DR. HENDERSON SUTER DEAD

One of Virginia's Best Known Episcopal Divines Passed Away.

Unable to Withstand the Shock of an Operation—Native of the District. Interment at Rock Creek.

Rev. Dr. Henderson Suter, one of the leading divines of the Episcopal Church in Virginia, and for nearly fifteen years rector of Old Christ Church, Alexandria, died at the Alexandria Infirmary about noon yesterday after an illness extending over some months.

The first intimation of the death of Dr. Suter, though it had been looked for at any moment since Friday last, was received when shortly before noon the bell of Christ Church began its solemn tolling, and the announcement was made from the pulpit to the congregation by Rev. Samuel A. Wallis, who was conducting the services.

Dr. Suter, who had been troubled with an intestinal complaint, went to Bedford county, about two months ago, hoping that the change would benefit his health. He became worse, however, and early last week was brought to his home. His physicians saw that an operation was his only chance for life and on Friday night this was performed, but Dr. Suter's system was too weak to withstand the shock, he gradually sank and death came.

His death causes profound grief not only to the members of his congregation, but to the people at large, among whom Dr. Suter had made many friends during his residence in Alexandria.

Dr. Suter was born in Georgetown, D. C., in 1827, and when about twenty-one years of age graduated from the Virginia Theological Seminary in Fairfax county. He held a number of important churches before coming to Christ church and has always stood high in the councils of the church. Dr. Suter was for many years a member of the standing committee of the diocese and was one of the board of trustees of Virginia Theological Seminary.

When a young man Dr. Suter was deputy clerk of the circuit court of the District of Columbia. His first call was to Grace Church, Washington, and in the dedication of the Washington monument, on February 22, 1885, Dr. Suter was the chaplain and made the prayer.

Dr. Suter leaves a wife and seven children, Dr. Henderson Suter, Jr., of Washington, Dr. Suter, of Springfield, Mass., Mr. John Suter, of Lynchburg, and Messrs. Alexander Suter, Frank Suter and Moses Suter, of this city.

The funeral will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning from Grace Church, and is expected that Bishop White and Bishop Severin will officiate. The body will be taken to Rock Creek Park, Washington, for interment.

When the matter came up before Judge Chichester at the regular term of court at Alexandria, on last Monday, Mr. Hooker says, the judge tore up the warrant and simply ordered that all the papers in the case be brought to him.

It is an account of this kind of thing, as Mr. Hooker believes, that he received threatening letters from anonymous persons and must go prepared for trouble whenever he goes from home after night. He has had instances, on the other hand, that it is close to "hand in" with certain persons and interests his income would be much larger and he would have nothing to fear.

Mr. Hooker said yesterday he had invested his savings in Alexandria county and he thought the way to secure property for himself and neighbors was not to "stand in" with anybody, but to see that justice is done rich and poor alike and that the iniquitous den of the ends of the bridges are cleared out.

MRS. McDONALD IMPROVING. She is Afraid of Her Sons and Will Not Prosecute.

Mrs. Margaret McDonald, who was brutally beaten by her two drunken sons, James and Michael, in front of her residence, on E near Third street northeast, Saturday night, is rapidly improving, and the attending physician says that she is out of danger.

The toughs who committed the assault are still locked up in No. 9 police station, and appear to be not in the least concerned about their brutal act or the result of it. The assault occurred at the station against Michael and James is assault and battery, with Mrs. McDonald as complainant. It is said by the police, however, that the old mother is afraid to appear against her sons, and she says that she does not want them prosecuted. If nothing prevents and Mrs. McDonald's condition permits, the McDonald brothers will face Judge Mills this morning.

Trump Changed Clothes. William Horton, a farmer from Centerville, Fairfax county, Va., came to this city Saturday and bought himself a new suit of navy blue clothes, pair of shoes, and a hat. Finally becoming drunk and tired Horton in his new suit lay down under a tree in the Smithsonian Park to take a nap. A negro tramp came along, undressed the sleeper, and taking off his own tattered and greasy garments, placed them on Horton and put the new clothes on himself. A railroad ticket and $2.50 in Horton's pockets were also taken.

JACKSON CITY WAS QUIET

Yet There Were Evidences of Liquor Selling Yesterday.

FIGHTING ALSO WENT ON

Magistrate Hooker's Singular Story About Judge Chichester's Remarkable Action—Tore Up a Capias for the Arrest of a Man Who Had Been Fined for Assault and Had Not Paid.

Jackson City was quiet yesterday. That is, the front doors were closed.

After 10 a. m. a dozen tough-looking characters hung about the entrances of the half dozen resorts that make up the place. Harry Candler's place was closed and nobody in sight, but through a half-open door a crowd of young men, black and white, could be seen.

At the Virginia end of Long Bridge an old man, whose face shone with the unmistakable radiance of too much drink, was en route to Jackson City. He begged for a drink to buy another drink and evidently knew where to find whisky for sale. Up to 8 a. m. everything is said to have been running wide open.

At the other entrance to infamous Alexander Island, just where the bridge crosses the run on the Virginia side, a burly young negro and his girl were fighting. He beat her in the face and over the head with his fist, but the incident attracted little attention. He wanted to go to the island and she was objecting.

MOKE MISREUSE. Another instance of the sort of misrule which makes the administration of justice difficult in Alexandria county and contributes to the protection of the lawless, on the island and at Bossy, came to light yesterday. Some time ago, J. F. Haney, a road overseer at $600 a year, knocked down and kicked Alexander Schievel, a justice of the peace. Mr. Schievel got a warrant and brought Mr. Haney before Magistrate William J. Hooker, at Napoka.

Mr. Haney employed Attorney John Green to defend him. He admitted that he had assaulted Schievel, and was understood to say that it was a good thing he wasn't mad or it would have gone worse with his victim. Magistrate Hooker fined him $10 and costs. Mr. Haney asked for an appeal but failed to give bond.

After considerable delay and several efforts of Sheriff Palmer to get the fine and costs paid, a warrant was issued to commit Mr. Haney to jail in default of payment.

TORRENT THE PAPERS. When the matter came up before Judge Chichester at the regular term of court at Alexandria, on last Monday, Mr. Hooker says, the judge tore up the warrant and simply ordered that all the papers in the case be brought to him.

POINTS ABOUT POLICEMEN. Patrolman Collin Flather, known as the sprinter of the First precinct, left yesterday for a fifteen days' jaunt to Boston, New Hampshire, and the East, Collin, who has an enviable reputation as a thief taker, will study the ways of the Eastern crook while in Boston.

Detective Robert H. Boardman, of Inspector Hollinberger's staff, and Precinct Detective Frank Barrows, of the Seventh, are on leave.

The sick roll includes the names of Patrolmen George G. Auguste, of the Fourth precinct; Gene and Wheeler, of the Ninth; G. W. Morgan, and J. McCabe, of the Seventh, and G. W. Blandford, of the Fifth.

Policeman Greer has heard it rumored that he was transferred from the Eighth to the Fourth precinct from fear of being hanged by the toughs on his old beat. As a matter of fact he has been seeking a transfer to the Fourth for over a year, and long before he was brutally assaulted by the mob on Seventeenth street.

The many friends of Mr. Thomas H. Elliott, stationer of the Sixth precinct, will be glad to know of his serious illness. Mr. Elliott was stricken down at the residence of his mother, No. 613 Third street northeast, Wednesday, a week ago, and up till yesterday there was every hope of his recovery. Yesterday evening, however, his
