POPE LEO'S ADDED TO AMERICAN CATHOLICS

Letter to the Hierarchy of the Western Continent.

COMMENDS ITS PROGRESS

Faith of the Pontiff in Republican Government.

Compromise Urged Between the Liberal and Conservative Elements of the Church in America.

Baltimore, Dec. 29.—It is officially announced that the Pope has addressed a letter to the Catholic hierarchy in America, on the condition of the Catholic Church in this country, and the latter will be in the United States about the first of the year. A well-known clergyman of this city, speaking of the letter, said: "This letter, to which the venerable Pontiff has given much time and thought, will, in all probability, be the last written by him on the church in America."

"The full title of the document is 'The Democratic and Liberal Tendencies of the Church in America.'"

"It is intended to be a farewell to the church in the United States, which has been an object of special interest and concern to the Pope throughout his entire pontificate. He will take occasion to commend the church for its spirit of progress and loyalty to the Holy See. The Pope will also reiterate the statement that the church flourishes best in a country where civil and social order are maintained, and that the church is a more devoted clergy, and a more loyal and interested laity."

"He will also renew his faith in republican form of government. Coming to the points at issue between what are known as the 'liberal' and 'conservative' elements of the church here, the Pontiff urges moderation and a spirit of compromise, pointing out that the differences between the two elements are of policy only."

"The Pope outlines three tendencies, which are but little understood by the laity, and which misunderstanding has caused the impression that the church is divided into two camps, each with other on questions of great importance."

"Coming to an exact definition of just what the democratic and liberal tendencies of the church in America are, they are difficult to define. I take it that these differences are merely matters of policy. The 'liberal' element at the head of which are Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland, Monsignor J. J. Keane, now in Rome, and Very Rev. Dr. Maguire, of this city, is in favor of having the church keep up with the spirit of the age, adapting itself to all conditions which a healthy progress brings."

"Even among those composing this element there are differences, many being unwilling to go as far as Archbishop Ireland, favoring even a participation to a great extent at least in the politics of the day. The 'conservative' element, which is headed by Archbishop Corrigan, and has its greatest strength in the support given it by the Jesuits, is slow to agree to any change in matters of church policy."

"While the Pope will counsel moderation in the controversy between the two elements, he will set forth the great advantages in keeping abreast with the times."

FORMER PLUNGER HOYT SENT TO BELLEVUE

New York, Dec. 29.—Jesse Hoyt, forty years old, of No. 257 West Seventy-third Street, was removed from his residence to Bellevue Hospital, suffering from alcoholism.

This entry was made last night on the blotter of the West Sixty-eighth Street station. Jesse Hoyt is the man who started the Produce Exchange a few years ago by the boldness of his speculation. He had $500,000 to do with as he pleased.

"He's about to murder his whole family," was the word his wife brought to the station house. "He's crazy from drink! Hurry!"

Two policemen were dispatched to the house, No. 257 West Seventy-third Street, post haste, with Mrs. Hoyt. They found the other occupants in an uproar. Outside a private carriage was standing. Soon after the police patrol drove to the door and an ambulance followed a minute after.

The policemen and Detective Hutchinson went inside. Hoyt was fighting like a demon, crazy drunk.

"I won't go in the ambulance! I won't go in the patrol wagon!" he yelled. At last, half by threats and half by force, the man was bundled into the carriage—his own carriage—that stood without. Unlike common prisoners, he was not taken to the station house, but driven once to Bellevue.

He refused to stay. Back to the station they took him, where his wife made a formal charge. Again he was taken to Bellevue, and locked in a cell in the alcoholic ward.

There the entry was made: "Jesse Hoyt, delirium tremens."

All night long the man raved frightfully. He was strapped to a cot, but still he shrieked and tried to get free.

At one time Jesse Hoyt's resources were believed to be practically unlimited. When his uncle died he left Hoyt, then a man of thirty, a large portion of his fortune. Several of the heirs tried to break the will, and did succeed in tying up Jesse Hoyt, Jr.'s money so that he was forced to the wall in February, 1896. The Produce Exchange suspended him.

The young man's first notable plunge was in 1890, when he loaded up with 2,000,000 bushels of December wheat and tried to create a corner. Several shrewd operators combined against the daring young speculator and forced prices down. Young Hoyt unloaded at a big loss.

Jesse Hoyt belongs to the Union League Club and the New England Society and is a society man.

Mr. Voorhees is still suffering from a severe attack of the grip, but it is thought he will be well enough to go through the ceremony.

Suspicious of Murder. Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 29.—Jacob Bower, a member of the oil firm of Metzger Bower, was found dead yesterday afternoon on the Metzger Tease, in Ross township, Wood County, under suspicious circumstances. Sale of the Douglass Stock of Haberdashery and Hats.

We have bought from the trustees the stock of Furnishing Goods and Hats of E. V. Douglass, 13th and F streets. Bought it because it was a high-class stock—up-to-date—on a par with our grade of Furnishings and Hats—good enough for us to offer you. And bought it at such a low price that we can set it before you now in its entirety at less than Douglass himself paid—less than we'd have to pay the makers today. There can be no more genuine, substantial, certain bargains than these. We haven't tampered with Douglass' own figures—except to write under them our prices. The difference is persuasive—tempting—verifying. It was a store full of goods—in nearly complete lots—but to swell the variety we have permitted our broken lots to join his—the same mm use reductions affecting both.

BAPTISTS INDIGNANT AT THEIR PASTOR Do Not Approve His Bitter Attack Upon Catholics, and He Has Resigned. Derry, Conn., Dec. 29.—The Rev. F. D. Luddington, pastor of the Shelton Baptist Church, on Sunday evening made a bitter attack upon Catholicism in his sermon, and last night his resignation was handed to the church trustees. His arraignment of Catholicism was so sweeping that it aroused the indignation not only of Catholics, but of Protestants, including the foremost members of Mr. Luddington's own church. In fact, his parishioners were so unanimous in their disapproval of such a fierce onslaught upon another creed that the only thing left for their pastor to do was to resign. Mr. Luddington purported to give an answer to the remarks of the Rev. Dr. De Costa, of New York, uttered recently at a Sunday service and at a meeting of the Social Purity League. Mr. Luddington said in part: "It is a habit of many communists of the Catholic church to attend early mass on Sunday and then spend the remainder of the day in the worst kind of debauchery. The effect of abolition upon most Catholics is to encourage the continuance of evil. De Costa deliberately lies when he makes the charge that Protestantism makes of marriage a state of consecration. He is a blasphemer and a polluter. Of seven thousand fallen women in New York city more than 80 per cent are members of the Roman Church, and their membership is not disturbed by this con-

DOWLING'S MANIA FOR FOOLING THE DOCTORS

New York, Dec. 29.—While the doctors at De Mill Dispensary, Second Avenue and Twenty-third Street, yesterday afternoon were treating Michael Dowling, who apparently had a fit, for angina pectoris, Dr. Christian arrived with an ambulance from Bellevue Hospital. He took just one look at the writhing man on the floor, and laughed as he said: "He is an old friend of mine."

Dr. Christian took from his case a strong solution of spirits of ammonia and saturated the nostrils of the patient. Dowling quickly jumped to his feet and vanished down Second Avenue.

Dr. Christian says Dowling lives at No. 228 East Twenty-first Street and has a mania for trying to fool physicians with "fake fits."
