

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Roastin' ears. Brown has a new ad. Lopez's tell of the Big Clearing Sale in this paper.

The M. E. Assembly convenes at Arcadia next Tuesday evening.

Wanted—A good cook, at once. Apply to Mrs. M. B. Bradley, Ironton, Mo.

The financial statement of the Pilot Knob School District is printed this week.

Sam Middleton last week sold a fine piano to Perry Patterson on Marble Creek.

The city ordinance says you must cut down the weeds along the granitoid walks. Do not delay.

The gross receipts of the Arcadia picnic were $462. Something over $200 was cleared.

Three movers' wagons drove south through the town last Friday. The movers' are scarce these days.

August Rieke writes from Germany that he will sail for home July 26th. He will be home early in August.

Bismarck, it is said, is going automobile mad, and everybody has bought, or is about to buy an auto.

Lopez's Big Mid-summer Clearing Sale begins Monday, July 21, and ends Saturday, August 2d. Don't miss it.

Found—Friday, July 11, a man's coat. Call at this office, prove property, pay for this advertisement and take the coat.

His honor, Mayor B. T. Eaton of Bismarck, and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Goeltz came to Ironton in an automobile Monday evening.

C. H. Miller, the restaurant man, who got burned out last month, received $850 insurance. His policies, we understand, called for $900.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fletcher of Poplar Bluff have the sympathy of valley friends in the loss of their three-year-old baby boy a couple of weeks since.

I am prepared to do all kinds of Monumental Work in Missouri Red Granite. Anything you want, from $5 up. Address C. W. Rennie, Graniteville, Mo.

During the electrical storm last Friday night lightning struck the house occupied by Walter Miller in west Pilot Knob. Fortunately, no great damage resulted.

J. W. Allen, the Ironton monument man, will have an advertisement in next week's paper. See him if you want anything in his line. Missouri red granite a specialty.

The public is cordially invited to attend the ice cream social at the M. E. church lawn Friday evening, July 18. Home-made and city ice cream will be served. The band will make music.

The St. Francois county court has promised to put the road between Bismarck and Iron Mountain in good condition. If such is done it will become a popular road with the automobile drivers.

Goff Whitworth, wife and daughter, of St. Louis, arrived in Ironton last Saturday for about a week's stay. They came from Castor Creek in Madison county, where they spent several days.

George Luff, who has been employed as a guard in the penitentiary at Jefferson City for the past four years, returned to Ironton Sunday, his successor having been named by the new administration.

Electric light wires are this week being extended to "Epworth Among the Hills." Mr. Myers, the superintendent, tells us that everything will be in readiness to flood the grounds with electric light when the Assembly convenes next week.

Until our load justifies the day current every day, we will run on Tuesday for ironing service. Also, every day that the Ironton Wood Stock factory is in operation.

Iron County Electric Light & Power Company. C. E. MYERS, Supt.

Sunday's St. Louis papers state that marriage license was granted in that city Saturday to Joseph L. Tong, of Arcadia, and Lily Rosentret of Ironton. The REGISTER extends congratulations and very best wishes.

Mr. Tong and his bride have gone to Denver, Colorado, where they will make their home.

The Arcadia Valley Baseball team played the Fredericktown team at Fredericktown on the 13th. The result was a victory for Arcadia Valley, by a score of 8-4. The opposing pitcher was the noted "Schulte," of St. Louis Vincent College, off whom the "Valley" boys secured 18 hits. The home team will play the Missouri Southern at home on the 20th, when patrons may be assured of a good game.

Dr. C. L. Blanks, of Mexico, Mo., came to Pilot Knob Sunday to join Mrs. Blanks and Miss Dorothy, who had been visiting relatives there for several weeks. The Dr. called Tuesday and imparted the information that Mexico and vicinity were the driest spots in Missouri this year and crops of all kinds are just about a failure.

Dr. and Mrs. Blanks went back to Mexico Tuesday afternoon. Miss Dorothy will visit Farmington friends before she returns.

The hot weather continues. We had an electrical storm last Friday night, accompanied by .90 inches of rain, that cooled the air for a few hours, only. Monday and Tuesday nights were exceptionally warm. The forecast calls for thunder showers tonight. Let them come. The highest point reached by the thermometer the past week was 92, on Sunday; but the humidity has been great and the heat more oppressive than in the June days when 100 was recorded.

Last Thursday evening friends, nearly if not quite a score, including the juveniles, gathered in at the Reese residence to offer the lady of the house their congratulations upon her having attained her—th birthday. It was a happy gathering and joyous the occasion. Music and recitation and conversation were followed by refreshments, both liquid and solid. About 12 o'clock the guests departed, all and severally with expressions of good wishes for hostess and host. May their days in the land be many and happy!

R. G. Parmer has just completed a cobblesone structure, 28x28 feet, with concrete floor on Arcadia Heights. Mr. Parmer is now at work on two similar structures—one for Stephens College at Columbia, and the other for William Jewell at Liberty. He expects to have them both completed before the Assembly meets August 6. It is most gratifying to note that all the improvements now being made on the Heights are of the permanent and lasting kind. It means that the experimental stage on Arcadia Heights has passed. It means that the Assembly is a fixture for all time to come.

D. E. Morris and his daughter, Miss Jennie, were considerably bruised and shaken up by the overturning of a buggy in which they were riding last Thursday afternoon. They were driving from the Potter farm to Arcadia, when the horse took fright at a cow that suddenly appeared; the horse jumped, overturning the buggy. Mr. Morris was badly bruised and suffered a slight fracture of a bone near the hip. Miss Jennie was bruised about the head and face and sustained a badly sprained ankle. Mr. Morris is 75 years old and it was a pretty hard fall for him. He has been confined to his bed ever since the accident, but is doing very well. The young lady is able to get around with the aid of a crutch. We hope to chronicle the early recovery of both.

A test of the deep well on Arcadia Heights the latter part of the week developed the fact that the well will supply probably 5,000 gallons of water in twenty-four hours. It is good water, too, and cold as ice. This is mighty cheering news to our Baptist friends and the community rejoices with them. It means that there will be plenty of water, and good water on the Heights this year. The pipes have already been laid to the hub factory and the water for the swimming pool and the tanks will be pumped from there. Mr. Sewell, the well man on the hill, says that the well on the hill will more than likely increase its water supply in time. It is very likely, too, that after the Assembly is over the well will be drilled some deeper in the hope of getting more water.

Constantine Kuhn, an old and highly respected citizen, died at his home on Marble Creek, four miles south of Ironton, Tuesday, July 15, 1913, at 12:15 o'clock P. M., after an illness of a few weeks, aged 67 years six months and 29 days. Mr. Kuhn was a resident of this community for nearly forty years and everybody knew him to be an honorable and upright man and citizen. He has ever been a stalwart and steadfast friend of the REGISTER and our relations with him were always most pleasant. He leaves a widow and a number of children—all useful men and women—to mourn his departure. To them we extend our assurance of most profound sympathy. In another issue we shall print a fitting obituary. The funeral will occur from the Arcadia Convent Chapel, Thursday, July 17, at 9 o'clock A. M. Interment in the Pilot Knob cemetery.

Returns from the election held recently by the employees of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain show that the following have been chosen members of the Board of Hospital Service Managers of the system for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914: J. B. Corn, conductor, Little Rock, Ark., representing train, engine and yard service; Chris. Deans, boilermaker, Argenta, Ark., representing shops, round-houses and repair yards; H. E. Billman, general roadmaster, St. Louis, representing employees of maintenance of way and structures; T. P. Adams, local agent, St. Louis, representing telegraphers, office and station employees. The following officers of the company have been appointed members of the board to serve for the same period: J. W. Higgins, General Manager, St. Louis; T. L. Phillips, Assistant to Vice-President and General Solicitor, St. Louis; J. G. Livengood, General Auditor, St. Louis, and J. J. Knapp, chief dispatcher, Wichita, Kans. The hospital service on the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain System is maintained and conducted by the employees and officers of the road through the board of managers, the entire property of almost $200,000, in cash, in addition to valuable real estate, having been turned over to the men by President B. F. Bush last October.

Several months ago the REGISTER printed a story from a Los Angeles, California paper, telling of a suit filed in the courts in that city by Mrs. Jessie Slinkard against her husband's parents asking $15,000 for alienation of affection. The story had local interest because of the fact that Mrs. Slinkard ten years ago lived in the valley. She was only a girl then and her name was Jessie Osgbory. The following from the Los Angeles Times of July 4th gives another chapter of the romance: "Mrs. Jessie Slinkard decided that her runaway artist husband, Rex Slinkard, would never return. She brought suit for divorce yesterday on the grounds of desertion. The young wife is an artist's model. It was while she was posing for Slinkard for a life-size portrait, 'The Nymph,' that they were married, unknown to the young man's parents. Mrs. Slinkard was not received into the home of her husband's family. She sued them for $15,000 damages last February, charging they had alienated his affections. The young artist was out of the city at that time, presumably in New York city. At the time of the artist's romantic marriage he had a studio in Blanchard Hall and a large class of students. He studied in Paris and his friends prophesied a brilliant future for him. Then came the unhappy marriage, the break between the artist and his parents, the disruption of his plans, and his exit from the city, leaving behind a wife and infant son. Until quite recently Mrs. Slinkard believed that her husband would return for her and her boy. Information came from New York that led her to believe waiting in vain. Then she decided to apply for a legal separation. 'The Nymph,' and other of Slinkard's paintings for which his wife had posed are unfinished. The studies were left with a friend here when the artist went away. He indicated that he would never complete them. The artist's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Slinkard of No. 1437 Wright street. I told my son's wife immediately after they were married that he had not been able to support himself, and I was quite sure he could not provide for her," said the elder Slinkard recently. "He was a dreamer-artist and gave no thought to making money. I bought all his clothes and gave him spending money. It was a bad blunder for him to get married. The final result was inevitable."

The following, taken from Sunday's St. Louis Globe-Democrat is of local interest because of the fact that Al Young, the railroad engineer therein named, was for twenty years a resident of the valley, being employed on one of the pushers at Arcadia: "A ninety-ton engine used in the Missouri-Pacific and Iron Mountain terminal service, is lying in the Mississippi River under 25 feet of water, where a spur track runs out of the Ivory yards to the transfer boat, which plies between East Carondelet and the Missouri side of the river. The engine, No. 9438, was engaged in the daily transfer service, pulling strings of freight cars to the boat and meeting those arriving from the Illinois side. Its engineer, Al Young, pulled down to the edge of the incline Friday afternoon to meet a boat. He was ahead of time and stepped from the engine and walked a short distance from the track. Fireman Charles Jones, not noticing the engine was away, got down on the other side of the cab and walked off. The wheel slipped and gained momentum on the down grade and there was a splash. The engine plunged, pilot first, into the stream literally made a hole in the water. Then there was the noise of escaping steam. Workmen ran back on the bank expecting the engine's bath would be followed by an explosion. A. L. Waits, superintendent of buildings and bridges for the Missouri-Pacific and Iron Mountain, worked hard with Capt. L. A. Hope, foreman of the Carondelet car department of the allied companies, each with a big gang of men, making arrangements for raising the engine. Whether this can be done to-day is a matter of doubt. An effort will be made to raise the engine by the combined power of two marine pile-drivers. If this fails the Wright snubboat, owned by the government, will help. A. H. Ferdina of 8900 Water Street, a professional diver, went down several times yesterday to inspect the engine, and reported it lying on its side and sinking down in the mud. He and his brother, Henry Ferdina, made another inspection last night and prepared the way for fastening massive cables to the engine. The work will be continued this morning. When the cables are in place the marine pile-drivers will test their power in lifting ninety tons from the bottom of a river. Young, who stood on the incline and saw his engine take a plunge into the river, is an old employe of the company and is rated as a careful man, according to an official. For several years he handled an engine at Arcadia used to push trains up the 'Hogan Mountain,' as the stiff grade at that point is known among railroad men. The connection between the railroad track and the transfer boat is called a cradle. When the boat is made fast the tracks on the craft and those on the shore are connected with it. At the time of the accident the transfer boat was still in midstream."

20 pounds best Eastern granulated sugar for $1.00 with purchase of any other goods amounting to $5.00, or 25 pounds for $1.00 with purchase of other goods amounting to $10.00 during clearing sale period. LOPEZ STORE CO. For Sale—Sacrifice. North half northeast quarter section 22, township 34, north, range 4 East, containing over 84 acres. Also, lot 6, block 1, 5 acres, J. H. York Subdivision Arcadia Heights. All or part. Address W. H. Egan, 102 South 3d street, St. Joseph, Mo.

PERSONAL

P. M. McCoy of St. Louis is in Ironton. A. Hale of Bellevue was a caller Saturday. O. L. Mungler of Piedmont was in town Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Houston are home from Wisconsin. H. McCall of Bellevue was among our callers Saturday. Geo. L. Moore and family will arrive from Texas to-day. Mrs. Gilliam and Mrs. Woodside visited in Bismarck Sunday. Gus Long, the genial hat man from St. Louis, was in town Tuesday. Dr. Will Patton and Bob Patton were over from Farmington Saturday. Mrs. A. M. Madigan and Eugene and Schofield were in St. Louis last week. Mrs. J. T. Ake and Harry B., Jr., will arrive from Magnolia, Arkansas, to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trauernicht will go to Denver, Colorado, next month. James Daugherty, of New Haven, Mo., is the guest of his brother, Postmaster Daugherty. Mrs. Edna Dalton came over from Farmington last week and will spend some time in Ironton. Will Hill and wife returned to St. Louis Saturday after spending several days in the valley. Master Fred Kuehler, of Murphysboro, Illinois, is spending a month with relatives in Ironton. Mrs. H. O. Davis returned to Ironton last Saturday, after an eight months' absence in California. Chas. J. Newman and nieces, Misses Lucille and Freda Ringo, and Miss Mildred Huff made an automobile trip to Farmington Tuesday. The Misses Moore, of Poplar Bluff, daughters of the late Thos. L. Moore, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. A. Moore, in Ironton last week. Dr. Trauernicht returned Saturday from his trip to Topeka, Kansas City and St. Louis. Mrs. Trauernicht and the children will not be home for a couple of weeks. Mrs. Grover Curtis returned to Sikeston last Saturday. She was accompanied by her niece, Miss Jessamine Woodside, who will spend several weeks in Sikeston.

Wanted—Three good girls for dining room and upstairs work. Apply immediately to Smith Hotel.

The best Bargain in shoes you ever saw—during the our big clearing sale. LOPEZ STORE CO.

Catholic Church Services.

ARCADIA. First Mass, Holy, 6:30 o'clock; High Mass and Sermon, 9 o'clock; Benediction, 7:30 P. M.

PILOT KNOB. First Sunday of the month, 10:30 o'clock; Second and Fourth Sundays, 8:30 o'clock.

GRANITEVILLE. First Sunday of the month, 8:30 o'clock; second and fourth Sundays, 10:30 o'clock.

No mass at Pilot Knob or Graniteville on the third or fifth Sundays of the month.

BISMARCK. Third and fifth Sundays of the month at 6:30 and 9 o'clock. REV. L. C. WERNERT, Pastor. REV. JOHN F. ADRIAN, Ass't.

Who can save you money? We can. "We can save you money." B. N. BROWN.

Madigan wants to show you his line of Vacuum Sweepers. Take one home and try it. They are fully guaranteed.

Baptist Church Notes.

The church will hold its annual business conference Wednesday evening. Sunday School reached high water mark last Sunday with more than one hundred in attendance. On Sunday evening last the ordinance of baptism was administered to Miss Ruth Boswell. Next Sunday Pastor Riggs will preach morning and evening. Sunday Schools meets at ten o'clock, and Young People's Union at seven.

Six spools Coates thread for 25 cents during clearing sale. LOPEZ STORE CO.

Notice.

We would be interested in hearing from our customers in regard to day service; also parties contemplating the use of motors. Iron County Electric Light and Power Co. C. E. MEYER'S Supt.

A good Traction Engine and Saw Mill Rag for sale at Des Arc. Very cheap; come quick. REV. W. W. STROTHER.

Before buying your Oil Stove see the "Acme" line at Madigan's. They are the best in the market, and the price is right.

For Sale—A gentle, all-around driving horse and top buggy, rubber-tired, and roller-bearing axles. See the horse at Rosentretter's stable. W. R. ALLEN, JR.

From Rev. Strotter.

ED, REGISTER AND READERS—I am again enjoying the refreshing rains and cool mountain air. We arrived in Des Arc June 27th; were met at the station by many relatives and friends, who gave us a hearty welcome.

By the kind permission of Bro. W. Humphrey, P. E., we had the privilege of preaching in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real revival; eighteen penitent souls came up for prayer. We closed the services feeling the power and presence of the Divine Touch of God, but we missed the faces of some we had preached to over a year ago. How sad to see the face of fatherless children in the M. E. Church morning and evening, June 29th, to remarkably large audiences. God blessed our hearts together as we sang, "Blessed be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." The happy Christian faces and fervent prayers inspired my heart. The evening service was a real