COMELY COOK THE CAUSE

Desperate Fight in Coleman's Alley Near Police Headquarters.

George Holmes and George Ford, the "Big Man," Were Cheered on by a Crowd of Toughs.

There was a fight for love in Coleman's Alley yesterday afternoon. For twenty minutes two strong men fought within five feet of the rear windows of police headquarters and the detective office.

They pounded and tore at each other until both were blood-covered objects, hardly recognizable as men.

They did all this because both loved the same woman and each was jealous of the other. When they had clawed and lammed each other until they could do so no longer they rested a while and then went at it again.

The crowd stood around and took sides in the matter, sometimes cheering on one, sometimes consoling the other. One was a big man, and the other was little, and by and by the big man, it seemed, overcame the little fellow.

Apparently he was too much for skill and agility and the weaker was vanquished. At least so thought the spectators.

Such was not the case, however, for the little man had something up his sleeve, and that was a knife.

When they had pounded their faces until they were raw and red and the blood dripped down on their collars and stained their clothes, the little man knew that the moment of his triumph had come. He drew the knife and slashed savagely at his antagonist.

Once, twice, three times he lowered his arm and swept it outward and upward at the other's face. There was murder in every one of those blows, and there was murder in the little man's eyes as he struck, but it so happened that every blow fell short.

The first caught the big man on the neck, and out a big, ugly gash that started the blood running, and the crowd yelled encouragingly at the sight of it.

The second caught the man's elbow and ripped a long cut on his arm.

The third only tore his clothes and scratched the skin a little under his arm. Then the crowd thought it was time to interfere and they parted them and wiped up the blood and sent the wounded man to the hospital, where his cuts were sewed up, and later he was put to bed.

The little man who used the knife was George Holmes, who keeps a small eating house in the alley. His chief patrons are the drivers and stablemen in the neighborhood. Among them is George Ford, who is also known as the "big man." Holmes is a pretty cook, and although he is married, he likes his cook well enough to fight for her.

Ford also likes the cook, and when he came in to get his dinner yesterday he went back in the kitchen and tried to kiss her.

Holmes went back to see about it, and when he saw the osculatory demonstration he waxed wroth and fell to with great zest and gleed upon Mr. Ford. Later they transferred their operations to the alley, with the result told.

BOY PLAYED WITH MATCHES.

Small Fire Started in F. H. Rosevelt's Place by a Mischievous Youngster.

An alarm turned in from box 141 called engine companies 2, 3 and 4 to a small fire at No. 218 Fourth and a-half street southwest. It is occupied by F. H. Rosevelt as a liquor store and refreshery.

The fire was started in the bathroom by a little boy named Daniel Silverman, aged 5 years, who was playing with matches. He ignited a pile of paper and rubbish that caused a damage of about $50. The property was fully insured.

"The Brownies" will be the complete play presented by The Times next Sunday.

YOUNG TO HIS FRIENDS

National League President Returns Thanks to Magnates.

HE WAS COMPLETELY FOOLED

Thought He Was Going to a Masonic Funeral, but When Soden Began His Talk He Took in the Situation—He Wanted Something to Stimulate His System and Strengthen His Nerves.

The following letter from Nick Young was received yesterday:

To the Presidents and Officials of all League Clubs:

Dear Friends, I have not quite recovered from my surprise, pleasure and excitement attending your grand presentation of such a magnificent gift, and words can but feebly express my thanks.

Never in the history of the world could anything have been carried out more successfully in better order than I have been in several years, and will call the Madison Square Garden contest off and make a match for either twenty or twenty-five rounds before the club offering the highest purse.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

George Gaffney would like to arrange a fight with any 115-pound man.

Owen Sullivan, the heavy-weight boxer who has just returned from South Africa to New York, has issued a challenge to fight Steve O'Donnell.

"Bright Eyes," the Southern colored boxer, who is to meet Joe Walcott at Tom O'Rourke's next club, has been matched to fight Paddy Parrell, at Tom O'Rourke's Lenox Athletic Club the night Walcott and "Bright Eyes" meet.

William Quinn, "Scaldy Bill," the clever and game colored welter-weight boxer, has caught on in New York. He has been matched to fight Paddy Parrell, at Tom O'Rourke's Lenox Athletic Club the night Walcott and "Bright Eyes" meet.

The death is reported from England of John, better known as "Big" Tiger, the pugilist, who was in his 67th year. One of his longest battles was with Jack Keefe, at Northfield, November 11, 1856.

After fighting forty-five rounds in fifty-three minutes, darkness came on, and the referee ordered another meeting on the following day, when they fought 112 rounds in three hours and thirty minutes in the Essex marshes. Both were fought to a standstill, and the stake was equally divided. He was an exceedingly clever second, and attended on Tom King when he fought J. C. Hewson for $2,000 ($10,000) on September 10, 1863.

Young Griffo was sent to jail yesterday because he could not pay $2 fine.

Edward Loftus and "Butcher" Phalen fought ten fierce rounds at Scranton the other night. Loftus got the decision.

James F. Carroll, of Boston, yesterday secured judgment in the county court of El Paso, Texas, against Robert Fitzsimmons for $900, with interest at 6 per cent from date of award.

Some years ago Tommy Ryan and "Kid" McCoy were sparring partners, the latter being the punching bag. Ryan thought he could do the same thing to the Kid again on Monday night, and told all his friends to bet their money on him. They followed Tommy's advice. Now Tommy wants to go against the game once more.

The articles of agreement involving an offer of an $8,000 purse for Fitzsimmons and Corbett to box under the auspices of the Bellingbroke Club, of London, England, have been forwarded to Richard K. Fox, who has been authorized to sign the men and arrange the details.

Here is another chance for Steve O'Donnell to distinguish himself. A cable to the Police Gazette contains a challenge from Owen Sullivan, who has just returned to London from South Africa. He wants to box O'Donnell for the National Sporting Club's purse.

Maher has returned to Pittsburg.

There has been considerable doubt as to the nationality of "Kid" McCoy, who defeated Tommy Ryan on Monday night. The Evening Telegram, of New York, says: "Kid" McCoy is a Hoosier. He was born in Rush county, Ind., October 13, 1873, and is therefore twenty-three years of age.

ODDS AND ENDS OF SPORT.

The indoor swimming championships of the Amateur Athletic Union are to be held in New York on March 18, under the auspices of the Manhattan Athletic Club.

It is reported that Harry Wheeler, the bicycle racer, has abandoned the idea of going abroad to race this summer, and will confine his work to American tracks.

John S. Johnson, the professional, accompanied by Ray McDonald and A. Johnson, amateur riders, and Messrs. P. O'Connor and J. Weinz, cash prize riders, will sail for England today. The party will go to Milan, where they will train for the big foreign races.

Frank Fessler, residing on top of the Blue Mountains, near Schubert, Berks county, Pa., claims to be the champion fox hunter of the county. He says that this season and last he killed eighteen foxes. He has a pack of good hounds, and stations himself at some good place and waits until the dogs bring the fox around, the same as in rabbit hunting. He says that red foxes are much fleet of foot than the gray. Since the county no longer pays a bounty for fox scalps he does not spend as much time hunting foxes, and as this is the case with other fox hunters (who do not see much profit in it), foxes are multiplying at a very rapid rate.

Fred Plawsted, the oarsman, has signed articles to row Ten Eyck and Authens from New York to Albany in any sort of boat for a purse of $500. The race is scheduled for June 24.

Every child in Washington will want "The Brownies," the complete theater presented with next Sunday's Times.

SIX ROUNDS ARE TOO SHORT

McAniffa Favors a Longer Fight for the World's Championship.

Jack Is Willing to Defend His Title and Agrees to Arrange a New Match With Young Lavigne.

New York, March 5.—Jack McAniffa and "Kid" Lavigne are to box six rounds at Madison Square Garden on March 11. The hitherto friendly relations between the two men have lately been somewhat strained by the statements of Sam Fitzpatrick, Lavigne's manager, to the effect that the decision will carry with it the championship belt now held by McAniffa.

In referring to the matter McAniffa said: "There was no understanding that the belt was to go with the decision. As a matter of fact, the belt was not mentioned when the match was arranged. I am not aware that championships were ever decided in six-round contests, but if Fitzpatrick and Lavigne are so anxious to fight me for the belt, I am perfectly willing to accommodate them.

I am in better condition than I have been in several years, and will call the Madison Square Garden contest off and make a match for either twenty or twenty-five rounds before the club offering the highest purse."

Relay Race Meet.

Fifteen Colleges Have Accepted Invitations to Attend.

Philadelphia, March 5.—The additional entries to the University of Pennsylvania relay races have been received: Temple College, Drexel Institute, State College, and Washington College of Chestertown, Md.

Fifteen colleges have accepted to date. State, Bucknell and Dickinson have accepted in one class, with Franklin and Marshall to be heard from, and a favorable answer is expected. In another class Washington College, Pennsylvania College, Westminster College and St. John's College have accepted, with Muhlenberg to be heard from. Harvard, Pennsylvania and Georgetown are in the championship races, with more entries likely. Lehigh has accepted, and it is likely her class mates, Cornell, Columbia and Lafayette will send teams, as they were represented last year.

In still another class, C. C. N. Y., U. N. Y. and Fordham have accepted, with Syracuse to be heard from. Johns Hopkins and Western Pennsylvania University have also accepted.

SULLIVAN'S DAYS NUMBERED.

Ex-Champion Suffering with the First Stages of Dropsy.

Chicago, March 5.—A special from Cincinnati, Ohio, says: Harry M. Weldon, an authority on matters pugilistic, has the following to say regarding John L.
