We trust he will return refreshed and renewed for his work.—Farmington Times.
E. L. Cook, cashier of the Bank of Ironton, Ironton, Mo., was a business visitor in Centerville on last Saturday and represented the bank at the sale of 2000 acres of Reynolds County real estate on which the bank held a trust deed, and which Sheriff Parks as acting trustee foreclosed on that date, the property bringing $1500. Mr. Cook is a most excellent gentleman and this office acknowledges a very pleasant call from him.—Centerville Outlook.
The Ironton School Board will probably issue a call for an election in the course of a few days to give the voters an opportunity to voice their sentiment with respect to a site for the High School. Fifteen days' notice must be given of the election and a two-thirds vote is necessary to locate. But one site, we understand, can be voted on at a time, and if a choice is not made the first election, other elections will have to be held until the matter is determined.
The big union revival continues with interest increasing from day to day. Many are turning from sin to Christ, and great good is being accomplished not only for the churches but the community in general. Today (Thursday), Friday and Saturday no services are being held in the Tabernacle. The revival committee gave to a few days to give the voters an opportunity for taking the ties out of the water. This will be the last drive of ties for the present season. The company has been particularly fortunate this season, in not having a throw-out or enough high water to retard their drives for a single day.—Centerville Outlook.

A strike at Mine La Motte last Saturday was called off by the company posting notices that the additional 10 per cent bonus that had been taken off the 15th of this month had been put back on and the men would continue to get their 40 per cent bonus. The management had the matter of the ten per cent raise again under consideration when some of the men from the shop informed them they wanted it put back on. In a short time notices were posted.—Fredericktown Tribune.
These kind words are from the gifted pen of my old friend, Theo. D. Fisher, of the Farmington Times: "That sterling Nestor of the South-east press, Ed D. Ake, editor of the IRONTON REGISTER, and his son, F. P. Ake, dropped in on us yesterday morning. They motored over from Ironton and were on their way to Franklincy to see their friend, W. T. O'Neal. Mr. Ake has a soul for beauty and spoke enthusiastically of our handsome residences and general appearance of the town. He looks fresh and wholesome, as if the years slip lightly upon him, and good health and conscience keep him cheerful company. Mr. Ake, till life's twilight fades into starlight here."
Thursday's Globe-Democrat: "The sale at Cambridgeville, Mo., tomorrow by the sheriff of Pemisot County of 8000 acres of timber land, formerly owned by John E. Franklin, president of the Bankers' Trust Company, was halted yesterday when Circuit Judge Anderson issued a temporary injunction at the instance of creditors of the trust company. The suit was brought by R. S. Hayes and others, comprising the Creditors' estate of Franklin and the Bankers' Trust Company two years ago. The Pemisot County tract was part of the estate, and it is alleged the creditors agreed no individual claim against the estate should be prosecuted. The Southeast Missouri Trust Company later obtained a judgment against Franklin, and an execution was issued on the real estate, the sale of which was advertised for to-morrow. The injunction case will be heard September 4 by Judge Anderson."
We had a pleasant call last Friday from Geo. H. Gasman, of Charleston, Mo., who, with his wife, were spending the day with his mother at Middlebrook. They made the trip in their car. Mr. Gasman's Iron County friends will be glad to know that he is prospering. The following is reproduced from a recent issue of the Charleston Enterprise-Courier: "Geo. H. Gasman, local architect and contractor, has completed the plans and specifications for the new Fidelity building, to be erected by the Ostrer-Bond Mercantile Company at First and East Commercial streets. The building, two stories in height, with provision for an one-story addition at some time within the near future, will cost $18,000, and is to be one of the most beautiful business structures in Charleston. It will be fire-proof throughout, constructed of brick, steel and stone, and will be the home of the new department store which is now being organized with Max L. Ostrer and Harry Bond as chief stockholders. In addition to this work, Mr. Gasman is also in line for the contract of building the new Iron Mountain station, foundation work for which is now being built by company labor."
Peter Weiss and W. D. Tucker, who live on the Silver Mine road, east of town, were in Ironton last Saturday soliciting subscriptions from our people to build a road to the Silver Mine road. They had with them a letter from H. W. Edmondson, superintendent of the Madison Mining Company, now in charge of the work at the Silver Mines. Mr. Edmondson makes a contribution of $100 toward the fund and promises more if sufficient funds can be secured to insure a good road. He recites the fact that the Fredericktown people have built a road to within a mile of the mine, but that they would prefer to do their hauling to and from Ironton than Fredericktown. We have much better car service, no river to cross, and he says a good road built to the valley would be lasting while the Fredericktown road is but temporary. Mr. Edmondson communicates the information that his company has already expended $40,000 at the mines and their monthly pay roll is now about $8,000 a month. If we had a good road we could unquestionably get about all the business from the Silver Mines. Why not go after it? It looks to us like an opportunity.

The School Board Convention Friday and Saturday last proved pleasant and profitable. One of the interesting features was an address by Superintendent King of Ste. Genevieve county. The programme throughout was attractive and well rendered. Those in attendance were: Ed. Funk, Annapolis; W. W. Wain, Des Arc; Henson, Ironton; M. D. Blanton, Ironton; Joseph King, Ste. Genevieve; G. W. Farrar, Ironton; W. M. Long, Minimum; Jos. C. Forshee, Ironton; R. E. Marshall, Graniteville; C. W. Rennie, Graniteville; J. W. Fabland, Pilot Knob; Mrs. David Parria, Annapolis; Herman Boehm, Bellevue; Allie Moore, Graniteville; L. Collins, Sabula; Arnel Crocker, Feoria; J. W. Thompson, Brule; James Hatridge, Brule; W. A. Townsend, Bellevue; C. Morris, Ironton; John Crocker, Ironton; G. W. Campbell, Middlebrook; Theodore D. Feltz, Edgehill; W. E. Waverly, E. B. Reagan, Ironton; Oscar Smith, Arcadia; Charles Ivester, Arcadia; B. P. Burham, Ironton; A. R. Henry, Roselle.
J. C. O'Neal of Irontide returned home last Thursday, after an automobile trip to Salt Lake City and return. Mr. O'Neal left home July 10th and reports a most delightful and enjoyable trip in every way. On the long way from Irontide to Pueblo, Colorado, they had rather puncture or blow-out. Following is Mr. O'Neal's story of the trip: "Left Irontide July 10th and reached home August 24th. Traveled in Ford car, 3735 miles, toured five States, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah. Visited all the principal cities. Made trip from Irontide to Denver and cost me 50 cents repairs. The only break to speak of was a broken axle, 21 miles west of Kansas City on return trip. Was delayed 6 hours. We had delightful trip. Camped wherever night caught us, put up tent and prepared supper; then went to bed and slept. Got up in the morning, packed our tent and bed and journeyed on. We saw some wild country and some good country, but I am unable to see what those desert countries are good for. I saw several wolves, shot at some, but failed to bag one. I succeeded in killing one badger and plenty of jack rabbits. We spent a week at Salt Lake City—nice city, I went bathing in the Great Salt Lake and it was grand. Denver and Colorado Springs are both good live towns and up-to-date. Colorado has the best roads of any State I visited—good system of mountain roads. I met tourists from almost every State in the Union. It was surprising to see the great army of people come into the City Park each evening to spend the night. Some would rest for three or four days, then start out again. I saw almost every make of cars and the Ford led them all. More mileage on less expense. I covered the 3735 miles on actual cost of $76.01. This means gas, oil and repairs, and my Ford is in as good shape as when I started on the trip. The most pleasing feature of my trip, was that all those people I met were Democrats—all boasting Wilson. If I met a Republican, he would deny it after reading Hughes' speeches. I visited the great Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake and heard the Organ Recital and same was grand. I stood and gazed at the great Temple, but no admittance—only the favored few. We will also say we were not sick a single day and lost very little time on account of rain and bad weather."

We—that is, the grandfathers, the son and grandson—took a hike over the lead belt last Thursday. We motored, with Mr. Alexander engineer-in-chief. No, we didn't go on business, either professional or personal. It was merely a neighborly call upon some friends in the city of Franklincy, some of whom had in design a departure for California the succeeding Monday. We wanted to see them, take them by the hand and bid them Good-bye on their trip. They are Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Bellis of Los Angeles, Cal., then on a visit to the nearest family—the household of Mr. W. T. O'Neal, whose name my readers will probably recall. We left Ironton at 10 A. M., and reached Franklincy before noon, halting a half hour or so at Farmington in order to shake hands with the newspaper boys. Of this more anon, when space is not so cribbed and confined. Our reception at the O'Neal residence was cordial and as sincerely given as gratefully received. What old-time resident of this county has not a warm place in his heart for the "Neals, or does not regret that their bad fortune impeded their residence beyond the bounds of old Iron! A most appetizing dinner was served at its appointed time—country time—and our forty-mile ride through a bracing atmosphere had well fitted us to respond heartily to its enticements. If we did not more than was exactly meet to temper our restriction, lay it not wholly upon our weakness; the host and hostess did urge us to it—where urging was so unnecessary an adjunct! (I wonder if Eve had to do much urging to Adam in that apple feast.) After dinner the young ladies—Misses Marian and Blanche—entertained us with music, and a succeeding hour quickly passed in conversation. Then we men folk, under the guidance and care of Mr. O'Neal, motored to the works at Leadwood, and we cursorily viewed the big machinery—the plant is said to be the largest in the world. By this time our appointed time of departure for home was close at hand, so we returned to the domicile, and, bidding good-bye to our friends, were soon speeding our homeward way. The road was fine, the machine in good order, the driver competent. Coming back by way of Bismarck, we overtook and passed that town and Franklincy, we made the return trip in one hour and thirty minutes—notwithstanding a "blow-out" which it required just seven minutes to make good.

Methodist Mention.
Fairly good services all around Sunday. The sermon Sunday morning by Rev. Abe C. Jones in the interest of the Missouri Home Finding Society was unique and appropriate. The one at night by Rev. M. M. Wolf, pastor of the Winsor Memorial Church, St. Louis, was a very forceful and correct presentation of the much disliked subject of "Christian Stewardship."
At the League business meeting, Ed. Masterson was elected President, Miss Mary Gregory, Vice President, Anna Farrar, Recording Secretary, Leona Hanson, Corresponding Secretary. Mrs. Hanson was also confirmed as Junior League Superintendent.
Union Church's Ladies' Aid, elected Mrs. A. I. Willard President, in place of Mrs. S. E. Jelly, resigned to go away for the winter. Mrs. Jno. Conway was elected Vice President to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Mrs. Peck to Bismarck.
The morning sermon will be at Union, and the evening at Fort Hill. Mrs. Jas. Duncan will lead the prayer meeting at Fort Hill, and Mr. Willard at Union. The pastor will attend the centennial celebration of the organization of the Missouri Conference, which is being held at Fayette this week.

School Clean-Up Day.
IRONTON, Mo., August 28th, 1916.
To Teachers, Patrons and School Officers:
Saturday, September 2, has been designated by the State Superintendent of Schools as official clean-up day for the schools of the state.
All patrons, school officers and teachers should on this date join forces in making the school premises neat and healthful for the boys and girls of Missouri.
The school yard should be cleaned of all weeds and rubbish. The out-houses should be whitewashed or painted and repaired and a supply of lime placed at the disposal of the teacher for disinfecting purposes. The drinking water should be carefully examined, and if it is not found absolutely pure the well should be thoroughly cleaned out and fresh water hauled. The well-top should be put in such condition that waste and surface water will not run back into it.
The yard fence should be repaired and missing window lights should be replaced. The school building should be cleaned and scrubbed and blackboards and window shades, damaged desks and seats should be put in good repair.
Clean-up day should be observed so thoroughly and well in every district that the entire school premises will be a source of pride to patrons, pupils and teachers.
Very Respectfully,
G. W. HANSON,
County Superintendent of Schools.

The Baptist Assembly closed here August 20th, after two weeks' session. It may be truly said that it was one of the best assemblies ever held in this part of the State. The interest, as well as the attendance, was somewhat short of what we had anticipated, owing solely to the threatened railroad strike. But after all, it is very apparent that a very profitable work was accomplished. Many persons, who came to the Assembly with very little religious enthusiasm, went away very much rejuvenated and with a very much more definite conception of what their real duty as a Christian really is. This, alone, is worth very much to those who profess to be Christians. The order that prevailed throughout the whole two weeks' Assembly was the best that ever characterized a meeting of the same scope and length of time. The writer knows whereof he speaks, for he was on the Assembly grounds twelve hours out of every twenty-four. It is a fact very remarkable that there were very few, if any, infractions of the rules and regulations of the Assembly, by those who came from a distance. This certainly speaks well for our visiting friends.

The Supply Store and restaurant did everything possible for the convenience and comfort of their customers, and at times when we are very much over the top, Mr. Ringo and his very accommodating clerks worked early and late; not solely for the money consideration, but largely because they felt that the comfort of those whom they served depended very much on the service rendered them. This is a fact worthy of note, and we make the statement without fear of contradiction.
There are now only a few people on the Heights, and they will remove to their respective homes between now and September 15th; after which will be as "quiet as the silent tomb." But to those who came and went away the memory of the time spent at the Assembly will be a source of comfort and an oasis on memory's tablet that time can never efface.
We had quite an electric storm here Saturday night, accompanied by a good rain. Corn, in many places, was blown down, and in many places broken off at the ground level. While the rain came too late to help the corn crop, it will help very much to revive the pastures, which were very nearly dead from want of moisture.

I attended the largest funeral in Oran, Mo., I ever saw—over 1,000 people and more than 100 automobiles. T. W. Heisner, one of the wealthiest men in Southeast Missouri, died from an operation for appendicitis. He was only 36 years old and worth $300,000. He was a Catholic and three priests officiated at his funeral. After going through the usual service Father, the multitude gathered outside the church. But the Death Angel called him. We did all we could to save him. So we must be ready, for we never know the day or hour that God will call us home.
I met Carter Blanton, our tobacco salesman, at Flat River. He took me in his Ford car to Irontide. I enjoyed the ride very much.
I was very much impressed at Sunday School to-day with my little granddaughter, Maxine Fitz, 3 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fitz, of Kennett, Arkansas, came forward and dropped 25 pennies into the Birthday Lantern. She then turned to the school and said, "It's my Daddy's Birthday!" It touched me, as well as made me feel old, to think my youngest boy is 25 years old.

The Medal Contest given by the W. C. T. U. at the M. E. church Friday night was largely attended. The contestants were: Jesse Loyd, Carl Lovelace, Iola Howard, Opal Walcott and Eleanor Brewington. They all recited well and it was very hard for the judges to decide who should have the medal. Yet when Carl Lovelace delivered his oration he held the audience's close attention and was awarded the silver medal. He has wonderful talent. Mrs. F. F. Farr arranged the programme for the evening and it was well carried out. She deserves much praise. The church was decorated with yellow and white, with ferns and plants, which was very beautiful. The Boy Scouts were in attendance with their Scout Masters and marched in a body to seats reserved for them. Their part in the programme was a very attractive feature. Just at the close was a surprise number by a quartet of young ladies and gentlemen: Misses Florence Schmidt and Jane Reed, Ed Schmidt and Chas. James. They represented the colored folk and sang, "There will be no distinction in Heaven," accompanied by string music. They were heartily cheered. Those who failed to attend this entertainment in issued a treat and rare good time.
