It is said that the Dinger Bros. are thinking of locating a screen factory at De Soto, provided they receive proper encouragement from that town. They visited the Commercial Club at that place Tuesday to see what could be done. Ironton is the place for the screen factory.
W. D. Fletcher last Friday shipped two cars of wheat from Arcadia and two cars from Graniteville; and the following day shipped three cars of cattle from Ironton. In all the shipments valued more than $10,000. Cattle are very high. Most any kind of a calf will bring $30 or more.

The tie drive of T. J. Moss Company which was thrown out by the high waters in August, has at last reached the Clearwater. This drive has no doubt been the costliest one the company has ever taken down the river, aside from the great number of ties lost.—Reynolds County Outlook.

Mrs. W. H. Fisher was called to Springfield, Mo., last week by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Maude Claman, who, it was feared, was contracting typhoid fever. We are glad to say, however, that Mrs. Claman is now reported greatly improved and it is not now thought that there is any further likelihood of typhoid.

St. Francois and Madison county officials are kept busy trying to enforce the local option law. One man in the lead belt found guilty of selling a bottle of beer was sentenced to twelve months in jail and fined $1,000. No, gentle reader, the lead belt is not in "Darkest Russia." It is in "the home of the brave and land of the free."

The Fall and Winter Opening at the Lopez Store Company's last Saturday was the unqualified success that always characterizes like events at the Big Store. Manager Ringo and his assistants had exquisitely arranged the displays of the mammoth stocks. A very useful dish was presented to each lady visitor as a souvenir of the day and occasion.

Jesse Hawkins made the trip home from the State Fair in a cattle car arriving here shortly after sun-up Monday morning. He brought with him a two-year-old colt, which he will train for some horseman up the state. MARRIED—At St. Joseph's Chapel, Arcadia, Mo., Thursday morning, September 30, 1915, by Rev. L. C. Wernert, Mr. Paul A. Wheelon, of Arcadia, and Miss Kathryn A. Whitworth, of Ironton, Mo. He expects to be able to resume his official duties within a few days.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

Judge W. T. Stevenson of Des Arc was an Ironton visitor Thursday of last week. The Judge informed us that he is now out of the merchandise and saw mill business and is devoting all of his time and energy to farming. In addition to his farm at Des Arc he has a fine farm in Wayne county and another in Illinois, 65 miles from St. Louis. He and one of his brothers, however, still own a saw mill in Wayne county, which they may operate again some of these days.

S. A. Cole, because of ill health, has been retired from the captaincy of the mill work and L. A. Delano for the past eight years chemist for the company has been promoted to mill captain. Mr. Cole has been working for the company for forty years and will no doubt be taken care of by the company. The Seniors are to be given the half holiday for the best attendance no tardies for the past month.

Mr. Hutchings entertained the students of the seventh and eighth grades Friday afternoon with some fine violin music.
With the addition of new students each week since school began, and with a total enrollment of sixty-two students, the High School Department of the Public School is rapidly becoming overcrowded. In some of the class rooms three students are compelled to sit on a single seat. Besides the study hall, the High School students have only two small rooms. These rooms were formed by building a partition through the central part of a single room which was originally the same size as the recitation room now occupied by the fifth and sixth grades.
Prof. Raymond Shoop reports that there are several other students who should be in the High School, but because of lack of room he could not encourage them to come. Two High School inspectors visited the Ironton schools last year and reported the work as being better in the High School than ever before; but both indicated clearly in their remarks to the Superintendent of Schools and to the school board that our school could not long continue to be approved if the attendance in High School keeps growing larger and more room is not provided. The High School students, as a body, are doing excellent work, especially when we take into consideration the over-crowded conditions.

Designs and Estimates furnished on all Memorials, Monuments or Markers. All Cemetery work promptly and skillfully executed. Prices and workmanship have no equal. All work polished and finished from selected material. An inspection of stock invited.

We are having fine weather and the farmers are very busy sowing wheat. The railroad company has put the track in better shape than it was before the flood. More than 500 men have been employed hauling gravel and putting in new ties. They are now working forty men on a gravel train between Piedmont and Bismarck cleaning out old ditches, etc. The bridge carpenters have been around and put the station houses in fine shape.
I was out on the Missouri Southern Railroad last week. That road is running two trains every day hauling lumber and ties. I was at Ellington a while; it is a live little town. M. L. Copeland and family and Rev. Fred Geitz had gone to Kansas City to attend the Nazarene Assembly. J. Faris and wife went as delegates from Des Arc. Frank Hackworth is doing a nice business at Garwood. He tells me he has two plantations in the south and will plant 600 acres in cotton next year. I also stopped off at Fruit City and Reynolds. Ruble Bros. are doing a fine business. Mill Ruble has returned from Colorado with his brother, Joe, who is much improved but will return to Colorado in the spring. Jas. Carnahan, the store manager at Garwood, is getting along nicely with his work. He was formerly a merchant at Elsimore, in Carter county. They have a nice little hotel at Reynolds and give you a good meal. I met Tom Tom Poston there. He is a regular woods rat, looking after the Laclede Company's land. I met my old friend, Lat Matthews, at Garwood. He is somewhat afflicted with rheumatism, but quite cheerful. Arthur Lucy, of J. H. Lucy & Co., is running a store at Ruble and is doing very well; has a fine mill trade.
I was also out at Patterson. Farmers are very busy sowing wheat, cutting corn and putting it in silos. The merchants seem to be doing a fine business.
The tie business has improved very much and there is quite a demand for ties now.

After Three Years
Testimony Remains Unshaken.
Time is the best test of truth. Here is an Ironton story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Obituary.
Died—September 16, 1915, near Sabula, Mo., Mrs. Leroy Dunn, aged about 84 years—"Aunt Sallie" Dunn, as she was better known by old and young, and loved by all. It is needless to add what her life was, but will pen some of the verses she composed at the last of her remaining years as each birthday rolled around. She said as she arose in the morning these verses came into her mind, and though she did not have the advantage of an education and could neither read nor write, she was a remarkable old lady. I am sixty-six this day, My time is rolling on, I am traveling to my grave To lay this body down.
I was born in 1831, Now this is 97; I hope when I am called away, My home will be in heaven.
Now my race is almost run, My time on earth will soon be done, I hope I will be prepared to go, And gladly leave all things below. I am traveling to my home, To lay this body down; I hope to find a brighter day, And wear a glorious crown.
My birthday now is past, Which makes me 79; I hope that I will be a branch of Christ, That lovely vine.
I have passed my four score and one— Glory to God and his son! And many a tiresome weary day I have spent upon my earthly way. May I be numbered with the blest, And with them be at final rest. I now have passed full eighty two. And here there's nothing I can do. The time is drawing, drawing nigh. When this body worn and frail must die. Oh may I join that heavenly host— Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost! Besides her also composed other pieces beside her birthdays, which are as remarkable.
"Aunt Sallie" and "Uncle Leroy," as they were known by most every one, had never been blessed with any children to brighten their home, and we deeply sympathize with him in losing such a dear companion. It was a precious privilege to be with her and try to do what could be done for her comfort as she was passing through the vale of shadows. Kind neighbors and relatives vied one with another in doing what they could for her, but God said, "It is enough; come up higher." She was laid to rest in Emily's Chapel.
When the evening shadow gather And the long day's work is done, When we reach that unknown country Out beyond the setting sun; After all the weary waiting In their peaceful rest to share, No more need of anguish parting, We shall know each other there. A FRIEND.
