BUSY DAYS BEFORE THEM

Measures That Will Occupy the Closing Hours of Congress.

ADJOURNMENT WEDNESDAY

That Seems to Be the Day Generally Agreed Upon Unless Conference Reports Bring Fire—Measures Which Are in That Stage—Everything to Be Rushed.

Unless all signs fail, Congress will adjourn this week, and these in touch with the business of both houses appear to agree that the result may be secured on Wednesday.

Still, conditions are such that a hitch might occur at any moment which would protract the session for another week. This, however, which a possible contingency, is not expected. The business of the Senate depends entirely upon the waywardness made with conference reports. Several of the appropriation bills are still to be disposed of. Among them is the Indian bill, upon which the Senate refused to act favorably upon the conference report in the Senate; the postoffice bill, the report on which was agreed to in the House Saturday, and will be acted by the Senate today; the naval bill, which will doubtless be disposed of speedily this morning, as the conferees have already formulated a conference report which they believe will be acceptable to both houses.

DISTRICT BILL AMONG THEM. The sundry civil bill, upon which the House and Senate seem to be deadlocked over the appropriations for public buildings inserted by the Senate, is also on the list, and the district bill, numerous items of which are still in dispute. It is confidently expected, however, that all of these will be out of the way within the next forty-eight hours.

The new deficiency bill, which passed the House Saturday, will be rushed through the Senate today, with all possible speed, it being the intention of the committee to move to lay over any amendments that may be offered, so that they may pass as it comes from the House. This method of lay over the table is the only method the Senate has, for the rules to cut off debate, and it will be applied to when this measure comes up.

LOTS OF WORK. The immigration bill is unfinished business, and Mr. Lodge will call it up today for consideration of an opening recess itself. Mr. Hill, who is in charge of the contempt of court bill, a piece of legislation growing out of the Pebe case, is also looking for consideration, and may take honors with Mr. Lodge for the right of way.

Mr. Gear will seek to fix a day during the next session when the Pacific Railroad re-funding act shall be taken up. In this he may succeed, as both friends and opponents believe that this subject should be settled one way or the other.

All of these, and other matters that may come before the Senate, will tend to make the next few days exceedingly busy ones, and if Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the committee on Appropriations, carries out his previously expressed intention of not reporting the adjustment resolution until all the appropriation bills have been reported, there may be ample time to discuss several things upon which Senators desire to speak. The course of business, therefore, uncertain, and a forecast is largely conjectural.

IN THE HOUSE.

The House will devote itself for the remainder of the session to disposing of conference reports, contested election cases, and of other business under suspension of the rules. It will meet for an hour this morning in continuation of Saturday's session, in order to enable members to move the passage of bills under suspension, in accordance with the terms of the order of Friday last.

There are two election cases on the calendar, both of which will be vigorously contested on the floor—T. H. Aldrich, Republican, vs. Oscar W. Underwood, Democrat, from the First Alabama district, where the committee recommended the seating of Aldrich; and Jacob V. East, Populist, vs. H. St. George Tucker, Democrat, from the Fourth Virginia district, where the committee recommended that Tucker retain his seat.

Another case—that of S. T. Hopkins, Republican, vs. Joseph M. Knott, Democrat, from the Tenth Kentucky district, has not yet been reported from the committee.

These are all that remains of the thirty-three contests filed with the clerk of the House. Speaker Reed is exceedingly anxious that the docket should be entirely cleared before the House adjourns, and hopes to be able to accomplish it.

It has not been definitely decided what to do with the Senate bill reported adversely by the Committee on Ways and Means. The leaders of the House think it should be disposed of and a vote is probable, although there is much opposition to action at this session.

SINGLE TAX OUT OF DOORS.

Club Holds a Mass Meeting in the Open Air.

The first of the open-air mass meetings held under the auspices of the Single Tax Club of this city, which were held in the afternoon in Market Space, just east of the Rawlins station.

Considering the time of day and the fact that it was the first of these meetings, there was a fair attendance. This, coupled with the fact that those present appeared to be deeply interested in the proceedings, was very gratifying to the members of the Single Tax Club who were present.

The principal address was by Mr. Thomas Newburg, who also treated the subject from a moral and religious standpoint. He claimed that the adoption of the single tax system of taxation would remove temptation for false swearing and otherwise tend to the proper development of the industries of the country. Mr. Newburg had made ample provision for all his children, but unwise and awkward laws were depriving them of their natural rights.

The single tax, he said, would be an incentive to industry and the improvement of landed property, and would at the same time be the death knell to all land speculation.

The meeting was closed by Mr. Groh, who announced that meetings would be held every Sabbath and that at the next would be addressed by prominent single tax advocates from Boston and other Eastern cities.

The Jolly Fat Men's Excursion.

The Jolly Fat Men, their friends, relatives and even their enemies, will go to River View on Tuesday next and will have good time. Whenever the Jolly Fat Men go on foreign excursions, as they are going to River View, will return there on Tuesday. The committee of the fat men, representing some thousands of pounds of human flesh, have been in the city for the cool weather of the past week to "bustle" in order to assure the attendance of a large crowd, and their efforts will be crowned with success, for they say this will be one of the largest excursions they have ever given. Last year over 4,000 persons were at River View on the day the Jolly Fat Men gave their annual excursion. This year's excursion will be the fifth that has been given by the organization. An entertaining program, consisting of a baseball game between a team of fat men and employees of the Metropolitan Railway, "shooting the chute" by the fat men, and during the day several theatrical performances will be given. The day will be given up to jollity, with the jolliest crowd of people in Washington city.

The steamer Fentz will leave her wharf at 10 a. m., 2 and 6:45 p. m., and the tickets, which can be had of the committee, will sell for 25 cents.

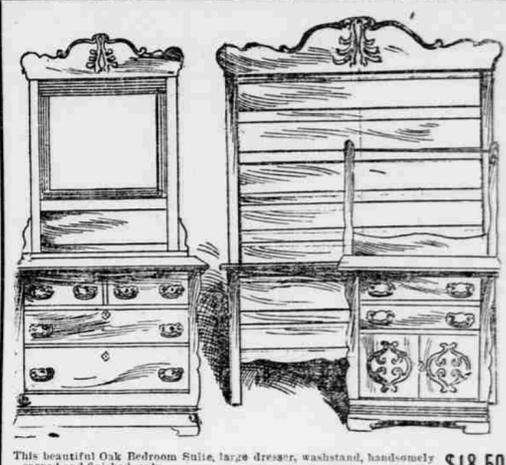

Yesterday the steamer Fentz on her three trips carried over 1,600 excursionists to "shoot the chute" at River View.

HIS DEATH WAS NATURAL.
Workhouse Physician Sets at Rest Rumors of Lewis Frazier's End.

Lewis Frazier, colored, died at the workhouse hospital on May 10, and when his friends received his body for burial they suspected that death was caused by a blow on the head. They did not know what to do, however, to clear up the doubt, and the matter has been allowed to go with nothing but an uncorroborated gossip and complaint until the present time.

The workhouse authorities, however, have an explanation of the cause of Frazier's death.

Dr. T. L. McDonald, the physician at the workhouse in charge of the records, was seen this morning.

His record shows that Frazier had been brought in on Sunday suffering with symptoms which he said proved conclusively that he was suffering with a clot of blood in the brain. There were convulsions and other signs that left no doubt.

He made a cerebral examination and found no contusion nor abrasion on the head, nor any hurt anywhere to show that Frazier had been struck either before coming to the workhouse or since.

He had abundant evidence that Frazier had been a victim of alcoholism, and that the brain tissues had become hardened so that at any moment the blood vessel might burst, causing death.
