The Washington Times

(MORNING, EVENING, AND SUNDAY, OWNED AND ISSUED 37 The Washington Times Compaar. TIMES BUILDING.

SUDTRIWEST CORNER PENNSYLVANIA AVENUR AN TENTH STREET Telephone-Editorial Rooms, 153. Business Office' 33

Monthly by Carrier-Morning and Sunday. ..... Thirty-five Cents Evening ... Morning, Evening and Sunday,

WASHINGTON, D. C., DECEMBER 26, 1895

The Times

Is the Only

Washington Newspaper

That dares to tell the truth when dealing with all subjects of public interest, that's one reason why the people like it,

Its Circulation

Is larger by many thousands than any other daily newspaper published in the District of Cohumbia.

The circulation of The Times for the week ending December 22, 1895, was as follows:

Monday, Dec. 16 Tuesday, Dec. 17 Wednesday, Dec. 18 Thursday, Dec. 19 Friday, Dec. 20 Saturday, Dec. 21 Sunday, Dec. 22 .. 237,609 I solemnly swear that the above is correct statement of the daily cir-dation of THE WASHINGTON culation of THE WASHINGTON TIMES for the week ending December 22, 1895, and that all the copies were actually sold or mailed for a valuable consideration and delivered to bone fide purchasers or subscribers; also, that none of them were returned or remain to the office undelivered J. MILTON YGUNG, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23d day of December, A. D. 1895. ERNEST G. THOMPSON, Notary Public.

Features From The Evening Times.

If you miss any news in the morning edition, look over the list below. What you're looking for was printed twelve hours, ago in the evening edition. Take both editions and you'll miss

ANSWERED WEE PETITIONS-Messengers of the Christ Child Who Bore Presents.

"A THIEF IS AMONG YOU"-Lieutenant Amiss' Startling Words to His Policemen.

XMAS FAR FROM HOME-REVENUE AND BOND BILLS-

Ways and Means Committee Submits Its Plan. GREAT INROADS BY REBETS.

Videspread Destruction of Estates of Landholders. BOYS RECEIVE CLOTHING-Free Distribution of One Hundred Over coats This Morning. OFFICIALS' XMAS CHEER-Family Reunions at Homes of Cabinet Officers.

MANY ARRESTS MADE-Who Will Spend the Holidays in

ALL PREACHED FOR PEACE-Sermons in Prominent Churches Against WOMEN WHO SPECULATE-Dabbling in Stocks Not Confined to the Male Sex.

SUICIDE WAS EPIDEMIChristmas Was Not Altogether Merry at the Metropolis.

SANTA DROVE AWAY PAINcenes in Children's Institutions Toys Were Distributed.

CSHERED INCHRISTMAS-Rattles, Tooting Horns, and Roars Pro-claim the Day.

ACTORS TELL OF THE DAY-

CAR STRIKE NOT YET ENDEDerious Trouble on One Division of Phila delphia Traction Combine. AFFAIRS IN THE ORIENT-

War Disturbances Resolve Themselves Into Arts of Peace. COLUMBIA'S ROAD RACE ew Cycle Club Has Its Initial Run Over the Tenleytown Course.

SOCIETY'S FESTIVE PERIOD-That Will Brighten the Seaso of the Yuletide.

CHRISTMAS DAY CRIMES-

BATTLESHIP AWARDS.

It has been practically decided by Secretary Herbert to award the contract for the battleship Kearsarge and her unnamed sister vessel to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, of Newport News, Va., in accordance with the recoming and Dry Dock Company, of Newport News, Va., in accordance with the recom-mendation of the naval board of bureau

The 1 id of the Virginia firm was $2,250. The 1-ld of the Virginia firm was $2,250,000 for each ship. It is understood that the suggestion of the board that the Secretary give the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, an opportunity of securing the contract for one of the ships by scaling their bid was rejected by Mr. Herbert on account of a precedent established by Secretary Tracy that bidders should be allowed to scale down only when their secretary Tracy that biddens should be allowed to scale down only when their proposals came within 3 per cent. of the bid offered by the successful competitor. The alternate proposition of members of the board that the Union Iron Works and the Cramp Company, of Philadelphia, be given an opportunity to secure two ships each by an appropriation by Congress, on the recommendation of the Secretary for four more battleships, is said to be still under consideration.

Senate Rules Should Be Changed.

When the tariff and bond bills, which | have so frequently been employed are will be reported from the Ways and Means again attempted at the present juncture of affairs, the Committee on Rules will Committee today, shall have passed the House, the debate on them in the Senate endeavor to find some way out of the may again make apparent the necessity tangle to dispose of the issue with comof changing the rules governing the trans-action of business in that body. Senator parative promptness. It is hoped that this may be true, but whether the neces Harris, for instance, is credited with desity for it arises or not, the rules which claring that no tariff bill shall pass the make possible the obstruction of the public Senate, as long as the voices of Demobusiness ought to be reformed. "Sena cratic Senators hold out. On the other torial courtesy," in whose name and under hand the silver Democrats in that body the guise of which so many sins have are believed to be equally determine been committed, should be sidetracked in their opposition to a bond measure. and Senatorial common sense given the right of way instead. The people's

The worst of these threats is that under the rules and "traditions" of the Senate they are capable of being made effective These rules set no limit to debate and while it is true that dangerous legislation has many a time been prevented by means of them it is no less true that meritorious measure have been talked to death. The only limit to such a performance is the power of endurance of the opposing sides.

It is said that if the same tactics which | tempt effective.

Police Spread Out Too Thin-The capture of three supposed cracksmen that the patrolmen have each to cover in the city gives point to the recent warnings a territory so large that a "crib may be of The Times that the criminal classes cracked" safely in one part of it while throughout the country would regard the the "cop" is at the other end. In one weakening of the local police force as respect, the crooks show nice discriminaaffording them the opportunity for making a raid upon Washington. At the same tion. They never hold up a Congressman nor do they ever break into his residence time it emphasizes the necessity for that They know that, if they were to do so, a increase of the force upon which The Times has insisted. The fact that a member of bill to increase the police force to the full the detective force could be set upon and strength of a regiment, would be introalmost killed by a gang of drunken toughs duced and put through Congress in less in the homediate vicinity of one of the than no time principal business streets and at a time Yet, even the unexpected may happen, and when there were crowds of people about, and old fogvism and bullheadedness should

There are several Senators, notably Mr

Hill, who have heretofore made earnest efforts to reconstruct the rules. When they next do so, public sentiment, it is hoped, will influence a majority of their colleagues sufficiently to make their at-not be permitted to obstruct it.

if the representatives of the people want to do the proper thing by themselves and the people of the District, they should There is no let up to the number of provide for more police without losing thefts and burglaries. The criminals know time unnecessarily.

which the House of Representatives and the now sorry they did it does not after the thing to do to thus plunge the business of the country into confusion and bring it close to the verge of panic. For that it escaped the latter no thanks are due either to the President or to the Congress, but to the good sense of the American people. Upon the first shock followed

If this miserable squabble about nothing at all is not "arranged in a manner satis factory to both countries," it will be because the sober sense of the people on both sides of the Atlantic is not allowed

What the Prince of Wales Thinks.

In response to a telegraphic inquiry ad- | and British Guiana to warrant the hystressed to them by the New York World, the Prince of Wales and his eldest son, the Duke of York, have cabled that "they carnestly trust and cannot but believe the present crisis will be arranged in a manner satisfactory to both countries, and will be succeeded by the same warm feeling of case. friendship which has existed between them for so many years." Though the Prince of Wales, even as the heir apparent to the English throne, is not a powerful factor in the settlement of an international dispute, whether by force of arms or othervise, yet his utterance is of value as probably indicating the prevailing sentiment of the conservative element of the people of England.

further shows how scantily our streets are patroled.

risis should be arranged in a manner satisfactory to both countries. There was no reason whatever why it should have been precipitated. No interest was involved to prevail. in the boundary dispute between Venezuela but he can have no difficulty in making the distinction in the case of a boy who Selling liquor to minors may work the forfeiture of the saloonkeeper's license, and, possibly, upon prosecution in the police court, subject him to the imposition of fine, but neither of these penalties is commensurate with the offense, especially when one considers that it may have such tragic results as that referred to above.

has barely entered his 'teens.

itself.

Curse of Selling Liquor to Minors. The stabbing of a sixteen-year-old boy | The money loss to the dealer in consequence by a companion of about his own age while of being compelled to close his saloon, and both were intoxicated would seem to indieven the fine he may have to pay, do no cate that the law against selling liquor to compensate for the possible ruin of a minors lacks a great deal of being envoting life, or the even more shocking forced as strictly as it should be. It is commission of homicide. not always possible, of course, for barkeepers to tell just whether a young man

It is well understood, of course, that no reputable saloon-keeper will dispense has reached his twenty-first year or not. liquor to minors, but unfortunately there are enough that do not discriminate in this respect, and if the police could get on their tracks it would be a good piece of work. At the same time, however, the Commissioners should also give orders to the police to proceed vigorously against the speakeasies south of the Avenue, where youths can obtain intoxicants at all hours of the day and night.

Some vigorous action is called for to check the sale of liquor to minors.

Dunraven's Second Appearance.

Only a languid interest attaches to the arrival of Lord Dunraven, who visits the country to attempt the substantiation of his charges that the Defender was juggled with in her race with Valkyrie III, in the race for the America's cup. The fact is that, so far as the American public is concerned, his case is prejudged, for nobody for a moment believes that his accusations, implicating a pumber of honorable men, contained one scintilla of truth.

Almost from the very beginning of the races from which he withdrew in so unsportsmanlike a manner, Lord Dunraven showed dissatisfaction with whatever arrangements had been made for the event. He came firmly convinced that an easy vic tory would be his and it needed but his defeat in the first race to make him disgruntled. Coming out a little ahead in the second race allayed his discomfiture just a trifle, but not enough to make him risk a third contest. He seized upon the slender pretext of a course somewhat crowded by excursion steamers to withdraw from the no worse off than the Defender. When Dunraven returned to England be got what comfort he could from the comniscrating comments of the British press and in an evil moment formulated the charges, the utterance of which Mr. C. Oliver Iselin declared could only emanate from "a liar and a blackguard." Even the English newspapers were shocked. The reputation of the men who were inter ested in the Defender and of the New York Yacht Club was too far above suspicion to make it possible that Dunraven's charges could be anything but the outgrowth of spite. On this side the indictment naturally aroused deep indignation, but this was soon followed by profound disgust, and at the present time the only interest attaching to the matter is to be found in the general desire to see Dunraven's discon fiture made so complete that he will not be recognized again as entitled to the respect of gentlemanly sportsmen.

in all, their work was marked by painstakthings, yet it is not to be doubted that the historian may have found much valuable material in the columns of the news papers to which these men contributed.

Proposed Tribute to War Correspondents.

Monuments and memorials of every description have been erected to commemo rate the deeds and services of the military and navat heroes of the war between the States. At the Capital of the nation, in the different States and on battlefields they have been reared. Now the happy thought has occurred to Mr. George Alfred Townsend to build on the battlefield of South Mountain a monument in honor of the correspondents who accompanied the armies of the union, and whose services were in their way as valuable as those of nany a doughty warrior.

Some of these correspondents themselves bore arms in defense of the integrity of the union. All of them incurred hardships labored zealously and nearly always faithfully, and the great public was under no small obligations to them for their services True, there may have been sometimes in their accounts a slight deviation from the strict line of accuracy, and historical

GAVE ALMS FREELY.

Thousands of Poor Fed by Citizens of St. Louis.

the Salvation Army. In a large vacant store room on Sixth street two long tables were spread with ndance of substantial food, and the throng that passed in the front door hungry and out the back door satisfied were

The Provident Association and other charities likewise set free tables. At the hotels special menus were offered. The city institutions also strove to lessen the hardships of hospitals and prisons, and the

BACE WAR IMMINENT.

and the active workers in the professi

the monument will shortly be reared.

are expected to raise this to an amoun

Negroes May Avenge the Death of s Murdered Friend. Nashville, Tenu., Dec. 25 .- No further in which one negro was killed and a white the white man injured, would make at

A great deal of excitement was create today when it was rumored that the negroe were playing a counter game and were stending to mob Cashlon. Such action would surely lead to a war of exterm and it is not believed that the blacks would be so reckless. Cashion still claims that the negro who was killed was sho by one of the other negroes.

Munificence of the Old American Million aire to London Dancers.

Every Night He Occupies a Box at the Alhambra, But Never Goes Behind the Scenes

London Cor. New York Press. If you should go to the Alhambra in Lonion purposely to see him, as many have e, you would be disappointed, for he sits far back in the box that costs him sits far back in the box that costs him eighteen dollars a night, hidden by a great curtain. In appearance he is grim, bald and gray and withered by threescore and ten years. He has not missed a single performance of the fairles, with salaries from $5 to $20 a week, who kick and march and swing their bands through the spectacular ballet of of "Tiania," a musical adaptation from "Midsimmer Night's Dream," with all of the words left out.

This old gentleman can afford to pay $18 a box, as his income is something like $18 an hour. By hirth, he is an American, and American financiers will readily recognize the name of Walter Winans. Many years ago he went to Russia to build railroads for the czar. In the days of the Crimea, his brains were so serviceable in keeping out the English that three czars have been grateful enough to get these in his grateful chough to put good things in his way. He has not deserted Russia. But there are the prettient ballets in London, ex-cept in Paris, where the people make too much noise applauding and boxes are not so sechided.

He cannot only do a big day's work with the use of only fifty words, but he is also a trifle eccentric in other ways.

A man with whom he had dealt for many years once suggested to him that his bill had run to $500,000. Winans didn't say anything. He took a little piece of paper out of his pocket and wrote "Pay $500,000 to bearer, Walter Winans," turned on his heel and walked away.

and walked away.

The next day the man received the following: "Won't do any more business with you, Winans."

Since then hissolveney hasn't been doubted.

Since then missolvency hasn toeendounted, and he doesn't lose sleep over dunning letters.

One night, as he came in, he said to the manager: "Let me have your salary list of the people on the stage?" The manager wondered for a minute if the grim old gentleman wasn't a reformer after all, and terical outburst from the White House, and still less the helter-skelter burry with Senate fell over each other to follow the then he concluded that a reformer wouldn' President's lead. The fact that they are pay $18 a night for one hundred nights, and if he did it wouldn't be as damaging evidence against the ballet as against the reformer.

The old gentleman walked off with the It was a wanton, almost a criminal

The old genteman waised of with the envelopes in his pecket and a conspicuous absence of comment, leaving the managerstill in a maze. After the ballet was over he brought back the salary list along with a little-slip of paper of his own, which he handed to the manager, saying: "Give it to 'em in envelopes!

Give what? The manager looked. The Give what? The manager looked. The manager looked again, and began to count up the number, and speculate upon the variety of the drinks he had taken that evening. The lattle slip of paper was a check for $5,000. Opposite the name of each girl on the salary list was marked the amount to be given her. Even the little children got $5, while some of the girls got as high as $50. Nothing was given to the men. The self-made old gentleman probably thought adult males who were doing ably thought adult males who were doing no better than merely filling in a fairy spectacle were undeserving of assistance.

The next night when the girls came in an such a sight as they had never seen before. There was a pandemonium of "Ge whizzes" and "Holy gees," and dancing and kicking that were the real thing. It is said that one of the girls started to rush on the stage without any trunks, and was pulled back just in time to save punde monium in the audience, while half a dozen quite to real their butterfly wings. The manager had forethought amough to man the rairies that they musts? I throw fisses or even shills to their 8 rince Bountial. Where was the girl who said the old gentleman was a bishop? But no girl had ever said such a thing. He might be insane, they admitted, and they only wished more people would have the same species of in sanity. such a sight as they had never seen be

The manager told the old gentleman that he would be cordially received if he wished to go back to the wings. "No. sir," Prince Bountiful answered, rather indignantly. He did not intend that the romance of his fairies should be destroyed by any inside views. He was wise. More than one of the girls had said: "The old darting! I should just like to hug him!" Still, the whole thing grew more wonderful to them. Then each girl went straight way to a staionery store and bought the nicest envelopes nd paper she could find. Some had to go to a stationery store many times, as ballet girlsaremuch more facile with their legs than their pens, and this was an instance when most elaborate composition was demanded. Somewhat doubtfully, the manager asked Prince Bountiful if he wanted the letters. The old gentleman said a great deal—for him. He said. "Yes, sir! Yes, sir! Of course! I'll keep 'em all and leave 'em in my will to my son."

RETURN OF THE BUSTLE.

There Are Indications That It Will Be Worn Later in the Scason-

Women who study fashions in a far-sighted way have prophesied for some time that the days of the bustle were about to re-turn, says the New York World. They have said that organ-plaited tacks presaged the advent of the bustle, and that widely flaring skirts lined with stiffening would inevitably lead to the readoption of that clums y article of attire which women gave up so gladly a few years ago.

The lingeric department in the abops would

The lingerie department inthe stops would seem to bear out this prophecy. The bustle has made its reappearance there, tentatively far, but still with the air of having come to stay. It is not the monstrous article which was banished when clinging skirts became fashionable. It is rather small and is made ing labor and impartiality. A good part of it was optemeral in the very nature of rashionable. It is rather small and is made of haircloth, sometimes black, sometimes gray and sometimes white.

It consists of three vertical puffs, which look like the abbrevlated liming to an organ-plait skirt, and it is finished by a frill of haircieth. Its main object is to give the skirt a start in the right direction. A well-lined skirt will flare at the bottom with the aid of a very small bustle.

Of course, this slight reappearance of the bustle may be followed by a bustle revival

Mr. Townsend has placed his project in the hands of a committee of which Govon a large scale, which will make camel-like humps once more the style. Doctors will object violently to the re-introduction of the bustle on the ground of health, and artists will declaim against its use on the score of ernor-elect Lowndes of Maryland is the chairman, and Hon. Edward M. Mealy of Hagerstown, Md., the treasurer, and with them are associated some of the best known beauty, but the medical and aesthetic work may grow hoarse with anathemus against it before it will be discontinued if fashion once says authoritatively that it must be worn. Louis Seize and Marie Antoinette styles newspaper men in the country. One thousand dollars has already been contributed both require more or less padding about the hips. The panniers of the Louis Seize coats and the stiff skirts of the Marie Autoinette sufficient to carry the project into exeperiod demand some bouffancy, and this is obtained only by padding or by a bustle cution. It need scarcely be doubted that

The Cellars of Bordeaux.

The cobwebs will seem to an impressionable visitor the noblest things in the Bordeaux cellars. Some of them look like thick pile curtains, somber in hue, of course, but famously suggestive of warmth. And with even only a moderate imagination one may go to and fro among the barrels, fancing the pendant shapes overhead are dusky go to and fro about the barrels, fancing the pendant shapes overhead are dusky stalactiles instead of the airy next-to-nothings they really are. If you hold your candle high enough you may shrivel a few yards of the fabric. But that were truly a shocking deed of vandalism, for, though no layman can understand why this dismal tapestry is reverenced as it is, his ignorance will not be held sufficient excuse for his crime.—Chamber's Journal.

Reed's Little Joke Speaker Read will have his joke now and then. Friday night, before giving out his list of committees, he said: "Yes, I have all the boys fixes in the very place they wanted. If there are any surprises it will be to those fellows who get more than they expected."—Chicago Times-Herad.

WINARS AND BALLET GIRLS Cut 'em off,

and quick, too. We're going to make short work of what's left of the Christmas stock. Leather

Pocketbooks will go at half

Plush Cases will go at half price. $1.50 and $2.00 Neckwear will go at 90c. That's the : . you'ni ind things all through the store. The $9.75 Suit and Storm Overcoat Sale Continues. $18, $16.50 and $15 values are what you have to choose from Splendid assortment, too.

Saks and Company

Pa. Ave. and 7th St.-"Saks' Corner."

FAR AWAY FROM HOME Strangers Who Had to Make Merry

at the Hotels All men are not privileged to spend hristmas at their homes and with their families. The great traveling public of the United States must spend this day of rejoicing in a hotel, and think of home and little ones far away. Washington had a large number of Christmas guests, as the following list of the hotel registers will show: Ebbitt-N. Druker and son, Cincinnati; Ebbitt-N. Druker and son, Cincinnati; P. Henderson and wife, New York; Austra Bell, New York; Rev. W. C. Weston, Mrs. and Miss Weston, Boston; A. A. Wildner, New Haven; Hon. S. M. Clark, Keokuk; A. R. Magraw, Miss Magraw, A. R. Magraw, Ir., John H. Magraw, Washington, D. C.; dames Hall and wife, New York City; Joseph W. Iryine and wife, Lebanon, Ky.; H. F. Calenda, Naw York

H. P. Caigood, New York. National—H. C. Maddux, Virginia; George S. Shier, and wife, Boston; Mrs. J. L. Tayler, New York; E. Franc, New York; Tayler, New York; E. Franc, New York; George P. West and wife, Fargo, N. D.; W. C. Ming, Virginia; B. E. Huntley, New York; J. H. Latham and wife, New York; W. T. Leport and daughter, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Edgerly, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Edgerly, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Boyt, Pittsburg; Albert W. Beers, Boston; P. W. Codding, Worcester, Mass. Shoreham—Judson Dolard, Philadelphia; Wm. B. Sheller, Plushure, James G. Flond. Wm. B. Sheller, Physburg; James G. Fland

ers. Milwaukee, and Miss Charlotte Flauders. Milwaukee, and Miss Charlotte Flauders. Milwaukee.
Cochran-Mis. S. L. Roberts, Doyleston, Pa.: George Hollander. Baltimore; W. F. Springer, Salem, N. Y.
Normandie-J.C. Breckin

Kermanne-J.C. Breckinfidge, Louisvine, Ky: Louis G. Parlo, Mexico; George E. Foss and wife, Chicago. Artington-R. M. Fairfield, Holyoke, Mass.; Henry W. Ashley, Westfield, Mass.; George E. White, Chicago; N. F. Merrill, Boston;

Jonas M. Barret, Albany. Riggs-G. L. Johnson, Washington; G. W. Streejer, Mrs. and Miss Streeter, Phila-

W. Streeter, Mrs. and Assemble and Wife, Metropolitan—C. H. Smith and Wife, Miss Cora Smith, W. G. Smith, New York; C. Goss and Wife, Plainfield, N. J. Willard—J. H. Murray, Montana; J. H. Linderman, Chicago; E. B. Greenwalt, New Jeraey; W. J. Gleun, Cuba, N. Y.; F. B. Lyon, Cuba, N. Y.; Chas, S. Wood, Philadelphia; C. S. Warfield, Philadelphia; A. M. Dockery and Wife, Gallatin, Missouri.

Missouri.

Raleigh—W. P. Roberts, Lynchburg, Va.;
F. H. Banieis, New York; P. F. Moore,
New York; A. S. James, Atlanta; C. G.
Pobbs and wife, New York.
St. James—H.-C. Rogers, Eric, Pa.; A.
Boschke, San Antonio, Tex.; S. D. Franklin and wife, Trenton, N. J.; F. H. Bell and wife, Pennsylvania; W. S. Smith, Wilkesbare, Pennsylvania; H. O. Saltzer, wife and daughter, Sacremento, Pennsylvania;
George Barrett, Minersville, Pennsylvania;
Daniel Umboltz, Peonsylvania; R. R.
Kiog, Danville, Ga.; Paul Jones and wife. King, Danville, Ga.; Paul Jones and wife, Indianapolis, Ind.; E. S. Bartlett, Providence, R. I.; D. S. Taylor, Boston; Allan Emory, New York; B. E. Howard, Birmingham, Ala.; John Burt, wife and son, Pennsylvania; R. E. Harrett, Virginia; T. Y. McCray, Mansfield, Ohio.

KUDLICH GETS QUEER LETTERS. A Woman Says Breach of Pro Suits Should Be Stopped.

New York Sun. Magistrate Kudlich, who is sitting in lefterson Market court, received two let-ters yesterday. One of them, which was from a woman, read: from a woman, read:
"Dear Sir—Kindly permit me to state a few words in favor of American men who are being sued by their wives or sweet-Looked upon in the right light, a won "Looked upon in the right light, a woman who sues her husband or lover, for whatever it may be, does not deserve respect nor sympathy. The very fact that she sues him clearly shows that she never loved him. If women would only understand that marriage does not make every action moral! A true womanly woman if she loved a man would never think of doing him harm. She wishes he welf as although her own hard.

wishes his welfare, although her own heart breaks over it. "Suits for breach of promise or betrayal ought to not at all be adopted in court-if a man makes undue offerings toward a woman, it is ber fault. To punish a man in these cases does harm to both sexes. Women these cases does narm to be a series with the will never learn to act modes tandrespectable; men seeing them get the best of them is court through lies and tears will lose faith in women altogether. Yours truly, "DORA LIND." The other letter was from a man who evidently thinks he is a second Schlatter. It was brought by a messenger, whom Magistrate Kudlich ordered to tell the writer that he would be pleased to see him at any time, presumably to have him examined as to his sanity. The letter ended with the

to his sainty. The letter enocut with the following postscript:

"My name when in the State of Texas was Mattle Johnson, but after I was commanded to leave Texas God changed my name, saying: "You shall be called Johnson no more, but the World's Healer." and I had the gift

ESTABLISHING HIS IDENTITY. The Old Man Did Not Want Any Mis-take as to Who Would Meet Adolphe. .Wilber Register. time ago an amorous young ma

ent a letter to a German lady, and this rousers and a dark cuta way coat. In my right hand will carry a small cane and in my left a cigar. Yours ever, Adolphe." The father replied courteously, stating that his daughter had given him authority to rep-sent her at the appointed place at the time agreed on. His postscript was as "Dot my son may make no mistake, I vill be dreshed in mine shirt sleeves. I vill year in mine right hand a club and my left hand vill year a six shooter. You vill recognize me by de vay I beats you on de head a goople times twice mit de club. Vait for me at de corner, as I have somedings impor-tant to inform you mit. Your frent. Henrich Muller."

An Automatic Carlosity. A match-cutting machine is quite an auto-matic curiosity. It cuts 10,000,000 matches a day, and then arranges them over a vat, where the heads are put on at a surprising rate of speed.

have been the largest we have ever known. Our tremendously reduced prices, in conjunction with the well-known quality of our shoes, are no doubt the cause of it.

Our "overstock" sale prices will continue a lit-

Crocker's, Penna. Ave

GOLDENBERG'S, 928 7th St.

Occidenta Fiber Inter Lining. Reduced to 9½c yd.

GOLDENBERG'S, 928 7th st.

MRS. BAYSON AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Mrs. Bayson (laying the evening paper side)-What does all this talk about war mean?

Mr Bayson (absentmindedly from behind is book)—Business.

Mrs. B.—Real war? Mr. B. (mainbling)—Guess so.
Mrs. R.—Who is this Mr. Salt-bury?
Mr. B. (correcting her)—You mean Salis-

Mrs. B.—Oh, yes; Salisbury
Mr. R.—England's prime minister.
Mrs. B. (interested)—Is the war going be with England.
Mr. B. (manibling)—Reckon so.
Mrs. B.—When?
Mr. B.—When?

Mr. B. (trying to read)-Oh, real soon Mrs. B. (trying to read)—On, real soon-tomorrow or next week.

Mrs. B. (in an aggrieved tone)—And you never told me a word of it!

Mrs. B.—I thought you could read.

Mrs. B.—You know I never finish the

Mrs. R.—You know I never finish the advertisements before bed time.

Mr. B. (impatiently)—That's so; I forgot. Mrs. B.—What is the war about?

Mr. B. (reading the last paragraph overfor the sixth time)—Monroe doctrine.

Mrs. B.—What on earth is that?

Mr. B. (throwing aside his book in despair)—Well, the doctrine of Monroe.

spair)—Well, the doctrine of Monroe.

Mrs. B.—I don't know any Monroe?

Mr. B. (sarcastically)—On, excess me. I thought you were intimately acquainted with all the Presidents!

Mrs. B. (blandly)—Was he a President?

Mr. B. (desperately)—Don't you know that James Monroe was the fifth President of the United States?

United States? Mrs. B. (artiessly)—So he was. But tell me about his doctrine? Mr. B. (wishing to escape an explanation)

Oh, it's a long story.

Mrs. B. (poeting)—I don't believe you care whether I know anything or not.

Mr. B. (resignedly)—Well, it's just this way. England wants to seize part of Venezuela. Mrs. B.—That's in South America?
Mrs. B.—Why, so it is. I see you know your geography even if you are a little deficient in your historical knowledge.
Mrs. B. (ignoring this last remark)—Well, what have we todo with England and Venerals.

mela?
Mr. B.—Don't you see that would be ricolation of the Monroe doctrine?
Mrs. B.—But Monroe is dead?
Mr. B. (with feigned surprise)—Is it possible! But it seems his doctrine is not.
Mrs. B.—Well, what of that?
Mr. B. (wearily)—Being alive we propose conferred.

Mr. B. -Bat why should we mix up with other nation's affairs?
Mr. B. -Bat why should we mix up with other nation's affairs?
Mr. B. -That's a part of the doctrine. Don't you see there must be a limit? Suppose England should claim a part of the United States?

Mrs. B.—But she wouldn't dare do that?
Mr. B.—Why?
Mrs. B.—Because it's ours, and England couldn't take anything that didn't belong to Mr. B. (deprecatingly)—Oh, she wouldn't!

Mrs. B.—And are we going to have war about this absured little quarrel?
Mr. B. (resuming his book)—Oh, I don't Mrs. B.-But you just said so?

Mr. B.—But you just said so.
Mr. B.—I was jollying you.
Mrs. B. (haughtfly)—And pray, Mr. Bay son, what do you mean by that?
Mr. B. (endeavoring to change the subject)—
Oh, nothing. Did you see Mrs. Johnson yes

Mrs. B.—No, did you? Mr. B.—Yes, she ba Mrs. B.—That blue cloth? Mr. B. (vaguely)—Yes; isn't it a beauty? Mrs. B.—Don't you know that is way ou

Mr. B.-Is it? Maybe we don't mean the Mrs. B.—Was It the one with a Benapart

Mr. B. (confusedly)-I guess so. Mrs. B.-But that is a crepon with himesette of guipure?

Mr. B. (stammering)—Er—yes, is it? Se is. Mrs. B.—Maybe it was the one made with a Van Dyked yoke and gigot sleeves?
Mr. B. (assuning a confident air)—Yes, I hink that was just the one.
Mrs. B.—Was the blouse made with bre-

Mr. B. (uneasily)-I think so Mrs. R.-But that is to be worn with ape. Did she have a cape?

Mr. B. (hopelessly mixed)—I am not sure,
at I think she did.
Mrs. B.—With a ruffle around the throat finished in front with a chod and lined with shot silk? hot silk?

Mr. B. (desperately)—I believe so. But to go back to the Monroe doctrine—

Mrs. B. (interrupting him)—Was Mrs. John son's dress made with a Paquita bodice?

Mr. B. (with a sudden inspiration)—There!

forgot all about that present of yours freat scott! I must buy it before the store closes. I'll be back in an hour. (Seizes his coat and hat and rushes from the room.) SIGEL ROUSH.

THE HYPOCHONDRIAG. Adapted from the Prose of Jeron e is surely much afflicted, re the marks of cicatricial Pits-official

In the case. In both eyes he had iritis, In the brain; the tumors from fibroma To sarcoma He'd complain.

And depicted On his face,

He was mad for weeks with rabies, And had scabics Seven years;
and symptoms of tuberculosis,
A case of ptosis

He has fits of epistaxis, And e'er is kept by pains rheamatic
And grief hepatic
In the dumps.

nd everything that flesh is heir to, Indeed, has he; ache, bunions and migraine, All kinds of pain But house-maid's knee.

AMUSEMENTS.

ALLEN'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE Tonight at 8:15. Last Mat. Saturday at 2.
"Clean and appetizing."—Times.

THE GARRICK BURLESOUE COMPANY. From the Garrick Theater, New York, In the Burlesque of the Hour

THRILBY, 98 Nights in New York. 50 Nights in Boston. 63 Nights in Chicago. The original Cast, Scenery, Costumes and El

Week TIM MURPHY in "A Texas Steer,"

LAFAYETTE SQUARE HOUSE (PROOF) -LAST 4 PERFORMANCES OF-

TRILBY Presented by A. M. PALMER'S

Original Garden Theater Co. RICHARD MANSFIELD.

Seats selling. Regular prices. A CADEMY—25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

The Famous Female Baritone. HELENE MORA.

MAT. SAT. 25 and 50c.

in the Perfect Dramatic Comedy. A Modern Mephisto. Next Week-Shadows of a Great City.

Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Club -or-

CORNELL IN COLLEGE SONG. Metzerott Music Hall, THURSDAY evening,

December 26, 5 o'clock. Reserved Seats, 75c and $1. Admission, 50c KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATER.
GALA MATTINEE TO-DAY AT & A Merry Christmas Attraction.

SAM DEVERE'S OWN COMPANY, ng an Aggregation of American and European Stars, headed by

SAM DEVERE, The Inimitable Comedian, and the Celebrate OMENE.
New Year's Week-Weber and Field's Own Co.

FOOTBALL--Christmas Day P. M. WEDNESDAY-DECEMBER 25, 1895

CAPITOL PARK, N. Capitol and G Streets University of Virginia vs. Columbian Varsity.

ADMISSION, 50 cents. Seats now on sale at Metzerott's JUST RETURNED FROM EUROPE.

BLACK PATTI SIDNEY WOODWARD Metropolitan Church, M St., TONIGHT

35c. VIRGINIA Jockey Club. ST. ASAPH, VA.

Commencing on Nov. 6 the first race will be called at 2 p. m. sharp. Special trains will leave Penn. Depot, 6th and B streets northwest, at 1 and 1:30 p. m. HENRY BCHULTZE. Fresident

EXCURSIONS.

Norfolk and Washing ton Steamboat Co.

Every day in the year for Fortress Mon roe, Norfolk, Portsmouth, and all points South and Southwest by the powerful new iron palace, steamers "Newport Nows," "Norfolk" and "Washington," enving daily on the tollowing schedule

Southbound.

T. Wash Ton 7:80 pm Lv.Portsno'h 5:50 pm v.Alex d'is 7:30 pm Lv.Norfolk 6:10 pm J.Ft. Monroe 7:20 pm J.Norfolk 7:30 am Lv.Pt. Monroe 7:20 pm J.Norfolk 7:30 am Lv.Pt. Monroe 7:20 pm J.Norfolk 7:30 am J.A. Wash gton6:30 am J.Portsm'h 8:00 am J.Ports be had.
JNO CALLAHAN GEN MANAGER, PHONE TO

Stoll's shoes

Strong Drink Led to Several Serious Cutting Affrays. Contract Will Go to the Newport News Firm.

> St. Louis, Dec. 25.-If there is a dinner ess person in St. Louis tonight it is not the fault of the charitable institutions. Fore most in the work of feeding the hungry was waited upon by Salvation lassies. Free meal tickets had been issued to 2,000 of the homeless, but nearly 3,000 were trouble has developed at Fayetteville

the scene of the conflict Tuesday night It was feared that the friends of Cashion, attack upon the negroes. There is still