CENTRALS EASY VICTIMS

Oriental Had a Walkover With the High School Team.

Whit washed them yesterday afternoon's game—Poor Management of the School Eleven.

Not more than a hundred people were present at National Park yesterday afternoon when game was called between the football eleven of the Oriental Athletic Club and the team from the Central High School.

The result was just what had been expected, an overwhelming victory for the Orientals. They outplayed the Centrals from start to finish and piled up the score until it stood 40 to 0 in their favor.

The Centrals had better management they might have made a better showing against the Orientals, but the same lack of competent leadership was shown in connection with the team proper that contributed to making the attendance of the game so poor.

It was the Orientals who in the kick off and they carried every thing before them. Some brilliant plays were made by the Orientals, Avis' forty-five yard run around the Centrals end being one of the best.

At the end of the first half the score stood Orientals 16, Centrals 0.

The Centrals had the ball at the beginning of the second half, but very soon lost it and from then on their team went all to pieces and the Orientals scored again and again. The final score stood Orientals 40, Centrals 0.

The line up was as follows: Orientals: Coach, ...

HARRY M. DATERY?

Ran Away for Four Miles After Beating Tribute.

INVESTIGATED BY JUDGES

But Failed to Find Anything Suspicious—Two Heavily Played Good Things, Red Star and Blue Bonnet, Went Through—Nearsy Was Kicked While at Post on Ponce de Leon.

If Harry M., who won the fourth event at St. Asaph yesterday, did not have a few stiff doses of Tobin's "extract of lightning" shot into his system by means of his jockey's spurs during the running of the race, then there never was such a thing as a "speed producing" electric battery in the world.

When a horse like Harry M. not only beats a high class animal of the calibre of Tribute, but runs away for four miles after doing so, then it is time to institute an investigation. Jockey Dorsey, who had the most on the animal, has a reputation for applying the battery and this led the judges to make a careful search of both the boy and horse after he returned to the stand to weigh out.

This investigation failed to reveal anything out of the ordinary and the horse's number was promptly run up and tickets paid off. Notwithstanding this, fully ninety-nine out of every hundred people at the track thought that some artificial means were employed to make the horse run. Indeed, it is asserted on good authority that the boy succeeded in disposing of the "battery" on the back stretch.

CROWDED AROUND THE STAND. The affair caused quite a ripple of excitement and fully 500 people gathered around the judges' stand after Dorsey finally succeeded in pulling the animal up and returning to the wire. Many of them had tickets on Tribute, who ran second, while others had played Harry M. There was no money made on the latter at the track, but it may have been played in the out-of-town pool rooms for all it was worth.

The betting on the day was fairly good and as three favorites, backed up by two second choices, got home in front, the talent quit somewhat ahead of the game. Although "Dum" Adams took his look of "Nearsy" Collins went on and the talent thus had the regular nine books to back up against.

Red Star was very heavily played in the opening race, being backed from 10 to 1 down to 7 to 2. Blue Bird was also well backed, going from 10 down to 5, while Mote's price went even money to 3 to 5. After over half an hour's delay at the post, Red Star broke in front and was never headed, winning pulled up by six lengths from Mote, with Blue Bird third.

GOOD THING WENT THROUGH. The talent had another good thing in the second race, playing Blue Bonnet from 5's down to 8 to 5. This one also went through, Blue Bonnet going to the front on the back stretch and at the end winning handsily by two lengths from Bloodstone, with Fatal third.

The wise people would have nothing in the third event, which was for the youngsters, but Hallie Gay. They played him from 8 to 5 to 1 to 2. What ever chance he had of winning was killed by the jockey who rode him, "Dutch" Lohrman had the mount and he put up about as accurate a ride as could be found in a week's hunt. As a result, Hallie Gay finished fourth, with Torredale the winner by a head from Srenvald, who beat Mullighmore two lengths for second money.

The fourth race was the Harry M. affair. Tribute was a top heavy favorite at 2 to 1 and clear to the paddock gate, where Harry M. drew away with a sudden burst of speed and won handsily by a length. Tribute beat Foxglove by eight lengths.

WON AS HE PLEASED. There was nothing in the fifth race but Johnny. He was a 2 to 3 chance, and going to the front when he pleased, won in a gallop by four lengths from Venusburg, with Annie T. third.

When the horses went to the post in the last race, Ponce de Leon was the favorite at 8 to 5. Nearsy, who had the mount on Ponce, was kicked while at the post and Andrews was substituted in his place. At a rapid trot he made his way to the front, lumberman, and both he and Ponce finally closed at 2 to 1. Ponce went to the front on the first turn, and leading the rest of the way, won easily by a length and a half from Lumberman, who was a head before Siva.

COMING TO THE THEATERS.

"Old Hoss" Hoey comes to the Grand Opera House Monday night, playing the entire week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, with an entirely new play and a cast which is old in spirit, but not in fact.

Frederick Bancroft's original spectacle of magic will be presented at the New National Theater all next week, beginning Monday evening. The press accounts from all the cities where the prince of magicians has played so far this season agree in saying that the "King of Palaces" will be vividly recalled doubtless by what he does.

"Tribly," the celebrated dramatization of the celebrated book, will be at the Lafayette Opera House next week. It has had an extraordinary career in New York, running for 260 nights, straight through the summer and up to now. In fact, it is there still, and Washington will get the same cast that New York has seen and admired so long.

Mr. Paul Potter has commingled with the scientific scenes at the opera which are vividly impressive, and for that reason possesses a human interest, which the book does not show, so it can fully be said, as most great men have, unless his love of the play is stronger than the book, more entertaining and more effective. Mr. Wilton Lackaye will appear as Srenvald, Miss Blanche Walden as Annie, Miss Marie McAvoy as May, whose Irish comedy act has made an immense hit every where; Walbrook, the dancer; Imogene Conner, the contralto; Gertrude Gilson, with her latest songs; Felix and Cain, the clever knock-about people; and last but not least, Farnum and Seymour, in their acrobatic act. The management have an attraction for next week which their patrons will certainly appreciate.

First on the list are the famous artists, Fisher and Shaw, whose musical turn is pronounced the most clever seen on the American stage; Bailey and Hilton, sketch team of redoubt; McAvoy and May, whose Irish comedy act has made an immense hit every where; Walbrook, the dancer; Imogene Conner, the contralto; Gertrude Gilson, with her latest songs; Felix and Cain, the clever knock-about people; and last but not least, Farnum and Seymour, in their acrobatic act.
