

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Decoration day to-morrow. The home grown strawberries are here.

The month of May was never more lovely.

The ice man doesn't like this sort of a season.

Time to get ready for the Fourth of July celebration.

The fishermen, as a rule, are not having very good luck.

The next excursion from St. Louis will be June 16th.

Mr. Damron expects to remove to his new home next week.

Not often a fire is required in the heating stove the latter part of May.

H. A. Nall has been busy making the city assessment the past week.

The local banks will not be open for business Thursday—Decoration Day.

Riding astride seems to be getting very popular with the fair sex in the Valley.

Geo. W. Durfee has bought the Medley home in Arcadia, paying therefor $2,000.

The picnic season is at hand. Come to the REGISTER office for your picnic posters.

There will be no troops at the range this summer, it is announced. Who cares?

G. A. Buckley has commenced work on Dr. Gay's new residence in the western part of town.

There isn't a federal prisoner in the Iron county jail, nor hasn't been for several months past.

The two cent fare law becomes effective June 16th. Then the fare to St. Louis from Ironton will be $1.82.

The electric storm Saturday night just left three of the phones in the local system in good working order.

Quite a number of our people are in Centerville this week as witnesses in the case against Mary E. Spangh.

The fishermen who journeyed to the St. Francis river last week had very fair luck, and brought home some fine fish.

Harry Byers now has a position as floor walker with the Famous in St. Louis. Harry returned to the city last Saturday.

Remember the REGISTER does everything in the printing line. And we do it right, too, and at a reasonable price.

It looks very much like Ironton will have for principal of the public school next year some one that nobody else wants.

Mr. Rieke says that he will put up his new building on the Haller lots as soon as he can get a contractor to take the job.

Contractor Tual expects to have the Lewis home completed early in the fall. Work on the foundation is about completed.

The ladies of St. Paul's Guild meet at the residence of Mrs. Roehry Thursday afternoon. A full attendance is desired.

There is talk of building a big iron furnace at Poplar Bluff, the intention being to bring the ore from the adjacent country.

Our old friend, John M. Thomas, who has spent the greater portion of the last year in Seattle, Washington, is back in Los Angeles again.

To Judge W. C. Johnson, of Middlebrook, we are indebted for a box of the finest strawberries we have seen this season. They were delicious.

"The Hidden Hand," under a tent, held forth in Ironton last Saturday night. A steam calliope was the chief attraction. The attendance was small.

In December, 1905, the railroad authorities assured us that a new depot would be built in Ironton—"just as soon as weather conditions would permit."

The Reynolds county circuit court convened Monday. The first case on the docket is that of Mary E. Spangh, charged with the murder of John W. Polk.

John T. Baldwin, Jr., is building some porches and making other improvements on the residence on Shepherd street, just north of the Grover property.

It is said that three men will be employed at the station here after the eight-hour-law for operators goes into effect. In any event the night office will not be closed.

The case against Mary E. Spangh, in the Reynolds county circuit court, will be tried next Monday. All the witnesses are expected to be there Monday morning at nine o'clock.

The people of Ironton do not like the changing of the name of their railroad station from Ironton to Savoy, and are protesting vigorously against the government changing the name of the post-office.

The thermometer registered 32 degrees Monday night. Mr. Delano has been keeping the record for twenty-nine years past, but he says this was the coldest night we've had so late in the season in all that time.

Mrs. John Left last Saturday received a check for $2000 from the Head Banker of the Modern Woodmen as insurance on the life of her son, Benjamin F. Left, who was fatally hurt April 8th last. Quite prompt payment.

The Quarterly meeting, which was to convene next Sunday, is postponed for two or three weeks. See announcement later. There will be no services on the street to-night because of the unfavorable weather.

STRAYED—From my premises, May 18th, a Jersey cow 3 years old, without horns, and has stripes on sides; expected to come fresh any day. Reward for information leading to her recovery.

MIKE ORESKY, Pilot Knob, Mo.

The boys had arranged to charivari Art. Nall and his bride last Friday night. But Art. had anticipated the event, and before the crowd could make any noise rushed out the beer and cigars, and everybody went on their way rejoicing.

The editor is indebted to Mr. E. Elmo Bollinger for an invitation to attend the graduating exercises of the law class of Tulane University at New Orleans, May 30th. Mr. Bollinger's iron county friends wish him greatest success in his chosen profession.

Under the new dramshop law the State license is increased $100 per year. At present there are seven saloons in this county. The new law means an increase of $700 per year in the State revenue from iron county—provided all the saloons are re-licensed.

The Ironton Telephone Company would like to announce to their patrons that, after June 15th, the cost of moving telephones will be as follows: Fifty cents to move phone in same room, $1.00 to move to another room, and $2.00 to move to another house.

Rev. A. W. Hill, of Louisville, Ky., will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday at the usual hours. A full attendance of the membership is desired, and all others are welcome. The regular business meeting of the church will be deferred until after next Sunday.

The will of the late W. W. Heywood was filed for probate Tuesday. The residence is bequeathed to the widow, and the bulk of the estate is left to the son, Oscar. A bequest of $25 each is made to deceased's son, Clarence, and daughter, Alice, children by a former marriage.

Smith, who lives on the Elgan farm west of town, horse-whipped Fred. Fisher, Hasty's son-in-law, Monday afternoon. Smith claims that Fisher cursed and black-guarded in the presence of his wife. Fisher says he did nothing of the kind. The matter will probably be adjudicated in the courts.

The revival at the M. E. church is still in progress and will continue during the week. The people in general and in particular are invited to attend the services. There will be service on the street near the court house, Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30. Be sure to hear Rev. Maxey before he leaves.

Train No. 1 should stop regularly at Ironton, regardless of passengers from St. Louis. And No. 18, north at 4:47 A. M., should stop here. Give us these two trains and our service would be greatly improved. And we believe that if the matter was promptly represented to the railroad company the desired changes would be made.

Word has been received from J. R. Baldwin, and family and Miss Alice Gay announcing their safe arrival in England. Mr. Baldwin and Miss Gay suffered horribly from sea-sickness all the way and were compelled to remain in their staterooms the entire journey. Mrs. Baldwin and the children stood the trip famously and enjoyed it.

When the case against J. N. Long, manager of the Cross & Anchor Home, south of Arcadia, charged with mistreating some of the children, was called in Justice Rasche's court last Friday, the defendant filed application for a change of venue, and the cause was sent to Justice Luthy in Pilot Knob for trial, where it will be heard June 7th.

Miss Lillian Steel, who has taught in the Flat River schools for four years past, and who did not apply again, has been elected principal of the north ward school at Farmington. Miss Steel is one of the best teachers in the county, and Farmington schools are fortunate in securing her. During her four years' service here she has not lost a day from the school room.

The Silver Mine school district is going to have a new school house. The district has bonded itself for $500 for that purpose and Robert Meagher, the efficient postmaster at that place, bought the bonds paying $525 for the same, which was more than any other bidder offered. Mr. Meagher, though a young man, is a shrewd business man, he saw a chance for a good investment and took it up.

DIED—At his residence in Ironton, Mo., Saturday, May 25, 1907, W. W. Heywood, aged 73 years. The funeral occurred from the M. E. church Monday, and the remains were interred in the Masonic cemetery. The deceased had been a resident of Iron county for almost half a century, spending most of that time on his farm, four miles south of Ironton, but the past ten years he has been living in Ironton. A wife and son are left to mourn him.

The citizens of De Soto yesterday succeeded in raising a bonus of $70,000 to secure a branch factory of the Peters Shoe Company, and a three-story factory building will be erected immediately. When it was announced that the bonus asked by the company had been subscribed all the whistles in De Soto blew, and the citizens are overjoyed at securing the big plant. The factory will employ a large force and will have a pay roll of $5000 weekly.—Poplar Bluff Democrat.

Wm. Trauernicht, late of Middlebrook, has purchased of Mr. Rodach 33 feet front on Front street, south of the property of G. J. Goeltz, Jr., and will put up at once a modern two-story concrete building, the lower floor to be fitted up for use as a store, and the upper floor will be occupied by him as a customs tailoring establishment. Mr. Trauernicht does a heavy business and employs several men. We learn that it is also his intention to erect a handsome residence on his lot opposite the residence of F. F. Beard.—Bismarck Gazette.

The law is woefully defective in many ways. Early this spring Sheriff Marshall made a trip to Oklahoma, to take in custody one Munson Henderson, charged with seduction under promise of marriage. Henderson was brought back here, released on bond, then married the prosecuting witness and the case was dismissed. And under the circumstances the law says the State shall not be responsible for the costs. And now Sheriff Marshall is out all the expenses of his trip—probably $100 or more. It is an outrage and the law should be amended.

There is no reasonable excuse for any man to live in a town if he doesn't like it. If you have no word of commendation to say for your town; its institutions or people, emigrate. You won't stop the town clock by going away. The church bells will have the same musical ring, the little dogs will play just as well and the pure air, bright sunshine and sparkling water will have the same health giving properties. Speak a good word for your neighbor, if you can; if you cannot, don't everlastingly enlarge on their faults. If you have become thoroughly disgruntled move away; go some where where things will suit you.

The clergymen have discovered that the two-cent passenger fare law, passed by the Legislature last winter, will cause their blessing of one-half fare to cease. Under the old law, the railroads generously extended, as a matter of courtesy, a one and a half cent rate to all ministers. Statesmen have had the privilege of riding free, but alas to their future also, so far as free rides are concerned. When the two-cent rate goes into effect, June 15th, ministers and all will pay the regular two-cent fare. A good many statesmen think the new law is a bad one, not being able to figure out how a two-cent fare is cheaper than a three-cent one with a few passes on the side.

Joseph LaRue, who is employed by the Sligo Furnace Company in the capacity of wood boss on the Sligo and Eastern railroad, was in town Saturday last and reported the timber business as booming in that locality. The Sligo & Eastern railway extension goes ten miles southeast of Dillard to Bixby, a point on the State road running from Salem to Iron Mountain, and large quantities of wood is being shipped to Sligo furnace. In regard to the formation of a new county by taking a strip of territory out of Crawford, Dent, Iron and Washington counties, he said the question was being agitated considerably. The county seat of the newly proposed county would be at Dillard, and would afford a great convenience to residents of that section. Parties who live in Washington county claim they have to go thirty-five miles to reach Potosi. In Iron county the distance is something like thirty miles; and the residents of Dent county, near that point are required to travel about twenty-six miles, while from the extreme southern boundary of Crawford to Steelville is a distance of about thirty miles.—Steelville Mirror.

The Lewis summer residence on the grounds lately purchased from Judge Warlick Hough is now completed. The dwelling contains eleven rooms in addition to the bath-rooms; is steam heated and lighted with gas. Every modern appliance for comfort is employed, and elegance and good taste are exhibited on every hand. An ample supply of water and hose on every floor give the utmost protection attainable against fire. A stone the necessary pressure to project water to all parts of the building. Attached to the tower is a laundry room fitted with all necessary appointments. The stables are a model in structure, convenience and comfort for the equine members of the household. A henhouse and pigeon-house promise their quotas to the culinary department in reinforcement to the products of an extensive vegetable garden. The location of this summer home is exceptionally fine, even for our beautiful Valley. The views from the ample porches on the north, east, west and south are of ever varying pleasure and interest, and the elevation of the grounds wopes the cooling breezes of summer. THE REGISTER hopes the proprietor may live to enjoy his Valley possessions for many years.

A pistol duel took place in Elvins Saturday between Joe Gould, barkeeper at Smith's saloon, and Jim Harris. The latter is one of the principals in the famous Harris-Dooley battle which took place at a picnic in De Soto in 1902. As near as we can learn the shooting was brought about by threats that Harris is alleged to have made in regard to "leaving up the place" after he had been ordered out by the bartenders. In the heat of the argument Gould, knowing Harris' desperate character, procured a revolver and came from behind the bar. As he did so he noticed Harris, who was leaning the door, draw a revolver. Gould then began to shoot. The fire was returned by Harris, who by this time had got outside the saloon. In all six shots were exchanged, and both men were hit, Harris in the right shoulder and abdomen, and Gould in the leg. After emptying his revolver, which was a 41 caliber Remington Derringer, Harris ran into Loy Holbrook's barber shop and reloaded. He then returned to renew the battle, and was loud in his threats, exclaiming that if it was the last thing he ever done he would kill Joe Gould. Gould in the meantime had been taken to Dr. Reese's office to have his wound dressed. Finally Harris was persuaded to go to Dr. Perkins' office to have his wounds examined. It was there learned that he was fatally injured. He was removed to his home, where he is now lying at death's door with scarcely a ray of hope held out for his recovery. Gould was not seriously hurt and is now able to be around again. The scene of the shooting was at almost exactly the same spot where Harris killed Dan Sparks two years ago last January, and for which a charge of murder is still pending against him.—Elvins Herald.

This morning at 10 o'clock Rev. Father C. Tintrup will celebrate his golden jubilee mass, in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, at the Catholic church at St. Paul, St. Charles county, where for forty-two years he was pastor. A year ago he visited his former parishioners, and at that time promised to return to-day and celebrate the mass among his life-long friends, who love him and hold him in the highest reverence. Neighboring churches will send delegations and many of the clergy will attend the mass. Father Tintrup was born in Hebern, diocese of Muenster, Westphalia, in October, 1832, and came to America about twenty years later and located in St. Louis. He completed the study of theology at a seminary in Carondelet and was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop R. R. Kendrick on January 5, 1857. The next two years he spent as assistant to Rev. Father Joseph Melchers, pastor of St. Mary's church, in St. Louis. In 1859 he was assigned to the parishes of St. Paul and Josephville, in St. Charles county, and also had charge of other churches along the Wabash railway, then known as the North Missouri railway. In 1868 he was relieved of the charges, with the exception of the parish at St. Paul. Through his efforts the present handsome church was built in 1896. His eyesight was impaired in 1875 by a severe illness, and he became totally blind in 1901. He resigned the pastorate of the church in 1903 and has since resided at the Ursuline Academy at Arcadia, Mo., where his sister, Mother Seraphine, is mother superior. The celebration will last all of to-day. At 10 A. M. Father Tintrup will say the solemn high mass, while the visiting clergy will officiate as deacon, and sub-deacon. The married ladies of the congregation will serve dinner and in the afternoon a reception will be held by the present pastor, Father Stepka, at which several addresses will be made by visiting priests and Rev. Tintrup.—Globe-Democrat.

An Intimation of Falsehood. It has been reported to me that one J. N. Long, founder and owner of the Cross & Anchor Home of Ironton, said that for every child taken from this county by the Children's Home Society of Missouri, the county court pays them $50. I want to say that this is another of Long's unmitigated lies. R. T. MILNES, Dist. Supt.

Card of Thanks. We desire to extend our sincere thanks to all friends for their kindness and sympathy to us in our bereavement. Long will we hold you in grateful remembrance. MRS. W. W. HEYWOOD AND OSCAR.

Eureka! Yes, I have Found It At Last!

Found what? Why that Chamberlain's Salve cures eczema and all manner of itching of the skin. I have been afflicted for many years with skin disease. I had to get up three or four times every night and wash with cold water to allay the terrible itching, but since using this salve in December, 1905, the itching has stopped and has not troubled me.—ELDER JOHN T.
