Irresponsible Judicial Power.

In an editorial item in the Chicago Public of April 15th, entitled "Packing the Supreme Court," occurred the following language:

"When the Supreme Court was placed by the Constitution upon an equality with Congress, the seed of judicial despotism was sown. When Judge Marshall raised it above Congress, politically, by deciding that it was empowered to veto Congressional legislation in private lawsuits, the seed began to sprout."

Commenting upon this, a correspondent (Mr. R. L. Lamb, of Ransomville, N. Y.) imparts to all of us some startling information:

"The reference herein to Judge Marshall brings to mind some of the revelations made public through the Journal kept by President Madison. A statement is therein made to the effect that a proposition was made in the Convention of 1787 which framed the Constitution, that the judges of the Supreme Court should be clothed with the power to declare an enactment of Congress unconstitutional and void; and that upon no less than four different occasions at various times during the sitting of the Convention a vote upon the subject was taken, and that upon every trial such authority was denied by an overwhelming majority.

"From a fair construction of the intent of the framers of the Constitution there would seem no room for doubt, that while the Supreme Court might decide, in controverted cases, as to the meaning of the language of that instrument, it did not receive authority to nullify the acts of a co-ordinate branch of the government.

"How, then, it may be asked, has it come about that the vote of one lawyer upon the bench of the Supreme Court, has, simply by a change in his own opinion, for whatever cause, transferred more than $100,000,000 of annual taxation from the superfluous wealth of the rich to the backs of the poor, where it remained for 15 years?"

"History will affirm that for 14 years after the decisive refusal of the Convention of 1787 to grant this authority to the judges of the Supreme Court, the matter lay quiet, when, in the case of Marbury vs. Madison, John Marshall assumed the power to overthrow the acts of the Convention. And thus, it would seem, was a precedent established by that eminent jurist, which, for more than 100 years, has been taken as a justification for similar action.

"In a government by the people, professedly, is it not a matter of surprise, when we consider that such arbitrary power does not exist in even any monarchical government on the globe? Can a body of men, holding their office for life, hence beyond the reach of the people, be safely entrusted with such irresponsible power?"

Des Arc Items.

We are having the coldest spring ever known in this section. In 1816 we had frost every month in the year. Crops were a complete failure and the next spring seed corn sold for $4 a bushel. It looks like we are going to have the same thing.

We have a broom factory here that is doing quite a business; the broom corn is brought from St. Louis. Last year ninety acres of broom corn was planted here, but it didn't last long. Between three and four hundred brooms are manufactured every week. The farmers here will put in several hundred acres of broom corn this season, as they find a ready cash sale for it, besides it pays better than raising corn.

We had a number of distinguished visitors from Ironton last week. Among them were: Rev. Fuller Swift of the Enterprise, Eli D. Ake, editor of the REGISTER, W. T. Gay and Mr. Conway, a real estate man. We were glad to see them.

The closing exercises of the Holiness College were well attended. The school has closed a very successful year, and has made much progress in the musical department. Of the musical programme we make special mention of the trio by Misses Clara Pass, Orpha Davis and Zella Strother, which was fine. The solos by Misses Esther Myers, Lena Stevenson and Leah Wallis were all very good; this being their first year, these little girls did well. The orations by Misses Norma McCormick, Lina Farr and Ora Lovelace were very fine. Prof. Kistler will be in charge of the school for the coming year.

Mrs. Fred Cape of Eldorado, Ills., and Mrs. Cicero Collins of Sabula, are visiting their sister, Mrs. T. P. Fitz.

Mrs. Justis and daughter have returned from a visit with relatives at Hendrickson.

Mrs. Fred Farr spent Sunday at Williamsville with her husband.

Rev. J. B. McBride, wife and daughter are here from Greenville, Texas. Rev. McBride is preaching here this week.

Miss Clara Pass has returned to her home in Arkansas.

Mrs. Brewington is visiting her daughter at Brunot.

John Nation and Gene Fitz went to Williamsville Sunday.

Annapolis News.

Lumber and tie loading are the chief industries here now. Everything that will face four inches is being made into ties, black oak, white oak, walnut, slippery elm, sycamore and gum—all are being used.

Ben Funk and All Williams are in St. Louis to attend school. Both are good boys and will do their best.

Gus Funk has been appointed postmaster at this place, Charles Williams having resigned. Charlie has made a good postmaster and we hate to give him up. Mr. Funk has had experience in the post-office, however, and will, no doubt give good service. We can say we've had a Democrat in the post-office for twelve months during the twelve years or more of Republican rule.

Wm. C. Kitchell has moved out to A. J. Hurrell's place to farm on the halves.

Squire Kitchell was clean shaven last Saturday and looks just like Pat Milley.

Annapolis and Des Arc played base ball here Sunday.

Root digging is in full blast and the prices fair.

Robert Santhoff is putting lumber on the road here now again.

Grandma Harris is still living, but there is no hope for recovery.

Church has been going on here since last Saturday, and has been a good meeting. Rev. Singleton from Fiedmont is the leader.

Joie Farris of Gads Hill is visiting her parents, near this place.

D. A. Worley went to Ironton to-day on business.

Henry Abraham, near Vulcan, will emigrate to northwest Arkansas in the near future.

A. J. Hurrell is making a flying trip to Ironton to-day on business.

Johnny Benson has been on the sick list for the past two weeks, but at present is up and about.

Several land and farm seekers here the past two weeks, but no purchases up to date.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, who has been confined to her bed for nearly five months, is improving.

The new store house on Front street is looming up fast. Three first-class carpenters at work every day but Saturday, they being Seventh Day Adventists.

Mrs. Dean is in poor health. Well, it's time for the Democrats who want office to announce, and all be together.

For big bugs have little bugs, Upon their backs to bite 'em; And little bugs have lesser bugs, And so on, ad infinitum!
