A Good Example

"I am a good example," writes Mrs. R. L. Bell, of McAlester, Okla., "of what Cardui will do for suffering women."

"I suffered with my head and back, for over six years, and although I tried everything, I never could get anything to do me any good, until I began to take Cardui. Cardui has surely helped me and built me up and I am so thankful that I have found something that will do me good. I feel so much stronger and better than I have in a long time."

It is well to make up your mind before you are sick what medicine you will take when you are sick.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

You will be glad to take it when you are tired, miserable and when life seems a weary grind. It will put new thoughts into your head, fresh courage into your mind. If not sick now, at least burn Cardui on to the pages of your memory, so that when you are sick you will ask for it without thinking.

If sick or weak, get a bottle today. At all druggists. Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent free.

From Hon. J. H. Martin.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23, 1911.

Ed. Register—I had about settled it in my mind to refrain from writing for publication, but, yielding to suggestions of those whom I regard as friends, and realizing at the same time that I could thus reach many of my constituents through your valuable paper, send you a short resume of what I have done in the 46th General Assembly.

Let me state to begin with: I am not a seeker after notoriety. I was elected by the people of Iron county without much effort on my part to represent them in the legislature. This I am doing to the best of my ability.

It is my policy to represent the will of the majority of the people of my county when I know their will, and when I do not, to stand for what I sincerely believe to be their interests, with all due regard to the principles of right and justice.

Since I have been here, I have introduced but two bills. One has received the favorable report of the committee to which it was referred and is before the House for engrossment. The other is before the Committee on Ways and Means and will probably be reported favorably within the next few days. The first, House bill 907, is a bill which seeks to regulate the payment of demurrage charges by railroads, and if passed, will give the shipper what is coming to him in the same manner that railroads assume to collect demurrage coming to them. The second, House bill 906, repeals the entire Vital Statistics Law, which works a hardship on the people of our county, as well as many other counties throughout the state.

I have been censured by many of my medical brethren for introducing such a bill, but have invariably vindicated myself by replying that I was not elected to represent the medical profession in particular, but the people of Iron county in general.

Mr. Editor, in response to your protest against our failure to abolish the office of State Bee Inspector, will state, I used every effort to secure the passage of a bill abolishing said office, and in a speech on the floor of the House, emphasized the fact that although the Bee Inspector had held that office for ten years, he has never issued a single bulletin, nor helped bee culture in any known manner.

I have opposed every measure proposing to create new offices or entailing additional expense on the State. I have used all my influence to secure the passage of an act abolishing the present system of convict labor and have supported a bill providing for the removal of the statute of limitation, which limits the damages to from two to ten thousand dollars in case of death due to fault or negligence of a railroad or other corporation.

The above are but a few of the measures which have appeared to me as being important issues, but I stand ready and willing to state my position on all measures which have come, or may come, before this present assembly, and am proud to say that I am not ashamed of anything I have done, or may do, as your representative.

For the information of a certain class who have assumed to doubt my sincerity of purpose, let me state: I am a Democrat, first, last, and all the time. Not the kind of Democrat who would put party before principle, not the kind who would be so because it happens to serve his present purpose best, but one in whom the principle which teaches that "the people should rule," is so firmly implanted that it becomes a part of the natural being.

It is my impression that there should be insurgent Democrats as well as Republicans. I deplore the tendency of the speaker of our House to appoint a few favored friends on every important committee.

I protest against binding members in caucus to support measures looking toward legislation which would injure the minority party, and predict that such legislation will hasten the time when the minority will again come into power.

Now, Mr. Editor, I do not feel that I should close this somewhat lengthy expression of a few of my opinions without referring with great pride to the fact that I was honored by being appointed on a committee to escort the great Coy-moner, the man I most admire as a statesman, to address the House and Senate, last Thursday afternoon.

I wish that I had the time and space to comment at length upon the jewels of wisdom that fell from his lips in that address, but suffice it to say that he held the large audience spellbound for an hour and a half, and that the whole gist of his argument led up to the final point that Honesty, Sincerity and Truth will prevail, even in politics.

Yours, truly,
J. H. MARTIN.

OSTEOPATHIC TREATMENT.

(From Osteopathic Health.)
(Published by direction of Dr. W. J. SMITH, Osteopathic Sanitarium, Ironton, Mo., to whom application for further information may be made.)

THE WARNING OF NIGHT-CRIES.

One of the best general movements of the present day is the campaign of education concerning tuberculosis. Already its effects are being seen in some abatement of the terrible scourge, and in time there will be a great reduction in the number of cases that reach an incurable stage, for "forewarned is forearmed."

But though it is the most frequent, pulmonary tuberculosis is not the only form of the dread disease. The lymphatic glands are often the seat of infection—indeed there are authorities who maintain that more than ninety per cent. of all children have tubercular glands at one time or another. Fortunately this form of infection is seldom vitally serious, for the body's army of defense, its phagocytes, can usually surround and destroy the invading germ host.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS IS IMPORTANT.

When tuberculosis attacks joints and bones it is a serious matter. If the nature of the case is recognized early enough, and the proper treatment begun at once, much suffering may be avoided, and a good recovery with little or no deformity be effected.

A tubercular joint, whether in the spinal column or at the hip or knee, usually develops as a result of a fall or other injury. Almost always the injury is regarded as slight at the time, but later a soreness appears.

NEVER NEGLECT A LIMP.

If the infection is at the hip the child will begin to limp. In the first stages of the lameness the limp will be apparent only in the morning. Later it becomes constant. Often a mistake is made in locating the seat of the trouble, as the child complains of a pain at the knee, seldom mentioning the hip. This is known as a "referred pain," and it is due to the involvement of the nerves.

In the case of Pott's disease, or tuberculosis of the spine, the true nature of the disease may not be suspected until a breaking down of the infected vertebra causes a lump to appear. I have known instances in which the attending physician treated the case as spinal curvature or rheumatism. This is not easy to excuse in a doctor, who should make no mistake in these cases.

Not only is much valuable time lost, but the disease progresses and needless deformity results.

WHAT THE CRY MEANS.

There should be no necessity for error in determining the nature of the disease in these tubercular joints if characteristic signs are read and understood.

Early in the progress of the joint affection an almost unmistakable sign is a sharp cry during sleep.

Often the cry is heard at the moment the child falls asleep, as the relaxation of all muscles the instant sleep comes brings the parts into painful contact. Any movement, as turning over, may cause the child to cry out during the night. Often he will not know upon awakening what caused the pain.

A watchful parent will never disregard such a cry, especially if it is repeated again and again. "Better be sure than be sorry."

SYMPTOMS THAT INDICATE TUBERCULAR JOINTS.

The cries alone are suspicious. When to them is added, however, a morning limp or awkwardness of gait, or a tender spot along the spine, together with a slight afternoon fever, get your child to the osteopath at once. He needs immediate attention.

As stated earlier, if proper treatment is instituted soon enough, a cure is usually effected in a short time, and with little real inconvenience to the patient.

Proper treatment in this case does not mean manipulation of the affected parts. A tubercular joint must have complete rest in order to allow Nature's forces to repair the tissues. The osteopath, therefore, proceeds as does any good surgeon, to put the joint in a state of rest. He does more than other surgeons do, however, for in addition to fixation of the joint he gives specific treatment to secure about the joint that free circulation which enables the phagocytes of the blood to destroy the bacilli of tuberculosis. Rightly administered, osteopathy is the ideal treatment in these cases.

NAVAL TIP FOR SEAGERS

Lemon and Ginger Should Be Given to Those Not Sure of Themselves on Shipboard.

A surgeon on the naval hospital ship Solace has a remedy for seasickness which should be of interest to folks who are going on winter cruises and are apprehensive that they may have to stay below deck most of the time.

It is simply a decoction of lemon and ginger, and may be taken in the form of lemon soda and ginger ale, or a dash of seltzer may be added to a little lemon juice and Jamaica ginger. The doctor's idea is that the lemon causes a greater secretion of the gastric juices and that the ginger serves as a stimulant, the need of which can be best appreciated by the victim.

The remedy has been used on the Solace with various degrees of success, and it is not pretended that it will prove effective for everybody. It should be taken in small doses as soon as trouble seems to be approaching, although it may be of some use at a well-advanced stage.

Uninviting as the beverage may seem, it can be made after a little experimenting so that it is very agreeable. The lemon juice and ginger is not as palatable as the soda, but has been found to give better results. Usually it is best to make it with more ginger than lemon and with just enough carbonic water to make it drinkable.

HINT TO PICTURE LOVERS

Easy Way to Gain Appreciation of Your Fine Works of Art by the Neighbors.

I'm speaking now to the man who admires good pictures and who perhaps has a gallery of them. Many of your neighbors do not properly appreciate your Corvets and your Israels and your Mauves and your Daubignys and your Constables and Turners.

Let us suppose you have a Corot depicting a dance of wood-nymphs. Take your penknife or your wife's hatpin and stab holes in the hands of the nymphs. Then paste tissue paper of different colors, orange and purple and crimson, behind the holes. Now place powerful electric lights behind these holes and your nymphs are carrying fairylights and you have intensified the interest in Corot.

Say you have a Constable in which there is an old English church in a rural landscape that only Constable could have painted.

Illuminate the clock in the same way and set a chime of bells behind it that may be set ringing by pushing a button. If there is a cow in the picture, contrive to make her moo.

Now call in your friends, press the button, light the lights, make the bells chime, and the cow moo and your neighbors will appreciate Constable.

Carrie McFaddin, Plaintiff, vs.

John Robert McFaddin, Defendant.

Now at this day comes the plaintiff herein, by her attorney, John H. Raney, Esq., and files her petition and affidavits, alleging, among other things, that defendant John Robert McFaddin is not a resident of the State of Missouri;

Whereupon, it is ordered by the Clerk of the Circuit Court in vacation, that said defendant be notified by publication that plaintiff has commenced a suit against him in this Court, the object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony contracted with the defendant aforesaid, and the care and custody of her minor child, Cecil McFaddin; plaintiff alleging that she was lawfully married to the defendant John Robert McFaddin, January 20th, 1905; that she continued to live with said defendant from said date till the 27th day of January, 1909; that during all that time plaintiff faithfully demeaned herself as the wife of defendant and at all times treated him with kindness and affection, but the defendant wholly disregarded his duties as the husband of plaintiff, without cause or excuse abandoned plaintiff on the 27th day of January, 1909, and has continuously, until the filing of her petition herein, remained away from plaintiff, and has continuously failed to support plaintiff and the infant child born of the marriage aforesaid; and that unless the said John Robert McFaddin be and appear at this court, at the next term thereof, to be begun and holden at the court-house in the city of Ironton, in said county, on the fourth Monday of April next, and on or before the third day of said term, if the term shall so long continue—and if not, then on or before the last day of said term—answer or plead to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed, and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered, that a copy hereof be published, according to law, in the IRON COUNTY REGISTER, a newspaper published in said county of Iron for four weeks successively, published at least once a week, the last insertion to be at least thirty days before the first day of said next April term of this court.
