STATE OF MISSOURI,
COUNTY OF IRON,
CITY OF IRONTON.

I, WALTER H. FISHER, City Clerk within and for the City of Ironton, County and State aforesaid, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a correct statement of all monies received and expended on account of said City during the year preceding the 31st day of December, 1910, as fully as the same appears from the records in my office.

Witness my hand and the seal of said City hereto affixed, this 25th day of January, 1911.

WALTER H. FISHER, City Clerk.

New Country Club Ozark's Sky Garden.

(From the St. Louis Republic.)

Missouri soon can boast of a summer resort equal to any in the United States. It will be known as the "Sky Garden of the Ozarks," and will be located near Arcadia, on the Iron Mountain Railroad, about 100 miles from this city, and at an altitude of more than 1,000 feet.

Citizens of St. Louis, Kansas

City, St. Joseph and other smaller towns have made the project possible. They banded together and at an investment of nearly $500,000 will establish the Arcadia Country Club on 6,000 acres of land in the heart of the Ozark Mountains and with entrance gates near the "Shut-Ins."

The plan of organization was evolved several months ago, by a coterie of local and Kansas City business men. The first tangible steps toward completion will be taken to-morrow, when application will be made in the Circuit Court of this city for a pro forma decree. Within five days, the required time by law, the Secretary of State will be asked for a charter.

The club is to be a state-wide organization and will be operated strictly on a mutual interest basis. The charter members of the club include many of the wealthiest and most influential business and professional men of this city and Kansas City, St. Joseph, Hannibal, Joplin, Sedalia and other cities.

The present headquarters are in the Third National Bank building, where contracts are being let for the improvement of the club reservation. The charter membership of the club was limited to 200, but several days ago that number was obtained and now applications are on file for 230 more.

A site for the club has been bought. It includes 6,000 acres of land, and besides being on the direct line of a railroad also is reached by the new 100-mile automobile boulevard now in process of construction. All but nine miles of this road have been finished and this is under way. It leads to the entrance gates of the club's reservation.

J. D. Muskopp, the landscape expert, is engaged in laying out the reservation for club purposes. This large reservation is the only compact body of land in the State which is in such close proximity to a railroad. The greater part of the tract is densely wooded and is interlaced by streams having their source in clear, cold mountain springs. From all the forest, except the game preserve, the undergrowth is being cleared out, thus giving the grounds a parklike effect.

A large lake called Killarney, two golf links and innumerable tennis courts, besides opportunities for other summer sports, will be provided. Archery will be fostered in the depths of the beautiful natural forest, and coon hunts, and 'possum barbecues will be special features of the fall months.

The plan of operation is unique. Each membership in the club carries with it a deed for a bungalow site, on which a summer home may be erected. The restrictions surrounding these deeds are only those necessary for the protection of the entire club. No dictation is made as to either architectural design, or the exact location of the building. The entire club grounds will be the front yard of the bungalow owners.

terested in the statistics being gathered by our health boards. The showing looks hopeful, yet few are so optimistic as to deny serious risks connected with this treatment.

The attitude of the osteopathic practitioners is neutral toward antitoxin. As with other professions, some individuals favor, some oppose it. Osteopaths confess to a fundamental distrust of the principle of seeking to promote health by injecting the fluids of diseased animals into the human blood stream; yet we are not bigoted and will await the verdict of mature experience with great interest. Osteopaths would be as delighted as their medical friends if time were to demonstrate antitoxin to be safe, efficient cure.

However that may be, it is worthy of note that osteopathy has an independent, rational, perfectly harmless, very satisfactory method of treating diphtheria all its own which does not depend upon polluting, but by contrast, upon purifying the human blood stream. It is efficient and successful. There is nothing like pure, healthy blood to overcome bacilli and osteopaths know how to clean up the human blood stream and lessen the inflammation of diphtheria by adjusting the human organism and stimulating its own recuperative resources.

PNEUMONIA.

In former issues we have discussed the treatment of pneumonia in a general way, and will add here that what is true in adult cases is equally so in the cases of children. Drugs are admitted to be useless, and osteopathy has proven to be singularly successful in these cases; and as children respond more readily to the treatment than do their elders, there is no room for argument here. Suffice it to say that osteopathic treatment begins to act immediately in these cases. It is able to abort many cases of pneumonia when given at the oncoming of symptoms. It relieves congestion and makes for speedy recovery.
