At a meeting of the Arcadia Valley Agriculture Club last Saturday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, G. W. Fuerbeck; vice president, C. S. Russell; secretary, Geo. Stark; treasurer, R. E. Rudy. Each third Saturday in the month will be devoted to lectures on farming.

Wm. Henson, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in a St. Louis hospital about five weeks since, has returned home and we are pleased to learn, is greatly improved in health. The operation did not seem to bother him at all and Mr. Henson tells us he is feeling better now than he has for a year past.

John J. Tiefenauer, who formerly conducted a bakery in Ironton, but has been on a farm near Munger for the past six months, tells us that he will probably engage in the bakery business in Poplar Bluff in the near future. John is a clever, deserving young man, and a good baker, and we wish him well.

The defeat of the proposition to issue $30,000 for building a new courthouse at Greenville, the county seat of Wayne county, has been regarded as strange and the Williamsville folks have been credited for it. The following will conclusively show the cause of the result. Now as the election is over and the county is not bonded for $30,000 lets go to planning for the county seat removal.—Williamsville Iron News.

R. H. Abrams, formerly of the south end of the county, was before Squire Rasche Tuesday, charged by his wife with assault and battery and disturbing the peace. The case came here from Des Arc on change of venue. The parties are separated and a divorce suit is pending in the circuit court. Owing to the absence of material witnesses the cases before Squire Rasche Tuesday were continued until December 21st. Abrams is at present working as a carpenter at Crystal City.

Mrs. H. O. Davis Saturday received word of a severe and painful accident befalling her grandson, Albert, seven years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, of the day before. The boy was at school playing with some other boys when a stick was thrust into his mouth with considerable force. A number of teeth were knocked down his throat, his palate lacerated and his throat cut and bruised. At last accounts the little fellow was getting along as well as could be expected but is suffering considerably.

D. A. Worley arrived this morning from Annapolis, Mo., in search of his fifteen-year-old son, Charles, who ran away from home several days ago. The father reached this city too late, he securing information this morning that Charles and another youth had already boarded a freight train and started south. Worley is a cousin of William Randall of this city, who is assisting as much as possible in the search for the missing youth. The parent is distressed over his son's action.—Poplar Bluff Citizen-Democrat.

One of the most meritorious organizations of the Valley is the Arcadia Highlands Orchard Company, recently formed and about to be incorporated. The managers are men of experience in fruit-growing and trained to latter day, scientific methods. In next week's REGISTER I shall attempt a resume of their plans and purposes. I am pleased with their venture for I deem it especially adapted to conditions here, and undoubtedly sure to be successful—differing essentially, in this, from some of the exploited "progressive" fakes which have not conduced to the permanent welfare of Arcadia Valley.

Tuesday afternoon W. L. Coley and Jerry B. Burks, attorneys for the defendants in the libel suit of Edward A. Rozier against Judge G. O. Nations and his son, R. Heber Nations, filed an application in the circuit court for a change of venue, on the ground that the Circuit Judge, Charles A. Killian, is so prejudiced against defendants that they believe they cannot have a fair and impartial trial before him. The court and prosecuting attorney indulged in some uncomplimentary remarks about the defendants and one of their attorneys, Mr. Coley, but the change of venue was granted, and the court ordered the case sent to the circuit court of Iron county, where it will probably come up before Judge Deering at the April term next year.—Farmington Times.

The first spike was driven to-day in the building of the double track from the south to Poplar Bluff, the commercial gateway of the Iron Mountain railway system. The dumps and tressels having been put in shape to receive the steel, the large crews of the construction department were put to laying the rails a short way south of this city and by January 1st it is hoped that the score of daily trains will steam in and out of the Poplar Bluff terminal on double tracks. The double track will extend to a point one mile south of Harviell, a distance of eight miles. Sixty miles of the road north of Little Rock also three miles on either side of Newport, Ark., are being double tracked. The plan is to double all the way from Poplar Bluff to Texarkana.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

Desloge Sun: "In the election of a County Judge in the western part of Iron county, at the last election, the vote was tie between Messrs. Phillips and Scott for the honor. At the recount, held this week, the vote was unchanged. But it seems that some forty years back a law was placed on our statutes providing for the adjustment of such a condition, and leaving it for the sheriff of the county to cast the vote that would settle the matter. Iron county has a Democratic sheriff, and when it was left to him he cast his deciding vote for the Democratic candidate, which has caused our friend, Fuller Swift, of the Enterprise, considerable worry, that gentleman thinking that the sheriff should have drawn lots in the matter—a sort of gambling scheme, you know."

In consequence of a severe cold contracted by Miss Harrington, the Recital promised for last Friday evening was perforce postponed until Tuesday night. The audience—it was a goodly one—that was assembled on the first evening, though disappointed of an expected treat, was friendly and sympathetic; and when the time of the second appointment came, nearly every ticket-holder was present. All were repaid amply with the program given. Miss Harrington has a voice of wonderful depth and sweetness, perfect in tone, and facile to the theme rendered. The pianist, Miss Roehry, is our Valley's own production, and we all feel proud of her. Her selections and accompaniments were worthy a professional artist. Rounds of applause attended every number on the program. It is pleasing to believe that at another time we may again listen to the strains of sweet music that filled the hall Tuesday evening.

William A. Watson, representing the Pittsburg & Missouri Mining Company, owners of two thousand acres of iron land in Wayne and this county, was in the city Thursday and while here stated that his company is making arrangements to begin the extensive operations of the lands as soon as possible. Probably two or three hundred men will be employed in operating the mines, according to Mr. Watson. A big washer will be installed and an aerial tram will be built for transporting the ore from the mines to the railroad. This will be one of the biggest and finest tramways in this section, being about two and one-half miles long. The company has headquarters at 507 Commonwealth Bldg., Pittsburg, Pa., but Mr. Watson is now located at Greenville. This company has owned the above land for thirty years, having realized its great value and acquired it at that early date.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

MONROE, La., November 13, 1910.—J. E. Franklin, president of the Bankers' Trust Company, of St. Louis, which owned a controlling interest in the Bank of Monroe, which recently closed its doors, and against whose officers and directors warrants were sworn out by State Bank Examiner Young, published a long statement here to-day in defense of himself and the Bankers' Trust Company. The statement contains some very caustic references to some of the Bank of Monroe officials, and to Mr. Young. "Since our trust company bought stock in the Bank of Monroe, we have been vainly endeavoring to secure capable management." "The receivers gave me a written statement that the Bankers' Trust Company had been most generous and honorable in all its dealings with the Bank of Monroe. I asked Examiner Young to join in this statement, but he declined, stating that having made these criminal charges it would stultify him to sign the statement I requested."

Our little town was dreadfully shocked and thrown into feverish excitement on Monday morning, about ten o'clock, by the report of the sudden death of Mr. A. M. Allen, one of our oldest and best known citizens. He was up and about his home in his usual good health and was putting up a clothes-line, when he suddenly fell and expired without uttering a word or even a shudder. Dr. Gay was summoned from Ironton but was too late to render medical aid as Mr. Allen was dead when he arrived. The whole community was shocked and saddened by this sudden death and of course Mrs. Allen was driven frantic with grief for a time. This is the fourth death from the same cause (heart failure) within the past year. Mr. Allen will be missed in the community, for he was well known to a large circle of friends and was always busy about his home which by his care and energy had become one of the most beautiful in Arcadia Valley. Truly in the midst of life we are in death. It is God's way and though we may not understand it, we may exclaim with the immortal McKinley: "His will be done." Although these sudden deaths are always shocking, there is the comforting thought about them that those who go in this way are spared the lingering suffering and pain consequent upon long and finally fatal sickness. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to Mrs. Allen in her hour of deep and sudden bereavement.

Miss Anna and Master Braid Shane went ten miles into the country Sunday and never found persimmons enough to pucker a chigger's lips.

There is considerable "chicken talk" in Arcadia now and we shouldn't be at all surprised if it results in an Iron county chicken fair before the end of 1911. So may it be. There is more money in raising chickens than there is in raising wheat in Iron county.

How would it do to organize a civic league in the valley having for its object the beautifying of all our homes and giving a prize, first, second and third for the home showing the greatest improvement in yard surroundings between the first day of March and the first day of July? Let's think it all over and improve our home surroundings.

Mrs. Louis Kemp died very suddenly last Thursday night and was buried at the Hyatt's Creek cemetery Saturday, November 19, 1910.

1910. Mrs. Kemp always was a big, stout healthy woman, up to a very few days before her death. She has left behind her four sons and two daughters and a host of brothers and half-brothers and sisters to mourn her loss. She had professed a hope in heaven last fall and cast her lot with the church of God, commonly called the Sanctified church, while holding a camp meeting near H. P. Fifty Years of Bliss.

(Bonne Terre Star.)
 On the morning of November 15, 1890, at the little town of Ironton, Missouri, Rev. John Donaldson united in marriage Miss Elizabeth Jane Bland and Mr. F. I. Tetley, the young people immediately after the ceremony going to the home provided by Mr. Tetley where the new Mrs. Tetley commenced preparations for the first family dinner.

This was the unpretentious beginning of a family that has grown and prospered and has meant much in the progress and development of this part of southeast Missouri.

Mr. Tetley was a good carpenter, a rattling good carpenter in fact, Mrs. Tetley was a good wife, one of the best, in very fact. Little Tetleys began arriving until there were twelve little Tetleys to gladden the home and brighten the days.

The Tetleys moved from Ironton to Libertyville, then to Knob Lick and in the early seventies came to Bonne Terre where they anchored. Mr. Tetley working at his trade and later going into the lumber business on a large scale. Here the children were raised and taught, and from here they have gone out in the world to fill large places, many in important places of trust.

The children living are: Charles Richard P., of Flat River, Samuel F., of Bonne Terre, Edward S., of Grandin, and Wm. A., of Poplar Bluff, the latter two being ministers in the Southern Methodist church. The girls are Maggie Thomas and Mary Steinmetz, of Bonne Terre, Lizzie Green, of Valle Mines, Amanda Coogan and Hattie Doak, of San Francisco, California.

Tetley, the young people immediately after the ceremony going to the home provided by Mr. Tetley where the new Mrs. Tetley commenced preparations for the first family dinner.

This was the unpretentious beginning of a family that has grown and prospered and has meant much in the progress and development of this part of southeast Missouri.

Mr. Tetley was a good carpenter, a rattling good carpenter in fact, Mrs. Tetley was a good wife, one of the best, in very fact. Little Tetleys began arriving until there were twelve little Tetleys to gladden the home and brighten the days.

The Tetleys moved from Ironton to Libertyville, then to Knob Lick and in the early seventies came to Bonne Terre where they anchored. Mr. Tetley working at his trade and later going into the lumber business on a large scale. Here the children were raised and taught, and from here they have gone out in the world to fill large places, many in important places of trust.

The children living are: Charles Richard P., of Flat River, Samuel F., of Bonne Terre, Edward S., of Grandin, and Wm. A., of Poplar Bluff, the latter two being ministers in the Southern Methodist church. The girls are Maggie Thomas and Mary Steinmetz, of Bonne Terre, Lizzie Green, of Valle Mines, Amanda Coogan and Hattie Doak, of San Francisco, California.
