

FAIR'S GROUND PLAN IS DECIDED UPON

Precise Development of the Scheme of Arrangement Worked Out by Director Taylor.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—A ground plan showing the precise development of the World's Fair site at St. Louis, has been prepared by Director of Works Isaac S. Taylor.

The plan shows the Art Building well back from the brow of the hill in the southern part of the group. The central picture is closed by a festival hall and a balustrade course, at the end of which are two restaurant buildings. These are at the crest of the hill. The festival hall in the center, which terminates the picture and forms a crown, is of sufficient proportions to accommodate 2,500 persons and is calculated to be the scene of excursions and meetings on the grounds.

Between the Festival Hall and the two restaurant pavilions, a balustrade course, three and one-half feet high is located. The Art Building consists of three pavilions forming a parallelogram 520 by 450 feet.

The Central Spot.
According to the plan of Prof. Halsey C. Ives, chief of the Art Department, the center of these pavilions is to contain the International Sculpture Court, the United States section and the loan collection. The two side pavilions are to be devoted to foreign exhibits. The side pavilions open on a broad court, which is to be enriched with sculptures, pergolas, trees, vines, etc. The galleries are all on the ground floor, and are very spacious, with ample provision for illumination, ventilation and the circulation of large crowds.

Beneath the festival hall is the cascade picture, but the development is still so imperfect that the point of issue of the cascades is not shown. Designer Masqueray is at work on this feature.

The outlines of the structures crowning the hill above the cascades are perfectly developed, and will be built as shown.

The group of eight main buildings, arranged in two rows, is over a mile long.

SENATOR MONEY EDITS HIS HOT REMARKS

Tones Down His Philippic on The Philippines.

CUTS OUT REFERENCE TO DEVIL

Senator Money (Dem. Miss.) has exercised his editorial prerogative, and his remarks on the Philippine argument made in the heat of debate in the Senate yesterday appear "blue penciled" in the "Congressional Record" this morning.

Yesterday Senator Hale (Rep. Me.) asked him, Senator Money having spoken at length on the situation, what, then, after all, he would do with the Philippines.

"Let them go to the devil and take care of themselves," he replied, with an explosive force that awoke the Senate to laughter and some applause.

"Where They Please."

It made a hit as a specimen of Senatorial repartee, but the Mississippi statesman evidently concluded that it would not look well in cold type. So he took his blue pencil in hand and edited his remarks, which now appear as follows:

"Let them go where they please and take care of themselves, so far as the American people are concerned, and that is what everyone of you think of the Senator Money occupied the greater part of the session.

Senator Foster's Joke.
He talked so exhaustively on the subject that toward the close of the session, when the shadows were growing long and a futile attempt was made to go into executive session, Senator Foster remarked:

"Well, you know Money talks. . . . Mr. Foster asked Mr. Money whether he would let the Philippines go to the devil immediately, and explained that he asked the question because he saw that the minority of the Philippine committee favored holding control of the islands until certain objects were obtained.

Mr. Money Tells a Story.
The reply to Mr. Foster's question was the telling of a funny anecdote of a commercial traveler, who, on being asked by a preacher in a Methodist Church, where he had gone to have a good sleep after a night spent at poker, whether he did not wish to go to heaven, replied that he did, but that he was not in any hurry.

Mr. Money ridiculed what he characterized as the cant and hypocrisy which imputed to Providence, or destiny, the present condition of things in the Philippine Islands, and he exclaimed:

"We, the heirs of all the ages, are turning our backs upon our glorious record, and imposing our rule upon a people about whom we have not the slightest concern in the world. We have gone to the good old rule, the robber plan, that they shall take who have the power, and they shall keep who can."

The Cold Wave Arrives on Time.

The cold wave, which came out of the Northwest Saturday morning, and has been gradually working its way southward and eastward has reached Washington and will be felt here for several days.

The forecast officials at the Weather Bureau say that it will reach its highest point in Washington tonight.

It is expected that the mercury will fall several degrees before midnight.

Throughout the present conditions of fair weather and low temperature are to be expected for several days.

Irish northerly winds are to be looked for in this section of the country.

The cold wave crossed the Appalachians last night and the temperature fell several degrees below the seasonal average.

TRADE WITH THE KANUCKS

Peculiarities That Should Be Considered.

ARE UP-TO-DATE TRAVELING MEN

Goods Must Be of the Best Quality and Offered at the Right Time. Care Necessary in Making.

Mr. Henry S. Culver, United States Consul at London, Ontario, writes under date of January 7:

"First of all, it should be understood that the nearness of Canada to the United States does not render it any the less foreign in matters pertaining to trade, and it takes energy and tact to successfully invade it commercially.

The Canadian people naturally regard with a jealous eye all encroachments upon their own field, and no doubt would favor fewer goods from the United States did not the excellence of quality and design of our wares commend them above similar articles of Canadian or English manufacture.

"There is no more prejudice against American goods than there is against the manufacture of any other foreign country, but they must have some superior merit before they will readily attract the attention of the Canadian dealer.

The Canadian people generally buy the best quality of goods, and if the superior article chances to be American they do not hesitate to purchase on this account. The style and quality of our boots and shoes and the excellence of our steel hardware, our hats and caps, silver-plated ware and jewelry, drug and grocery machinery, etc., have placed them beyond competition in many markets of the world, and it is not surprising that in other lines to which our manufacturers in other lines to which our goods are well adapted, they are not less successful.

Up-to-Date Traveling Men.
"No doubt the most successful way to gain a foothold in a foreign market is to make a seasonable exhibit of the product to be exported, and this can best be done through active, up-to-date traveling salesmen. It is notable that many of our dealers are either too late or too early to 'strike the trade,' and as a consequence, their salesmen return without orders. This is an important matter where most goods are purchased by sample, where competition is keen, and where the English salesman is constantly watching for the least opening. Heavy dry goods dealers and others who buy extensively in the English market make semi-annual trips to London to replenish their stock. They usually go abroad during the holidays to make their spring and summer purchases, and again in July to obtain their fall and winter supplies; hence, the time for approaching the English market is just before they start on these trips.

"As to salesmen's samples, the customs laws of the Dominion make marketable goods not manufactured in the Dominion, and which are not intended for export, liable to duty if they are sent to any person, whether the shipper or the consignee, for the purpose of being used as samples in the Dominion.

Many Custom Houses.
"Custom houses are maintained not only in every country, but in every town and city of any importance, and goods shipped from any point in the United States are transported, in bond, after reaching the border, to the custom house nearest the point of destination. There the proper entry is made and the duties paid. This system necessitates great care in marking and numbering boxes and crates, which should be done in a series, so that, if it is desired to take any one box out of bond, no mistakes will occur. Care should also be exercised in marking goods, to show that they are not prohibited articles. Otherwise, the shipment may be subjected to forfeiture and the shipper to a fine of $200.

May Be Returned Duty Free.
"Another matter of importance to shippers which should be generally known, but unfortunately is not, is the fact that American goods or products may be returned to the United States free of duty; hence, should a shipment to Canada prove in any way unsatisfactory, it could be returned without paying the usual customs charges, upon the declaration of the shipper that the goods are not intended for sale in the United States. The terms of sale should cover whatever expense may be attached to the return of the goods, and the name of the importer, exporter or seller, who is to pay the same, thus avoiding any misunderstanding.

"Fire and paving bricks of good quality are not prohibited articles in the Dominion, owing to a lack of suitable clay. I see no reason why a profitable trade might not be established in this line, since it is a matter of daily consideration on the part of the cities and towns of the Province how to replace the old cedar-block pavement, which has proved so unsatisfactory.

"There is also a market here for hard-wood lumber, especially white pine, spruce and quartered oak, and hickory."

CHARGES AGAINST MURPHY.
ALI BABA CLUB AT HOME.
Reception and Exhibition of Art Work This Evening.

The Ali Baba Club, a society of artists and bohemians, has made preparations to entertain its friends and members at an "at home," which is to be given this evening at their club rooms, 1420 New York Avenue northwest.

There will be an exhibition of works of art by members of the club, prominent among which will be a collection of china-painting by Miss Ceilynda Ford, who applied this summer to the most favorable comment received in the recent exhibit will include oil paintings, water colors, black and white studies, pen and pencil sketches, burnt leather, brass and paper.

The Ali Baba Club is in a flourishing condition and counts among its members some of the best known society people and artists.

MRS. DAVIS' SUDDEN DEATH.
Body of the Wife of Congressman From Florida Sent Home.

Mrs. R. W. Davis, wife of Representative Davis of the Second Congressional district of Florida, died suddenly at her residence, 114 Maryland Avenue, this city, Sunday evening.

The Episcopal funeral service was celebrated over her remains yesterday morning, and the body was shipped to Florida over the Southern Railway. Interment will be made at Palatka, Fla., the home of Mr. Davis on the St. Johns River.

The pallbearers at the service yesterday were: Senators Mallory and Talliferro; Florida Architects, and County Clerk of Florida, Maldox of Georgia, and Lannon and Randall of Texas, and Gen. W. H. Sebring and Mr. Twombly, of Florida.

Prominent Jersey Man Dead.
PASSAIC, N. J., Jan. 28.—Aaron Woodworth, a prominent resident of Rutherford, near here, dropped dead this morning while reading the morning papers. He was one of the oldest residents of the town. For a number of years he held a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, but lately retired from business.

W. R. Fritz Recovering.
RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 28.—W. R. Fritz, who was near death's door last week, is recovering from a small blood vessel, has escaped paralysis and is slowly recovering.

CHICAGOANS MAY BE DEBLED COAL

Windy City Teamsters Threaten to Declare a Strike.

MERCURY BELOW ZERO THERE

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—No coal and the thermometer below zero, is the situation which the owners and tenants of big office buildings will have to face today if the coal teamsters carry out their threat.

Making War on Gas.
At a special meeting held last night the Coal Teamsters' Union decided to begin its war on the consumers of gas this morning, and all owners who will not sign a contract with the coal operators to use coal throughout the year will have trouble in getting their usual supply today.

Coal Trust Suspected.
The coal teamsters, in refusing to haul to any building where gas is used during the summer months are supposed to be fighting for employment during the year, but the real power behind them is said to be the coal trust, which hopes to increase its market. Last Friday night a five-year agreement was signed between the Coal Teamsters' Union and the Team Owners' Association, which granted the men a material advance in wages.

Trouble's Supposed Cause.
The coal interests, it is said, have tried in a number of ways to have the use of gas discontinued. The coal operators have said that they cannot afford to be placed in the light of refusing to sell coal to the consumers of gas, and for that reason they are not to be urging the union to bear the criticism, which they believe is sure to follow.

None of the large buildings affected carry a large amount of coal, and stoppage for even one day would cause much inconvenience.

GAME OF GREENBACK POKER.
Discovered by a Congressman and Now Much in Vogue.

Congress has a new game. It is called greenback poker. Any number of persons can play it. It takes a dollar bill to come into a pot.

An ingenious statesman, while examining some paper money a few days ago, discovered that in the numbers on the bills there are likely to be pairs. For instance, on a bill numbered 1067397 there are two sixes, two sevens, and two eights.

In less than a minute he had bet a dollar bill with someone else that his bill had a better poker hand on it than the other fellow's. That started it, and now everybody in the Capitol who has the required stock of dollar bills is playing. The man with the best hand as to threes, etc., wins. Most of the paper money in circulation is numbered up in the millions.

Representative Cannon of Illinois is away about it. He has by diligent search acquired a bill with four aces and three sixes on it.

ENGINEER KILLED IN WRECK.
New York Central Passenger Train Runs Into Switch Engine.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Passenger Central Railroad collided with a switch engine in front of the station at Onondaga, 20 miles east of here, at 10 o'clock this morning.

James Welch, of Albany, the engineer of the passenger train, was killed instantly.

The fireman on the same train, who is also from Albany, whose name is McCabill, was badly injured.

According to the New York Central officials the passenger train had the right of way and the switch engine had no right on the tracks.

The passenger train while going at full speed ran into the switch engine, and the former was overturned, burying the engineer and fireman under it.

The engineer was killed instantly. No other damage was done.

ROBBED AND CREMATED.
Charred Body Bound With Wire Taken From Flames.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Michael Sweeney, of Columbus, was burned to death Sunday night in a flag shanty of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, one-half mile west of Girard.

It is suspected that he had been robbed of his month's pay, which he drew the day before, and that after he had been bound to a chair with wire, the shanty was set on fire.

The flames were discovered by the crew of the second section of eastbound freight No. 94. Ed Gallagher, a fireman, who was riding on the engine with Engineer Green, saw the flames first, and jumped off the engine, kicking in the door. The flames struck back Gallagher, burning him about the face and head.

The suspicion of robbery and murder arose from the fact that wire was coiled about the charred remains of Sweeney when they were finally drawn out.

WOMAN DIES OF NEGLECT.
Was Member of Cult Which Did Not Believe in Physicians.

AUBURN, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Much excitement has been aroused here over the death of Mrs. Sarah Libby, a widow, 63 years of age who, being a member of the Holy Ghost and Us Society, received no medical attention until the last moment, while suffering from pneumonia.

The woman died last Sunday, and although she had been ill for a week, no medical aid was called in until Friday night, when the physicians found they were too late to save the patient.

The physician stated that the woman died from neglect. No action has yet been taken by the authorities.

MAY ASK HIM TO RESIGN.
Austria's Foreign Minister Involved in Gambling Scandal.

VIENNA, Jan. 28.—According to the "Pest Herald," the sensational gambling episode at the Jockey Club on December 25 last, in which $500,000 changed hands at one sitting, is likely to cause the resignation of Count Goluchowski, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The paper today announces that Emperor Franz Josef will ask the foreign minister to resign because he watched the gambling, and did not try to stop illegal play.

Architects File Protest.
The Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, at a meeting held in this city on January 25, passed a series of resolutions protesting against the proposed legislation changing the title of Architect of the United States Capitol, and calling on the President to appoint an architect at as early a date as possible.

MARYLAND SOLONS BUSY.

Oyster Bill Presented and Protective Measures to Be Enacted.

CAPTAIN CLARK MAY RECEIVE HIS REWARD

The Congressional Situation Changing in His Favor.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 28.—Bath the branches of the Maryland Legislature convened last night. The intention is to have a session every day until including Friday.

Senator Bryan introduced a bill providing that after its endorsement by the popular vote of the city the mayor and city council of Baltimore should issue stock to the amount of $1,000,000 for the purpose of improving the water system of the city.

Senator Robinson introduced a bill requiring three years of study before a candidate can be admitted to the bar of the State instead of two.

During a recess the Senate listened to an address by B. Howard Harman, of the Baltimore bar, who spoke in favor of his bill to lease the barren bottoms of the Chesapeake for oyster culture.

Delegate Foutz introduced a bill requiring the United Railway Company, of Baltimore city, to sell six tickets for a quarter, good on any line in Baltimore.

This bill has been introduced at every session for a number of years, and is familiarly known as the six-for-a-quarter ticket bill.

The Legislature seems doomed never to get rid of the casualty insurance bill. After messages had been interchanged between the two houses tonight, requesting on the part of the House that the Senate recede from its amendments, which was refused, Delegate Strain obtained the floor speaking in his resolution proposing a change in the rules which will obviate the parliamentary tangle which engulfed the House on Friday.

The joint resolution, introduced by Delegate Dryden in regard to oyster trespassing near the border passed the House finally, proposes a committee of Maryland legislators to meet a like committee from Virginia for the purpose of remedying alleged trespassing in each other's waters.

COAST VIEWS ON THE CHINESE
Editor Livernash Urges Exclusion Before House Committee.

Edward J. Livernash, editor of the "San Francisco Examiner," was a witness before the Senate Committee on Immigration yesterday in its hearing on Chinese exclusion.

Mr. Livernash comes accredited by Governor Gage of California, and by the California Anti-Chinese League.

He made a long and forcible argument in favor of the bill now under consideration, consuming nearly the entire session of the committee, and presenting apparently a very complete exposition of the California view of the subject.

Mr. Livernash stated that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

He expressed the opinion that the law is necessary for the preservation of the laboring class and the protection of the industrial rather than Oriental civilization.

In speaking of the difficulty attending the restriction of the Chinese from going into the Philippines, he said that the Chinese population of the Philippines is immense, and that unless the exclusion act is passed a horde of the race will flock to California and there to every part of the country, just as they have flocked to the Philippines.

CHICAGOANS MAY BE DEBLED COAL

Windy City Teamsters Threaten to Declare a Strike.

MERCURY BELOW ZERO THERE

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—No coal and the thermometer below zero, is the situation which the owners and tenants of big office buildings will have to face today if the coal teamsters carry out their threat.

Making War on Gas.
At a special meeting held last night the Coal Teamsters' Union decided to begin its war on the consumers of gas this morning, and all owners who will not sign a contract with the coal operators to use coal throughout the year will have trouble in getting their usual supply today.

Coal Trust Suspected.
The coal teamsters, in refusing to haul to any building where gas is used during the summer months are supposed to be fighting for employment during the year, but the real power behind them is said to be the coal trust, which hopes to increase its market. Last Friday night a five-year agreement was signed between the Coal Teamsters' Union and the Team Owners' Association, which granted the men a material advance in wages.

Trouble's Supposed Cause.
The coal interests, it is said, have tried in a number of ways to have the use of gas discontinued. The coal operators have said that they cannot afford to be placed in the light of refusing to sell coal to the consumers of gas, and for that reason they are not to be urging the union to bear the criticism, which they believe is sure to follow.

None of the large buildings affected carry a large amount of coal, and stoppage for even one day would cause much inconvenience.

GAME OF GREENBACK POKER.
Discovered by a Congressman and Now Much in Vogue.

Congress has a new game. It is called greenback poker. Any number of persons can play it. It takes a dollar bill to come into a pot.

An ingenious statesman, while examining some paper money a few days ago, discovered that in the numbers on the bills there are likely to be pairs. For instance, on a bill numbered 1067397 there are two sixes, two sevens, and two eights.

In less than a minute he had bet a dollar bill with someone else that his bill had a better poker hand on it than the other fellow's. That started it, and now everybody in the Capitol who has the required stock of dollar bills is playing. The man with the best hand as to threes, etc., wins. Most of the paper money in circulation is numbered up in the millions.

Representative Cannon of Illinois is away about it. He has by diligent search acquired a bill with four aces and three sixes on it.

ENGINEER KILLED IN WRECK.
New York Central Passenger Train Runs Into Switch Engine.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Passenger Central Railroad collided with a switch engine in front of the station at Onondaga, 20 miles east of here, at 10 o'clock this morning.

James Welch, of Albany, the engineer of the passenger train, was killed instantly.

The fireman on the same train, who is also from Albany, whose name is McCabill, was badly injured.

According to the New York Central officials the passenger train had the right of way and the switch engine had no right on the tracks.

The passenger train while going at full speed ran into the switch engine, and the former was overturned, burying the engineer and fireman under it.

The engineer was killed instantly. No other damage was done.

ROBBED AND CREMATED.
Charred Body Bound With Wire Taken From Flames.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Michael Sweeney, of Columbus, was burned to death Sunday night in a flag shanty of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, one-half mile west of Girard.

It is suspected that he had been robbed of his month's pay, which he drew the day before, and that after he had been bound to a chair with wire, the shanty was set on fire.

The flames were discovered by the crew of the second section of eastbound freight No. 94. Ed Gallagher, a fireman, who was riding on the engine with Engineer Green, saw the flames first, and jumped off the engine, kicking in the door. The flames struck back Gallagher, burning him about the face and head.

The suspicion of robbery and murder arose from the fact that wire was coiled about the charred remains of Sweeney when they were finally drawn out.

WOMAN DIES OF NEGLECT.
Was Member of Cult Which Did Not Believe in Physicians.

AUBURN, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Much excitement has been aroused here over the death of Mrs. Sarah Libby, a widow, 63 years of age who, being a member of the Holy Ghost and Us Society, received no medical attention until the last moment, while suffering from pneumonia.

The woman died last Sunday, and although she had been ill for a week, no medical aid was called in until Friday night, when the physicians found they were too late to save the patient.

The physician stated that the woman died from neglect. No action has yet been taken by the authorities.

MAY ASK HIM TO RESIGN.
Austria's Foreign Minister Involved in Gambling Scandal.

VIENNA, Jan. 28.—According to the "Pest Herald," the sensational gambling episode at the Jockey Club on December 25 last, in which $500,000 changed hands at one sitting, is likely to cause the resignation of Count Goluchowski, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The paper today announces that Emperor Franz Josef will ask the foreign minister to resign because he watched the gambling, and did not try to stop illegal play.

Architects File Protest.
The Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, at a meeting held in this city on January 25, passed a series of resolutions protesting against the proposed legislation changing the title of Architect of the United States Capitol, and calling on the President to appoint an architect at as early a date as possible.

MARYLAND SOLONS BUSY.

Oyster Bill Presented and Protective Measures to Be Enacted.

CAPTAIN CLARK MAY RECEIVE HIS REWARD

The Congressional Situation Changing in His Favor.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 28.—Bath the branches of the Maryland Legislature convened last night. The intention is to have a session every day until including Friday.

Senator Bryan introduced a bill providing that after its endorsement by the popular vote of the city the mayor and city council of Baltimore should issue stock to the amount of $1,000,000 for the purpose of improving the water system of the city.

Senator Robinson introduced a bill requiring three years of study before a candidate can be admitted to the bar of the State instead of two.

During a recess the Senate listened to an address by B. Howard Harman, of the Baltimore bar, who spoke in favor of his bill to lease the barren bottoms of the Chesapeake for oyster culture.

Delegate Foutz introduced a bill requiring the United Railway Company, of Baltimore city, to sell six tickets for a quarter, good on any line in Baltimore.

This bill has been introduced at every session for a number of years, and is familiarly known as the six-for-a-quarter ticket bill.

The Legislature seems doomed never to get rid of the casualty insurance bill. After messages had been interchanged between the two houses tonight, requesting on the part of the House that the Senate recede from its amendments, which was refused, Delegate Strain obtained the floor speaking in his resolution proposing a change in the rules which will obviate the parliamentary tangle which engulfed the House on Friday.