Rev. J. W. Worshop was an Ironton visitor last week and held services at Fort Hill Tuesday night. Mr. Worshop is now residing elder of the De Soto district, but makes his home in St. Louis. He has lots of friends in the valley who are always glad to see him.

Mr. Hill the former proprietor of the Madison Hotel, has bought out the restaurant and grocery store in the Cohen building and will fix the same up and make it a first class restaurant in every respect where one can get a meal or a lunch at any time.—Fredericktown Democrat-News.

Strayed—From my farm in Flatwoods, one red Heifer, two years old, marked with a split in the left and underbit in the right ear. A muley. Anyone taking her up and informing me will be paid therefor.

HARRISON H. PEACE, Ironton, Mo.

Judge E. M. Dearing returned to Potosi Saturday night, after a two weeks' stay at Centerville, holding court. This is the last court he will hold this year, and the Judge is highly complimented in all the counties upon the manner in which he has transacted business, and in the great reductions he has made both in criminal and jury cost, as compared with extravagant expenditures incurred by his predecessor.—Potosi Independent.

Some days the skies have been darkened, and the heavens have wept chilling tears, but, in the main, our winter weather has been ideal. The frosts of night are relaxed by the tempering rays of the morning sun, and life and health are in our mountain atmosphere, which gives zest to being, sparkle to eye and ruddiness to cheek. The ice houses are not filling 'gainst next summer's coming, nor is there notable enervation of the corded wood-pile.

What are the Arcadians doing? Well, here is more news from the front. To all the patriotic citizens in the valley, particularly the old soldiers, the people of Arcadia desire to be honored with your presence at the hoisting of the "Star Spangled Banner," Friday, December 22d, at 3 P. M., at the Arcadia public school house, where it may always "wave o'er the land of the free and home of the brave."

ARCADIA IMP'T ASSOCIATION.

Wiley Weaver, who had a few days previously entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault with intent to kill, was on last Saturday brought into court for sentence and Judge Dearing placed his sentence at five years in the penitentiary. Weaver is the man who attempted to kill his wife and then himself, a couple of months ago. He took his sentence pretty hard as he seemed to think the punishment far too heavy. The general opinion of all who knew anything about the facts in the case was that the Judge dealt very leniently with him.—Centerville Outlook.

I see that Mr. Arthur Huff was made foreman of the Federal grand jury at St. Louis last week. An excellent selection.

Talking about the public High School, does the board of this district stop to consider that if such a department is provided for the white children a similar must be placed at the disposal of the colored children? Or, if not that, the latter must be permitted to attend at the room set apart for the whites of the same grade? That such is the law in the case of public schools made and provided, is contented by some who are better versed in the disentanglement of legal intricacies than I.

Everybody in the Arcadia Valley is cordially invited to attend the Christmas exercises given by the pupils of the Arcadia public school on Saturday, December 23d, 1911, at 7:30. Santa Claus will be there. A good time is insured to those who attend. An important public question will be discussed also. Come, bring your family and your friends.

MISS RINGO, MISS SHANE, Teachers.

I have heard complaint from several persons relative to the heating—or, rather, lack of proper heating—of the public school rooms. They claim that their children have contracted severe colds; that windows on either side have been raised, giving drafts of cold air through the rooms, and that in consequence sudden and great change in their temperature resulted. With the establishment of the new system of heating, this should be avoided, and I promise will be when the regulation of the furnace is better understood.

In the REGISTER of November 30th, appeared the following paragraph in the 'Des Arc' correspondence: "Roadmaster Boyer passed here last week counting the rotten ties. He says it will take 1000 ties every mile between Piedmont and De Soto and they will be put in this winter. He says the fast trains' time is cut to 30 miles an hour for fear of broken rails."

Mr. Boyer called on us yesterday and emphatically denied that he had made such statement to the correspondent, "Isaac." If he has been misquoted or misunderstood, I regret it. The question of what he said is between him and "Isaac," who is not unfriendly toward railroad men.

Farmington people were interested in the announcement published in last Saturday's St. Louis Globe-Democrat, of the engagement of Joseph Lee Parks, formerly a young business man of Farmington, now located in New York, to Mrs. Maude Edgar Jurich, widow of the late Lieut. Anton Smith of the U. S. Army. Mrs. Jurich was formerly Miss Maude Edgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Edgar, of Ironton. She and Mr. Parks were sweethearts before her marriage to Lieut. Jurich. The wedding will occur in St. Louis in January. Mr. Parks was formerly interested in the saddlery and harness business in Farmington with the late George Eisenberg.—Farmington News.

The Art Exhibit and entertainments given at the public school last week commanded large attendance. The pictures were copies of paintings by the masters, and the three days given to their study were all too short. The exercises by the pupils and the larger folk who gave kindly assistance to the entertainments were worthy the many auditors present each night. The proceeds from the small admission charged will be used to embellish the rooms with suitable pictures. Apart from this, the "getting together" of the citizens induced by the project was well worth the efforts of its directors. The REGISTER wishes there were more tendency in this community to put aside self and selfish interest, to the betterment of social conditions. No man can live for himself alone without ignoring the best there is in life.

As a rule no person likes to have a doctor prescribe for them, for the very thought of taking medicine is distasteful. But this rule was reversed the other day when Rev. A. S. Coker, pastor of the Methodist church, received a prescription through the mail from Dr. A. H. Horn. He, too, dislikes the taste of medicine, but this particular prescription was greatly relished by him and the doctor's directions were followed to the letter. To a regular prescription blank was pinned a five dollar bill, and the directions were to use as needed. This is a prescription other people can follow, and the only thing necessary to accomplish the act is to loosen your purse string. Dr. Horn's example is a commendable one, and is in keeping with the liberal spirit of the man so evident in his past life.—Steleville Ledger.

The six-year-old daughter of Francis Wood, who lives on Mud Creek, near the Silver Mines, in Madison county, was fatally burned last Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. It seems that the mother had gone to the barn and left the little girl with an elder sister. In a few minutes the elder daughter ran for the mother and said the baby was burning up. The mother hurried to the house but when she reached there, every particle of clothing had been burned off the child and the little thing was blistered and badly burned from head to foot. The lips were so terribly burned that the child could not talk and the sight of one of the eyes had been destroyed. Throughout it all the little girl never lost consciousness and suffered untold agony for twelve hours when death brought relief and the spirit of the tiny one waited heavenward.

The grand jury which met last Monday morning to investigate alleged violations of the eight hour and Sunday laws by the lead companies of the county completed its labors yesterday afternoon and after filing its report with the court was discharged. The report says that after considerable investigation the grand jury was unable to secure sufficient evidence of the violation of the eight hour and Sunday laws to warrant it in returning a true bill. It recommends that the prosecuting attorney continue to make investigation and report same to a succeeding grand jury or if he procures evidence to warrant prosecution that he proceed on his own information. The report was signed by F. Kleppel, foreman. More than thirty persons, employees of the various lead companies, in the county were witnesses before the grand jury.—Farmington News.

Rev. C. E. Edwards has had a message from his brother-in-law, Rev. W. S. Elliott, who is employed by the American Bible Society in China: "Kuling, November 13th. We are safe and quiet in our house here on the mountain top. We came here from Changsha last week, having had to flee. The Revolutionists captured the city of Changsha and the whole province of Hunan. They (the Revolutionary leaders) fell out among themselves and got to killing one another. One of them, a Lieutenant General, was assassinated at our door—shot and his head chopped off. His riderless horse came into our yard. We escaped and found refuge with about fifty other foreign families on the Japanese Steamer, Queen Kiang, on which we came to Han Kow. We found Han Kow in ruins and the battle still in progress. We came on here, where all is quiet. We have plenty of food supplies and fuel for the winter."

The Committee composed of Wm. Trauernicht and M. M. York, of Ironton, and A. A. Jacobs and Dr. J. T. Self, of Arcadia, who were appointed at the joint meeting of the Arcadia Valley Business Men's League and the Arcadia Improvement Association, for the purpose of arranging a mass meeting of the citizens of the Valley, have decided on the evening of December 28th, at the court house, at 8 o'clock. The success which has attended the establishment of "The Arcadia Heights," "The Epworth Among the Hills" and bids fair to crown the Arcadia Country Club, from present indications, demonstrates the possibilities of this Valley as a summer resort of the higher order; but whether the advancement along these lines continues, or we begin to lose ground is now squarely up to the citizens of the Valley as a whole. We must provide suitable hotel accommodations of the right sort, not as a makeshift for the coming summer months alone, but accommodations that will be adequate for the next ten years at least, and we must set about it at once. Do you know that Mr. Booth, of the Advertising Department of the Iron Mountain railroad, was compelled to withdraw, after its second issue, a half page advertisement, setting forth the beauties of the "Arcadia Country" that had been inserted in the St. Louis papers, owing to complaints "that accommodations for visitors could not be obtained at any price?" And this, too when we had the Arcadia Hotel to depend upon. One or two years of this sort of thing and it will take a decade to restore the present conditions. When we have once shown the proper spirit and awake to the possibilities that are ours for the asking, the ways and means will be provided and we will then be in a position to consistently insist that the Valley have transportation and depot facilities in keeping with our other advantages. We should have a system of ornamentation for our Main street, from one end of the Valley to the other; such as shade trees, shrubs, lights and walks. Then, too, individual painting, cleaning up and the removal of unsightly fences and buildings should demand the attention of everyone. Let us all get together Thursday evening, December 28th, at the court house, and by our united efforts place Arcadia Valley on the map.

School Notes.

School will close Friday, December 22d, for the holidays, to open January 1st, 1912.

Room number four won the picture offered for the greatest sale of tickets to the art exhibit. The room turned in $12.50, while its nearest competitor was room number three, with $10.70. The total receipts were $48.75.

The Turner Art Exhibit which was on exhibition at the school for the four days last week, has proved a great attraction and aroused a great deal of interest. The programs given in the evenings were especially good. Thursday evening the program was furnished by the primary grades, consisting of songs and recitations all of which were creditably given. Friday evening's program was a very delightful one, indeed. Music was furnished by the Male Quartet, Damron, Loomis, York and Newman, assisted by Mrs. Damron, pianist and also obligato, and the orchestra, which rendered in a very creditable manner some very fine music. Mrs. Francis read a paper entitled "Art and its Lessons." Mrs. Loomis recited "Dora," from Alfred Tennyson. Refreshments were served by the W. R. C's and the proceeds donated to buy a picture for the school. About $4 was realized. Saturday evening's program was given by the High School and the 7th and 8th grades, and was as follows: Chorus—Sailing—school children. Recitation—Azele Mero. Recitation—Dale Frost. Solo—Out On the Deep—Prof. Loomis. Recitation—Camille Marr. Reading—Bernice Buckley. Duett—Sleigh Bells—Gladys Bishop and Virginia Collins. Recitation—Elbert Schwab. Chorus—Forsaken—By School Children. Refreshments were served by the High School girls. Did you ever think that the public school ought to be the center of the social life of the community?

School Entertainment. Ed. Register—On the night of December 16th the Reed Creek school gave one of the most successful entertainments ever witnessed in this section. The weather being bad, the attendance was not large, but all present enjoyed the exercises very much. The programme was exceptionally good and great credit is due the teacher, Miss Ida Dennis. After the exercises a cake was voted to the prettiest girl, the contest being between the teacher, Miss Ida Dennis, and Miss Lucy Nelson. Miss Dennis was declared the winner. The cake brought $12.20. Then followed a box supper. The boxes were well filled, and the young people had a good time. Before the audience dispersed Miss Dennis made a little talk thanking the people of the district for the many courtesies shown her since she had been in charge of the school. Thank you, Miss Ida, for your excellent work. As a teacher she has few equals and is a most excellent young lady. A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to her! Reed Creek, Dec. 17.
