RAIN MADE A TIE.

Throws and the Reds Played Nearly as Even Game.

Cincinnati, Aug. 11.—Rain stopped today's game in the seventh inning with the score tied. Both teams batted hard in the sixth and scored four runs each. Lower was hit much harder than the score shows, but his support was fine. Kissinger was knocked out of the box in the sixth, but Ehrl, who succeeded him, fared little better. Attendance, 6,580. COLONELS HARD TO BEAT.

Colts Had to Put Up Splendid Ball Game. Chicago, Aug. 11.—Louisville put up splendid ball today and Chicago had no easy time defeating the tall-enders. Cunningham was in splendid shape. The sharp fielding on both sides and Everett's splendid hitting were the chief features. Griffith was in fine fettle and kept the visitors' hits nicely scattered. Attendance 12,000. Senators Have Real Cause for Grievance in Recent Games.

BURNHAM'S RANK DECISIONS

Games Yesterday. Chicago, 3; Louisville, 1. Cincinnati, 7; St. Louis, 7 (six innings).

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11.—"That talk about the players breaking this Umpire Burnham all up is sheer nonsense," said "Bill" Hassamer, one of the Washingtons, to a Times representative to-night.

"It's him that breaks the boys all up. He calls good balls, balls, and bad ones strikes, and what can you do with such a man?" Hassamer's opinion coincides with that of the other players and they are highly indignant at his work.

Manager Schmeizel went over to the Boston bench in Saturday's game and asked Manager Selig to consent to allow a player to umpire, but the Boston players all howled against any such move, saying that such was their treatment on the road and the Washingtons should be obliged to take their dose here.

CAPPED THE UMPIRING CLIMAX.

Mr. Schmeizel said that the umpiring of Burnham was only a culmination of what his club has been getting all season. If anything, a weak team should get the best of the umpiring and his team was in a bad condition, owing to the absence of pitcher Mauland first baseman Cartwright.

As it was the club was getting rattled somewhat, however. He was sure that Friday's game would have been won by Washington with any approach to a fair deal from the umpire.

Pitcher Mercer said he had the first man up. Lowe struck out, but could not get it from the umpire. With him out of the way, the chances for a win would have been very bright.

BURNHAM LACKED NERVE.

So in the second game, the trouble began with the wretched decision on Stivetts, which paved the way for runs. In Friday's game Burnham actually fired McCarthy $100, and ordered him out of the game, but McCarthy did not stir from his tracks, and Burnham did not have the nerve to carry out his decision, and allowed the man to remain.

The Washingtons say he fined Scheibel $100 on Saturday, Joyce and McGuire $50 each, and Boyd, Mercer and Hassamer $25 each, yet after the game he said he had fined no one. Imagine the face of such an umpire.

WAGNER MAKES CHARGES.

Manager Schmeizel said he had accepted the terms of Bill Hassamer of the Pittsburghs and had ordered him to report at Brooklyn. He did not know how he would place the player. He might put Joyce on first if Cartwright had not rounded all right and give Niles a chance on third.

Either Boyd or Mercer will pitch against Boston on Monday, and the Washington manager is confident of a victory. He said in case Boston put in the left-hander, Dolan, he would follow suit and also try a left-hander.

Manager Schmeizel said he was obliged to release Coogan because he was not seasoned for League company, while Stockdale lacked speed.

SURROUNDED THE UMPIRE.

Missiles and Policemen Were Features of a Game at Terre Haute. Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 11.—Terre Haute would have preferred to drop the game from Indianapolis to capturing the pennant, but losing a close contest, the 1,700 persons were much chagrined and some were so aggravated that they attacked the umpire and a few of the Indianapolis players at the close of the tenth inning.

The home people thought the umpire had made wrong decisions twice at second base, in each of which they were involved. About fifty persons gathered around the umpire at the end of the game and began threatening to attack him. A few cushions were thrown and the crowd increased and began venting its ire on the visiting players as well.

They, with the umpire, were escorted to their "bus" by policemen and Terre Haute players, but the crowd began throwing at the "bus" and the missiles flew so fast that the players who had taken seats on top of the "bus" climbed inside and those inside ducked their heads below the windows. One or two were hurt, but not seriously.

STATISTICS OF THE WEEK

What Seven Days Have Done to the League Percentage Table.

Only the Wretched Playing of the Browns Enabled the Senators to Stay in Tenth Place.

One week ago yesterday morning the Washington club had a percentage of 360. The Senators had fallen off two points from the week before, although they won two games during the week ended August 4.

They started off last Monday with a rush by giving the Orioles a terrific lanning, and the hopes of the cranks were on a high key.

The hoodoo was broken, but the spell lasted for a single day only. From then defeat followed, game after game, and the week wound up with a loss of five games, three to New York and two to Boston.

With the Giants they were but mere pignons, and seem to be in a hypnotic state. They failed to bat, and their fielding was bad enough to relegate the team into a minor league association, but being a member of the major organization, they went from New York to Boston.

At the Hub they also suffered defeat, although in one game they had the Boston on the run, and were beaten out by only one run. It was hard luck, as they put up an excellent game. The umpiring was wretched and, of course, being the weaker team, the Statemen got the worst of the decisions.

New York's victories over the Senators gave them a split when the week closed on Saturday night the Giants had passed Brooklyn, their hated rivals across the river. By winning five games the Giants increased their percentage fifteen points to 525, the highest average they have had since the week ended June 24, when they had 530 points to their credit.

The Grooms took a mighty fall. Their descent is grieved over in the City of Churches and Manager Fouts has put resin on the lubricant axle to stop the slippage. They have a percentage of 517, twenty-six points less than one week ago, the lowest point they have reached since the season opened.

Oliver P. Tebeau has continued to get good work out of the Spiders, winning four games, and, as a consequence, their percentage went up and is now 606, an increase of ten points. They are holding on with a firm grip, but the Eastern contingent of the League is looking for a slump when the Forest Cityites come East.

The Pirates are a good second, but are not as close to the leaders as they were last week, when there was only one point difference. They were trounced once by Louisville, and the defeat was a hard crack.

Hannon's Orioles lost one point during the week and are now seventeen points away from the leaders, whereas a week ago they were but six points in the wake.

The Boston, always lucky, have increased their percentage twenty points and are now fourth, twenty-nine points away from the Spiders and within twelve points of Baltimore.

Ewing's Reds are still fighting in the first division. The veteran pitcher has a spanking good team, and the youngsters he has picked up have developed nicely. They went around Anson's Colts the past week, increased their percentage three points and are just where they were seven days ago.

Starting the week with a percentage of 562 and in fourth place, the Chicagoans wound up a week's play just within the first division, having suffered a loss of nine points. Yet Anson is feeling satisfied with the work of his team and is credited with the assertion that the Colts will make a better showing on the Eastern trip than any Western club.

The Quakers took a slight brace. The local press has been painting the team with a heavy coat of tar for some time, and Edwin, smarting under these criticisms, has got some good work out of his men. They were in eighth position with a percentage of 538 points, and by a hustle they start the week leading the second division by a majority of seven points over New York, the nearest competitor, and eighteen points behind the Chicagoans.

To St. Louis' poor work Washington really owes its present position. The Browns have nothing new but a fair second-rate team. They fell thirteen points since last Monday and yesterday morning had a percentage of only 312, the lowest point since June 30, when they had 304 per cent.

The distinguished Colonels are still in last place. They are playing a mighty stiff game of ball, however, and although they won two games during the week, their percentage shows a decrease of only two points.

Baseball Notes.

Wagner is doing good work since he joined the Louisville. The Colonels are popular in Chicago. Twelve thousand people witnessed the game.

Lunge failed to get a hit off Cunningham, while Everett got three. Holmes, the Colonels' new shortstop, is a valuable acquisition.

The Phillies are a good while striking their annual winning pace. No one will make the contention that the Temple cup, being the property of the Giants, has any bearing upon the law position of the Giants.

Let it be hoped that the person agreed upon to select umpires will not be a resident of the District. Too many experiments have seen their first league game here.

Latham's absence from the Cincinnati is only observed by the silence of Gray, who plays third base.

Schneid, the first baseman who St. Louis got from Little Rock, has not fulfilled expectations. Cincinnati Smith accepted seven chances to six innings.

The Browns earned all their runs. The Senators are due for a game from the Boston.

Hassamer is doing himself proud on the initial bag. Amateur Baseball. The Anacostia Baseball Club defeated the Union Athletic Club yesterday at Twining City in a very interesting game, by the score of 16 to 8. The features were the pitching of Leonard, striking eleven men out, and the batting of Cross, Gertman, and Pennington.

The kids, champions of West Washington, are anxious to receive challenges from all teams of seventeen years and under, the Radfords and the Eagles preferred. Address Capt. Parker, No. 1618 Thirty-second street northwest.

RING AND TRACK GOSSIP

Chances of Outlaws Being Reinstated Look Very Slim.

L'HOMMEDIEU'S BAD BREAK

May Be Called Up Before the Executive Committee for Using Abusive Language—Doubt Expressed as to George Hakes Being a Ringer—Entries and Tips for Today's Races.

The efforts of the outlawed horsemen to be reinstated upon the Jockey Club tracks seem to have gone up in smoke. For a time things looked pretty rosy for the Jockey Club just as suddenly as it was taken up. Even the jockeys who hoped to be reinstated have about given up hope of such a measure being passed, for the present at least.

The crack jockey among the outlaws, Willie Ham, was so confident that he would soon be riding on the big tracks that he refrained from riding across the river for fear that it would injure his cause with the Jockey Club. If it is true that he will not succeed in being reinstated it is a great pity, as he would beyond a doubt have quickly gone up among the top notchers. He is one of the best jockeys in the saddle to-day and it seems a shame to waste his talents riding a lot of broken down "skates" on a couple of bum outlaw tracks.

However, when the Jockey Club is least expected to make a move that is the very time they do so. Any day word may come that the blacklisted owners, trainers and jockeys can move whenever they want to and compete for the larger purses on the board of control tracks.

The furore that was occasioned by the wonderful transition of the horse George Hakes from a lobster to a sprinter with a surprising burst of speed has died away as suddenly as it began. That the horse was a "ringer" there seems good cause to believe, but the attempts of a certain party to connect one of the officials of the St. Asaph track with the steal were as absurd as they were laughable.

Aside from the doubt that still exists that the horse was a "ringer," and there are horsemen on the track who know both the fact that the horse was a "ringer," and the man who can handicap a winner out of it is a dandy. We pass.

If John Croker is ready to cut him loose, Plouderer should have no difficulty in winning the fourth race, at five furlongs. Maj. McNulty "dopes" to be about second, with Blue Bird third. A straight bet on the Major may be profitable.

Joe Mack, from the way he ran Saturday, seems to have had too much of it, and stands the best chance in the world of not only being beaten, but badly beaten. Pirate Chief is good just about now and will come very near winning. He has only ninety-nine pounds to carry, and will probably race so far out in front of his field that they will never catch him. Hippina should be the runner up, with either Joe Mack or Selah third.

The closing race looks to be a cinch for Melinda. Her good race with Parvenue the time they were asked to rope at makes today's event look very easy for her. Duke of Gloucester will likely be second, with Silver Queen third.
