Riot at a Cumberland Mine. CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 28.—A disturbance occurred yesterday at Ocean Mine No. 7, near Midland, Allegany county, as the result, it is stated, of the yelling of "scab" at men at work. Andrew Leslo had his head cut with a stone. Michael Barrie was wounded with several nails and was left for dead. And others were injured. The injured men are mostly Italians. Sheriff Martin visited the scene of the disorder and found that while it was a serious affair reports of it had been much exaggerated. The row was the result of drinking on the first pay day for some months.

SUSPICIOUS OF RUSSIA

Japan Looks Askance at the Czar's Military Activity. Yankers of the Orient May Be Forced to Aggressive Operations in Korea by the Muscovite Policy in Manchuria—Comment of Native Newspapers on the Situation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The attitude of the Japanese toward Russia is one of suspicion, and in an editorial, entitled "Japan and Russia" the "Japan Weekly Times" in its issue of July 28 points to the great military activity of Russia in Manchuria and the hope is expressed that Japan will not be forced to aggressive action in Korea. The editorial says: "The increasing military activity of Russia in Eastern Siberia and Manchuria is exciting keen attention in journalistic circles in this country. It is hardly necessary to remark that the Japanese journals discuss this subject from the standpoint of our interests in the Korean Peninsula. The 'Chugai Shingwa's' special correspondent wires from Port Arthur, and his despatch was reproduced in our issue, that preparations are being made there for the storing of provisions for 140,000 men.

"Accepting the report as trustworthy, the 'Chugai' naturally concludes that Russia is bent upon military operations of such dimensions in Manchuria as are hardly compatible with any object short of the complete absorption of that part of China. Our contemporary even suspects that Russia's object is probably not confined to Manchuria and remarks that she may possibly have in contemplation some bold coup in Korea.

"In any case, the 'Chugai' thinks that there is reason to believe that Russia's intentions at the present juncture are not of a nature to allow any passive attitude on the part of this country, and strongly urges upon the importance of the importance of taking such steps as may be necessary for the protection of our immense interests in the peninsula. Unless the matter is dealt with promptly, it is feared that the domination of the peninsula will be brought by the people to a severe reckoning.

"The Korean question," continues the article, "is in a general way, connected with the Chinese problem, but the special relations and interests which she possesses in Korea entitle Japan to take separate action in the peninsula. This is especially true, now that Russia is going to take separate action in Manchuria. Japan has not only no intention to hamper Russia's activity in Manchuria, but is inclined to sympathize with her for her troubles in that region.

"But at the same time, Russian activity in Manchuria, contends our contemporary, will justify and compel Japan to take the necessary action to hamper Russia's activity in Manchuria, but is inclined to sympathize with her for her troubles in that region.

YOUNG GIRL DIES OF POISON.

Peculiar Circumstances Attending a Suicide in Baltimore. BALTIMORE, Aug. 28.—Miss Virgie M. Taylor, nineteen years old, said to be the stepdaughter of Dr. George C. Worthington and a sister of the wife of Dr. Ferdinand C. Linn, died yesterday quite suddenly, and Dr. C. Frank Jones said he discovered signs of poisoning. Her death occurred about 1 o'clock at the home of Miss Ida Linn, 1819 North Fulton Avenue, and was quite unexpected. Those present when she died, besides Miss Linn and a colored girl, were Dr. C. Frank Jones, coroner, and Dr. Amos H. Todd.

Coroner Jones made the following statement last night: "Upon returning home about 1 o'clock I found a message, which had been left at my house a half hour before, requesting me to come to 1819 North Fulton Avenue. I drove there at once and the lady of the house told me that she had just learned that a girl who had recently come to live with her had taken poison.

"Dr. Todd, who had also been sent for, had been there ten minutes. I understood that the girl was unconscious when he reached there. Upon seeing her I realized that there was no hope of her recovery, but I assisted Dr. Todd in applying artificial respiration and sent to the drug store for atropine, the antidote for morphine. The lady remarked when I entered that the girl had taken twelve grains of morphine, but afterward she said she didn't know whether it was morphine she had taken or not. She did not seem to explore the dress. She had taken the girl in, she said, because no one else would. It seemed that she had been going about without a home.

"The lady seemed to explore the dress, full occurrence. She said the young lady was a stepdaughter of Dr. George C. Worthington and a sister of the wife of Dr. Ferdinand Linn. The lady did not attribute any reason why the girl had poisoned herself. She did not say she was dependent.

"There was evidence of morphine poisoning. Every possible remedy was resorted to, the pump was used and other medicines but given, but to no purpose. The girl was a blonde and very pretty.

"At the house of Miss Linn last night information was refused.

PLEA FOR BLACK'S LIFE. Condemned Man's Wife Seeks Governor Smith to Ask Clemency. ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 28.—The wife of William Black, a colored man sentenced to be hanged on Friday for assaulting Miss Jesse Bradford, near Aberdeen, Harford county, visited the office of Governor Smith yesterday for the purpose of making a plea for clemency.

The Governor is still in Snow Hill and will not return to the city until this afternoon, and Black's wife was obliged to depart without seeing him or being able to present her petition to Governor Smith. He is considering the advisability of sending a company from the Fifth Regiment and one from the Fourth Regiment to attend the hanging and paying the expenses.

Sheriff Kinhardt, of Harford county, who will hang Black at Belair, was in Baltimore yesterday, and invited Deputy Sheriff Joseph H. Heine, assistant to Sheriff Kinhardt, to accompany him to Harford county. Heine has participated in so many hangings that he has gained the reputation of being an expert and his services are in demand at other points. He will probably go to Belair if agreeable to Sheriff Kinhardt.

Sheriff Kinhardt said the new scaffold would be completed in a few days and the one upon which Amos B. Smith, colored, was hanged at the city jail August 3, only smaller. The trap will be dropped by pulling a lever attached to the side of the steps.

"Like Sheriff Schwatka, I don't want any concealment about it, and want the people to see who put the lever down," said Sheriff Kinhardt. "When I went to see Black Saturday he asked for some whisky and I got him a quart. I will give him everything he wants, and his pocket money, and if I guess I'll have to. He seems to be breaking down, and I am afraid that he will have trouble with him." The sheriff expects to return to Belair Thursday night or Friday morning.

SAVED FROM A FAST TRAIN. Bank Clerk Snatches a Woman From the Path of an Express. TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 28.—Miss Edith M. Valentine, principal of the Cook School and a daughter of Alderman Jacob S. Valentine, was snatched from death Sunday afternoon in front of Royal Blue train at Trenton Junction by C. H. Pether, a bank clerk. The express car was switched out of her hand by the flying train and carried hundreds of yards up the track.

Miss Valentine attempted to cross the tracks and failed to notice the express that was bearing down upon her. A hurried shout from the station caused her to halt. She stood spellbound, gazing in the direction of the train. Young Pether rushed to the woman and clasping her about the waist jumped from the track just as the flyer went by.

The train was going at a full mile a minute and in the cloud of dust that it kicked up the woman was completely hidden. Pether and Miss Valentine had perished. The latter was soon revived by the women, but before she had recovered her speech she was taken to a hospital. A train for his home in Hopewell.

BANK TELLER ASSAULTED. Severely Punished for Sneering at Grand Army Veterans. CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 28.—Daniel J. Carroll, a bank teller, of 665 Warren Avenue, was knocked from a rapidly moving Madison Street cable car at midnight Sunday night, and sustained injuries from which he may die.

Dr. William D. Turner, a physician from Pasadena, Cal., and a G. A. R. veteran, was Carroll's assailant, is locked up at the Warren Avenue station. Carroll, who appears to be a German, and another soldier, the veteran, were seen by Carroll heavily in the face. Carroll struck upon his head on the pavement, and at the Monroe Hospital it was said he had a fracture of the skull.

THOSE OF THE VIRGINIA COMPANY ARE SHUT DOWN.

Lack of Demand for the Product the Reason Assigned—Business Almost at a Standstill—Cumberland Steel Company Closes Its Coke Works—A Decline in the Price of Pig Iron. The Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company, one of the new big trusts having mines and furnaces in Virginia, Tennessee, and Kentucky, announces the closing down of its iron furnaces at Bristol, Va., and Emburyville, Tenn. The statement is made that the company's business has come almost to a standstill on account of lack of demand and prices so low that it is impossible for the concern to make any profit. The two plants at Middleboro, Ky., have been closed for some little time.

It is hoped that business at Bristol can be resumed as soon as the company's new railway, now nearly completed, is built to connect with the Doe Mountain iron mines in Johnson county, Tenn., just across the line.

Despite the not overlarge business which the company has been doing, it has managed to provide for the semi-regular interest payment of its 5 per cent mortgage bonds, which comes due September 1. The interest, which was amount to $210,625, will be paid at the office of the Manhattan Trust Company on that date.

The Virginia company has managed to secure more than $750,000 on account of lack of demand and prices so low that it is impossible for the concern to make any profit. The two plants at Middleboro, Ky., have been closed for some little time.

At the New York office, it was said yesterday that as late as August 10 six of the furnaces were in blast, and it was not known just how many were running now. The Cumberland Steel Company has decided to shut down its coke works at Dunbar, Pa., for an indefinite period. It is announced that the plant contains 40 ovens, and the shutdown will throw out 450 men. It is attributed to a surplus of coke at Johnstown, Pa.

Iron men in general report that the trade is slightly better, condition and that the tide of their affairs probably has taken a turn toward permanent betterment. At the same time, although prices are now holding steady, the demand is not increasing as rapidly as many had hoped for. The report of the Republic Iron and Steel Company for the fiscal year issued last Saturday and showing a most prosperous condition of business during the entire year, has had a more or less inspiring effect both on the trade and on the holders of securities of the new iron trusts.

FOUND ROBBING A VETERAN. Fight Between Whites and Blacks Follows an Attempted Rescue. CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Albert Muzilbrok was passing down Polk Street last night when he heard moans coming from a dark passageway. Stepping into the hallway, he found an elderly man dressed in full Grand Army uniform prostrate on the floor with a large colored woman bending over him and rifling his pockets. Muzilbrok, who was accompanied by a white man, demonstrated with the woman, who quickly turned about and, drawing a long knife from the folds of her dress, made a thrust at his breast.

A lively scuffle ensued. The noise and screams of the enraged negro attracted a crowd of negroes who immediately began beating the white man. Several white men saw the group of negroes pounding the man and ran to the officer's assistance.

Hecht & Company, 513-515 Seventh Street. SUII OVER A POKER DEBT. New York Supreme Court Asked to Make a Ruling. NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A lawsuit involving a ruling upon the game of draw poker is pending in the Supreme Court of this city, and not only will the principals in the litigation await the decision with concern, but likewise all poker players.

Sigfried Steiner, of Birmingham, Ala., brought the suit against Edward Wassermann, a member of the stock-brokerage firm of Wassermann Bros., to recover $128.25, which he deposited in Wassermann's hands as stakeholder of three bets made over a game of draw poker on the steamship New York during her voyage from Southampton to this port in October, 1899.

According to the story outlined in the complaint, the players in the game were Steiner, Wassermann, Nat C. Goodwin, the actor, T. D. Marks, the theatrical manager, and J. A. Wilson, of Franklin, Pa.

According to Steiner's complaint, drawn by C. A. Mounjoff, of 149 Broadway, Steiner, while dealing, was told by the discard, dealt Goodwin a "turd-ed-up card." A dispute arose as to what card should next be dealt to Goodwin. Steiner held Goodwin $25, that according to the rule said down by Hoyle, "if a player discards and draws fresh cards to his hand, and while serving him the dealer exposes one or more cards, the dealer is liable to the player for the amount of the exposed card upon the bottom of the pack and deal to the remaining players, then come back to the said player to whom the rule is dealt the turp-ed-up card and give him another from the top of the pack remaining."

Wilson bet Steiner $100 that he was wrong, and Marks followed by betting him $100 to $10 that he would lose the other two bets. The money was staked in Wassermann's hands.

The rule in Hoyle, the plaintiff alleges, is as follows: "If a player discard and draw fresh cards to his hand, and while serving him the dealer exposes one or more cards, the dealer is liable to the player for the amount of the exposed card upon the bottom of the pack and give to the player a corresponding number from the top of the pack before serving the next player."

Steiner, despite the rule in Hoyle, demanded back the money he had placed in Wassermann's hands, but Wassermann refused to give it to him, having paid Goodwin, Marks, and Wilson the moneys won by them.

Steiner sues under the Stakeholder Act, which provides for the recovery by a bettor of any money deposited by him with a stakeholder in a betting transaction. Henry L. Scheurman, of Hoadley, Lauchlin & Johnson, on behalf of Mr. Wassermann, applied to Justice Freedman, in the Supreme Court, to compel Steiner, as a non-resident of this State, to give security for costs. Decision was reserved by the court yesterday.

Nothing has given poker players more trouble than the settlement of the question as to what to do in case of a turp-ed-up card on the draw. The rule is usually applied in various sections of the country. The game is usually played in New York according to the rule laid down by Mr. Steiner.

Wants News of His Kin. NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—William H. Munger, of Marlton, Conn., is trying to find his sister and brother, Amy Eugena Munger and John Nelson Munger, whom he has not seen in thirty-five years. He writes that either in the fall of 1864 or spring of 1859, the children, then aged six and three years, respectively, were placed in the Home of the Friendless, in this city. Somerford, while the children were in the Home, was a clerkman in New Jersey and had adopted a home with a clerkman in Maine. The parents were Truworthy and Caroline Munger. They lived at Woodbury, Conn.

Wright was cutting a board in two and was pulling it away from the saw when the board began to wobble. In his effort to keep it steady Wright slipped and fell on the teeth of the saw. Horse Run Away Twelve Miles. OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 28.—A horse belonging to Gilman Davis, of Oswego, took flight in Fulton Sunday and ran wildly all the way to Oswego, twelve miles distant, crossing two river bridges and passing through three other villages on the way, with no driver. The cartage, harness, and the horse itself were intact when the horse reached its own stable.
