

DISTRICT MATTERS UP IN HOUSE COMMITTEE

Quincy Street and Anacostia River Improvements.

BOTH MATTERS DISCUSSED

Proposition to Lock Into Changes in the Union Station Bill Accepted—Representative McAndrews to Take Place of the Late Peter J. Otey.

The House District Committee this morning, on motion of Representative Mercer, referred to the subcommittee on Street Railway, Streets, and Avenues his bill for the extension of Quincy Street northwest from Twenty-ninth Street to Pierce Mill Road, with instructions to perfect the bill and report it to the House so that it will carry no appropriation nor incur any expense to the District or the General Government.

The committee, on motion of Representative Mudd, referred to a special committee the latter's bill authorizing the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to enter into a contract or contracts for the dredging and improvement of the Anacostia River and the reclamation and improvement of its flats from the line of the District of Columbia to the Pennsylvania Avenue Bridge, in accordance with such plans and specifications as they may see fit to adopt, at a cost not to exceed $1,800,000, to be paid one-half out of the revenues of the District of Columbia. By the terms of the bill $100,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated, one-half out of the revenues of the District of Columbia, to pay the expenses of any preliminary work or plans that may be necessary for the commencement of said work.

The following committee to consider the matter was appointed by Chairman Babcock: Representatives Mudd, Jenkins, Allen, Morrill, Lattimer, Coward, and Norton. This committee will begin consideration of the bill at once, as it is Mr. Mudd's purpose to have it reported to the House as early as possible.

The chairman announced the appointment of Representative McAndrews on the following subcommittees to fill vacancies caused by the death of the late Representative Otey of Virginia: Education, Labor and Charities, and Steam Railways. Mr. Henderson, representing the Eckington and North Capital Citizens' Association, invited the committee to visit Eckington and look over the changes contained in the union station bill. This invitation was accepted, and Chairman Babcock appointed Messrs. Mudd, Mercer, and Coward to represent the committee and report on the changes. The committee will visit Eckington the first of next week.

REV. DANIEL F. SPRIGG.

An Unselfish Worker in the Religious World of Washington.

To the Editor of The Times: An article in your issue of Monday, June 2, in regard to the proposed appointment of chaplains for the members of the Fire Department, contains an allusion to the excellent voluntary religious work that has for some time past been done at the engine houses by, as your text had it, "Dr. David Seag." This name should be Rev. Dr. Daniel F. Sprigg, and it so appeared in an article in The Times of Sunday, June 1, in which a graceful and well-deserved compliment was paid to Dr. Sprigg's earnest, unselfish devotion to his work for the betterment of our people.

Dr. Sprigg's life has been consecrated to good works and works. For many years he was rector of one of the principal Episcopal churches in Richmond, Va., and editor and publisher of the "Southern Churchman," a denominational paper of wide influence. Mrs. Perry, wife of the rector of St. Andrew's Church, is his daughter. Now, though carrying the burden of nearly fourscore years, he ministers regularly to a small congregation in a modest little chapel on Twelfth Street northwest, between U and V Streets. He bought the building and, entirely at his own expense, fitted it up for the purpose of worship. He receives no salary whatever, and himself pays all the incidental expenses of the chapel. Every penny of the free-will offerings is devoted to charitable uses.

Those whose privilege it is to know him will not be surprised to learn of his labors among the firemen, which he has carried on in the quiet, unostentatious way so characteristic of him, without either the hope or the desire for pecuniary reward. He finds abundant compensation in the satisfaction that comes from a sincere effort to do good to those around him. While it is distasteful to "sound a trumpet" before him, it seemed fitting in this connection to pay him this tribute.

GOOD TIME PROMISED AT IROQUOIS SMOKER

Marine Band and Other Entertainers Provided for Tonight's Festivity.

The June smoker of the Iroquois Club, which will be held this evening at the cozy club rooms on Pennsylvania Avenue, near Fourteenth Street northwest, promises to be a brilliant event. A large detachment of the Marine Corps Band, under Lieutenant Sautermeister, will be present, and a long list of musical selections and recitations by well-known local entertainers and songs by a troupe of genuine Hawaiian singers will be rendered. A number of prominent Senators and Representatives have signified their intention of attending and a merry time is anticipated. Manager Wells, who has the affair in hand, has been busy for over two weeks past on the arrangements.

GUILTY OF MANY ROBBERIES.

Cafe Waiter Given Nearly Year in Jail for Larceny.

Clinton Wands, colored, was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or spend sixty days in jail this morning on each charge of larceny preferred against him by Detective Sergeants Hawlett and Pratt. Wands was employed as a helper in the kitchen of the Pennsylvania depot cafe. He was suspected of having stolen a number of articles and was dismissed. After leaving the kitchen he went to the home of one of the cafe waiters and succeeded in getting the latter's suit of clothes. For this he was arrested. After taking him into custody the detectives found upon his person a pawn ticket for a gold watch and, upon investigation, they discovered that he had also stolen the watch. After sentence had been passed on Wands in Police Court this morning, he was being taken back to a cell in the District Jail.

NEWS AND GOSSIP FROM GEORGETOWN

Imposing Row of Dwellings Soon to Be Erected.

Chester Tolson Thrown From Truck Horse and Injured—Maccabee Memorial Service.

Recent sales of the Miller-Shoemaker Company include the following: To Joseph Richardson, the Thirty-fifth street frontage of the Worthington property, which has 150 feet of frontage on Thirty-fifth street, by a depth of 233 feet on U street, unimproved. Mr. Richardson will erect on the property a row of imposing dwellings, to cost about $60,000. The company has also sold to Mrs. M. F. Aveline the Fuller home in Somerset heights, north of Tenleytown; the Frizell stone house on the Canal Road, near its intersection with the New Cut Road, to Daniel Crumbaugh; and to B. H. Warner, a lot in Burket's subdivision, to George W. Melton. These properties aggregate in value $24,300.

For Mr. Joseph Richardson the company has sold the premises 1322 Maryland Avenue northeast and at 1243 K Street northeast, the consideration being $5,000.

While riding one of the horses of fire truck E from the blacksmith shop yesterday morning, Chester Tolson was thrown from the animal's back at the corner of Thirty-fourth and G Streets and painfully injured. The horse then ran up Thirty-fourth street at a high rate of speed. Another horse attached to a vegetable wagon, belonging to Mr. Fred Hillberry, became frightened at the runaway, and also started off, but after running several squares was stopped by a citizen. The horse belonging to the truck house was captured near the corner of Thirty-fourth and T Streets. Tolson was taken to his home, 3211 Grace Street.

Messrs. Coyte Gibbs and A. E. Schultze, of Georgetown Tent No. 6 of Maccabees, have been appointed to represent the local tent on the joint committee organized to arrange for holding memorial services on Sunday, June 16, in honor of members of the order who have died during the past year. The services will be held in Masonic Temple, Ninth and F Streets northwest. An invitation has been extended to a well known Washington divine to officiate at the services.

Mr. Julius Holtzberg has been appointed to the committee on arrangements for the annual Maccabee excursion to River View, to be held June 13.

The stockholders of the Georgetown Gas Company at a recent meeting appointed the following directors to serve for the ensuing year: Messrs. John Marbury, Maurice J. Adler, S. Thomas Brown, John Leitch, George W. Nicholson, Robert D. Weaver, W. B. Orme, and W. C. Winship.

An old maid's convention was held last night at Mount Tabern Methodist Protestant Church, at the intersection of Thirty-second and Thirty-fifth streets. During the evening a musical and literary entertainment was rendered by local talent.

A collection will be given by children at St. Alban's Parish Hall, Tenleytown, tomorrow evening, for the benefit of the Bell Home for Children, at Anacostia. Mrs. E. A. H. Magruder and Mrs. Elizabeth Conley, who represent the Children's Chapter, Daughters of the King, of St. Alban's Church, have the affair in charge.

The students of Georgetown University, in celebration of the great success of the Georgetown baseball and track teams, marched around the streets of the town last night, singing the college songs and giving their yells. A large bonfire was built on the campus of the university.

The Georgetown level of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal is being dredged.

Mr. Carroll Daley, who has been confined to his home, 1366 Thirty-sixth Street, for the past week, as the result of a fall down a flight of stairs, breathing several ribs, is reported as much improved.

Killed a Supposed Mad Dog.

About 5 o'clock last night Policeman Green, of the Eighth precinct, shot and killed a supposedly mad dog in front of 2113 Union Court northwest. The animal was acting in a strange manner, and several persons narrowly escaped being bitten by him. The Health Office was notified.

PROPOSED SUNDAY LAW IS DISCUSSED

Retail Grocers' Association Issues Circular Letter.

TROUBLE WITH THE DRIVERS

Employers Notified That Those on Afternoon or Late Shifts Will Not Begin Work Until 11 o'Clock A. M.—Deliveries of Hot Bread Involved.

The legislation pending before Congress to regulate business on Sundays was the keynote for prolonged debate at the bi-monthly meeting of the Retail Grocers' Protective Association, held last night in the hall of the organization, 719 Sixth Street northwest. The session was the third since the formation of the association, and fully sixty members were present.

During the evening the Drivers' Protective Association came in for considerable criticism, and the resolution on the part of the drivers to the effect that all men working on the late or afternoon shift would not, after a certain date, report for duty until 11 o'clock, was discussed at considerable length.

The Drivers' Protective Association recently notified the Bakers' Association, and through them the grocers, that none of their men who are required to make deliveries late in the afternoon will start upon their rounds to deliver bread to the grocers in the morning until 11 o'clock. This raises an important question with the grocers. The deliveries of hot bread will not be made until too late to supply their customers for luncheon, they claim. A motion was made to the effect that the members of the Grocers' Association were willing to agree to a change in the time of delivering hot bread from 11 a. m. to 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The motion was finally laid on the table. The Bakers' Association will be notified that no definite action was taken by the grocers last night.

Want One Day of Rest.

The Grocers' Association hopes to secure legislation in the near future which will compel all the grocery stores in Washington to close on Sunday. The reason for this is that many of the members of the organization wish to have a day of rest each week, but are either prevented from doing so or are subjected to considerable loss by the refusal of a number of the smaller stores to close.

The objects and aims of the association are set forth in a circular which has been published, to this effect: "The conditions which at present affect the business of the retail grocer in the District of Columbia are such that the individuals and firms engaged therein combine in a general organization to advance the welfare of the trade and protect it against the serious abuses and injustices which have crept upon it. These latter are so numerous that a specific enumeration of them is almost impossible. They range from the arbitrary exactions of the great monopolies which produce goods to the imposition of unjust and unreasonable regulations on the sale of them, and include between the two many minor abuses, which act to the detriment of the trade, all of which in their cumulative effect tend to make the grocery business an undesirable field of effort."

"In the formation of the association it is proposed to use the combined influence of all its members, acting through the proper representatives of the association, to sweep away the prevailing abuses and provide means to prevent their recurrence; to promote the general welfare of the trade, to obtain for all grocers equal opportunity to make a just and fair profit on their labor and capital, and to elevate the moral tone of the trade by the creation of a spirit of fraternity in all matters in which there exist a common interest."

For Just Measures.

"Just and proper measures will be taken to use the influence of the association to restrict the retail grocer to bring about a more just and fair interpretation of the regulations of the District affecting grocers, to accomplish the repeal of onerous laws and regulations and to protect the individual members of the association from reckless and irresponsible debtors, and to establish and maintain a system of collecting accounts for the benefit of the association."

POLICE ANXIOUSLY AWAITING CHANGES

Annual Shake-Up Soon to Take Place.

PRIVATE SLATES BEING MADE

Much Speculation as to Who Will Go Up and Who Down—How the Orders Have Been Received in Past Years at the Stationhouses.

Speculation is rife among the 500 or 600 members of the Metropolitan Police Force as to the changes likely to be made by Major Sylvester when the new fiscal year begins on July 1. For years past there has been any number of police changes on the 1st of July, sometimes resulting in wholesale reductions; at other times only a few men would suffer.

For months before the fateful day the policeman begins to make a slate through information secured from "people on the inside." The names of different members of the force are secured and appointed to positions either above their present rank or considerably lower. The slates as then prepared go round the round of the various precincts, much to the joy of some and the mortification of others. On the day before the changes occur there is usually much excitement, owing to the waging of odds on the result. The squad rooms in the various stations are filled with eager, expectant men, all talking in the same tone of voice, and as the hour goes by the bluecoats become more uneasy every second and pray for the arrival of the mounted man with orders from Headquarters. His coming is something akin to that of a frontier courier during the days of the Indian in the West. It seems as though sixteen men seize him, grab the envelop containing the contemplated orders; then selecting one of their number to read the list of transfers, the remainder fall back and listen. The list finished, the lucky ones indulge in broad smiles, while the unfortunate go slowly to their beds in the dark dormitories on the upper floors.

The making of "slates" by the policemen themselves has caused Major Sylvester considerable annoyance, owing to the fact that friends of men "slated" in the precinct to be removed go to Headquarters and enter a plea for the unfortunate officer. Much to their surprise they are often told that those in authority had never issued nor contemplated issuing any such orders. "Slate" making has grown exceedingly popular of late years, and the police seem to fairly enjoy frightening one another.

Lost Boy in Hands of Police.

The Sixth precinct police have in their charge a small white boy, four or five years old, who gives his name as Arthur Kavanaugh, and says he is lost from his home. The police are endeavoring to locate his parents.
