HUNG ILLEGALLY.

Englishman Stoke Executed by Belgians—Had a Fair Trial, Though. London, Sept. 1.—The London Daily News says that the Englishman Stoke, hung by the Belgians, under Capt. Latham, near the River Artois, in the Congo state, had a legal trial, but that Capt. Latham acted illegally in hanging him without allowing an appeal to the tribunal at Bonn.

This Philadelphia Stock of Shoes

Isn't going to last forever—when it's over the low prices will disappear, too. Saturday was one long and continuous raid on our shelves, and the result is the Quaker City stock is beginning to weaken—maybe it will last out the week, but, judging from appearances, it won't.

ROBBER LAW OFFICERS

Gamblers Steal Implements Taken From Them in a Raid.

FROM COUNTY COURTHOUSE

The Paraphernalia Was Valued at $1,000 and Was to Be Used in the Trial of Nelson and Foster, the Oak Grove Gamblers—Loaded on Cecil and Carried to the Den.

The trial of John Nelson and his partner, Foster, the gamblers, who were arrested in a raid made by Sheriff Palmer and his deputies, on Nelson's place on the Virginia shore of the Potomac, opposite Georgetown, about two months ago, many come off at the September term of the Alexandria county court before Judge D. M. Chickler.

But the gambling tables and other paraphernalia which were captured in the raid and brought to Alexandria, to be offered in evidence against the two men, will not be so used, for on Thursday night last the articles were dexterously stolen from the old court house on North Columbus street, in Alexandria, where it was stored, and taken to this city.

The county authorities are greatly stirred up over the robbery and although it took place on Thursday night last, the officials have succeeded in keeping it very quiet, and outside of the Alexandria city police officials, there is not a half dozen persons in Alexandria who know of the theft of the gambling furniture.

ROBBERIES IN NOBILITY. The robbery had been carefully planned, and the robbers, who were four or five in number, were in a hurry about their work, but waited their opportunity.

The paraphernalia had been placed in a room on the ground floor of the north side of the old court house. Across Columbus street there is a row of dwellings but the courthouselandside in the center of a square, and on the north and south sides of it are large lots, hidden from view of the street by a high brick wall.

When the implements were first brought to the court house it was reported that they were to be stolen and a watch was kept. As time went by and no attempt at robbery was made the watch was withdrawn, leaving the building practically unguarded, though a man, Frank Lovejoy by name, sleeps in a room on the ground floor of the building, and is supposed to act as watchman.

Thursday night after midnight, when the robbers took place, it was a dark and threatening rain, so that there were few if any persons on the street.

The robbers came to the courthouse by different routes, and, forcing the window, which was only a few feet from the ground, got into the room where the tables, etc., were stored. These were quickly passed out to the men on the outside, loaded into a wagon and taken down a back street to the wharf.

USED A STEAM YACHT. It was loaded on board a steam yacht, said to have been the Cecil, the little steamer that runs from Georgetown to the gambling houses in Virginia, and taken back to Washington, and it is said to have been used in the robbery.

The robbery was not found out by the county authorities until nearly the middle of the day, Friday, and Washington Lovejoy says he heard no noise of the commission at all about the building on Thursday night.

It is said that two of Alexandria's finest saw the tables, etc., being placed on the steamer, but not thinking that anything was wrong allowed her to depart unmolested.

It is hinted by some of those who know of the robbery that some of the county officials know more about the matter than they should. They are now said to be making a great search for the stuff and expect to recover it.

The paraphernalia was worth $1,000, for it was valued at $1,000, and the trial would have been broken up into killing wood.

EXPLANATION NOT ACCEPTED. Prof. Fancilli's Differences With the Plasterers' Union. A special meeting of Plasterers' Union, No. 1644, K. of L., was held yesterday morning at their headquarters, corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Four-and-a-half street, to hear a proposition submitted by Prof. Fancilli, director of the Marine Band, and to distribute uniforms to the members.

These were matters in which the members were very much interested, there was a large attendance.

Prof. Fancilli was on hand promptly and asked the privilege of making a statement, which was generously accorded him. He then stated his position in connection with the contracts made for the band to take part in the parade here, and of its going to Philadelphia to-day.

This matter being finally settled, the meeting adjourned and the uniforms were distributed.

Notwithstanding the Losses the Senators Suffered Last Week.

STRUCK AN UNLUCKY STREAK

The Browns Gained Seven Points and the Lowly Colts Went Up Fifteen—Hets Are Being Driven Down the Ladder—Giants Take a Spurt—Pirates in Despair.

The Washingtons accomplished the remarkable feat of playing nine games during the past six days, and the most singular part of the contests was that four games were a tie. They were very lucky that they did not lose every one of the games, as the team last week not only playing in hard luck, but they have as many men on the sick list as they have well players.

They won two games and lost three. They were beaten by the tall-enders and the Colts. The St. Louis were here and left their imprint, and the Colts got the first game on Saturday, losing the second.

With all the ups and downs, and ties, and local matters, the Senators lost only four points in percentage, closing the week with 326 points. They, however, remain in tenth position.

IN THE WASHINGTON TO DO UP THE SENATORS, and they carried into effect their purpose. They recalled Jack Rogers, who was out of the team, and also have a team here next week.

A grand reception was given the various National and Washington players at their respective clubs. The Senators were received by Gov. West, and his official staff.

Many of the Washington players will be in the city for the week, and the Senators will attend church at some of the local summer resorts.

ALMOST THREE MURDERS. Two Pistols and a Knife Used by Colored Man Against Tombs. As the result of a Sunday disturbance, said to have taken place in Jackson City, James Johnson, colored, of No. 812 E street southeast, came here yesterday morning at the murder of a revolver.

Johnson was shot in the chest, and the bullet entered his left lung, and he was taken to the Emergency Hospital. He is now in a serious condition.

AN UNLUCKY COMBINATION. A combination in which hard luck, playing and late are the principal factors, has been formed by the Pirates, and are gradually chasing the lower end of the ladder.

The Pirates are in fourth place, with an average of 3.00. They are not playing like champions, and it is doubtful if they will hold their present position to the end.

The Phillies are the surprise of the season. They are giving the Quaker City people a reputation of the last two seasons by making a fast finish at home.

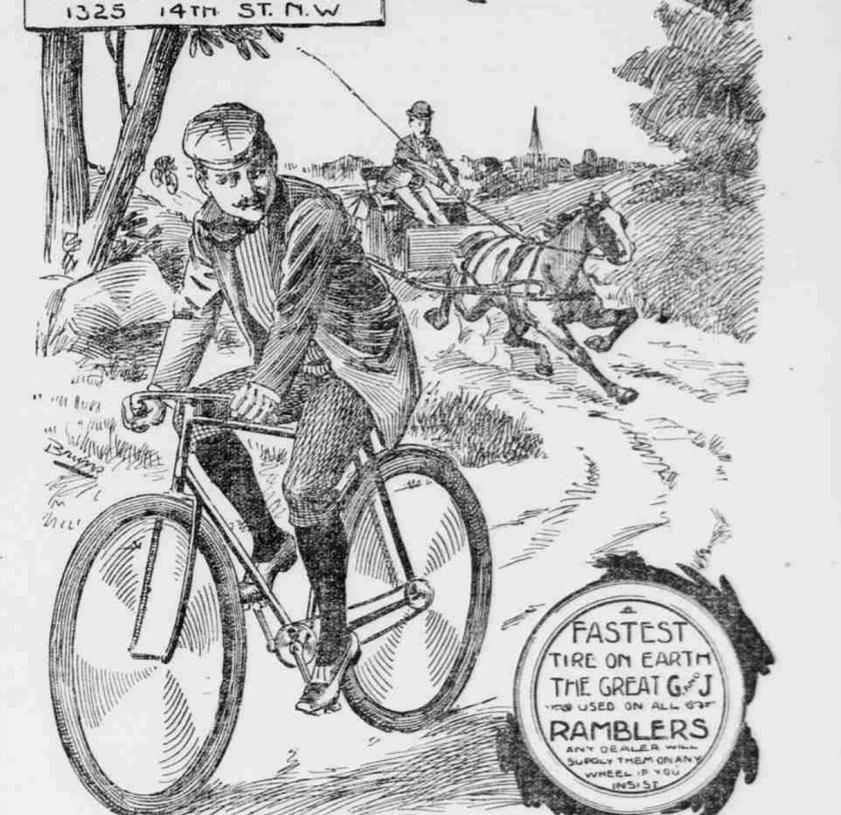

During the week they won five games, lost one and increased their percentage fifteen points. They are now a good third, and as Irvin has his pitchers in working order, they are likely to be in third place when the season is at a close.

TELENS AND HIS PITCHERS. Two are now standing at 9.40. They are excellent pitchers and the odds are in their favor. They will win out in their own luck, but when they reach the top of the ladder, they will be in a tight spot.

THE PHILLIES ARE PLAYING ON THE expectations of their warm admirers. They are giving the Quaker City people a reputation of the last two seasons by making a fast finish at home.

WAGNER'S FIND ARRIVES

He Is a Young Man Named Lush, Who Will Be Put in Left Field—Mercer and Gilroy Will Do the Twisting in Today's Game—Boswell May Yet Show Up.

The Senators may not be winners but they are certainly hustlers of the first water. They will jump out this week and play no less than eleven games before they lay down their bats and take a rest.

LUSH THE NEW MAN. The first game with the Colonels will be called at 10:30 this morning and the second game will be put on at 3:30 p. m. It is expected that the weather will be a crowd should be had at both games.

PLEASED WITH GILROY. Manager Schmeitz was so much pleased with the showing that Gilroy made in Saturday's game that he will utilize him in the second game to-day. Mercer will be the pitcher in the game.

When he arrived at the Emergency Hospital Dr. McDonald found that three arteries had been severed by the bullet and that the face had been burned by the powder. He will live.

EDWARD TYLER, a colored shoemaker, was shot in the face by Samuel Lee, an colored house conductor, living a few doors above him.

THE MEN were engaged in a game of seven-up in Tyler's house about 1 o'clock yesterday forenoon, when Lee charged Tyler with having cheated and stolen the five cents stake on the table.

THEY were possessed of a revolver which Tyler had hidden in his pocket. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital and died last night.
