico.

J. F. Lindsay of this city has the sympathy of the Banner in the loss by death of his sister, Mrs. Annie Livingston. Mrs. Livingston died at her home in Cabool, Texas county, April 27th, of gastric ulcers. She was a member of the Congregational church and was a good woman loved by all who knew her. She leaves a husband, one daughter, an aged mother, two sisters and four brothers to mourn her loss.—Piedmont Banner.

The citizens of Dillard are proposing to cut off a portion of Dent, Crawford, Washington, Reynolds and Iron counties and form a new county out of the territory, with Dillard as county seat. We do not know how far the move has gone. F. C. Flickinger, the Sligo civil engineer, has made a map of the proposed new county. It will take considerable time and lots of work to form a new county out of parts of other counties as contemplated.—Salem Republican.

The following (with an enclosure) is from subscriber E. T. Elgan, now of Colton, California: "The REGISTER is an ever welcome visitor; just like a letter from home. We are all getting along fine. Mrs. Elgan's and my health is much improved. The children are doing well; Carl is keeping books for the leading meat market and I am working for the Brookings Lumber & Box Co. Farmer keeps busy and has good health. Give our regards to all the friends."

At the instance of Prosecuting Attorney Damron, Constable Marshall last Thursday arrested J. N. Long, manager of the Orphans' Home south of Arcadia. The charge against the accused is the cruelly whipping Mary Seaton, one of the inmates of the Home, aged about ten years. Mr. Long was taken before Squire Rasche, who set his trial for next Friday, and placed him under $250 bond. Messrs. Louis Miller and John Medley became his sureties. The alleged offense was committed in February.

On the 4th of May the Ironton school board elected Oliver Graham, of Warrensburg, principal for the coming year, but attaching some conditions with which he refused to comply. Then, on the 18th, S. L. Clayton, of Pacific, Mo., was chosen; but that same evening he was re-employed at Pacific. There is an old saying that between two stools one falls to the ground, but this doesn't apply to teachers, it seems. The more applications for place the greater the chance for employment. The Ironton board has "another guess comin'."

The revival at the M. E. church is progressing nicely, and let us expect great and greater things yet. There have been five conversions and five accessions thus far, and quite an interest is manifest in others. Services each afternoon at the different homes of the people at 2:30, on the street at 7:30 and at the church at 7:50 during the week. Services Sunday: Subject of sermon in the morning, "Melody of Human Hearts," Ephs. 5:19; in the evening, "Knocking at the Door," Rev. 3:20. Special services at 3 p. m. All are cordially invited to these services.

A. S. MAY. The railroad company, it is understood, does not like the two cent law and thinks it very unjust. Well, we are prepared to say that two cents a mile is ample remuneration for the service accorded the patrons from Ironton station. It is a fact that the service here is not nearly so good as it was a quarter of a century ago, and seems to be getting worse all the time. Twenty-five years ago we had a train that made the run to St. Louis in three hours, and now the best train that we have takes three hours and 42 minutes time in going to St. Louis. Last week the writer was on a train that was just five hours in making the run. No occasion for it. Just utter indifference on the part of the company as to the convenience or accommodation of the public. We certainly hope if there is not an improvement in our service that the next legislature will make the rate one cent.

Says the Farmington Times: "According to a decision just rendered by the Supreme Court of Missouri, a man who has a deer farm or preserve has no more right to kill and sell out of season the deer he has raised than a hunter has to kill wild deer. Judge Fox, in his decision says, 'There is no property in wild animals. The title which a person holds to deer which he has raised and kept in captivity is no better than his title to the wild deer which he kills and captures and reduces to his possession.' That sounds like queer law, and as if a hunter in the deer season would have the right to enter the preserve of any person who has a herd of domesticated deer and kill them for his own use. According to the decision all deer are wild animals, and as 'there is no property in wild animals,' the man who raises deer in a preserve has no legal title to them."

Six dogs were poisoned in Arcadia last Saturday—five the property of Mr. Wm. H. Thomson. These dogs were household pets, highly valued, kept closely on the premises of the Valley Home, and annoyed nobody. The motive for their killing is hard to understand, unless it be to make the way easy for burglary and theft. The other dog was the property of Chas. Eldracher. Mr. Eldracher's son delivers the daily papers, and the dog usually accompanied him on his rounds. Last Saturday, while on his rounds the dog ate a piece of meat lying in the road, and died within a half hour. Strychnine was probably the poison used. Just how constituted the person who will so take the life of an inoffensive creature, it is beyond me to say, and the occurrence recalls to me a saying of old Corny Orcharson when told of a very dirty transaction: "These are the things that make a man sometimes think he would have been a better man if he had been born a dog!"

The following is a special from Jefferson City, Mo., to Tuesday's St. Louis Republic: "Governor Folk to-day granted a parole to Charles M. Jones, under the terms of which Jones will be released from the penitentiary to-morrow. He was convicted in Jackson county, April, 1905, of forging a check for $10, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. Jones' family live in Iron county, Mo., and bear an excellent reputation. He is a young man and was never before involved in trouble. The check in question was cashed by a Kansas City grocer. Some time after Jones was convicted, a man named Prill was arrested with several forged checks of exactly the same kind in his possession. He became violently insane after his arrest and is now an inmate of the insane asylum. In a letter to the Governor, the prosecuting attorney of Jackson county expressed grave doubts as to whether Jones ever forged the check, and recommended his release. A number of prominent citizens of Iron county joined in the request for the release of Jones, among the latter being Mann Ringo and Representative Polk."

Just why "St. Louis passengers" should control the stoppage of No. 1 at this station and Arcadia is a thing known only to the inner circle of the railway. It is an annoying position as could be put on the schedule. If the fact that there were or were not such passengers on the train was telegraphed ahead, it would alleviate the bother. Now, say, you want to take No. 1 to Piedmont or Poplar Bluff. Three days out of four the train has "St. Louis passengers" for this town, and you're all right; but you never know till you hear the toot-toot of the locomotive, and your soul is held in no pleasing suspense. If it goes by with a whirl and a snort—well, you are in no mood for prayer-meeting. This train ought to stop here every time; but if it is too great an accommodation to the public to have it do that—if it would reflect too greatly upon the independence of the management—why, at least, bulletin the stoppage or the non-stoppage of the train each day. If "St. Louis passengers" must be favored, let it be done without the unnecessary snubbing of rural patrons.

For more than a week the section men have been on strike, from Jefferson Barracks to Hoxie, on the main line, and on the Belmont branch, as well. In that time not a spike has been driven or a rail or a tie replaced on the three sections between Iron Mountain and Hogan, and presumably the same conditions exist on all the other sections. The constant supervision of the track and road-bed necessary to the safety of crews and passengers has been abandoned. The conditions are dangerous to the traveling public and must not be permitted to continue. I know little or nothing of the contention between the company and its employees and in itself it does not closely concern me; but every man is concerned in it so far as it relates to his danger as a traveler. No question of wages or hours can be allowed to stand in the way of safety to those compelled to submit themselves to the care of the public carrier, else they are at the mercy of irresponsible servants caring only to achieve their own ends. The road-bed of Iron Mountain, as well as that of any other road, needs constant care and vigilance to insure reasonable safety to all who are carried over it. The "strike," while annoying and troublesome to the officials, cannot be made to bear the burden of possible, if not very probable disaster.

No finer entertainment and proceedings has this town known than those called forth by the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Iron Lodge, No. 107, I. O. O. F., held at the Academy of Music last Monday night. Following is the programme for the evening:

Invocation—Rev. J. P. McDonald
Music—Orchestra
WELCOME ADDRESS—Hon. Wm. R. Edgar
RESPONSE—Rev. H. A. Stowell
SOLO—Mrs. C. P. Damron
QUARTETTE—Mrs. Francis, Leila O'Neal
C. P. Damron, James Newman
Music—Orchestra
INSTRUMENTAL—Piano—Miss Mamie Roehry
ADDRESS—"Odyssey"—Rev. H. H. J. LaTour

BANQUET—10 P. M.
CLOSING ODE—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F.
BENEDICTION—Rev. J. G. Reynolds
The stage was ornamented with flowers of various hues, and in the centre was suspended the old charter of the Lodge. Above it was a floral design—the three links—the erection and contribution of Mrs. Jno. Newman. The hall was filled with Odd Fellows and their neighbors. Many were here from towns in the neighboring counties, as well as some from St. Louis. Mayor Edgar's Address of Welcome was happily given and enthusiastically received. Rev. Stowell's Response, on behalf of the Order, was short but excellent and pleasingly delivered. Rev. LaTour's Remarks on the Order were interesting and instructive, not only to the Brothers, but to the audience at large. The Rebekahs were not overlooked and Mrs. Prueitt ably upheld the Sisterhood and statistically proved its good works. The quartettes and solos rendered by the musical talent of the Valley were greatly enjoyed by the audience and loudly endorsed. When there was nothing else doing, the Builders gave the aid they could to the occasion. After the programme came the banquet prepared by the fair hands of the ladies of the Baptist church, and it was a feast fit for the gods! More than one hundred people were served with all good things in and out of season, and the final table was as enticing and as bountifully furnished as the first. I have, in my time, sat down to many a feast in this town, but never to a better than that provided for those celebrating Iron Lodge's half-century of existence. I lay it to my own fault, with no blame to the viands, that my rest for the latter part of the night was disturbed and broken by ghosts, goblins, storm and shipwreck. All good things come high, in some form or other, and payment ought to be made without grumbling. After the banquet the closing ode was sung, the benediction pronounced, and soon the curtains were down, the lights were out and the hall a vale of quietude. 'Twas a noted gathering and a happy. I took part, as a member of the old Arcadia Brass Band, in the ceremonies attending the dedication of Iron Lodge's first temple in Ironton, and was afterwards a member for many years. Therefore, it is but natural that it has my good-will and veneration. Within its walls have met a host of genial spirits now known to no earthly Lodge. Four brothers-in-blood to me were of its membership, and the bed-roll of those who formed the little world in which I moved is too long to be set down here. They are all gone, but the work they did still influences in ever widening bounds. If there be a future when we all shall again know each other, what sacrifice here too great for its attainment? But this is beyond the present subject, and I return to again warmly commend the faithful who kept intact the purposes and practice the virtues inculcated by Odd Fellowship. May Iron Lodge have a centennial, with winged creations to bring her scattered sons from all quarters of the globe to the festivities; and—hail!—may we be there to meet them!

We have had a fine week for business; lots of lumber and logs came in.
Our bank building will soon be completed, and it will be an ornament to our town.
Our banker, Mr. Strader, says the business of the bank has been far beyond his expectations. He is doing business in temporary quarters.
Friday and Saturday were pay days for several saw mills. Our merchants were overrun with business.

The drill is still working away. Jas. Dobbins and Wm. Carter were here looking after the mining business.
Sutton and Farris received a new saw mill last week; also, the Regland Bros. They will operate on St. Francis and Black River.
L. L. Schmidt shipped in a car of ice Saturday from Donniphon.
Wm. Stevenson's house is about time. It is a lovely home.
I expect to visit Jamestown in August. I landed there during the war—July 3, 1861, while I was a member of Co. H, 1st Reg. Va. Artillery. We marched to Williamsburg and from there to Yorktown. We camped in that section all winter, and in the spring we fought the battle of Williamsburg. From there we retreated to Richmond, and were in the battles of Seven Pines and Cold Harbor; there we lost thirty-seven men, killed. I will visit the old battlefields, which will bring back the scenes of that bloody war, or the lost cause. This is part of a diary kept during the time I was a Confederate soldier. I also expect to visit my old home in Albemarle county, Virginia. I have two brothers and two sisters, one of whom lives in Norfolk. It will not seem much like home to me, as time has made so many changes; but the rippling brooks and creeks are still there, where in my boyhood days I used to catch the finny tribe. And there is our family graveyard, where lies my father and mother. There will be sad scenes, but yet I will enjoy my visit.

W. J. Fitz has a new buggy to trade for a cow.
Sam Fitz left Monday night for Birmingham, Ala., where he has a position as telegraph operator.
Dave Stevenson and wife are visiting relatives here from Uppahilly.
Mrs. Leonard Morris visited Mrs. J. S. O'Neal at Mill Springs last week.
Miss Ethel Odell and Miss Mary Johnson, of Piedmont, spent Sunday with Mrs. J. L. Strader.
Dr. N. A. Farr visited his daughter, Mrs. Lewis Brewington, last week at Leeper.
Miss Gertrude Fitzpatrick, of Bellevue, is visiting in town.
Mrs. C. L. Williams is visiting home folk this week.
