An Ironton Lady in New York.

NEW YORK CITY, August 24, 1914. My Dear Mr. Ake—As I told you, I am going to write you about my trip, as I have just a little time.

Words fail in describing the Falls. It was certainly one of the most wonderful sights I ever saw. We first saw the U. S. side; then we crossed the bridge and went over to the Canadian side.

My first venture was the sight-seeing automobile trip, which starts from 23d Street and Madison Square. First, we went down Fifth Avenue and took a drive on Millionaires Driveway.

One day we went over to Brooklyn, across the Brooklyn bridge; saw Chinatown, the Bowery, Wall Street. Went to the Battery, Battery Park.

Sunday we attended Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. Rev. Hill of London preached the sermon, which was very good.

Now I've given you an idea of the wonderful sights of the City, but the most interesting to me was the large wholesale and retail millinery stores.

When I went into Joseph's (which is considered the finest) I just sat down and was so nice to the saleslady that she showed me about half-dozen hats.

I'm sure you are tired by this time, so I'll say no more; only, if you haven't seen New York, by all means take the trip some time.

I hope you are all well. I expect to be home some time next week, for I leave New York to-day for St. Louis.

Your Friend, LULU GILLAM WOODSIDE.

A cordial invitation is extended to all members and friends to attend the last quarterly meeting of the year next Sunday.
