CHAUTAUQUA!

People on Marble Creek extend a very cordial welcome to all visitors, but would like for all visitors to understand that they can't come to Hopewell church and "make fun" of the people. We are as good as you are and know enough to behave ourselves as teachers should, anyway.

In referring to the plan of selling notes to complete the building of the Old Folks Home The Baptist Home for August says: "A Methodist man in Ironton took four notes. If the proposition looks good to these, it ought to appear none other than gilt edged to Baptists."

Attorney L. F. Kinder of Flat River, who is attending circuit court here this week, has been tendered the appointment as Insurance Examiner by Gov. Mr. Kinder is a young attorney and has worked up quite a nice law practice in the Lead Belt.—Greenville Sun.

Different people seem to have different views as to when the dog tax law passed by the late legislature becomes effective and in force. Some insist that the measure became effective in every county in the state June 20th and will remain in full force and effect until disapproved by the voters at a subsequent election. A majority of the voters of any county can nullify the law as to that county. Others contend that the law is not operative in any county until first ratified by the voters.

Mrs. Newman is teacher in the Elvins High School."

Des Arc trimmed Leeper in a bitterly contested game at Des Arc. Nations pitched for the Pelicans and he showed good form. The Pelicans scored Nations poor support and kept him from ambling home with an easy victory. Leeper also did some ragged fielding and refused to be outdone by the Pelicans in the line of endeavor. Ruble and Carl Schmidt did the heavy hitting for Des Arc while Jim Blackwell was the only Leeperite who could solve Nation's shoots with any degree of success.—Piedmont Journal Banner.

Bonne Terre Star News-Register: "Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Love and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Love, all of St. Louis, spent Sunday in Bonne Terre at the bedside of Mr. R. C. Mr. Love is a prominent citizen of Bismarck and had always enjoyed excellent health until a few weeks ago when he suddenly became very ill."

Judge Byerly of Bunker was here to day on some business with County Treasurer Baker. The Judge is authority for the statement that the Bunker-Culler Co. has sold all their land to an Iowa Cattle Company and that the new company will fence in some six thousand acres for pasture. The cattle will be kept here, but will raise the feed on Iowa soil and ship it to Bunker. There is not a better lot of pasture land in existence than that of this section of the Ozarks. The land in this section of the state is far above an average for pasturing and will grow any kind of grain or grass.—Centerville Outlook.

Last Monday afternoon Dr. Marshall called me over to his premises on the lot adjoining the REGISTER office and showed me a silkworm at work. It was to me an interesting exhibit. Suspended in the air from the eaves of the roof, it was hard at work up and down the thread so fine as to be invisible except upon very close inspection. It seemed floating in the air, and its movement up and down was incessant. Not for a moment did its labor cease—a fine object lesson to those of us who all too soon weary in well-doing. Its span of life is small, but it accomplishes the task set before it, and the results are known to the commercial world. Go to the silkworm, thou sluggard, and learn to fitly fill thy place in life!

Mr. Fink, general Superintendent of all the mills of the Pioneer Coöperage Company of St. Louis, was a visitor in Centerville to-day, and, informed us that the company is now ready to begin operations on Imboden, just over the line in Iron County. The company has purchased several thousand acres of timbered land in that locality and the site for the mill has been secured on the Tate & Wade farm and a part of the machinery is on the ground. The first thing they will do, Mr. Fink says, will be to erect some forty or fifty houses for their hands, and that more houses will be built as needed. The Pioneer Coöperage Co. is one of the largest stave and heading companies doing business in this part of the state.—Centerville Outlook.

CHAUTAUQUA!

On Tuesday of last week Sheriff Marshall and Deputy George Marshall searched the residence of Mrs. May Kuykendall, who lives west of town and found apparatus that had evidently been used in the making of whiskey. Several gallons of mash were also found. Mrs. Kuykendall, who was in Ironton at time the officers made their search, protested that she did not know how the still and mash got on her premises, that they were not there when she left the place in the morning. She gave bond in the sum of $300 for her appearance at the October term of circuit court to answer the charge of selling whisky and having the still in her possession. Mrs. Kuykendall is about thirty-five years of age and has two boys about ten and twelve years of age. It is said that she and her husband are not living together.

A number of the leading citizens of the valley have amply provided for the recreational needs of our community by contracting for six double programs to be rendered under the auspices of the Western Welfare Chautauqua, on the dates of August 18th, 19th and 20th. The exact program will appear in next week's issue. We may rest assured, however, that they will consist of entertainments and lectures delivered by some of the best talent on the American Platform, as this company has the reputation of having nothing but the best of talent. Let us all work together in order that we may make the Chautauqua a success. After all, the success of an enterprise of this kind depends directly upon the united efforts of all the citizens of the community.—Adv.

A universal characteristic of the human race is the innate desire for recreation. The kind of recreation desired is largely governed by the intellectual status of the community. The progressive community stands for that class of entertainment which inspires, instructs, and entertains. The Chautauqua is the only medium through which this particular combination can be obtained. This institution has justly been called the "University of the Small Town." It is through the Chautauqua that the small town is permitted to enjoy the programs rendered by America's greatest artists.—Adv.
