

SANITARIAN WORKSHOP

It Has Turned Out Many New Things for the Youngsters.

CLEVER TOYS AND GAMES

Football and Baseball Have Furnished Suggestions for the Inventors—Mechanical Wonders to Please Nineteenth Century Children—Ingenious Amusements for Winter Evenings.

As the new woman must have new and strange fashions, so, in the progress of invention, ample provision must be made for her new baby, or, in other words, there are those who have come on the stage since last Christmas, with its tinkling toys, passed away.

The new generation is the especial love of that same old generation whose duty it is to keep the newcomers up with the ways of the fathers.

This year, judging from a glance at many of the bewildering things behind the plate-glass windows of the big stores, a supreme effort has been made to give the babies of 1894 and 1895 an exceptionally rich magazine from which to select, of course, by proxy.

All references, of course, is to Christmas toys, which are the delight of all toddlers, and which will be the distraction of all their mamma and papa until the dawn of the 26th of December.

OLD KRIS IS HERE.

For it is for these that Kris Kringle and his royal attendants are in the city. Everywhere are to be seen evidences of their arrival, but nowhere is it so plainly manifested as in the bewitching countenances of the little ones, who have been patiently waiting the return of his presence and presents for nearly a year.

This is not to be attributed to penuriousness, for the old fellow has a heart overflowing with honest generosity, but is done in the interest of the countless little ones, whose happiness is his only care.

The object of his visit is too well known to need comment. It is known the world over and is looked forward to with pleasure, for it brings with it thoughts of gifts and giving. In this connection it may be said that the custom of making presents is as old as the hills, and originated in the Garden of Eden.

His HEAVENLY OFFICE. Uncle Kris has established no headquarters, but has secured for himself and assistants accommodations at all the most convenient and popular business places in the city.

Among the things which he has brought with him are many of the prettiest and useful articles which amused and interested young and old last season.

Accompanying the old friends, however, are many new ones, and among the most notable with delight. These have all been chosen with great care so as to make interesting and amusing playmates for all, from the "hot" to the growing-up young man or young lady.

SOME NEW THINGS. Among the new and interesting parlor games is one called "Bouquetette." It is played very much like the old-time game of Bouquet, only on a much smaller scale.

Another interesting toy is the "scientific pencil." This is very much in the same manner as the pencil, which is placed in the top, there is a lead pencil, which when the toy is spun, leaves a spiral curve with the greatest mathematical precision.

Then there is the "fishing" game, which excites special attention, and is played simply because it predetermines any possibility of "fish" stories being told as to the result of the sport.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

The game "in season," as they say about the game and party, is the "football" game. It is a game which presents the features of the gridiron realistically.

DRINK

Washington Brewery Company's Ruby Lager

Brewed from the finest malt and hops, and pronounced by analysis to be "Strictly Pure."

BREWERY AND OFFICES, 4th, 6th, E and F Sts. N. E., City. Telephone: 1293.

CHICAGO'S BEST-DRESSED MAN.

He Was a Degraded Black Man of the Notorious Levee District. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

What was in all respects the most remarkable funeral in the city was that of a black man who died last week, when Frank Moore, was laid away forever. The dead man was a young negro who had been in the city for some time.

The cortege was the longest ever seen at a black burying in the West. The crowd was estimated at over 4,000 people, black and white.

The colored preacher who delivered the discourse, actuated by a desire to say a few words to the crowd, none to the dead, but to the living.

He became known as "Black Diamond King," and it is unquestionably true that he possessed the largest and finest collection of gemstones owned by a colored man in America.

But it was not alone in the ownership of diamonds that Moore found pleasure. He was the best dressed man in Chicago.

It was his popularity that caused his death. Some time ago he had been appointed saloon and installed Moore as the proprietor, and who had therefore given outright to Moore's uncle a completely stocked hardware store on a busy street.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

PROUD REPORTER

He Had Reason to Be, as He Walked Along With Grant. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Here is a little story of Grant that has never been printed. When the great soldier occupied the White House, he spent much of his spare time on the streets, his favorite promenade being Pennsylvania avenue.

One day he was walking along Pennsylvania avenue for a stroll, and according to his Democratic habit, looked about for some acquaintance to bear him company.

His eye fell upon the figure of a youth who was then a reporter on one of the local papers.

"How are you, Frank?" said the President. "Come join me in a walk, and the next minute the budding journalist found himself parading up the grand boulevard of Washington with the first gentleman of the age following the young man, who is now one of the best known correspondents in Washington.

"I was almost paralyzed at first, for I really did not know that the President knew my name, as my acquaintance with him was of only a few months' standing, and my composition was not so polished as we made our way up the avenue.

Every one knew Grant, and they all bowed to him and stared at me with open mouths, as I silent man, but he did all the talking the afternoon, and I was glad of it, for all of my youthful cheek had flown, and it was as much as I could do to stammer out a yes and no as the occasion demanded.

"After walking several squares the President turned and we retraced our steps to the White House. When we reached it, Grant invited me to enter, would not take so for an answer, and I soon found myself in the President's private room, on the other side of the hall from the office, and a bottle of ambergris had been set between us. That was a great day for me, and when I again made my appearance on the avenue, no one could touch me with a forty-foot pole."

MILLIONAIRE PRIVATE

Young Deering Has a Love Affair, and Now Tells His Story. New York Journal.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., Dec. 6.—There are few of the officers and men in Uncle Sam's garrison at this post who know that a millionaire's son has been serving the government here as a private soldier, but such is the case.

It was on September 23, 1895, that a cavalry regiment, the 10th, was sent to Fort Sheridan, Ill., and it was on that day that the young man, who is now a private in the 10th, was sent to the post.

When Deering enlisted he was very attentive to his duties, and he was very popular with the officers and men.

Two weeks later an order came from the War Department transferring young Deering to Fort Riley, and he was assigned to duty in a cavalry regiment.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

SMUGGLING TO BALLOON SLEEVES

Port Townsend, Wash., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Margaret Morrison, a prosperous farmer living near Fort Angeles, was arrested this afternoon by the customs officials and charged with smuggling opium into this country.

Opium valued at $100 was found concealed about her wearing apparel.

She was accompanied by her 12-year-old daughter, on whose person four pounds of opium were discovered.

While coming across from Victoria today, the inspector imagined her figure was unusually plump, and upon inspection five tins of the drug were found ingeniously secreted in her balloon sleeves.

At the custom house she fainted and went into hysterics and requested that her daughter be sent outside into the open air.

Hardly had her child reached the sidewalk when she began ranting and crying, throwing dozens of cans of opium into vacant lots.

Later Mrs. Morrison, in consideration of similar charges not being presented against her daughter, pleaded guilty, and in the absence of bondsmen, tonight is detained in prison.

The officers claim the woman has been regularly engaged for several years in smuggling opium for a Chinese firm.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for use on his trousers, but the tailor talked him out of that unnecessary expense.

SMAN MIGUEL'S UPREAVAL

Government Officer's Report on an Interesting Terrestrial Disturbance. San Francisco Chronicle.

Fredman Westdahl, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, returned to Fort San Miguel Island by the naphtha boat Santa Cruz.

Mr. Westdahl went to the island last week by the lightship to examine the changes in topography and soundings caused by convulsions of some hitherto unexplained nature which occurred there last May.

There has been much discussion whether these changes were the result of an earthquake, volcanic eruption, or simply an upheaval, and this question is now being settled.

Mr. Westdahl said that he did not wish to make any statements before his report was rendered to his superiors, but his opinion was that they were the result of an upheaval.

Cuyler's Harbor, which lies facing the north, presents a considerable strip of territory which is piled high with huge rocks and boulders, plainly showing by their formation and the remains of marine life that they came from the bottom of the sea, and from the mountains above.

The attempt was made to get soundings off the reefs, but the means were not at command. Mr. Westdahl said that whether a new survey will be ordered is a matter for the heads of the department to decide.

In his opinion the changes are too slight to render that necessary. It must be remembered, that there is little commercial interest in the island, and navigation is confined to small boats.

San Miguel had a boat-house, which suddenly became inland after the upheaval, and the boat-house was 50 feet from the water. It changed its bearings as taken by compass until it faced over sixty degrees from its original position.

The battle, according to the old maps, showed a crescent shaped curve, now on the west; this is broken by a jutting promontory some 500 feet long, 150 feet wide, and 40 feet high. At first this was considerably higher, but wave and wind have already reduced it.

The theory of the affair is that there was a cavern over a subterranean cavern probably worn by spring water from the land, as springs are abundant. This cavern, it is supposed, caused an upheaval of the land under the water.

The region of the boat-house was stationary, except for the twisting mentioned above. It was the pivotal point, and the territory simply rose between it and the sea.

He was evidently from the country, and when he entered a well-known Chestnut street cafe last evening and took his seat at a table, he was plainly suspicious, as well as ill at ease.

He ordered a steak and, tucking his napkin under his chin, waited impatiently in the meantime bearing a tattoo on the table with his knife and fork.

Finally the steak came, served with a delicious sauce of mushrooms. The stranger sniffed the steak and looked askance at the mushrooms. Finally he turned to the waiter with the remark:

"Are you sure these are mushrooms?" The waiter said he was.

"Not to do any harm," he persisted, the suspicious customer. Again the waiter vouched for the genuineness of the dish.

"Well, I dunno," remarked the voracious gentleman. "I am afraid I can't do any harm about such things." Then, as a brilliant idea struck him, he added: "I suppose you set down here and eat some first, just to see my mind and show the thing's all right."

On his head he wore a silk hat for which he paid $10. He had a watch worth $200. He had a pair of trousers worth $150.

It is stated as a fact that he had wanted his New York tailor to have gold buttons, solid gold, made for