FAVORITE IN SOCIETY HERE

Mrs. Paget, nee Whitney, Charming Daughter of a Lovely Mother.

Lieut. Col. Cushing Receives Many Congratulations Upon His Promotion. Notable Weddings to Occur.

There is the greatest interest here at the Capital over Miss Pauline Whitney's wedding, which takes place to-day, more, in fact, than has been shown in the recent past.

At the time Mr. Whitney was in Mr. Cleveland's first Cabinet Miss Whitney was a little girl, not yet in her teens, but she is remembered as a winning and charming child.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S WORK

Industriously Plied Her Needle for the Needlework Guild.

MEMBERS URGED TO DO SAME

Mrs. Craig States That the President's Wife is One of the Most Earnest Workers and Has Made Thirty-eight Pieces for the Poor—Object is to Provide Clothes for the Needy.

The annual meeting of the Needlework Guild took place this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Robert Craig, No. 1822 I street. There was a large attendance and the greatest interest manifested in the year's work.

The president, Mrs. John M. Harlan, wife of Justice Harlan, called the meeting to order and made the opening prayer. She then read the second chapter of St. James, and addressed a few remarks to the members concerning the beautiful charity in which they are engaged.

The reports of the treasurer and secretary were then read, and showed great strides since the last reunion. Miss Fanny G. Childs, the treasurer, and similarly known to all charitable Washingtonians, in connection with the Newberry Home, said that nearly $200 had been donated, besides the regular assessments and the contributions of garments.

LEVI P. MORTON'S NEECE. Miss Miller reported that the guild had received a charming letter from Mrs. Mahlon Sands, niece of Hon. Levi P. Morton, who is now a resident of London. Mrs. Sands was for some years a member of this guild, and is still much interested in its success.

Mrs. Robert Craig, president of the board of directors, said that 136 members had as yet sent in the completed garments so necessary for the poor, now that the weather is setting severe, and earnestly exhorted the delinquents to respond before December 1. She said that last year 1,724 garments had been distributed among the needy, and that they had not yet received half that number.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S WORK. Mrs. Craig said, pleasantly, Mrs. Cleveland was one of the most earnest workers in the guild and that she had made thirty-eight pieces, and had lately sent them to headquarters. Mrs. Craig said that every member of the society would be likewise charitable and industrious, there would be little suffering for clothing this winter.

The election of officers took place, and resulted in the unanimous re-election of the old board, as follows: Mrs. Harlan, president; Mrs. S. C. Pomroy, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. A. W. Greely, Mrs. Samuel J. Randall, Mrs. D. Wade Brown and Mrs. Ledward Hodges, vice-presidents; Miss Virginia Miller, secretary, and Miss Fanny Childs, treasurer.

The Needlework Guild is one of the most eminent benevolent organizations in Washington. It has a membership of 583, composed of the leading social and religious element. It is affiliated with no church, and any person may become a member by donating two or more articles of clothing. About 100 ladies were present at the meeting this morning.

Marriage licenses were issued to-day as follows: Florence D. McAniff and Annie Nelson, both of Washington; Ernest W. Harrison and Flora L. Purvis, both of Charlottesville, Va.; Benjamin H. Brown and Mildred Williams, both of Washington; Altono Perry and Mary Cash, both of Washington; William H. Ward, of Washington, and Margaret R. Shaw, of Prince George's County, Md.; Charles R. Boag and Joyce Braxton, both of Washington.

Joseph Monroe and Lucy Stevenson, both of Washington; Henry Joseph Crosson and Margaret B. Blaine, both of Washington; Thomas Corvine, Cincinnati, Ohio; Thomas Harrison and Mary E. Ambert, Washington; William Howard Pratt and Beatrice Fisher, Washington; George V. Faxon, Scranton, Pa., and Mary V. Neumeier, Washington; Ambrose Brown and Mary G. Keough, Washington; William James and Priscilla Taylor, Washington; Richard Washington and Georgiana Taylor, Washington; Phil Pitter and Ida Brooks, Washington; Pickering Dodge and Harriet Elizabeth McEwen, Washington.

BY EUGENE FIELD. Little Boy Blue. The little toy dog is covered with dust, But sturdy and staunch he stands, And the little toy soldier is rest with rust, And his musket moulds in his hands. Time was when the little toy dog was new, Kissed him and put them there.

"Now, don't go till I come," he said, "And don't you make any noise." So toddling off to his trundle bed, He dreamt of his home and his friends. And as he was dreaming an angel song, A wakened our Little Boy Blue. On the years are making the years are long, But the little toy friends are true.

At, faithful to Little Boy Blue they stand, Each in the same old place, Awaiting the touch of a little hand, The smile of a little face. And they wonder, as waiting these long years, through the winter and the spring, In the dust of that little chair, What has become of our Little Boy Blue Since he kissed him and put them there.

The Wanderer. Upon a mountain height, far from the sea, I found a shell. And to my listening ear the lonely thing Ever a tale of ocean seemed to sing.

How came the shell upon that mountain height? Ah, who can say Whether he dropped by some careless hand, Or whether there cast when ocean swept the Land? Ere the Eternal had ordained the Day? Strange, was it not? Far from its native One deep. One song it sang—Sung of the awful mysteries of the tide, Sung of the misty sea, profound and wide—Ever with echoes of the ocean rang.

And as the shell upon the mountain height Sings of the sea, So do I ever, leagues and leagues away Do I ever, wandering where I may—Sing, O my home! sing, O my home! of thee.
