

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Lopes has a new ad. Wood haulers getting busy. We have the harvest moon. Oh, the horrible, horrible dust. Studies were resumed at Arcadia College Monday.

School books and school supplies of all kinds at Lopez Store Co.

FARM HAND WANTED by the month. Stark Farm, two miles south of Arcadia.

The county court advertises for bids for the sale of the fence around the courthouse yard.

Born-To Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Henson, Thursday, August 28, 1913, a girl.

Mrs. Woodside has an announcement of fall millinery in this week's paper.

Fewer watermelons in the valley this season than have been for a long, long time.

H. B. Jones will remove from Pilot Knob to his new residence in Ironton about October 1st.

If Ironton had waterworks we could abate the dust nuisance. By all means let us have waterworks.

It might be as well for some automobilists to acquaint themselves with the city ordinance against "fast driving."

Work on the new building at Arcadia College has been delayed the past week because of brick not arriving promptly.

"The Stolen Singer" concludes with this issue. Don't miss the opening chapter of "Fran" next week. It is a great story.

Wm. Black, town marshal at Pilot Knob, last week purchased four lots on North Main street, Ironton, from Robert G. Farmer.

The Bismarck base ball team defeated the Arcadia Valley boys by a score of 6 to 4 in a ten inning contest Sunday. It was a good game.

Singer Sewing Machine and a Two-Burner Oil Stove for sale. Will take wood in exchange.

S. W. ANDREWS.

Call phone 115, Arcadia Valley Bottling Company, and order a case of their delicious soda water. Once a customer, always a customer.—Adv.

Wells are dry in the valley that have not failed before in forty years. If the drought continues much longer the situation will indeed become serious.

The mean maximum temperature for August was 96. Mr. Delano tells us that this is two degrees higher than the mean maximum in August, 1901—that awful drought year.

Married—At the courthouse, Ironton, Mo., September 6th, 1913, John Vance and Avarah Lashley—both of Madison County, Mo., Probate Judge O. W. Roop officiating.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson Prince, New Madrid, Mo., Tuesday, September 2, 1913, a son. All well. Valley friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Edgar Fletcher, of Arcadia, are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a baby boy at their home, Thursday, September 4, 1913. All are well and happy. Best wishes.

F. A. Twomey goes "on the road" this week for Nicholas Scharff & Sons' Grocery Company. His territory is Jefferson and Washington counties, with temporary headquarters at De Soto.

There was promise of rain Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, but no rain of any consequence came. It became much cooler Tuesday, however, and Wednesday morning was positive chilly.

Miss Minnie Fisher, who has been in the St. Louis several weeks, returned last Thursday. While in the city Miss Fisher, assisted by Mr. Lopez, purchased the fall millinery stock for Lopez Store Co.

The sewing department of the Woman's Home Mission Society will meet at Mrs. Jacobs', September 10, at 2:30 P. M. Regular monthly business meeting will be held at Fort Hill church, September 11, at 2:30 P. M.

There should be an effort made to stop one of the south-bound night passenger trains at the Ironton station. We are inclined to believe that if the matter was properly presented to the railroad officials it could be arranged.

Adrain Steel of Ironton was in De Soto to-day and says that he may move here in the near future. Mr. Steel has many friends in Jefferson county who would be pleased to see him return to his old home.—De Soto Republican.

The City Council may submit a proposition for waterworks at the election next spring, it is said. It seems that now would be the opportune time to pass on that question,—just now, when the need of water is manifest everywhere.

L. A. McKee returned last Thursday after a two weeks' absence at his former home, West Liberty, Iowa. Mr. McKee says that the drought in Iowa has been just as prolonged, if not more so, than it has here. The usual magnificent fields of corn are barren wastes and the pastures are about burned up. The outlook for the winter is anything but encouraging there.

Potosi will hold a special election October 7th to vote on the proposition of issuing bonds to the amount of $14,000 for the purpose of putting in waterworks and a sewerage system. Surely if Potosi can afford waterworks, Ironton can.

Miss Freeda Ringo departed the first of the month for Cape Girardeau, where she has a position as teacher in the high school. Miss Ringo is one of the valley's most talented daughters, and a lovely and attractive young lady. The REGISTER is certain that every success is hers.

Collector Forshee has purchased the old Hall residence, in west Ironton, from Cicero Collins. Mr. Collins will remove to one of Dr. Smith's cottages, occupied by Dr. Barnhouse, who has leased the property known as the Presbyterian Manse from Mr. D. E. Morris.

Mrs. Lizzie Bumgardner, accompanied by her son, of Troy, Kansas, have been the guests of Mrs. H. N. Barnhouse and relatives the past week. The two sisters hadn't met for forty years. "A Golden Opportunity" to meet again and talk over by gone years.

A receiver has been appointed for the Arcadia County Club, the organization that was to build a huge dam, an immense lake and establish the greatest pleasure resort in Missouri. Some way will be found, some time, to complete the improvement.—Danikin Democrat.

J. Hendley, of Ironton, has leased the Harenberg studio and will be here Monday to take charge of the business. He is a good photographer, and invites the patronage of the people of Dexter and Stoddard county, guaranteeing them satisfaction in work and in prices.—Dexter Messenger.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trauernicht returned from a month's sojourn in Colorado last Thursday evening. They had a delightful outing and spent most of the time at Colorado Springs. Dr. J. D. Nifong, a former resident of Ironton, is located in that city and did much to make the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Trauernicht a pleasant one.

F. F. Shular spent Sunday in Greenville, returning to Mill Spring Monday afternoon. Mr. Shular is foreman of the iron mines recently opened up at Mill Spring. This mine is known as the old Clark mine and was operated 30 years ago. Mr. Shular tells us that the ore thus far mined has proven to be the richest of any yet found in the county.—Greenville Sun.

The following is reproduced from the Belgrade correspondence in the Potosi Independent: "Wm. Crommer was overheated Saturday afternoon while chasing hogs out of the field and suffered a light stroke of paralysis. Dr. Browne was called and reports Mr. Crommer better." We hope to announce our old friend's complete recovery soon.

The Farmington Fair, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. The Farmington Fair does not by any means "cut the ice" in this county that it did thirty-five years ago. In those good old days everybody, or nearly everybody, spent one or more days at the fair, and we all had a bully good time, too. Not the least conspicuous were the members of the old Ironton Band that often filled a week's engagement at the Fair.

The city council Monday evening let the contract to R. G. Farmer for the building of a granitoid walk on the north side of the Seitz property at the southeast corner of Main and Wayne streets. This is the property at present occupied by the saldry shop. Price of the walk is $75. The owners refused to put the walk in and so the city had it done and a special tax bill to pay for the walk will be issued against the property.

R. I. January and family of this place moved to St. Louis this week, where they will make their home for several months. The move was occasioned on account of the parents' desire to be with their sons, Carl and Elmer, the first named attending a medical college and the latter being a student at Central High School. Mr. January will return in a few days and remain here most of his time, we understand.—Centerville Outlook.

At an early hour Monday morning Herman Amelung, of Pilot Knob, fell from the second story of his residence to the brick pavement below. He says that he doesn't know whether he was walking in his sleep or not, that he realized nothing of what was going on until he fell the fifteen feet. Mr. Amelung sustained a broken ankle, a sprained hip and bruised arm. He will be laid up for some time, but promises to suffer no lasting injury.

Mrs. Woodside desires the ladies to know that her stock of Fall Millinery has been received and the line is an exquisite one and most complete. Opening date will be announced later. On that occasion there will be on display copies of the hats used at the Famous Fashion Show at Forest Park, St. Louis given by one of the world's greatest milliners, the celebrated French artist, Ora Cne. One black velvet hat, with ostrich tip, designed by Ora Cne, will also be on exhibition at the opening. Look for the date.

Ernest L. Peck and Gladys Lucille Myers were married September 4, 8 P. M., at Fort Hill parsonage, Rev. Vaughn officiating. Very quiet affair, a surprise to many, but most of the friends of the young couple were expecting it. The bride is a daughter of E. Myers, of Chaffee, and a sister of C. E. Myers, Superintendent of the Iron County Electric Light & Power Co. The groom is the lineman and interior wireman for the Electric Light Co. They will welcome their friends to see them at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. S. Frost, with whom they will board. The REGISTER wishes them well.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Yount and Miss Nina Marshall, of Sikeston, stopped in Farmington a few minutes on Wednesday while enroute to Arcadia, where Miss Marshall will attend school the coming year. Dr. and Mrs. Yount resumed their trip yesterday and will spend a month touring in the north and east, visiting St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Washington. They are making the trip in their new Mitchell 50-horsepower roadster. They drove through from Sikeston to Arcadia the first day and expect to keep up this average on the trip.—Farmington News.

John Leff, an old citizen of Ironton, died last Saturday, September 6, 1913, at one o'clock P. M., after a very brief illness. In fact, Mr. Leff was down town the day before but was taken ill Friday night. His trouble was heart failure. The deceased was 79 years, 11 months and 11 days old. He had been a resident of Ironton for thirty years or more and many friends heard of his sudden end with sorrow. A widow and a number of children mourn his departure. The funeral occurred Monday afternoon, and interment was made in the Masonic cemetery, Rev. Mitchell conducting the services. Peace to his ashes. The bereaved have the sympathy of many friends in their sorrow.

Under date of September 4 Congressman Hensley writes the editor from Washington, D. C., as follows: "Through the Office of Public Roads, here, I have obtained for the purpose of a series of lectures on the subject of road improvements, the services of Hon. George D. Marshall, Superintendent of Construction. The time which he can give to our district is necessarily limited so that I not only had to confine him to points adjacent to the railroad but also had to pass other points where I otherwise should have been pleased to send him. He will lecture at Ironton, October 1st, at 7:30 P. M., and at Des Arc, October 2d, at 7:30 P. M. I hope that everybody who can will be present."

The Board of Managers of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain employes hospital association has authorized the erection of an emergency hospital at Argenta, Ark., across the river from Little Rock. It will be used for the treatment of emergency cases of sick and injured employes of the shops and employes in yard and road service. The building will be of brick construction and will have every modern convenience in hospital equipment. The plans will include an operating room, dressing rooms, dispensary, waiting rooms and offices. These plans are now being made and when completed and approved by the board of managers construction of the building will begin at once. The entire hospital service on the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain is conducted by the employes of the road through a board of managers elected annually.

Last Thursday morning Mr. Miller and his workmen were using the blueprint to mark off the location of some doors and windows on the new Masonic building. Before they had finished dinner time came and they put the roll of paper in a safe nook next the Parkin building, thinking that it would be perfectly safe. When they returned the print had disappeared and diligent search failed to locate it. It seems that the only way it could have left the place it was put, was by the help of some thief's hand. No motive can be safely given for the theft as the paper would be useless to anyone other than the builders. As soon as it became positive that the print was gone, Mr. Miller left in his machine for Arcadia to construct another. This delayed the work several days but Mr. Miller is back on the job now and the building will be pushed rapidly to completion.—Fredericktown Democrat-News.

From the Bismarck Gazette: "A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bismarck, Bellevue Valley Western Railway Co., was held in Bismarck Tuesday. Col. John Laird, consulting engineer and Lee Hall, chief counsel, of St. Louis, Redmond Black, of Edge Hill, and Jos. G. Williams, of Farmington, directors, were those from out of town who attended the meeting. Matters pertaining to the affairs of the company were discussed at length after which the meeting was adjourned until Thursday this week when the board meet in St. Louis. The report was filed with the Public Utility Commission and a date for the hearing will be set next Monday. Messrs. Laird and Hall informed us that there is no question that the commission will rule favorable for the company. Harry D. Griffith and J. M. Agnew, civil engineers, and their corps of assistants, are busily engaged laying out the 'Y' terminals and depot grounds at this place this week."

W. H. Smollinger, owner of the Iron Mountain Stock Farm, was here attending county court this week. While here he "blew in" on the News for a few minutes chat, as is his usual custom. He had just returned from a trip through the North where two of his young trotting mares, Belford Belle and Lulu Lumine, are making the race meets. We were pleased to hear that both these animals have so far won first money in every race and have participated in the best events at Decatur, Peoria, Galesburg, Des Moines, and other large towns in Illinois and Iowa. They will be taken to Milwaukee and numerous other cities in the North and then South, being brought home about October 15th. We were pleased to hear of Mr. Smollinger's success. He has certainly worked hard and faithful for this sort of a showing. We expect later to have a more complete report of the wonderful record these two mares are making for him this season.—Farmington News.

The following, from the last issue of the Poplar Bluff Republican is a somewhat lurid story of the recent forest fire on Arcadia Heights: "The summer homes of a number of persons, Ozark Inn and the Baptist Assembly buildings, which were reported Thursday night to be threatened by a great, raging forest fire which was sweeping up the mountain at Arcadia Heights, were saved by the heroic and prompt work of two preachers who had remained on the mountain's peak for a camping season. The Rev. Mr. Truex, who is well known to Baptists and others in Poplar Bluff, and a companion, also a minister, realized the magnitude of the menace to the mountain bungalows, after a young woman had ridden horseback almost into the flames. They immediately made investigation, then hastened to the various bungalows, hotel and other buildings and started backfires, which rushed out to meet the flames coming up the mountain side. As a result of careful watching none of the buildings was harmed although the clergymen were compelled to labor like trojans to prevent them catching fire. The back fires met the big one and there the rushing flames stopped to progress no further. Owners of bungalows have employed a watchman to remain on guard on the mountain top throughout the coming winter. Several Poplar Bluffians purchased sites recently and let contracts for bungalows, it is said. Among them was George Begley, Sr."

This is the story as 'twas told to me and I'm willing to avouch its truthfulness: About ten days ago a one-time resident of the Valley returned to view the old home again, to greet relatives, and shake hands with neighbors and friends. During his visit he lodged for a day or two with a gentleman in Ironton to whose better-half he is uncle. The nephew (such by fortunate marriage) owns a fine mare, gentle and well broken, but fast and of youthful fire not lacking. One afternoon the uncle, desiring to visit some relatives in the country, hitched the mare to the buggy at the owner's invitation, and drove away. As he might not get back until late in the night, and the nephew's family being "early to bed and early to rise" in practice, he carefully noted how the rig, the harness and the mare were to be disposed of in case he was delayed. He was delayed and when he drove to the house darkness prevailed and quiet was brooding over all. It being the visitor's intention to depart the Valley next morning by the 3:25 train, his nephew had set an alarm block for 2:30. At the appointed time it rang out good and strong. The host awakened and went at once to his uncle's room and found him fast asleep. Shaking him by the shoulder he admonished his guest that time was called and the minutes slipping away. The uncle sat up, blinked his eyes, ran his hand over his head, and said, "All right my boy; but I've some bad news. Last night while I was unhitching the mare she took fright at something and kicked the buggy shafts into kindling-wood! I regret this—you have been so good to me! But I couldn't help it. Here is $5, which will, I think, pay for the damage; as for the mare, she's all right and in her stall. The nephew refused the tender, and the uncle insisted, until finally they compromised by the former agreeing to view the rig next morning and send him a bill for the damage. "And now," he said, "you'd better don your clothes and hustle for the train." The uncle made haste and, it is presumed, caught the train all right, for he has not since showed up. That morning, right early, you may believe, the nephew hastened to the barn to view the wreckage. Behold, the buggy was in place with not a scratch on it and the shafts whole and unharmed; the harness hung upon its accustomed hook; the mare stood in her stall whinnying for her breakfast! "Well," said he, "this beats the band—bass drum and all! Had my uncle dreamed his mishap with such vividness that when he awoke he believed in its reality? Or was he still dreaming while talking to me? If he was, did he wake up before he got on the train—or, is he yet in the land of unreal reality?" The nephew gave it up, and so do I. There are some things on this earth, dear reader, that cannot be tip-toed to by our philosophy.

Spectacular presentations of "thrilling" episodes in the lives of capable, successful noted desperadoes, can work only evil, not good, in the minds of both girls and boys. Good men and women and good lives become to them common-places and insipid, and daring deeds and lives of crime become heroic.
