TIM CAMPBELL'S CONTEST. Testimony Filed to Oust Theatrical Manager Miner.

Clery Kerr, of the House of Representatives, yesterday received the testimony for the contestant in the case of Timothy J. Campbell vs. Harry C. Miner, from the Eighth district of New York.

This was the first official information that the clerk had received of the fact that the well-known ex-Congressman intended to contest the election of his theatrical opponent.

THEY EMBRACE AND KISS

Hastings, and, approaching the Governor, the Senator extended his hand, and the Governor, being taken by surprise, warmly grasped it. Mr. Quay then whispered something into Gov. Hastings' ear, and they smiled simultaneously.

The delegates accepted this maneuver as a peace offering, and the cheering was terrific. Cooper was abruptly stopped in his speech by the occurrence, and he ceased talking soon after he had been allowed to resume.

A roll call showed 163 2-3 votes for Robinson and 133 1-3 for Hall, which clearly showed Quay's control of the convention.

The election was made unanimous, and Chairman Gilkeson appointed Messrs. Hall and Cooper to escort the successful candidate to the chair. Another round of cheers greeted Robinson's appearance on the stage. The temporary chairman did not make a speech, but simply thanked the convention for selecting him, and declared himself ready for business. Senator Quay made a motion, which was seconded by Congressman Stone, that the committee on permanent organization be authorized to report the name of Quay.

Hastings for permanent chairman of the convention. It was adopted. Gov. Hastings, after consulting with Senator Quay, moved that no recess be taken by the convention, but that it continue in session until 10 o'clock, after which the delegates moved that no recess be taken by the convention, but that it continue in session until all business should be disposed of. This was also agreed to.

Senator Quay offered a series of resolutions, which were referred and afterwards adopted, declaring for civil service reform and all other reforms, and especially against granting of municipal privileges to contractors and corporations.

UNANIMOUS FOR QUAY. After speeches nominating Quay for State chairman, the principal one being made by Congressman W. A. Stone of Allegheny, the Senator was unanimously elected and his chairmanship was declared to that effect being made by Chairman Gilkeson.

Chairman Egge, of the organization committee, formally reported that Gov. Hastings had been agreed upon as permanent chairman and the temporary chairman appointed Mr. Quay and Charles E. Moore, of Pittsburgh, a committee to escort the governor to the platform.

The trio were cheered long and loud as they marched down the aisle. A spirit of harmony now pervaded the heated convention hall and the already enthusiastic delegates were more than ever. The cheering continued until long after the Governor had reached the stage. Upon taking the chair, the Governor said: "Gentlemen of the convention: I thank you most sincerely for this great honor. The weather is too warm; I will not make a speech, but I may, however, say that the recent events in the Republican party of Pennsylvania prove the saying that electric storms have the effect of clearing the atmosphere, and we reserve the cyclone for the free trade debating Democratic party."

The Governor adopted an address in which he declared the national Republican of 1892 in regard to the use of both gold and silver money, with such restrictions as will maintain a parity of value against the free coinage of silver; and in which he declared that the Democratic party, by its support of the free coinage of silver, gives the Democratic party the benefit of the extraordinary criticisms and commendations of the administration of Gov. Hastings.

Congressman Dalzell, in committee, wanted a declaration in favor of an international agreement upon silver, but his suggestion was voted down. The convention adjourned sine die at 2:45 p. m.

At night Senator Quay is here, as well as the host of Pennsylvania politicians of all degrees of prominence. His rooms at the Larchmont Hotel have been constantly besieged since the convention ended by men anxious to get in touch with the master leadership. The Senator takes all of the praise and congratulations that are being showered upon him with his usual good nature, and so far as outward appearances go, his demeanor is just the same as when the fight seemed to be going against him.

MERIDIAN HILL POLITICS. Mass-Meeting of Colored Republicans in an Important District. The Republicans on Meridian Hill held a mass-meeting last night in Abraham's Hall on Fifteenth street, under the auspices of the Republican Association, which was organized some time ago in that vicinity. Last night's meeting was presided over by W. F. Ray and preliminary to the speech making, the regular routine business of the association was transacted.

A consultation for the government of the association in the future was presented and after some discussion was adopted. When the roll was opened for new members, several came forward and identified themselves with the body. After this much speech-making was indulged in by members of the club and the several phases of the local campaign for the selection of delegates to the distant convention were touched upon.

This club is located in the Second district, and while it does not interfere with the regular Republican organization of that district, the club will take part in the selection of the three delegates from that district to the convention. From present indications it is evident that there will be two sets of delegates for that district.

The president of the regular organization, Ralph Wormley, but when the convention was held four years ago Ralph held and announced a contesting delegation to the convention. His delegation was turned down and the delegates that were certified to by Dr. Gaines, the vice president of the club, were seated.

EUREKA CLUB'S GOOD CARD

Will Put on Four Bouts at Their Club House To-night.

Early and Dooly Will Furnish the Main Go-Roady and Brown Will Also Meet.

The programme arranged by the Eureka Club for to-night promises to furnish some good contests. There are four bouts down for the evening, and the first one will be put on at 8:30 promptly, so it will not be daylight when those who attend the contest get home.

The twenty-round or more contest between Jack Daly, of Wilmington, and Billy Dooly, of San Francisco, will be the main contest of the evening. These men have been training hard for the bout, and will step into the ring in the best possible condition.

Dooly will be looked after by Teddy Alexander and J. M. Connors, while Prof. Bonnelly and a Wilmington man will attend to Daly's wants. The next best "go" of the evening will be between Pat Raedy and Jim Brown. This gives promise of being, if anything, a better contest than the Daly-Dooly fight. It will only be for six rounds, but they will be red hot from start to finish. Brown is anxious to show that he is a good man, and Raedy wants to regain the reputation he lost at the hands of Billy McMillen.

The other bouts will be a ten-round go between Tody Banks and Alex Brown, and a four-round contest between Al Johnson and "Cyclone" Warner. Coaches will leave the Marble saloon, Emrich's Hotel and the Hotel Lawrence at 7:30 p. m. for the Eureka Club. The price of admission will be $2.

THEY ARE LITTLE, BUT LOUD

C. G. Conn Drum Corps Has Its First Parade and Lawn Fete.

Presentation of a Handsome Banner. A Large Crowd Testifies Its Interest in the New Band. First a drum major, then several dozen of handsomely uniformed youngsters who artistically blew bugles and beat drums, then several battalions of uniformed Knights of Pythias, marched up Pennsylvania avenue last night, greatly admired by a great crowd that kept step with them. It was the C. G. Conn Drum and Bugle Corps, U. S. R. P., and they were going to the corner of Tenth and X streets, where the Drum Corps inaugurated its first lawn party. The drummers and buglers were small, but handsome and proud, and their music was all.

The party was opened under the most favorable circumstances. The weather was all that could be desired and the attendance a large and generous one. The grounds, which are situated near the corner of Tenth and X streets, were lighted with Chinese lanterns, and the different booths draped and decorated in fantastic colors, with the prevailing patriotic appearance. A dancing pavilion has been erected in the center of the lawn, and there, to the strains of Prof. Platow's band, the beaux and belles trod many a gay measure.

Upon entering the grounds the first stand was presented to the eyes of the visitor is the flower booth, presided over by Mrs. Rapoport and assisted by the Misses Escher, Benher, and Bauer. Immediately to the right is the poodle stand, which Mr. Whiting keeps going with lively interest. The other stands are scattered in artistic disorder about the grounds and are presided over by the following ladies and their assistants: Miss Heinger, fruit stand, assisted by Miss Palmer; Mrs. Hutchinson, cigars, assisted by Misses Maribell and Faith; Miss Bushby, soda fountain, assisted by Miss Meyers; Mrs. Kutherford, expert tent, assisted by Miss Wesselsbaum; Mrs. Rebeck, peanuts, assisted by Misses Kate, Lillie and Mary Sauer; Miss McGuire, lemonade, assisted by Misses Smith, Barker and Mason.

The C. G. Conn Drum and Bugle Corps was organized on July 1, 1895, and was last night on their first parade, when they arrived at the fair grounds they were welcomed by Capt. Gillingham, of Franklin No. 6, in a very effective speech, wherein he complimented the boys on their fine appearance and good work, charging them with the duty of ever being peers of their kind in respect to the grounds and are respected, honored and loyal Pythian Knights, that name which they had selected for their own.

There was great applause and loud cries for Mr. Conn, but as he could not be found, Major Furler, formerly of the same corps, by a handsome banner accompanying the act with patriotic remarks. The banner contains in the center of one side a handsome oil painting of Mr. Conn, surrounded by the following inscription: "C. G. Conn Drum Corps, U. S. R. P., Organized July 1, 1895, Washington, D. C." The other side said: "Frodo's 'Lily Frodo' in handsome gold letters on a blue background.

An interesting and amusing feature of the opening night was a cake walk, presented by the "Original Cake Walking Club," which will be repeated to-morrow evening. The fair will run for four nights, and the Minerva Club will attend to-morrow night in a body.

The corps has about fifty members and officers, and privates are as follows: Capt. Broadwell, Lieut. Nolan, drum major; G. M. Furler, drum major; Arthur Heinger, second sergeant; George Whiting, third sergeant; John Lockman, bugler sergeant; drummers, Whiting, McGuire, Reeves, McCormick, Adams, Sauer, Hill, Garner, Meyers, Minors, Walker, and Smith.

Buglers: Corp. Rothwell, Jenkins, Dan Halmer, Martin, Mann, Lankback, Danforth and Vogt. The board of managers is made up of one member from each company of the U. S. R. P.

Killing of Capt. Baldwin Doubted. The Indian Office has heard nothing of the reported killing of Capt. Baldwin, U. S. A., by Indians in Oklahoma, as reported in dispatches from El Reno. The office is inclined to doubt the accuracy of the report, believing that had there been any truth in it information would have been received by the United States officials here.

Outing Club Hop. The regular semi-monthly night of the Washington Outing Club announced for last night, was deferred until next Wednesday evening. In its stead an informal hop was given in the cozy club house, near Eckington, so that the guests of the club might not be disappointed.

RECORD NOT LOWERED

Geo. S. Ball Won the Bicycle Race and The Times Prize.

TIME WAS 1 HOUR 47 SECONDS

There Were Forty-three Entries, but Only Thirty-nine Took the Road. Starters Divided Into Eleven Classes and Various Handicaps—Washington's Wheel World Saw the Sport.

All the world of Washington that loves the wheel went out yesterday afternoon to see the twenty-mile handicap road race, given by the Washington Road Club. It was a red hot afternoon, but this was a secondary consideration with the guild whose vocation is to burn the wind. The race was won by George S. Ball, of the Washington Road Club, in one hour and forty-seven seconds.

There was a fair field and no favor and prizes worthy of any contestants. The prize that counted most for a record was the silver service offered by the Washington Times, which went to Mr. Ball, the second time prize being a diamond scarf pin offered by the Enterprise Cycle Company.

Long about 2 o'clock all roads in the District led to the reservoir on the Conduit road. The finish was at that point, the tape line being across the road between the reservoir and the residence of Keeper Harrington of the reservoir.

The starting point was at temporary headquarters, 600 yards near Georgetown. NOTABLY LARGE CROWD. At both of these places there was a notably large crowd of bicyclists, attended as spectators. Mr. Harrington supervised the house and pretty lawn and garden to the victors, among whom were many of the best cycling women in the District.

On the lawn were Miss Ethel Clark, Miss Mabel Harrer, Mrs. William De Neale, Miss Rita Mahoney, Miss Mamie Neale, Miss Laura Neale, Miss Fannie Hurst, Miss Brenner, of Canada; Miss Miller, Mrs. Bradley, Miss Walcott, Miss K. Gleason, Mrs. Waldorf, Mrs. E. Gleason, Miss Doyle, Miss Turner, Miss Cameron, Mrs. Robertson, Miss Cameron, Mrs. Harrington, Miss Finney, Miss Robertson, Miss May R. Serrin, Mrs. Rock, Miss Edith Fisher, Miss Helen Fisher, Mrs. F. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Green, Miss Clark, Mrs. E. Palmer, Mrs. T. Palmer, Miss M. P. Smith, and Miss T. E. Smith.

The judges and officers of the contest occupied a wagon opposite the finish. The officials were: Referee, George W. Cook; Judges, C. L. Palmer and Charles E. Miller; Clerks, John Worner, Jr., Prof. W. W. Waldorf, Mrs. E. M. C. A., and J. W. Crossley, C. A. S. Starter, William J. J. Wood; Handicapper, George B. French.

According to records and judgment, the handicapper made eleven classes of the starters, the handicaps being 9, 8, 7, 1-2, 7, 5-12, 4, 3, 2-12, 2, 1-12, 1, and 1-2 minutes, respectively. While there were forty-three entries, but thirty-nine took the road. The course was ten miles away and back to the finish. This course is by no means what it should be, but it is about the best that the city can offer. It is marked by three mile, which were terrific tags in the blaring rags of yesterday. Two of the men dropped out before the second mile was reached, and one fell from his bike, but returned unhurt.

Several of the men fell, but they got up and went on. The race was a handicap in itself, no comparisons can be instituted between the work done yesterday and that of the world's best records. On a straight, level course, the twenty-mile could be made in fifty-five minutes. The best time was made by one hour and forty-seven seconds.

Considering the intense weather and the adverse physical conditions the racing was an ample compensation to those who had the good fortune to be its witnesses. IT WAS A SPECTACLE. The meet of the bicycles was an interesting spectacle. They were variously and variously costumed, and made up the picturesque in muscle, tights and fashions. The distinctive color of the day was the wine and gold of the Washington Road Club, which flattered gaily enough when the sea breeze came from the reservoir. The delegations were from the Active Road Club, the Arlington Wheelmen, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Club, the Dupont Cycle Club, the Washington Road Club, the Queen Wheelmen and the untitled, and W. Curtis, from Woodside, Md. The handicaps were thus arranged, C. E. Gause, who won last year, being the only scratch.

Nine minutes—C. R. Bush, John Moulden, William Wolcott and T. S. Wood. Eight minutes—H. W. Harbester, C. M. Jones, S. F. Stiles, P. G. Thompson. Seven and a half minutes—J. E. Bischoff, John Thole. Seven minutes—Louis C. Hamilton, Daniel W. Beach, J. Quinson, Andrew Taylor, E. L. Wilson. Five and a half minutes—E. E. Wakefield. Five minutes—W. H. Beck. Four minutes—W. H. Clure, W. R. Mackrille, F. W. Moore, L. O. Slack, R. H. Stone, R. B. Wheeler, W. O. Woodward. Three minutes—H. A. Rhine, B. T. Wrenn, C. F. Clagett, E. E. Hauman. Two and a half minutes—George S. Ball, W. T. Robertson. One and a half minutes—W. Curtis, C. I. Rousseau, W. L. Eppley. One and a half minutes—C. E. Wood, George E. Smith. One minute—E. A. Pitkin, J. J. Fister.

W. L. Lekhapit, of Baltimore, who was down for a half-minute handicap, and as a Yeoman, who was on the card for a scratch, did not run. The various groups were started fairly and evenly and came up the hill on the 600 yard run to the judges' wagon in good shape. The four men who had the smallest time advantage went in vigorously from the start, but the summary below will show the surprises of the race. A great many people banked heavily on Gause to win again this year, but he failed to show up in his usual style. The following is the official time recorded for twenty-seven men who crossed the line on the return:

AWARD OF PRIZES. The Washington Times first time prize went to George S. Ball, W. T. C. C., the second time prize, a diamond scarf pin, to B. T. Wrenn, U. S. A. A Ramber bicycle from C. L. Palmer & Co. and four cases of Val Blatt beer from F. H. Finley, to George S. Ball. B. T. Wrenn also won a pair of Hartford tires, from the Hartford rubber works through the Enterprise Cycle Company.

Several good prizes and prize-winners were: Third prize, H. A. Rhine, pair of tires; fourth, George E. Smith, silver watch; fifth, C. T. Clagett, cycle suit;

SURPRISED BY REDOWAC

Nobody Expected the Horse to Win, But He Did.

JOCKEY ELLIS CALLED UP

Asked to Explain His Queer Manner of Handling Louis Quatorze—Murphy Claimed a Foul Against Loton, but It Was Not Allowed—Hot Fight for Place in the Third Event.

The weather was so hot yesterday that the attendance at St. Asaph was not very large. The betting was brisk, however, as nearly all of the events were very open affairs.

The surprise of the day was the victory of Redowac in the opening race at the juicy odds of 30 to 1. He had not been looked to the distance before, and was not thought to be an important factor in the race. He went to the front in the stretch and won in easy fashion.

Ellis had the mount on Louis Quatorze in the same race and did not appear at all anxious to get away with him. When he did leave the post he rode a very slovenly race. He was called up in the judges stand after he was dismounted, and asked to explain his manner of handling the horse.

Of late this boy has been riding some races that might have been investigated. The owner of Monmouth claims that the time Ellis rode that colt at the Island track the boy paid him.

MADE A CLAIM OF FOUL. As the horse was certainly a dead one of some kind the boy either pulled him or he was dead under him. From the way the race was run the former theory is probably the correct one.

Loton was shut off and knocked about to such an extent in his race that it was only when the stretch was reached he was able to get through.

He rode in slightly on Tralce and Murphy, who rode the latter, made a claim of foul against him. As the judges did not think it intentional and as Loton was so much the better horse the claim was not allowed.

The opening event was captured by Redowac. He ran a good race and was easily at the end. Toga suddenly took it into his head to run and beat Redowac by a length for second money.

On his previous race, Laurent looked to have the second event as good as won and was heavily panned. He opened at three, but by post time had been backed to even money. He was at no time an important factor. Proper took command soon after the start and at the end was a handy winner from Horax L.

The talent could see nothing in the third race but Tribulate and made him a prohibitive favorite at 30 to 5. Dr. Reed was also backed and received considerable support for the place.

CAPTURE OF THE PURSE. Tribulate had no difficulty in capturing the purse, but the fight for the place money between Dr. Reed and Miamie S. was red hot. Reed was the gamer and got up in time to get the place by a head.

Selah was probably the best horse in the fourth race, but his boy managed to run him into a disqualification. The course of the race and just managed to get up in time to get second money. The race was a good one from start to finish. Grey Forest ran a great race and was only beaten about a length. As it was he finished third.

Chafetina was a very false favorite for the fifth event, and finished just about where he should have been—somewhere near the tail end. Monitors finished the winner. She was a well-placed second choice. Rufus was second with Columbus, Jr., third.

CONNORS PUT OUT. Local Man Quickly Went to Sleep Under Mike Leonard's Fists.

At Kerman's Lyceum Theater last night Mike Leonard met a local man named Johnny Connors, and again demonstrated that he is not the right sort of a man to be put on to meet all comers. The men started in for a seemingly friendly "go," but Leonard lost his temper toward the close of the round and started in to finish his man.

Connors showed himself to be a pretty shifty man. He is not without experience, having once given Pat Raedy a stiff fight, but he was no match for Leonard, and received a blow on the point of the jaw that put him to sleep.

Manager Kerman had received assurance that John Connors was a representative of Monday night's performance, and was very worth over the ending of last night's bout.

He declared that he would not allow Leonard to go on again, and the "Boss Brummett" of the "ops" will not likely meet anyone else during his engagement here.
