

$10 Serge Suits On Credit

at HECHT'S, 515 Seventh St.

What is the use of paying $15 for a Serge Suit and paying cash for it, too—and running the risk of its color rubbing off—when we will sell you a guaranteed unfadeable serge suit for $10—and give your own time in which to pay the bill? A rightly-made, right-fitting and a good wearing suit, too! You need scarcely any money to speak of to buy clothing here! Our system of selling suits on credit—accepting the smallest weekly payments in settlement, enables you to wear good clothes and buy them when you most need them. We positively guarantee that you cannot buy better serge suits in this city than our ten dollar ones for less than $16. That's saying a great deal—but look around and then come here. Double or Single-breasted, half-lined or skeleton lined, and there's no man too fat—too thin—too short—or too tall for us to fit perfectly.

If you've a boy to clothe, bring him here. Bring him here today without fail. We are offering as a special for today, cassimere and chevrot reefer suits, sizes 3 to 8 years, and double-breasted suits, sizes 7 to 15 years, for $1.49 each. They're regular $2.50 and $2.98 suits, but we bought them under price and now give you the benefit of our good fortune. We are also selling Boys' cassimere and chevrot knee pants, in neat checks, sizes 4 to 15 years, for 19c a pair. They were 40c.

WILL ARREST HUCKSTERS

Police Ordered to Take All Unlicensed Vendors.

Commissioners Adversely Report Upon a Bill That Would Give the Hours a Large Sum of Money Which Has Been Willing to the Schools. Minor District Matters.

Many hucksters who ply their trade about the streets of the city have neglected to pay license for the privilege, and on Monday all such will be raided by the police. The license is due and payable April 1 of each year. Most of the reputable dealers have taken out the license; others have neglected the duty, and yet others are of a mind who attempt to evade the law altogether from year to year.

All have had notice and Assessor Trimble has determined to make an example of them. The order is to have every man arrested who may be caught vending his goods without the required permit.

Peter Von Essen, once a resident of Georgetown and possessed of considerable wealth, bequeathed in his will, which was probated according to his death, in 1866, the sum of $12,000 for the benefit of the free white schools of Georgetown, and the heirs of the estate are trying to recover the money.

William King, the surviving executor of the estate, filed a bill in equity in the District court yesterday against the then surviving heirs and distributees for a partition of the property, in which bill it was shown that the heirs were a grand, Francis Von Essen Esq., and a son, John P. Essen, who is alleged to have been a partner in the business.

The court directed that the full sum of the bequest was to be paid over to the district, and it was so paid October 5, a summary judgment was entered by the court, and Raymond signing the receipt therefor.

While it is plain in the opinion of Attorney Thomas, that the district can apply the money to the use for which it was designed, he says, however, that if the heirs really need the money, they should rely upon the equity of Congress to give them the appropriation, especially as the free white schools of Georgetown are now supported by annual appropriations.

A bill was introduced recently in the House, numbered 8098, authorizing and requiring the Commissioners to pay the funds of the schools, and upon this bill the Commissioners, in a communication addressed to Chairman Babcock today, recommended adverse action and submit the draft of a bill authorizing the Commissioners to accept the bequest. The bill was drawn by Mr. Job Barnard, a member of the board of school trustees and an attorney-at-law, who says he sees no reason why Congress should pass a bill annulling the provisions of the will.

THE DAILY ORDERS. Cement sidewalks were authorized by the Commissioners today to be laid under the provisions of the permit system as follows:

In front of Nos. 1704 to 1708 Rhode Island avenue, and in front of No. 2023 R street northwest.

It was also ordered that the compensation of Joseph Fitzpatrick, hostler of engine No. 1, be fixed at $1.75 per day. Catchbasins were ordered to be constructed at the southwest corner of Twelfth and D streets, and at the northwest corner of Twelfth street and Park place northeast.

The contractor who is to construct the new bath houses at the bathing beach will begin work today, with the intention of having them completed by the 16th of May. There will be a total of eight structures erected at a cost of about $750.

Superintendent Stevens says the recent hot wave had the effect of ridding the season of being uncommon things to see half a dozen or more naked bathers in the water at once in the vicinity of the beach.

There will be a formal opening of the season, sans ceremony, on or about the 15th of the present month.

Sealed bids were opened at the District building today for the contract to reconstruct the Stevens' school building, on Twenty-first street, between the streets of K and L streets. Ten bidders competed, their names and figures being as follows:

W. W. Winfree, $24,970; W. A. Kinnell, $24,970; C. Thompson, $25,900; P. A. Pataway & Greer, $30,900; Thomas E. Cabell, $20,250; George W. Corbett, $21,400; Bond & Braxton, $29,400; R. B. Bovey, $32,000; Peter W. Courtney, $29,200; F. Kalkwin, $29,600.

But two of the bids were within the appropriation, $28,800, being the limit of the amount available. Mr. Cabell will doubtless get the contract, his figures being lowest.

Plans for improvements were laid to rest by the Board of Public Works today, when two stores in one, at Nos. 923 and 925 Seventh street northwest, and repair shop No. 2, at Nos. 82-84 and 86-88 Saranac street, foot of Bull Run, were abandoned at 30c per foot, to be built brick, and the other stores, to No. 508 East Capitol street, $2,400; John Reardon, addition to No. 1520 Seventh street northwest, $600.

MONEY WAS FREELY GIVEN

Condition of the Robinson Family Made More Comfortable.

Musical Entertainment to Be Given for Their Benefit—Husband Hopes to Soon Secure Work.

Early this morning an agent of the Times' Charity Bureau carried to Mrs. Robinson the money contributed by generous readers in response to the statement published in Thursday's Evening Times. The little wife was very grateful for the sum, which, added to the sent her yesterday, amounted to $15.05. She stated that since her condition was made known to the public she has received a number of donations to the house, for which she wishes to express her thanks.

The reporter saw Mr. Robinson, who looks tall and to be out of bed, but who hopes that the medical examination by a prominent physician to be able, some time in the spring, to get to work again. The employees of Robinson, Chery & Co. sent a donation of $9.05, with generous wish that it could have been more, while an unknown contributor sent $5, with the simple signature of "Cash."

When the agent returned to the office it was found that another gentleman, giving no name, had called at the charity bureau and left a dollar bill.

Mr. Robinson is naturally grieved that his condition should be such as to necessitate public aid, but he appreciates the kindness of his friends, and feels that he owes their help and sympathy to Lieut. Vernon and the Times.

The following notice was sent to the charity bureau this afternoon: A musical entertainment will be given by Mrs. Mary Donahue for the benefit of the Robinson family, to be held at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday, May 13, at 8 o'clock. It will be assisted by first-class talent and Mrs. S. C. Carter has kindly furnished Potomac Hall, Miss Maitland and the community to assist her with this entertainment.

WIFE TURNS AT LAST. Mrs. Mary Donahue Causes the Arrest of Her Brutal Husband.

Trembling from the effects of a delirium, Thomas Donahue, a white-haired man, faced Judge Miller in the police court this afternoon, charged with the murder of the life of his wife, Mrs. Mary Donahue. Policeman Reynolds and Precinct Detective Morrison appeared as witnesses for the government.

"Your honor," said the wife, a respectable-looking woman, "we have been married seventeen years. I work at the National Theatre and my husband supports a family, including my husband, most of the time. Last evening he was drunk and came to our home, in 325 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, in a fighting mood."

"He broke up all the furniture and tried to assault me. He also made awful threats against my life, and he said he would kill me. I am afraid of him and with a way of his hand declared that it was only a family quarrel."

"A pretty serious one, it appears," remarked his honor. "Had you been drinking?" "I had only taken a few lock beers."

"He has been crazy drunk for several weeks," said the wife. "Your honor," repeated Donahue, "it was only a slight family quarrel."

"Frankly," said the judge, "you went out and filled up with lock beer and then came home and attempted to kill your wife after demolishing the furniture, and you are charged with a drunken assault. You will have to give $200 bonds to keep the peace toward your wife or go to jail."

NO VENDETTA DECLARED. Mr. Hernandez Money Ready to Let the Capitol Episode Drop.

Mr. Hernandez Money, the son of Senator-elect Money, who was shot and killed by Representative Hall, ink bottles and other missiles, will not institute a vendetta.

Mr. Money is now engaged in a number of engaging manners and possible intentions, although some of his friends seem to regard him as a fine case of a man who is not a Senator-elect Money leaves tonight for Mississippi, where he will reside over the state convention.

TRIED TO BRAIN HIS WIFE. Brutal Negro Husband Given Four Months in Jail.

"Dis man wuz my husband's some time ago, but he dun disowned him," stated Laura Martin, an angular colored woman, when she went upon the witness stand in Judge Miller's court today to testify against her husband, George Martin, a powerfully-built negro.

He was charged with assaulting the woman in a fine case of a man who is not a Senator-elect Money leaves tonight for Mississippi, where he will reside over the state convention.

JOHNNIE CAME HOME LATE

Congressman Stone's Little Son Was Believed to Be Lost.

The Police Had Been Notified, the Neighborhood Alarmed and His Parents Distressed.

Little Johnny Stone, the nine-year-old son of Congressman Stone, who was reported last night as lost from his home, No. 1721 Q street northwest, has been found. His absence until a late hour last evening, however, caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood of his home, and not a little anxiety on the part of his parents, who imagined that all sorts of fatalities had befallen their boy.

The little fellow, who has a mind of his own, considers that he is fully capable of caring for himself, and strenuously objects that he should be taken to the Metropolitan Hotel, where he is being cared for by a pretty little nurse, who is endeavoring to teach him to "Deutsch sprechen."

Last night he had a dinner and started out for an evening stroll and view of the city by gas light. His absence long after the hour when he should have been at home, and the fact that he was occupying the seat in Congress now held by his father, caused that gentleman and his wife no little amount of uneasiness.

They were not successful, however, and the excitement increased, the mother was in tears, and the father had entirely forgotten the duties of his office in searching for his boy.

About 10 o'clock there came a ring at the door and John Stone announced himself as returned to the home of his father, when informed that the whole Metropolitan Force had been looking for him, and that his father was inquiring friends, who were about in the neighborhood, as to whether or not they had seen him in any way.

The surprise is that "Johnnie" had formed the acquaintance of a little curly-headed fellow, who is a student at the office on Sixteenth street, and that he had been calling upon her. His parents think he is beginning love affairs too young, and will therefore watch him more closely.

SUIT AGAINST CARLISE. Broker Graves' Case Postponed by Judge Cole Till Saturday Next.

The hearing of the suit brought by Broker William Graves of New York against Secretary Carlise of the Treasury to compel him to remit a check for $24,000 of the result of a 4 per cent bond was postponed in Judge Cole's court, where it was set for hearing today, until next Saturday.

Eschott, Totten, one of Mr. Graves' counsel, asked for the delay, in order to have opportunity to read the affidavit of the clerk of the court after the office closed yesterday afternoon.

The facts in connection with the Graves case as set forth in the broker's petition for mandamus recently filed, are substantially repudiated by the Secretary.

The affidavit also denies the statement in the petition that the check was made a tender at the New York sub-treasury on account of his allotment, and says that never at any time did he tender the check to the sub-treasury.

GEN. JEFFRIES BURIED. Remains Interred in the Family Vault at Rock Creek Cemetery.

The funeral of Gen. Noah L. Jeffries, register of the Treasury under the Johnson administration, who died suddenly on Wednesday morning, was held at 11 o'clock today at the residence of his wife, No. 1329 Sixteenth street northwest.

The body was encased in a capes-covered casket, upon which was a silver plate inscribed with the name and age of the deceased. Among the many floral gifts were a beautiful wreath from the North American Commercial Company, whom Gen. Jeffries had retained as an attorney.

Another was a large pillow of roses and carnations, bearing the word "Gratitude," and a fine case of a man who is not a Senator-elect Money leaves tonight for Mississippi, where he will reside over the state convention.

The funeral was private and was in the family vault at Rock Creek Cemetery.

WANT THE SPIGOT OPENED

Citizens Object to Their Water Supply Being Cut Off.

FRANKLIN PARK SPRINGS

Residents in the Neighborhood of This Reservation Have Enjoyed Pure Water for Many Years—Flow Recently Diverted to Supply the White House Reservoir.

The property owners in square 250, south of Franklin square, and others in that neighborhood, to the number, probably, of five hundred, have united in a vigorous protest to the District Commissioners on account of the deprivation of their supply of water from the famous Franklin Park springs, by diverting the flow to the White House.

For as many years as the oldest people in that section can remember the springs have been a chief source of water supply to a large population. Before that part of Washington was improved, the clear, cool fluid bubbled up there from as many as half a dozen different channels, through a soil of red, hard clay, and even then, in their primitive stage, the natural well were prized by the populace for the purity and excellence of their limp liquid.

UTLIZED THE SUPPLY. When, later on, in the course of improvements, it was found that the springs were located in public space, arrangements were made for utilizing the prolific natural Franklin Park springs, by diverting the flow to the White House.

When, later on, in the course of improvements, it was found that the springs were located in public space, arrangements were made for utilizing the prolific natural Franklin Park springs, by diverting the flow to the White House.

The Franklin Square Pump Line.

Residents of the neighborhood for squares around the city have been complaining of a supply that by an analyses often made is shown to be entirely pure and wholesome.

There are two hydrants connected with the Franklin Park springs, one in close proximity, one on the corner of Thirteenth street and New York avenue, the other on the corner of Thirteenth and H streets. These supplies were in great or less quantities to many of the more prominent public places, and to nearly all of the residences.

Recently, for the first time in their history, these hydrants refused to yield up their accustomed beverage, and steps were taken at once to investigate the cause. The Commissioners, as well as the water department, were notified, and the pump at the corner of New York avenue was repaired by workmen from the Municipal Building, in the belief that the cause was there, but that did not give the desired result, water failed to materialize.

ONE SPIGOT CLOSED. Further investigation showed that the Thirteenth street spigot spring had been closed, and the water turned into the pipes leading to the White House. This is entirely in violation of the ordinance of the city, which provides that the spigot at that place should be closed only in case of a fire.

At this particular point, it is averred, the President's family remain at Woodley, and are not at the White House to consume the water, but that even if they were there, to compel the water to flow into the city, the President's family would be in any previous period, for sending the supply from both reservoirs to the President's mansion.

The petition for relief filed today by the property-holders calls attention to the condition of the pump, and ventures the suggestion that the water has been "diverted" to the White House, and that the "muck" to the annoyance and detriment of those who have for so long time enjoyed the accommodation and privilege of its use.

THE PAPER IS SIGNED BY WILLIAM WROE. R. Shonds, M. D.; James N. Miller, A. W. Harvey, M. D.; officials of the National Water Supply Commission, and others, are among the signers.

Several of the signers were seen by a Times reporter at their homes last evening and a good many of the comments were indulged in upon the great injustice done to a large community for the sake of increasing the supply of water to a small circle of favored persons.

HAS BEEN CUT OFF BEFORE. Col. John M. Wilson, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, was asked if the water had been cut off from the Thirteenth street pump. He replied in the affirmative, saying that it had always been the custom when one of the other of the reservoirs got low to divert the tide of the water to the White House.

It was so deplored at this time that it became necessary to increase the flow. This had been done quite often at intervals, he said, but he did not believe the supply in either had ever been entirely cut off by that means.

He added that the Thirteenth street hydrants were under his charge, and the municipal government having control of them. It has been said, he remarked, that the supply in those hydrants might have been exhausted by the unusual drafts upon it at Thirteenth and F streets, where the Metropolitan Railroad Company kept a stand for watering its horses, but he did not venture for that theory.

NOT ANXIOUS TO BEAT MCKINLEY. Whitehall Held Discusses Candidates and the Situation Generally.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 25.—Hon. Whitehall Reid, who has been living here during the winter, left for California last night. Just before his departure he gave an expression of his views on the political situation.

"As to which of the candidates named, any one can answer that as well as I, and the answer will be the same as usual. McKinley may not be the man, but he certainly seems now to have a long lead."

"But the field is against him," he suggested. "It is anybody to beat McKinley." "Pardon me," said Mr. Reid; "it is hardly that. We may have had such contests in the past, but this is not one of them. A few gentlemen who intend to relieve the national Republican party of the trouble of nominating a candidate by setting it among themselves, they feel that way, but the delegates are of contrary opinion."

"Pennsylvania, for instance, will no doubt support Senator Quay in good faith as long as the delegates feel that way, but chance, but if they fall with him, they will not then be hunting around for anybody else to beat McKinley—not a bit of it. As a matter of fact, the delegates are more eager to vote for McKinley as soon as possible."

The New Hampshire delegates gave a pretty good idea of the other delegates at a state convention as to how they would feel in case they could not get Reid. Evidently they are not hunting for anybody to beat McKinley.

Mr. Reid, in conclusion, said that the great issue of the campaign was the desire of the people to get back to Republican rule. That overclouds everything else.

WILL SOUND THE REVELLE. War Veterans to Hold an Old-Fashioned Campfire.

Fine Officer Dan Williams and Policeman Henry E. Marks, both police court attaches, with Companies T. Johnson and Downing, will sound the bugle and reveille, with life and drum, Monday evening at the entertainment to be given by the ladies of the Red Cross at the home of Mrs. L. F. Johnson.

The affair will be an old-fashioned campfire, and will be held at the hall, No. 318 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. Mr. Williams topped his drum in the Army of the Potomac when he was but eleven years old, and has been given the sobriquet, "Drummer Boy of Fredericksburg."

NATIONAL WHITE RIBBON WORK. Mrs. Marion B. Baxter, national organizer and financial secretary of the W. C. T. U., is in the city the guest of Mrs. La. Feltz and the local W. C. T. U. She will speak at the First Congregational Church tomorrow at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Finance Committee of the National Mission, on "Social Purity and Practical Rescue Work."

Mrs. Baxter has for several years been a prominent platform speaker for the National White Ribbon Work, and has been given the sobriquet, "Drummer Boy of Fredericksburg."

Washington Boy Honored. Mr. William Furman Doty of this city has been selected, after a preliminary contest, to compete in the National Debate at Princeton University on June 10. He is also in the first general group in scholarship in the college class of 1892.

He will enter Princeton university next fall to prepare for the ministry. The Doty family are prominent members of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Jailed for Brutal Assault. Joe Manning, colored, was charged with having brutally assaulted William Wheeler, a nine-year-old colored boy, and Judge Miller sentenced him to a month in jail.

SUGAR WENT DOWN. But Its Decline Had No Effect on the General List. New York, April 25.—There was a general recovery in stock prices this morning, partly due to the fact that the market was closed on purchases to cover short contracts. The early rise was equal to 1-8-7-8 per cent, and was most marked in the cases of Sugar, the grange stock, and Wheat. Subsequently sugar was again attacked, and the price forced down from 123 to 122 1/8. An advance to 123 1/8 then occurred, but still later the stock receded to 121 7/8-122 1/8.

The passage of the anti-trust measure at Albany has caused considerable liquidations of stock bought at lower figures. The decline in the stock had no influence on the general list, which maintained its strength. Tobacco advanced 5-8 to 71 3/4, and then receded to 71 1/4. The closing of the rail way list were slight. St. Paul sold at 78 1/8-78 3/4, and Missouri Pacific at 72 1/2-72 3/4. St. Louis & Quincy at 51 5/8-52 1/4, Louisville & Nashville at 52 1/8-52 3/8, Manhattan at 109 1/2-109 3/4, and Missouri Pacific at 72 1/2-72 3/4. At 11 o'clock the market was about steady in tone.
