We have had no rain in the valley for eighteen days and it is getting dry. There have been showers round about us, but none here. The gardens and potatoes are beginning to need rain badly.

Private Harry Patton of Ironton, Mo., spent Friday in Festus. He was wounded in the English trenches and is home on a furlough. He reports splendid treatment at the hands of the English people.—Festus News.

Mr. Wm. Trauernicht writes that he and Mrs. Trauernicht are having a very pleasant sojourn at Okawville, Illinois. He says there are many people there drinking the water and taking the baths for rheumatism.

Deluge, one of the live towns in the lead country, had to abandon the idea of silting its streets because only $150 of the $350 necessary to pay for silting could be secured. Deluge is lacking in public spirit, evidently.

It is reported that the officials are warm on the trail of the parties who have been dynamiting fish at Lake Killarney. It is the universal hope that the offenders may every one be apprehended and given the law's limit.

Be a patriot with a scold. Percy building, Monday, July 2d, 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Charles L. Harris of Crane Pond was in Ironton Sunday on his way to his old home, Lincoln, Nebraska, where he expects to remain for the next month or more. We wish him a pleasant sojourn and safe return.

After July 1st you can not send an order through the United States mail for whiskey or any other alcoholic beverage. Free country this! If we keep up the present pace a little longer "Darkest Russia" in her darkest days won't be in it.

Robert Ward and family motored to Rainbow dam, near Arcadia, last Friday, where they were joined by his mother and family and Andrew Vandergreif and family of Doe Run. An elegant dinner was served and the day is one that was greatly enjoyed by all present.—Bismarck Gazette.

Sam. Fitz left St. Louis Monday night for Brooklyn where he goes to enter the Naval training station. Sam will enter the wireless telegraphy department of the navy. The Western Tie and Timber Co., his former employers, gave Sam a bonus of $300 and his position with the company back at the close of the war.—Ellington Press.

Ed Yates of Pilot Knob and Green Cawley of Centerville had a preliminary hearing before Justice Rasche last Thursday on the charge of stealing a steer belonging to Eleck Bolash, a Hungarian living in St. Francois county, on May 25th. The defendants were held for circuit court and their bonds fixed at $500. Both are still in jail.

George G. Fox and wife arrived in Ironton last Thursday after a nine months' sojourn in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Mr. Fox's health, we are glad to say, is improved. They will go to Jonesboro, Arkansas, tomorrow (Thursday) night. George may take his old job there or take a position offered him at Abilene, Texas. He has not determined yet.

The Register last Monday was called upon by "Prof. Madarican Donjeji" a native of Lagos, West Africa. He is an intelligent and evidently well educated negro, and claims to be grandson to Balagou Hemo, chief of the Yomba tribe in Nigeria, West Africa. Was sent here to prepare himself as a missionary to his people, to whom he will shortly return.

Misses Freda and Lucille Ringo and Josephine Francis returned Sunday from a ten days' visit with Mrs. Mildred Langdon at Hornersville, Mo. Wherever it may be located, the Register wishes them happiness and long life.

Mrs. M. R. Smith arrived here from St. Louis Wednesday evening to spend a short time with the family of her son, Taylor Smith, before going to Florida to join her husband. They will make their home near Tampa. Mr. Smith, whose health, as his many friends here know, has been very poor for several years, has been in Florida for some time. The climate appears to agree with him, and for that reason they will take up their permanent abode there.—Farmington Times.

Superintendent Hanson is in receipt of a letter from the Agricultural Department of the State University, stating that the department is sending workers to Iron County for the purpose of giving instructions in canning to the women of Iron County. The meetings will be held at different places in the county, beginning July 5, at 2 p. m. The first meeting will be held at Bellevue, Thursday afternoon, July 5, under the direction of Miss Lizzie Russell. The second at Ironton, in the public school building, Friday, July 6th; and the third at Des Arc on Saturday, July 7th. The women of Iron County are earnestly requested to attend these meetings.

From Friday's St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Mrs. William Blecker Potter has sent out invitations for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Anna Potter, to Charles Franklin Galt, which will take place at the Potter summer home at Ironton, Iron county, Mo., on the afternoon of July 7, at 8:30 o'clock. It will be one of the notable weddings of the summer and a number of relatives and friends will go down from town. The Potter place at Ironton is one of the oldest there and one of many homes built by St. Louisians at Ironton and Arcadia. About 30 years ago this attractive spot in the Ozarks was quite a fashionable one for St. Louisians to spend the summer."

"The Nation's Peril," the big Lubin live-reel photo-play, treating with the subject of the preparedness of the United States, comes to the Academy Theatre on July 4th. In the picture are to be seen Secretary Josephus Daniels, Admirals Winslow and Fletcher, Vice-Admiral Mayo and all the officers of the United States Atlantic Fleet. Another big feature of "The Nation's Peril" is the actual sinking from broadside fire of the U. S. S. Utah, a ship purchased by the Lubin Company for the express purpose.

To my friend, Hon. Wm. R. Edgar, my thanks are due for some two hours of hearty enjoyment a few days since. He came to the front door of the office and peremptorily hailed me out of the editorial den into his elegant Haines car, with the assurance that it should go whither I willed. In return I left it to "Bob's" maturer highway discretion and knowledge resultant from much experience at the wheel. He headed the auto northward and we luxuriously sped past Pilot Knob, Middlebrook and Iron Mountain, on into Bismarck. The day was as perfect as any ever known to June, the month of perfect days, according to accepted authority. The soft blue of the friendly sky was accentuated by passing flecks of fleecy cloud; the golden sheen of the sun was upon the living green of field and dale and mountain-side and glittered in the flow of clear, pellucid streams; the air was sweet to breathe and life-giving. The way held an ever-changing picture of forest, farm, valley and mountain, viewed with peace and promise. As I viewed the quiet scenes my mind reverted to the shell-torn ground and ruined homes in the lands across the sea, and wondered why for so fair a world a more fitting race had not been provided. But that's getting into politics! The spin to Bismarck was made—according to Robert—at a leisurely speed; but it would have been accounted break-neck in the days when the horse was master of the highway. For me, the thirteen miles seemed to have shrunk into about three. After a cigar and a "soft" drink—it's not the old Bismarck now—we turned our faces homeward and rolled smoothly—save one bump devoted to the ambition of the chauffeur—over our improved highways into the city while yet the sun hung well over Shepherd's towering top.

Last Friday morning, about 7:30 o'clock, a white man and negro, both strangers, entered B. N. Brown's store in Ironton and the white man said he wanted to buy a pair of shoes. While waiting on the white man, Jake Tims, the salesman, cast an eye on the negro, in another part of the store. He detected a suspicious movement on the latter's part and at once accused him of having secreted something about his person. The negro at first denied the accusation but afterwards produced a silk waist from his pocket. He then pretended he wanted to buy the waist. Mr. Tims started to telephone for an officer. At this the negro ran out of the front door, fell over the wire fence, and plunged headlong into the potato patch south of the store. Tims followed him a short distance and then returned to the store, selling a pair of shoes to the white man who declared that he did not know who the negro was and had never seen him before that morning. Sheriff Blue was notified and he and his father started in pursuit of the negro, the latter having gone toward the railroad station. As they reached the station they saw the negro sitting on the railroad track, near the section house. As they stopped the automobile the negro jumped up and began to run. Eight shots were fired at the fugitive but all sped wide of their mark. Then the negro stopped running and threw up his hands. The white man, in the meantime, had been taken in custody at the Ironton station. Both expressed a desire for a speedy trial and where arraigned before Squire Rasche where they entered pleas of guilty to the charge of petit larceny. The white man gave his name as Walter Whitten and the negro said his name was Clarence Moore, and both stated they were in the employ of a carnival show which had been at Bismarck the past week. Moore insisted Whitten had nothing to do with his stealing the waist but the latter entered a plea of guilty, nevertheless. Justice Rasche fined Whitten $5 and costs and Moore $10 and costs. Having no money they were taken to jail. Saturday, however, the manager of the show arrived from Bismarck and paid the fine and costs in each case, $16 for Whitten and $21.40 for Moore, and the two culprits hied their way back to the carnival show.

Wanted—Will buy your wool at high as market price.

County School Notes.
The Iron County Teachers' Meeting will be held Friday and Saturday, July 6th and 7th, at the public school building in Ironton. Dr. H. S. Hartzog of St. Louis, also State Superintendent of Schools, U. W. Lamkin, have promised to be present and address the teachers. Dr. Hartzog will give a lecture at the Academy of Music Friday evening, July 6th, at 8 p. m. This lecture will be of interest to the public in general and everybody is cordially invited to be present. Admission free.

The 49th General Assembly, passed a law which provides for the renewal of third grade teachers' certificate. Several certificates for Iron County will be re-issued under this law.
The county Text-Book Commission, after due consideration, decided to make only two changes in the text books for the next five years. All of the old books were re-adopted with the exception of Reading and Arithmetics. The Young and Field Readers and the Phillips-Anderson Arithmetics were adopted to take the place of the books now in use. Old books will be taken as part payment on the purchasing of new ones.

Of the 46 districts in the county, eight have taken advantage of the State aid law for rural schools. To secure state aid a district must levy a tax of 65 cents for school purposes and must have maintained an average daily attendance of at least 15 pupils for the past year. If needed, each school will receive from the state $200.

Owing to the fact that many of the farmers are very busy during the summer months, the School Board Convention will not be held until sometime in the fall or winter. Board members are requested to write the County Superintendent giving their opinion as to when the meeting should be held.

Thirty-three pupils from the rural schools finished the course and received certificates which admit them to High School. Miss Etta Wigger of Goodwater wins the scholarship to the Ironton High School, having made the highest average grade. Mr. Warren Johnson of Middlebrook deserves honorable mention.

Read Self Helps For the New Soldier.
Young man, did you register for military service? If so, you may be called upon at any time now to begin training for the great army which Uncle Sam is going to send to Europe. The more you know about the soldier's training and duties before you go into the army the better off you will be and the quicker you will be promoted. The next issue of the REGISTER contains the first of a series of articles, "Self Helps for the New Soldier," which was written for your benefit by a United States army officer. It is important that you read and study every one of these articles.

We are needing rain. Corn and potatoes are suffering. The oat crop was never better.
I was out on the Missouri Southern Railroad, going as far as Bunker last week. They are certainly doing a big business in lumber. They have 100 teams and 200 men in the log camps; about 70,000 feet of logs hauled into Bunker every day and that is not enough to keep the big mill running. The Missouri Southern is doing a wonderful business, running two trains every day. They brought in 14 cars of lumber and three cars of stock last Wednesday. They receive five cents a hundred, which amounts to more than $40 a car, to say nothing of the mail, express and passengers. They are getting rich fast. The road is under good management and the officers and men do their duty. I missed my son, C. S. Fitz, as I generally met him out there. God bless and protect him! When he left home he thought he would be sent to Chicago, but on reaching St. Louis he was ordered to report at a training station in Brooklyn, N. Y. We received a letter from him after he reached his destination, saying he enjoyed the trip over the Washash railroad very much and saw some beautiful scenery. He journeyed in a Pullman and was the only one on the train going to the Brooklyn Navy Yards.

Wm. Stevenson and family are visiting relatives at Taskee.
Jas. Lovelace from Doniphan spent Sunday here with his family.
Dr. N. A. Farr and wife, Dr. F. F. Farr and family and Ed Schmidt and family spent several days of last week on St. Francis river fishing.
Miss Bly Stevenson is visiting relatives at Taskee.
Miss Esther Myers from St. Louis is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Dr. N. A. Farr.

Miss Clemma Brewington spent last week in Ironton with her aunt, Mrs. D. W. Wilkinson.
Mrs. Marvin Keathley from Annapolis is visiting relatives here.
Mrs. John McFall and children have gone to Bloomfield, Mo., to spend the 4th with Mr. McFall.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will have a patriotic celebration at the Des Arc grove, a quarter of a mile north of town, July 4th. Programme begins at 11 A. M. with preaching by Rev. O. S. Taylor, of Alton, Ill. There will be patriotic songs and speeches by the children. In the afternoon Rev. A. L. Darter of the M. E. church and Rev. V. E. Patterson of the Baptist church will make addresses. Everybody is invited to come and bring dinner. Refreshments will be sold on the grounds.
