Paving of North Capitol Street.

The extremely hot weather is having a perceptible effect on affairs at the District Building, and upon the conduct of public business. From the one Commissioner who is left on duty to the janitor and elevator boy there is a universal disposition to take things easy and to do only what is absolutely required to be done. Electric fans have been installed in nearly all the offices and heads of departments, as well as clerks,

Commissioner Macfarland, ably assisted by Capt. D. D. Gaillard, acting Engineer

Commissioner, is representing the trium virate of municipal authority in the abvirace of municipal authority in the absence of his associates. There are no Board meetings and such business as can be despatched in the absence of the two Commissioners is attended to each day, while other matters are laid on the table to be taken up by the Board when they are once more together, about the last of the month.

Since the heated term began there has been a noticeable falling off in the number of callers upon the Commissioners. A few persistent officeseekers still come each day to be told the same thing they have heard for weeks, that there are no vacancies, that no new places are to be made and that their names will be placed on file and when anything turns up their applications will be considered.

A few of the clerks in the departments donned their uniforms this morning and shouldered their muskets to take part in the drill and recreations at the Gaithersburg encampment, but their going rearcely awakened the sentiment of envy in the breasts of their friends who stayed behind as they thought of the glaring sun, the sweltering tents, and the mosquitoes at the front. The denizens of the District Building are taking life philosophically and casy as possible in the sweltering heat of these midsummer days. If only they can make existence endurable with fans and ice water they think they are doing their whole duty by the District and themselves.

A. O. Tingley, Secretary of the North Capitol and Eckington Citizens' Association, recently wrote to the Commissioners asking them to include in their estimates for the next fiscal year the necessary sums for paving North Capitol Street

An Alleged Colored Mason Sentenced for Vagrancy.

Davis Wore a Secret Society Emblem and Bowie Felt Friendly. When the Former Tried to Borrow the Latter Tested Him on Grips and Signs, Much to His Discomfiture.

George Davis, colored, was the defendant before Judge Scott this morning to a charge of vagrancy. The complainant was Henry Bowie, also colored, and the allegations be made savored of a charge of false pretences. What Bowie said to Judge Scott had considerable weight and the result was that Davis was sent down for thirty days in default of payment of a fine

The circumstances surrounding the ar rest of Davis were peculiar. Bowie, it appears, is a member of a colored Masonic lodge. He met Davis this morning and as Davis wore a Masonic emblem Bowie looked upon nim in a fraternal or brotherly way. Davis wanted to borrow $12.50. He said his brother would tomorrow send him $25, and then the borrowed money would Capitol Street to Lincoln Avenue to First Street west.

In closing his letter Mr. Tingley says that the association has asked for only what seems actually necessary. What has been asked he thinks would be a benefit to the whole city, and would not benefit a small section alone. He reminds the Commissioners that North Capitol Street and Lincoln Avenue are much used in getting to the cemeteries and the payement Bowie was willing to lend the money to a brother Mason, but recalling that Davis had ence before swindled him, it is said, had care before swindled him, it is said, he demanded that Davis establish himself as a Mason. Davis, it appears, could not make the signs nor utter the magic words necessary to convince Bowie of the genuineness of his claim, and Bowie complained CONTRACTS FOR PUBLIC WORK. neer Department for consideration and report and Morris Hacker, Assistant Engineer, made up the estimates of the cost of paving the streets mentioned, that of North Capitol Street being $.679; that of Lincoln Avenue, $4.625; that of Patterson a policeman, with the result that Davis

When arraigned before Judge Scott Davis admitted trying to borrow money as charged, claimed that he had a right to approach a brother Mason for aid when in d'stress, and claimed that never in his ex-perience had he known a Mason to complain against a brother who was in bard luck simply to avoid giving aid.
