Laces at 1-3 Prices. Both Cream and White. Beginning To-day we shall sell you an Imported Stock of Fine Laces at 1-3 Regular Prices.

The Reason of This.

There were a great many unfortunate cases this year in the importer's world. This man like the rest over-reached himself. He had to unload in a hurry—needed the cash. The quantity of pieces—3,000—could not find such a ready purchaser, unless at a terrible sacrifice. He had to sell at once, and we would only buy if we could get the goods to sell at 1-3 the prevailing prices. The bargain was clinched. The goods are on sale. The stock contains the following kinds of laces in the different desirable widths now used.

- Venise, Duchesse, Renaissance, Applique Venise, Net Top Venise, Point Lierre, Real Margot, Guimpure, Broderie D'Anglaise, Cream Chantilly, Point D'Ireland.

Of particular importance is this sale of Laces to Intending BRIDES and those preparing BALL and RECEPTION COSTUMES.

Don't come half-hearted. Feel sure that these Laces are here in the quantity and at the prices advertised. LANSBURGH never fools you. The stock consists of the medium-priced and finer grades, not the real cheap kind.

Of course it is advisable to be among the first. You might as well leave other things undone for a few hours to-day and get a chance at these.

SISTERS BRIDES TOGETHER

Pretty Double Wedding Solemnized at Calvary Sunday-school House.

Six Ceremonies Made It a Night of Weddings—Society Notes and Personal.

The Sunday-school house of the Calvary Baptist Church last night was the scene of a double wedding, the contracting couples being Miss Lillian Slater and Mr. Ernest Holden of Orlando, Fla., and Miss Besie Slater and Dr. F. A. Swartwout, of this city.

Both brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Slater, of No. 433 M street northwest.

At 8 o'clock the bridal procession entered simultaneously through the two entrances of the school-house, passed up the aisle preceded by their individual attendants, and were received at the foot of the platform by Rev. S. H. Greene, D. D., pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, who performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. Damer, of St. Paul's.

Both brides wore gowns of white silk tulle, trimmed with satin ribbons, and carried white bouquets, held by satin bows. Each was attended by her maid of honor, Miss Annie Faxon, cousin of the brides, preceding Miss Lillian Slater, while the same graceful office was performed by Miss Besie Slater by Miss Hattie Swartwout, sister of the groom.

Dr. E. S. Lohr and Mr. E. R. Honing served as best men and there were four ushers, Mr. S. T. Smith, Mr. L. Biss, Mr. W. G. Sherwood, and Mr. F. Holt.

The platform was completely concealed by towering foliage of palms, cedar, and pine trees, and every seat in the auditorium and galleries filled and the stairs and rear aisles crowded.

Miss Mattie Bartlett played the "Lohengrin Wedding March" upon the piano at the entrance of the bride party, and Mendelssohn's as they left the church.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Slater, parents of the brides; Mr. and Mrs. Swartwout, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Holden, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Goodacre, Mr. and Mrs. Seibold, Mrs. Aler, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Waddy, Mr. and Mrs. Hazard, Miss Hallenger, Mr. Preston J. Epler, Prof. Gebst, Mr. Fred Hostkins, Mr. and Mrs. Muckabee, Mrs. Bartlett, Miss Lillian Slater, Mrs. Arthur Copeland, Miss Etta Seale, Dr. and Mrs. Dufour, the Misses Aler, Miss Mary Seibold, Mrs. Bery, Mrs. Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Chapin, Mrs. Fish, Miss Rose Day, Mr. George E. Hebard, Mr. E. Schuyler Collett, Mr. Albert Humphrey, Miss Ethel Foster, Dr. Whittington, Mr. Walter Molling, Mrs. and the Misses Loucke, Mr. E. Staley, Miss Cynthia Dean, Mrs. C. M. D. Brown, Miss Nettie Brown, Mr. Curtis, Misses Sadie and Mignonette Beightman, Miss Edith Carrigan, Miss Howlett, Mrs. Kimball, Miss Maud Eppley, Miss Elizabeth Tabler, and Mr. F. W. Vaughn.

Last evening at 6 o'clock Miss Josephine Marie Kubel was united in marriage to Mr. Augustus Carrier Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel T. Taylor, of this city, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kubel, No. 236 First street northeast.

The young bride was robed exquisitely in white silk and chiffon and carried white roses, tied with satin bows. She was attended by her sister, Miss Clara Kubel, in white organza, and carrying a white bouquet. Her brother, Prof. S. J. Kubel, played a nuptial march with splendid effect as the bridal party entered the rooms.

Mr. Robert M. Elliott, of this city, was best man.

The gifts of silver, decorated china, and glassware, napery, and bric-a-brac were not only numerous but particularly adapted to beautifying the new home, which Mr. Taylor has furnished for his bride.

After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Ed. Dillon, of St. Joseph's Church, the bridal party adjourned to the pretty home of the young couple, opposite the Kubel residence, where a general reception to friends was held from 7 until 9 o'clock.

Among the receiving party were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kubel, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel T. Taylor, and Miss Edna Taylor, parents and sister of the groom; Prof. Stephen Kubel, organist of St. Anthony Church; and Mr. Ernest Kubel, of the Washington Singer-band, both brothers of the bride.

weddings which has occurred this fall. Rev. Dr. Johnson officiated.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers. The bride's favorite flower of the bride, the bay window where the bridal party stood being banked with palms and roses.

The bride was dressed in a superb costume of heavy white satin, with long, and the very full skirt hung in graceful folds. A beautiful point lace veil, which had been her mother's bridal veil, was draped across the skirt.

The bride's attendants were her two cousins from Columbus, Ohio, the Misses Anna and Lillian Bevan. The bridesmaids wore costumes of pink and yellow brocade and carried large bunches of La France roses.

The familiar strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the bride entered the front drawing room leaning on the arm of her mother, Mrs. Louise Sinsabaugh, who was dressed in an elegant toilet of black velvet the cords of which were elaborately trimmed with gold point lace, her jewels were pearls.

After the impressive ceremony the happy pair stood near the bay window and received the congratulations of their many friends.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white silk, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. A reception from 8 to 10 o'clock followed, many relatives and friends wishing the young couple success and happiness, as they stood in the flower-decked drawing-room. The table was prettily ornamented with palms, ferns, and white chrysanthemums, and a dainty collation served.
