Photograph, by Underwood & Underwood, New York.

Rubberized silk, tight fitting caps inside the handkerchiefs. Border of Persian design, red figured rubberized silk, white washable chiffon, taffeta banded across hair on top tied with side rosettes.

DRESS COMMENT.

Black chiffon tunics over blue or green or orange satin foundations are among the more favored styles.

Lace is more and more claiming the attention for trimming hats and gowns.

Black and white are most used, and when decorating skirts it is adjusted in flounces or as a tunic.

Old gold silk for afternoon and evening wear is being combined with Chantilly lace.

Cloth of gold and silver tissue comes again to a supple and glistening rescue when the dull rose and mahogany shades cry for a contrasting touch.

Yards and yards of shaded or changeable ribbon will be devoted to the hats in enormous loops, bows and scarfs.

Figured silks are vying with two-toned effects for street and house dresses.

Large flat hats have appeared with flowers in wreaths encircling the low crowns. This style is becoming to fine out of ten women, for it is undeniable that the long, sweeping lines of hats will add to the charm of the face beneath, and they are rarely trying to the wearer on account of stiff or straight effects.

DRESSING JACKET.

This jacket is in kimono style; the entire edge being cut in rather large scallops that are bound with contrasting material cut on the cross. If the jacket is in lawn, muslin, or zephyr, the binding would be in zephyr; if jacket is in nun's veiling or delaine, then silk would be used for binding.

Materials required: Two yards 40 inches wide.

A New Black Dress.

It is a chain mail dress, a sheath-like robe of coarse chenille threaded with jet beads, which the makers insist upon calling black diamonds. The excessive brilliance of the dress is lessened by broad bands of chenille that are crossed in ficu lines and carried down the sides of the tunic. The wide band of velvety black is again used under the arms so that the glistening black armor is not so aggressive as it sounds.

Soft folds of chiffon form the short sleeves, and white mulline gives the chemise in the most attractive form.

Plump Arms.

Cocoa butter will make the arms plump. Soften and warm the flesh with cloths wrung out of hot water and then rub from shoulder to wrist with a circular motion with cocoa butter warmed slightly. Cocoa butter may be had at any drug store in small cakes; it is hard and must be warmed before using. Unless the flesh is clean and warm it will not absorb.

MANY ARTICLES IN PURSE

Remarkable Ingenuity Displayed in Design and Workmanship of Parisian Jeweler.

A useful purse, just imported from Paris, is made of pearl colored glazed leather, lined with watered silk with a very unostentatious gold clasp. It is simple enough, and quite demure outwardly, but its interior contains unusual treasures for so unsuspecting an exterior. Besides the usual compartments for change, bills and visiting cards, there is fitted neatly under a gray leather flap a small mirror. In a compartment next to this is a beautiful little cut glass and silver mounted chased silver opera glasses mounted in mother-of-pearl, and last, but not least, a small perfume bottle with a little puff. In the other side of the wonderful little purse is another compartment containing a small pair of chased silver opera glasses mounted in mother-of-pearl, and last, but not least, a small perfume bottle with a little puff. In the other side of the wonderful little purse is another compartment containing a small pair of chased silver opera glasses mounted in mother-of-pearl, and last, but not least, a small perfume bottle with a little puff.

New Petticoats.

If you expect to make your own petticoats, select white muslin, blue chambray, tan chambray, white insertion or unbleached muslin and gingham for bands. In making the unbleached muslin petticoat cut the skirt in gores and attach a founce. Trim the founce with a narrow band of gingham and head it with a fold of gingham. Both materials will wash nicely. In selecting a muslin by all means eliminate lime-filled. It is cheap and soon turns yellow. If a ruffle of swiss embroidery is used reflect the kind with small notched edges and it will be less liable to tear. If laces are wanted the Valenciennes are durable, but a heavier linen variety can be used over and over again. For a chambray petticoat a net ruffle gives a pretty effect. Curtain net will serve the purpose. Hem it and head the hem with a very narrow fold of petticoat material. Three small bands look pretty on it. A serviceable petticoat is made of black or navy near silk. It wears well, has a silk finish and may be washed.

Pumps for Street Wear.

The new pumps for street wear are made with ankle straps, which are an improvement over the pumps used last year, for they were scarcely practical for outdoor wear.

To be quite correct the stockings worn with pumps of this description should be plain and fine, of course.

This rule applies to the street only. For house wear any of the dainty styles in embroidered hose may be donned as suits the taste of the wearer.

Use for a Lace Gown.

Now that transparent overdresses are so much in vogue, those women who possess a half-worn lace gown should resurrect it. White, black or color may be utilized. White or cream chiffon should veil laces in these shades, but black may be used under black chiffon or a dark color, such as a dull wine red.

Colored laces may be covered with chiffon in the same shade, using a different tone—lighter or darker, as considered the better choice—or a color harmonizing with the lace.

Economical Suit.

The smart-looking suit consisting of a foulard frock in polka-dot or a small figure design with short coat of cloth in the same shade as the foulard, is one of the most economical investments a woman can indulge in.

For she will possess a serviceable suit for eight months of the year, and if she cares to take the frock for house wear, from November to March, it will be useful for a whole year.

MAKING THE BEST OF STEAK

Most Effective Way of Dealing, for Instance With the Flank End of Porterhouse.

Before speaking of the cooking of the cuts that lack tenderness throughout, it may be well to refer to the fact that the flank end of the porterhouse is to be classed with the toughest of cuts and with those which, when cooked alone, are with difficulty made tender even by long heating. Mock duck, which is commonly made out of flank steak, can be rendered tender enough to be palatable only by long steaming or cooking in water, and yet people quite generally broil this part of the steak with the tenderloin and expect it to be eaten. The fact is that to broil this part of the porterhouse steak is not good management. It is much more profitable to put it into the soup kettle or to make it into a stew. In families where most of the members are away during the day the latter is a good plan, for the end of the steak makes a good stew for two or three people. This may be seasoned with vegetables left from dinner, or two or three olives cut up in gravy will give a very good flavor; or a few drops of some one of the bottled meat sauces, if the flavor is relished, or a little Chill sauce may be added to the stew. But if the tough end of a porterhouse is needed with the rest, a good plan is to put it through a meat grinder, make it into balls, and broil it with the tender portions. Each member of the family can then be served with a piece of the tenderloin and a meat ball. If the chopped meat is seasoned with a little onion juice, grated lemon rind, or chopped parsley, a good flavor is imparted to the gravy.

Favorite Recipes

Thick Potato Soup.—Boil as many potatoes as desired until soft enough to go through a sieve. Use the water they were boiled in, adding milk, butter, salt and pepper to season.

Thick Pea Soup.—Soak the dried peas over night, then cook the same as the potatoes, but add plenty of onions to flavor, but no carrot. Carrot soup can be made in the same way.

Creamed Potatoes With Cheese.—Make a good white sauce, using two tablespoonfuls of flour, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to season and a cupful of milk. Cut the potatoes in slices and boil. Put a layer of potatoes in a buttered baking dish, then a layer of white sauce, followed with a layer of grated cheese, thus alternating until the dish is full. Bake about twenty minutes and serve hot.

Vegetable Hash.—Boil together until tender potatoes, carrots and onions; then serve with butter, pepper and salt.

Dutch Salad.—Use as a foundation for this either herrings or anchovies, mixing the same with sliced beets, apples, cold potatoes, onions, hard-boiled eggs and either mayonnaise or a plain French dressing.

Another good salad is made from prawns or shrimps with lettuce, hard-boiled eggs and French dressing.

EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

Selection of Poultry.

In choosing poultry select those that are soft. Perhaps the surest way to determine whether they are young is to try the skin under the leg or wing. If it is easily broken it is young; or turn the wing backwards, and if the joint yields readily it is tender. When poultry is young the skin is thin and tender, the legs smooth, the feet moist and limber, and the eyes full and bright. The body should be thick and the breast fat. Old turkeys have long hairs and the flesh is purplish where it shows under the skin on the legs and back. About March they deteriorate in quality. Young ducks and geese are plump with light semitransparent fat, soft breast bones, tender flesh, leg joints which will break with the weight of the bird, fresh-colored and bristle beaks, and the windpipes that break when pressed between the thumb and forefinger. They are best in fall and winter.

Egg Kisses.

Use for these the whites of three eggs and one pint of sugar. Put the sugar in a bowl, pour the whites over and beat 20 minutes with a silver spoon. Drop the mixture on greased paper an inch or more apart. Do not let them touch. Put on a board or inverted bread pan and place enough layers of paper to keep the bottom from burning. Bake in a moderate oven until brown. Let the mixture rise and then bake or they will not be light. Remove with knife and put on dish.

For chocolate egg kisses add before cooking one ounce of grated chocolate which has been melted. Add gently and quickly or the mixture will be too thin.

Tapioca Cream.

Two tablespoonfuls tapioca, one quart milk, four eggs, sugar, and a little salt, soak the tapioca in a little water for two hours; put the milk to boil, stir in the tapioca, sugar, add a little salt. When nearly boiling stir in the yolks of the eggs; when as thick as boiled custard remove from the fire; have the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth, stir into the hot custard, flavor with vanilla. To be eaten cold. A teaspoonful of cornstarch can be added if the custard is not thick enough.

Burnt Sugar Cake.

Beat one-half cup of butter to a cream, gradually add one and one-half cups of sugar, the yolks of two eggs, one cup of water, two cups of flour, and beat for five minutes. Add three teaspoonfuls of burnt sugar, one teaspoonful of vanilla, one-half cup more of flour if needed. Beat again. Stir in two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and the well beaten whites of two eggs.

Nut Bread.

Mix together one-half teaspoonful of salt, four cupfuls of flour, one-half cupful of sugar, one scant cupful of chopped walnuts, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add two cupfuls of sweet milk, one beaten egg. Let raise 20 minutes and bake in moderate oven one hour.

LIFE-SAPPING PARASITES THAT WRECK HUMAN SYSTEM

The following remarkable statement was recently made by L. T. Cooper. It concerns the preparation which has been so widely discussed throughout the country during the past year, and has sold in such enormous quantities in leading cities:

"It is now a well-known fact that wherever I have introduced my New Discovery medicine, hundreds of people have brought internal parasites, or tapeworms, to me. In many cases these people did not know the nature of the parasite, and were consequently extremely nervous until I explained the matter to them. In some cities so many have had this experience that the public generally became alarmed."

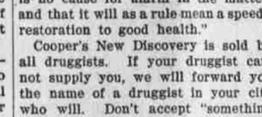

"I take this opportunity of explaining what these creatures are, and what I have learned about them in the past. 'Tapeworms are much more common than would be supposed. I venture to say that ten per cent. of all chronic stomach trouble, or what is known as a 'rundown' condition, is caused by them. An individual may suffer for years with one of these great parasites and not be aware of it. 'Contrary to general belief, the appetite is not greatly increased—it only becomes irregular. There is a general feeling of faintness, however, and a gnawing sensation in the pit of the stomach."

"People afflicted with one of these parasites are nervous and depressed. Their chief sensation is one of languor, and they tire very easily. Lack of energy and ambition affect the body, and the mind becomes dull and sluggish. The memory becomes not so good, and the eyesight is generally poorer."

"The New Discovery, in treating stomach and bowels of all impurities, seems to be fatal to these great worms, and almost immediately expels them from the system. I wish to assure anyone who has the experience just related with my preparation, that there is no cause for alarm in the matter, and that it will as a rule mean a speedy restoration to good health."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold by all druggists. If your druggist cannot supply you, we will forward you the name of a druggist in your city who will. Don't accept "something just as good."—The Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come out on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad that I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk."

"My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I sent to a drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed directions. At the end of two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. I can sincerely say that only for Cuticura my child would have died. I used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Ointment."

"I am a nurse and my profession brings me into many different families and it is always a pleasure for me to tell my story and recommend Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 23, 1909."

An Interruption.

"Among the primary pupils enrolled in a Baltimore school this term is the son of a prominent business man of that city.

One afternoon, at close of school, the youngster sought out his father in his office, to whom he said:

"Dad, I'm getting tired of school. I think I'll quit."

"Why?" asked the astonished parent; "what's the matter, Tommy? I thought you were fond of going to school."

"So I am, dad," responded the youngster, suppressing a yawn, "but it breaks up the day so."—Harper's Magazine.

Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, 1712 Moffatt St., Joplin, Mo., says: "Like most elderly people, I suffered from kidney trouble for years. Importation of Leeches.

Leeches are enumerated by the bureau of statistics under its general head of animals imported, the total value of the imports of this species in 1908 having been $5,341; in 1907, $6,922; in 1906, $4,494; in 1905, $3,562; in 1904, $3,589; in 1903, $3,240, and in 1902, $2,412—the commerce in leeches being thus of a growing character. The total number of leeches imported in the United States in the decade ending with 1908, is about 40,000. Leeches are imported free of duty. Snails were at one time enumerated as an article of importation, the records from 1894 to 1898 showing snails imported to the extent of about $5,000, but the snail trade so dwindled, showing only $24 of imports in 1908, that the bureau discontinued its statements of this article.

A Divided Family.

The bright six-year-old daughter of a physician happened into his reception room the other day and a waiting woman patient engaged her in conversation.

"I suppose you to go church and Sunday school?" she asked.

"Oh, yes, ma'am," she replied.

"And what denomination do your parents belong to?"

"Why," said the little one, "mamma's a Presbyterian and papa's a stomach specialist."

Too Lavish.

Mrs. Dobbs was trying to find out the likes and dislikes of her new boarder, and all she learned increased her satisfaction.

"Do you want pie for breakfast?" she asked.

"No, I thank you," said the new boarder, with a smile. "Pie for breakfast seems a little too much."

"That's just the way I look at it," said Mrs. Dobbs, heartily. "I say pie for dinner is a necessity, and pie for supper gives a kind of finishing touch to the day; but pie for breakfast is what I call putting on airs."—Youth's Companion.

JUST A "LITTLE MITE DEEF"

Circumstantial Evidence That Emma Salter Needed Some Artificial Aid to Hearing.

"You know how Emma Salter used to say she was a mite deaf, but when she was real deaf she'd buy her some kind of contrivance so's to make it easy for her friends," said Mrs. Jennings to her daughter; and the young woman nodded, forbearing to remind her mother that the span of her recollections was not precisely the duplicate of the old lady's.

"She's never bought one, and she never will, now," said Mrs. Jennings, who had an exhausted air.

"I hollered at her all the way out to the Light, and all the way back; and while we were visiting Mrs. Gorham the sunset gun sounded and made a great noise."

"I thought sure she'd hear that, but I didn't suspicion how she'd hear it till Bert Gorham come into the room a second after."

"You've grown considerable heavier 'n you were, Bert," Emma said to him. "I heard you coming up the stairs plain as day."—Youth's Companion.

Noisy Nuisances.

Ill-fitting doors and windows represent a happy hunting ground for the disturbing winds. In fact, so annoying does the constant rattle of these openings become that many determined individuals, who resolve to admit the fresh air, choose the lesser of two evils and close the openings in preference to sleepless nights. This can be remedied if a small wedge of wood be driven at the side of an open window; a door can be prevented from rattling if a pad or strip of thick felt be nailed on the edge of the door.

The annoyance of creaking drawers can be eliminated by rubbing common soap upon the top, sides and bottom of each.

Creaking hinges on anything should be well oiled, while the grating, irritating noise of a sewing machine can be overcome in a similar manner.

The little noises wear away the patience that is required for other things. It were foolish to dissipate energy through the channels of irritated nerves when a little time will obviate the nuisances.

Shows Value of Steel Car.

That the steel car is of great value as a protection to passengers in the event of collision was demonstrated in a recent clash of two trains in the Hudson tunnel, New York city. There was no such telescoping as would probably have occurred with wooden cars, and the injuries were merely such as resulted from the passengers being thrown down by the shock of the collision.
