Gas light is a better light than electricity if it's burned through a Siemens-Lungren Gas Lamp. And it sheds a beautiful white light, making it excellent for show windows and store interiors.

So many reasons why the electric light is superior to gas light. Safer, more convenient, cleaner and easiest artificial light there is on the eye-sight.

What is in a name? In our case it is a guarantee of good work, because we have made our name famous and we intend to keep it so.

HE ALSO STOLE A BICYCLE. Proprietors of Several Houses Testify That He Paid Them in Promises for Board and Then Skipped Out. Attempt to Prove That He Has Means Fell Through.

The case of J. O. Kerby, ex-consul to Para, Brazil, who, as stated recently in The Morning Times exclusively, was arrested for vagrancy, was given another hearing by the police court late yesterday, having been postponed from Wednesday, to allow the prosecution to produce more witnesses.

Mr. Kerby did not return. Mr. C. M. Palmer, who runs a bicycle establishment, then testified, and brought out a case of larceny against Kerby. He took the bicycle out to try the saddle as far as the corner and the witness said he had seen him on the wheel until this day. As Kerby was not charged with larceny, Mr. Palmer was advised to swear out a warrant for him.

Mr. Kerby was then testified that in June, '93, when he was running the Fredonia, Kerby came and stayed several weeks, then suddenly left without paying his bill. The next day the witness received a postal card from Kerby, written from Baltimore, saying: "Going with friends to Gettysburg to spend Sunday, will return Monday."

Capt. Johnson at the Mercy of Constable Rheam. CASE SMELLS OF HYPOCRISY.

The Soldier of Two Wars Had No Ready Money to Pay the Bill for the Burial of His Aged Wife—Fugitive Scene Outside the Office of Justice O'Neill.

Capt. B. F. Johnson, a veteran of two wars, with his wife from the Fourth Indiana Artillery, 1855, had a lively experience yesterday with Constable Henry U. Rheam and an undertaker's bill. Incidentally it very nearly involved a knock-out with the undertaker, R. W. Barker.

Capt. Johnson came here in 1859 as a carpenter in the Treasury. He was appointed from Indianapolis, where he had lived over thirty years. He had some means but about three years ago his wife became ill and continued so till last February when she died. They had been married nearly fifty years. In the wife's long illness nearly all their money had been spent. He lost his place about two years ago.

Mr. Barker conducted the funeral and sent a bill for $98. Capt. Johnson was not able to pay at once. After a time Mr. Barker put the bill in the hands of Mr. Rheam, of No. 642 C street northwest, for collection. Mr. Rheam, who is a constable, had once lived for a considerable time, called for the money and what Mr. Johnson understood to be a satisfactory settlement was effected. He turned over to Mr. Rheam a note on Mr. Daniel Birtwell, of No. 492 Louisiana avenue, for $175 at 6 per cent. TROLLEY TRUST'S PROMISE. Some People Believe It Is Like Pie Crust.

Considerable Doubt Felt as to the Intention of the Eckington Company to Remove the Poles.

The smoke of the battle against the trolley has cleared up about the police court and the District Building. All the officials have taken a rest while the white flag of the trolley is flying over the two buildings.

Attorney for the District Thomas, was asked yesterday what was the news, to which he replied that there was nothing. It is of the opinion that there is now nothing to do but to wait and see how the company will carry out its promises. This opinion is shared by other officials.

All the petitions pro and con, so far as the removal of the poles is concerned, have been filed. Those favoring the removal do not think it necessary to press the matter, considering the published obligations of the company to the courts, the Commissioners and The Times.

Last evening there was a report that it is pretty well understood that it will take vigorous work to remove the poles in ten days, but the company has said it can do it in ten days, and for the present that goes.
