SCHOOL TEACHERS ANGRY
Arbitrary Action of the New Board Causes Much Feeling.

A Movement on Foot for the Removal of General Harries as a Member, on the Ground That His Influence Is Detrimental—Powell and Fairbrother Cases Cited.

A great many of the school teachers throughout the District, and especially those who have been openly friendly to Superintendent Powell, are in a state of trepidation amounting almost to panic over the summary dismissal of Superintendent Fairbrother, and the wording of the new school law which makes it possible for the School Board to dismiss any teacher or other employe "at the pleasure" of the board, without warning or reason, if such a course seems fit.

The action of the Board last week in deciding that all the teachers employed last year shall be reappointed for the coming year has only partially dispelled the fear of the teachers. It is a general belief that this is an indication that the board as a whole intends to be conservative, and that no large number of teachers will be displaced immediately. Many, however, say that after the appointments have been made usual, they will be an easy matter to make dismissals gradually without attracting the attention of the public, and even without arousing the board itself, if any particular strong and influential member of the board has personal grievances, or an axe to grind.

The wording of the new law has caused a storm of protest, not only among the teachers, but among the parents generally, to whose attention it has been called. The common opinion among the teachers, and in other quarters, is that General Harries is responsible for the law. It is asserted very positively that the reason for the harsh wording of the act is that General Harries wished to make himself powerful in the schools and to accomplish many dismissals and appointments that are desirable to him personally.

The grounds for these grave accusations are said to be numerous, and it is alleged that there is to be a tremendous protest against his retention as a member of the board. During last week, before the announcement that the teachers would be reappointed, there was much talk of a women's mass meeting of protest against him, but it is thought probable now that this plan will not be carried out, at least immediately.

The section of the District Appropriations act, making provisions for the District schools contains the following clause, relative to the appointment of the superintendent, teachers, and other officers:

The board shall have power to appoint one superintendent for the District of Columbia, two assistant superintendents, one of whom, under the direction of the superintendent, shall have charge of schools for colored children; a secretary, and three clerks, and remove said officers at his pleasure, and shall also have power to employ such other clerks, officers, and other employes connected with the schools as may be lawfully specified. That the graduates of the normal schools shall have preference in all cases when appointments of teachers for the grade schools are to be made. The superintendent shall annually submit to the board for its approval the course of studies and list of text books and other apparatus to be used in said schools.

It will be seen that the wording of the clause is that the board shall have the power to remove the Superintendent and other officers "at his pleasure, and shall also have power to employ such other clerks, officers, and other employes connected with the schools as may be lawfully specified." This clause, it is contended, is in itself, utterly at variance with the ideas of civil service reform that have been supposed to rule in school government for many years. It is denounced as inexcusable and an outrage. On its face it gives the present board, and any succeeding body that may be less conscientious and conservative, absolute power over the 1,500 or more employes in the schools. Nothing is said of "removal for cause" or of any hearing to be given teachers before they are dismissed. Under the act, as it now stands, the worst kind of star-chamber methods could be resorted to. Nephewism of the most flagrant kind would be lawful. Personal friendship and personal jealousy might apparently have full sway if the board should see fit.

The dismissal of Mr. Fairbrother, after many years of service in the schools, is given as a striking example of the possible evil of the new law. It is said that Mr. Fairbrother knew nothing of his dismissal until after it was made. No charges were made against him, or if any were made he knew nothing about them. And, nothing is said of "removal for cause" or of any hearing to be given teachers before they are dismissed. Under the act, as it now stands, the worst kind of star-chamber methods could be resorted to. Nephewism of the most flagrant kind would be lawful. Personal friendship and personal jealousy might apparently have full sway if the board should see fit.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Charles Poe and her daughter, Miss Ellen Poe, are visiting Mr. John Wheeler Aspell, at his country place at Navesink, N. J.

Miss Cara Bruckheimer and Mr. Charles Hoewitz, of Chicago, were married yesterday afternoon at Freund's Hall. The bride wearing a gown of misty white over which fell the graceful folds of a blossom wreath was given in marriage by her father, Dr. L. Bruckheimer, of I Street northwest.

The quartette of bridesmaids were gown-clad, in white organdie over white silk, and carried each a bouquet of white roses. They were Miss Ida Bruckheimer, Miss Dora Walsky, of Washington; Miss Keen, of New York, and Miss Bukseyer, of Milwaukee. The brides were Mrs. Frank V. Bowers, of New York, and Mr. Nathan Meyer, Mr. Jacob Strasburg and Mr. Samuel Bruckheimer, all of this city. The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock, a reception followed, and the one hundred and more guests were entertained at a wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Hoewitz will reside in Chicago.

Miss Helen Brice, daughter of Mrs. Calvin Brice, is the guest of Miss Louise Potter, at Newport, Rhode Island. She is recovering her health, which has been anything but good since the death of her husband, the late Senator Brice.

Mrs. U. S. Grant is rapidly regaining her health at Richmond Springs. On pleasant afternoons she takes long drives with Mrs. Sartoris and the latter's young daughter.

One of the resort supplements of a New York paper of Sunday has immortalized Count Vinici First Secretary of the Italian Embassy, by printing a snap shot of the diplomat wearing a bathing costume and a complacent smile.

Mr. R. J. Meigs is spending a portion of the summer at Madison, Conn.

Bishop Hurst has joined the Washington contingent at Ocean City.

Miss Alice Finkle, of this city, is visiting Miss Hallie Keim at Edgemont, the beautiful mountain home, in Pennsylvania, of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph H. de Kalm. Last week Mr. de Kalm, Keim, returned Representative and Mrs. Brosius, and their daughter, Miss Grace Brosius, of Pennsylvania. Miss Brosius is to be married in the autumn to Mr. Clement Biddle. The ceremony will take place at the Brosius home in Lancaster.

Captain and Mrs. Miller were among the guests at the first ball of the season, held at the Casino at Kennebunkport, Me., last Saturday evening.

Representative David B. Henderson, Speaker of the House, is spending the summer with Mrs. Henderson in the Adirondacks, and he will go to Paris to visit the Exposition.

Senator Keen of New Jersey has been spending the early days of July with his brother, H. F. Keen, New York, who has taken the Blanchard cottage, at Elberon, N. J., for the summer.

Mrs. Miller, of Eckington, accompanied by Miss Mamie and Master Jesse Miller, left yesterday for the Valley of Virginia. They will visit Strasburg, Woodstock, and other points.

Miss Mamie McCormick will spend her vacation in Lancaster, Pa., and on Narragansett Bay, N. Y. Before returning to Washington she will also make a visit to Honesville, N. Y.

CHILD BURNED TO A CRISP.
Virginia Boy's Clothing Set on Fire by Matches.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 16.—Joe Pifer, a five-year-old boy, was burned to death yesterday on Washington Avenue surrounded by a throng of people. The little fellow, a few minutes before, was romping through a hallway. Just how the accident occurred no one knows, but the mother heard piercing shrieks and when she rushed down stairs found her boy's shirt jacket in a heap of flames. The cries of the child attracted a large crowd, and a youth, with rare presence of mind, snatched off the boy's collar and wrapped a heavy coat around his body, smothering the flames. The little fellow's entire back was burned to a crisp, and he died in a few hours. It is believed one of the children was playing with a match and set fire to the boy's jacket.

LIGHTNING'S CURIOUS PRANK.
An Underground Naphtha Tank Struck in Pennsylvania.

KANE, Pa., July 15.—One of the queerest freaks of lightning ever heard of occurred Friday at the Independent Oil Refinery on the banks of Oil Creek, when an iron tank of 4,000 barrels capacity and about 1,500 barrels of naphtha which it contained were destroyed by the electric fluid.

The tank was buried to a depth of six feet, but when the bolt fell the spectators saw the tank lifted out of the hole and moved a distance of twenty feet. The top of the tank went into the air fully 100 feet and fell so as to cover the hole which the tank had just left. The lightning followed into the tall house of the refinery, where George Snyder was treating oil. He was knocked down and was unconscious for some time.

A man and his wife were driving past the refinery in a buggy. The horse staggered and the woman was thrown out of the buggy.

PAIR OF CONFIDENCE MEN

Six Baltimore Women Duped by Readers of the Future.

Credulous Persons Led to Part With Money and Jewels by Two Alleged Professors of Mystery—A Costly Yearning for the Supernatural. Complaints Made to the Police.

BALTIMORE, July 15.—Six trusting young women have suddenly been brought to a realization of the duplicity of a man known as "Prof." Harry Le Roy. His gentlemanly assistant in this lucrative vocation is "Prof." Milton Ellis, and their deluded victims in this city, so far as known, are: Miss Magdalene Huesteler, Mrs. Mary Price, Miss Alice Walden, Miss Mrs. Reynolds, and Miss Nellie Waters.

Each of these is sorrowing over the loss of from $25 to $100, to say nothing of sundry gold watches, gold rings, and diamond earrings. The two "professors" on Friday morning left town for parts unknown with enough ill-gotten gain to take them comfortably to the coast.

The story of their career in this city as told follows: The two men came to Baltimore about seven weeks ago. Le Roy rented apartments at 229 North Delaware Street and Ellis established himself at 708 West Lexington Street. Both had signs and advertised themselves as mediums and spiritualists. Le Roy, who was the enterprise on rather a large scale. His rooms were handsomely furnished and he employed a liveried lackey to usher in his patrons. Le Roy dealt only with women. When a man applied for "treatment" he was asked to be forewarned of a threatened danger the "professor" invariably found an excuse for getting rid of him. He would either be indisposed or the weather would not be suitable for the seance or he was not in.

When there was a rush of patrons some of the patients would be seated around to "Professors" Ellis. Both men are young and have sympathetic, engaging manners, and Le Roy is said to have been the cleverest of his subtle power was hard to resist. Women were ready to believe almost anything he told them, and, more remarkable still, were willing to give not only money, but their jewels, trusting in his powers to bring them good fortune.

As an illustration of his method of playing on the feminine mind the tale told by Miss Waters is as good as any. Le Roy asked her if she would answer "sealed questions" of any kind, and in her eagerness to find out things Miss Waters went to him. She said yesterday that she is not superstitious and did not believe in Le Roy, but "just wanted to know."

Well, she offered her questions to Le Roy, holding them concealed in her hand and having written them out at her home. She says that Le Roy really answered every question and that she considered it marvelous. From that time on he began to have power over her, she said, and she kept him several other visits, until "finally" she persuaded him to take any money, but said hers was such an interesting case that he would be glad if she came back. She did come back, and before the second sitting was over had given the "professors" $25. Before she was through her faith in the "professors" had become so strong that she presented him with a gold watch, valued at $100, and with sums of money aggregating $100, for which the "professors" gave her a little black bean in a black silk bag, which, he said, would avert all evil: if worn around the neck.

Miss Walden was a victim of the "Prof." Le Roy, and she is the heaviest loser who has yet come forward. At Miss Walden's first sitting the "professor" would not take any money, but said hers was such an interesting case that he would be glad if she came back. She did come back, and before the second sitting was over had given the "professors" $25. Before she was through her faith in the "professors" had become so strong that she presented him with a gold watch, valued at $100, and with sums of money aggregating $100, for which the "professors" gave her a little black bean in a black silk bag, which, he said, would avert all evil: if worn around the neck.

Mrs. Price was a victim of the "Prof." Le Roy, and she is the heaviest loser who has yet come forward. At Mrs. Price's first sitting the "professor" would not take any money, but said hers was such an interesting case that he would be glad if she came back. She did come back, and before the second sitting was over had given the "professors" $25. Before she was through her faith in the "professors" had become so strong that she presented him with a gold watch, valued at $100, and with sums of money aggregating $100, for which the "professors" gave her a little black bean in a black silk bag, which, he said, would avert all evil: if worn around the neck.

"HECHT'S GREATER STORES,"
513-515 Seventh Street.

We shall show you next Thursday for how little remnants and ends of lines in different goods can be sold. You'll be astounded at the bargains. See Wednesday evening's papers.

300 sample wrappers, 67c.

Months ago we agreed to take of a wrapper maker his 300 sample garments after he had shown them and taken orders. We figured that they would arrive the 15th of June, and that they would be gone and forgotten by this time, when we are almost on the eve of stock-taking. Instead, they arrived Friday—a month late. We would not think of taking account of them in the inventory, and hence they will be sold at a sacrifice to close them out quickly.

All are high-grade garments—too elaborate to be named wrappers, for they are really house gowns. There are two patterns alike in the lot—there are no two of them trimmed alike. Some are of percale—some are of lawn—some are of batiste. Being samples they are necessarily absolutely perfect in make and finish, and the patterns are the choicest—the prettiest. We have been showing the identical wrappers in our regular stock up to $1.50—and for this reason, when we offer them at 67c we know we are offering you an immense bargain.

Trimmed tastefully—elaborately—with wide flounces and braid: have the fullest skirts—separate waist linings and every perfection which makes a wrapper desirable.

Complete underwear clearance.

The surplus is in the finest garments, and we've hundreds too many. For this reason, beginning tomorrow, we slaughter prices to a ridiculous lowness. On several immense tables we have compressed hundreds of the highest-cost undermuslins.

which sold up to as high as $1.50, and marked them at the uniform price of 89 cents.

Some of cambric—some of fine muslin—gowns, chemises, drawers, corset covers, and skirts—trimmed with lace—trimmed with Hamburg and Swiss embroidery and inserting and silk and satin ribbon. Handsome gowns, in "Empire" and high-neck styles, trimmed most elaborately; beautifully chemises (trimmed similarly, drawers with tucks and inserting and Swiss and Hamburg embroidery; corset covers trimmed most elaborately and full umbrella skirts with widest ruffles trimmed with lace and embroidery and inserting. No description here can possibly do them justice. Come here tomorrow and you'll better appreciate their worth.

ROYAL Baking Powder.
Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Govern. Best Report.

As they left before the detectives reached their respective homes.

A short time after the men came to Baltimore Captain Hall, of the detective department, received a request from the Pittsburgh police to look after a man who had been doing "the spiritualistic confidence game" in that city. With the enquiry was sent a picture of Ellis. The local detectives located Le Roy and Detective Thomas Hogan went to see him. Le Roy declined to give him a sitting, as he said the weather was not favorable, and after seeing that he was the man whose picture had been sent the detective left. Other charges against the men are expected to be made today.
