PASSED THE BOND BILL

All Amendments and Motion to Postpone Were Rejected.

THE VOTE STOOD 32 TO 25

Thus the Senate Seeks to Prohibit the Issuance of Interest-Bearing Bonds Without the Consent of Congress.

Mr. Allison Argued Against the Bill and Mr. Burrows Made a Speech.

An eight hours' session of the Senate was wound up yesterday by the passage of the bill to prohibit the issuance of interest-bearing bonds without the consent of Congress.

All amendments, with a motion to postpone, were voted down by a majority of 7, and the bill was passed by a like majority—32 to 25.

Mr. Allison argued against the bond bill. That bill, he said, was simply a declaration which had the effect and purpose only of resuming the power given to the President in the statute to borrow money.

That act, he declared, was not intended to be construed as a provision whereby the entire greenback circulation was to be destroyed, canceled and retired.

MYSTERY GROWS CLEARER

Strong Evidence Against Suspect Randolph in the Buxton Case.

Motive Only is Lacking.

Detectives Potter and Seibold Have Traced Their Man From Georgetown to Gathersburg—Was Near Where the Ax Was Stolen—Foot Prints Led to Hunting Hill.

(From a Times Staff Correspondent.) Gathersburg, Md., June 2.—Mystery yet surrounds the Buxton assault of over a week ago.

Metropolitan detective talent and county officers have done their best to penetrate the tangled mass of statements and detect from them any real foundation of a clue to the perpetrator of the deed.

Detectives Seibold and Potter have worked untiringly, and while they have cleared up many unexplained statements and reduced the number of theories some what, yet they have failed to place the guilty upon any one person.

In their investigation Sidney Randolph has been an important feature, and around him a strong chain of circumstantial evidence has been woven. If the detectives can only connect Randolph with the crime, their investigation is complete.

The county officials have not been inactive, and by their assistance and through the statements of many witnesses the evidence against Randolph has been secured in proper sequence and proves beyond any doubt that he has led in his statements.

The chain of evidence shows the whereabouts of Sidney Randolph from Friday afternoon before the assault, when he was in the District of Columbia, to Sunday evening, when he stood near the scene of the crime. His whereabouts from Sunday afternoon, and looked over where only a few minutes before the ax, with which the crime was committed, was lying in the yard.

The first person to have seen Sidney Randolph within the past month, as far as is known, was Dr. R. H. Hollingsworth, of Thurston, Md., who on Sunday afternoon stated that the Friday before the assault he was driving at the Templeton road, half way between Thurston and Gathersburg, and looked over where only a few minutes before the ax, with which the crime was committed, was lying in the yard.
