WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1900.

England's Diplomatic Victory.

Two very able and distinguished American Secretaries of State, the late Mr. Frelinghuysen and the late Mr. Blaine, notoriously regarded the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty as an agreement which had been absolutely if not formally abandoned and vacated by Great Britain, by acts of that Government in violation of its vital and basic terms.

THE LIPTON LOVING CUP.

A Description of the Token of Regard for the Yachtsman. NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The loving cup of 18-karat gold that is to be presented to Sir Thomas Lipton in place of the American Cup that he failed to "lift" has been finished and is ready for the inspection and admiration of those who contributed to the gift.

UNOCCUPIED MONA ISLAND.

A Well-Watered Tropical Territory Without Inhabitants. A tropical island of nearly 10,000 acres, forty-two miles east of Porto Rico, is waiting for some enterprising individual to stake out a claim.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

It is announced that the French Government, looking out for a new source of revenue, has determined to plant fruit trees all along the public high roads of France.

THE BLAKE READY FOR SEA.

Satisfactory Inspection of the Coast Survey Vessel. An official inspection has been made of the United States Coast Survey steamer Blake and the vessel is reported ready for service.

IN HONOR OF DEWEY.

The Freedom of Brooklyn Extended to the Admiral and His Wife. NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Admiral George Dewey is honored for the second time with the freedom of the city of New York.

on around the quadrilateral. That the Boers should assume the offensive at this time and place, argues that they must be in considerable force in the Stormberg neighborhood, and Gatacre and Brabant may have to do some fighting before the district is cleared up sufficiently to permit of their advancing to Beersballe, which we take to be the present objective of Kitchener's right wing.

Lord Methuen appears to be getting ready to resume active operations. Sir Hector Macdonell with the Highlanders and cavalry, has reconnoitered successfully on the Boer right, reaching Koo-dooberg and Koppies Dam. This movement may indicate an intention to flank to the west, but equally may be a feint, as the majority of experts argue, that being re-entered by Tucker's division, Methuen should attempt to turn Cronje's left at Jacobsdal.

give him of his only possible comfort in life. This hypothetical case is probably a type representative of many of the crippled beggars against whom New Yorkers have begun a war calculated to bring about the retirement of all "monstrosities," that is, all deformed or mutilated persons who are found begging or selling trifles in the great city.

In dealing with this crippling problem there is an excellent opportunity for the beneficent efforts of some philanthropist. An institution for the proper care of the deformed or mutilated unfortunate who is worthy, who does not seek to prey upon the kind-heartedness of his sound-bodied fellow-beings, and greedily accumulate a fortune with the aid of the pennies of poor women, would certainly be an evidence of the dawn of a higher civilization.

Hon. William R. Day, formerly Chairman of the Paris Peace Commission, which drew up the protocol between the United States and Spain, is at the Shoreham from Canton, Ohio. He is accompanied by Judge William H. Taft, of Cincinnati, who has accepted the chairmanship of the Philippine Commission. Judge Taft was complimented on his acceptance by a large Congressional delegation at the hotel last night. The party will remain here for several days.

Hon. Fairfax Cartwright, of the British Legation in Mexico, is at the Arlington for a few days. He is en route to London on a leave of absence, and will be away for some time. He is accompanied by Mrs. Cartwright.

Col. Philip M. Lydig, formerly of the United States Volunteer Submarine Detachment, is at the Shoreham from New York, en route to shooting preserves in North Carolina. Colonel Lydig has just returned from an extended trip through France, where he studied the European method of subsisting troops in the field and with the organization of his army.

Mrs. Frank Leslie, the publisher, is at the Ebbitt from New York. She is at the Capital on a pleasure trip, and will take some part in the convention of the National Woman Suffrage Association.

Arthur B. Willis, of London, England, and Horace Caldwell, of Edinburgh, Scotland, are at the Ebbitt on a tour of the United States. They state that there is the utmost confidence in the troops now in South Africa, and the tales of gloom and despondency are untrue.

Col. T. B. Terry, of Toledo, Ohio, is at the Ebbitt. He is a candidate for the office of collector of customs at that port, and is here forwarding his interests. The term of the Democratic incumbent expires this month, and Mr. Terry is a well-known candidate.

On the second panel are the figures of Britannia and Columbia extending hands in the grasp of friendship, with a lion and eagle in attendance. The third panel bears the inscription in relief in flowing letters, "The Lipton Loving Cup." To Sir Thomas Lipton, From His American Friends, 1899.

The trophy proper is fourteen inches high with a base of green marble five inches thick. The treatment throughout is in the modern moderne fashion. Three medals form the handles from which run sprays of shamrock, rose, and golden-rod, emblems, respectively, of Ireland, England and the United States.

The committee that had charge of the subscription was as follows: William H. Taft, chairman; John N. Beach, vice chairman; Frederick B. Schenck, secretary; Howard Carroll, John D. Crimmins, Cornelius N. Bliss, Fred W. Haynes, George F. Waller, John MacFarlane, John E. Fraley, A. D. Jallard, Charles H. Webb, Chauncey M.
