Water So Cold Around Priblyoff Is Hands That Animals Are Scarce.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 17.—The steamship Priblyoff, Capt. Williams, returned here last night from St. Michael's, Alaska, bringing advices from the latter place up to August 7. The U. S. revenue cutter Ross dropped anchor in Unalaska harbor August 6 from the sealing grounds in the vicinity of Priblyoff Islands. Her officers state that there are about seventy sealing schooners in these waters this season, about sixty-five of which are flying the British flag.

The sealing season opened on August 1, but owing to unfavorable weather the catch has not averaged more than two or three seals to each schooner thus far, whereas under favorable conditions each vessel would capture as many hundred seals per day. Capt. Kistson says the water is very cold in and around the islands, owing to the vast amount of ice from the north, thus preventing the seals from making their appearance in large numbers.

The government seal commission, headed by Dr. David Starr Jordan, of Stanford University, California, was preparing to leave Unalaska on the Ross for a cruise in the waters where the sailing fleet is now fishing when the Portland sailed.

Games Today.

Washington at New York.
Baltimore at Philadelphia.
Brooklyn at Boston.

Scrappy Bill's old hand and his new aggregation had the third set-to of the series at the Polo grounds yesterday afternoon, and as was to be expected, the old hand, rather than the new, came out on top, and won the affair. As when he was the so-called generalissimo of the Senators, Scrappy, the highmucka-mucka-of-the-giants, is shy on pitching material, and he was forced to get out of a tight spot by getting to the box. The youngster was quite equal to the occasion, and backed up by Scrappy and his hitting going, won the game handsily and fully guaranteed.

A regular umpire was in command, and though there was kicking a penny, the disgruntled rows of Saturday's double-header were not recalled.

By winning the game the Giants kept their hold on fifth place and bunched the Senators to the tenth, where they are, rather than the seventh, as they were an effort on the part of St. Louis to oust them from the position. The high-flying Orioles pounded out two victories in Philadelphia, winning the game by securing eight runs in the ninth inning, which gave them the victory by one tally in the grand total. Fatsy's Spiders and Connie Mack's redoubtable club, who had beaten them from Brooklyn in the best-played game of the day. As the games scheduled between Cincinnati and St. Louis and Louisville and Chicago had been played on August 16, the game between Philadelphia and Baltimore of August 17 and August 14, respectively, these clubs rested and watched the score sheets as they told the results between their rival brethren of other cities.

By winning the game at Philadelphia, Baltimore swished into first place again, and his dollars to dime the Orioles will remain until the close of the season, when they will settle for second as champions of the league will be theirs.

Commencing tomorrow Baltimore will inaugurate their final at home series, having already scheduled and completed first-class games to play on their own leath. Cleveland seems to be out of it and it looks now as if the Orioles and Buck's Astons will have the right to fight out for the top cup and the prize money on the side. But Fatsy and his Spiders are the best travelers in the League and the Cincinnati Reds are not far behind, as they consider themselves out of the woods. And it should not be lost sight of that a bunch of dark coats carrying the colors of Chicago are baring up to left for the lead of the season.

The Senators finish with New York this afternoon and will return home tomorrow and play continuously at National Park until the end of the season.

The Washingtons and Meekin or Dod Clark will be the opposing pitchers in today's contest. It will not doubt be a bittingly fought battle for reasons that the Chicago and the Western clubs travel East today and will open their final foreign campaign tomorrow. Fatsy's Spiders will be the invaders of Mr. Wagner's holdiwick on the boundary.

PHILLIES LEFT BOTH.

Though They Made the Orioles Play Ball Dying the Game.

Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Philadelphia lost both games to Baltimore today and the second by the poorest kind of ball playing in the eighth inning, while the champions rolled up eight runs in the first game, with two men out and two bases. Keeler sent a fly to short center, which could have been taken by either Hagen or Cooley, but was dropped by the latter. The Orioles, by the ninth inning of the second game, with the score at 15 to 14 in favor of Philadelphia and Meekin and Keeler on third and second respectively, secured the victory, and same play occurred. Keeler sent another fly to short center which Hagen muffed, and Pond and Keeler came home, to the disgust of the Orioles.

WON BY THE SHAMROCKS.

Boys in Green and Black Made a Runaway of the Game.

The Shamrocks defeated the Market House team at National Park yesterday afternoon with ease, the score at the end of the seventh inning being 5 to 0 in favor of the green-stocking boys.

There were about 500 or 600 spectators present, the great majority of whom came to see the boys in green. There were also a goodly number of friends of the Shamrocks, who, with the supporters of the opposition in playing the game from the grandstand.

The contest started out very prettily, neither team scoring in the first two innings. After that, however, it became a one-sided affair, the Shamrocks scoring runs in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings, and the Market House boys in the ninth. The Shamrocks made the bases look like a streak of green stockings. Their battery work, too, was excellent. It was the quality of the catchers' catches that boys surely that discouraged them and made them quiet before the seventh inning was ended.

The only really brilliant play of the game was made by Higgins of the Market House team, who captured a long fly ball in left field with one hand after a long run. The score:

SPIDERS WON AND LOST.

Played Two Games at Pittsburgh and Took the First Handily.

Pittsburg, Aug. 17.—Pittsburg and Cleveland played two games today, splitting the even. Cleveland won the first game in the tenth inning, Hawley weakening and being hit all over the field. It was the star feeling game of the year on both sides. McAleer carrying off the honors of "strapping" a fly in middle field and clinching a double play with Childs.

Young, in two innings of the second game, Pittsburg bunched the runs.

through on the plate to catch Cartwright, but the ball bounded and struck Ed in the head, letting him inhale safe, while the other runners were advanced a base.

De Montreville was thrown out at first by Joyce. But Seibach was more fortunate. He hit toward second and Davis, after making a pretty stop, tried to throw the runner out. Seibach also tried to get home on the play, but was caught between the bases.

He kept Joyce and Wilson busy for a while and finally made a dash for home. Joyce threw the ball to Beckley, who banded the ball as if it was a red hot coal and Lash slid over the rubber with the first. Seibach ended the agony by striking out.

The home team then got to work again on singles by Wilson and Gleason, sacrificed by Van Halten, a base on balls to Tiernan, Joyce's double and Gleason's single, scored three more runs and took the lead. Singles by Connaughton and Wilson, and a sacrifice base gave them another run in the third.

SENATORS RALLIED A HIT.

In their half of the fourth the Washingtons secured a run on errors by Davis and Joyce and De Montreville's home run. De Montreville's miff of Van Halten's fly, a double by Tiernan, a base on balls to Joyce, and Gleason's out Lash gave the home team their fourth run in the fifth.

The Senators were not to be denied, and in the sixth they made another rally, scoring on doubles by Brown and Gleason, a single by Lash and De Montreville. This rally, however, was completely overshadowed by the finish the Giants made when they took their turn at the stick in the same inning. After Connaughton and Wilson had been retired, Gettig lined out a double. Beckley secured his base on balls, the Van Halten planted the leather in deep left for a triple and De Montreville made another miff, this time of Tiernan's fly hit.

Joyce, with two strikes called on him, sent the ball on a message for four bases, and the side was retired on Gleason's out at first. The visitors had three men on the bases with no more than one man home. Score:

BOSTON'S PRETTY VICTORY.

Sullivan Puzzled the Fielders and the Beaneaters Fielded Finely.

Boston, Aug. 17.—Sullivan won his own game today by his excellent pitching and superior hitting. The game was well fought and the Brooklins had a fine chance in the last. Griffin went out on a fly to Long, who had a hard time of it, but he was with the club for a week, said Mr. Wagner, "and satisfied myself that Joyce as a manager was a sad, dismal failure. I had given him a job and support, employed all the players he desired, including O'Brien, and yet his work was going from bad to worse. Discussion had long been going on as to whether or not he existed for many seasons was gone, and the alternative was forced upon me to make a change or stand by and see the hard work of several players go to naught. And that is the way Joyce will run things in New York."—Commercial-Advertiser.

At this time Joyce's name leads in the race for making the deal. Mr. Wagner is not in a hurry to get the deal, but he is sure to see some mention of the New York captain. He is a unique character in the profession and is worth thousands of dollars to a club during a season for his advertising qualities alone. His sobriquet of "Scrappy Bill" attracts large crowds, who, when he plays and says he has called him, he is "worth his weight in gold" at the truss.

DIAMOND DUST.

They will be home tomorrow.

Will Scrappy make it three out of four?

"Silver" King's arm is almost completely restored.

German certainly works under an unlucky star.

Manager Schmelz says the new third baseman will be ready in a few days.

Commencing tomorrow Baltimore will play thirty-one straight games at home.

Coming events cast their shadows before.

Manager Schmelz seems to be in a bad humor.

Elv, of the Pittsburg, holds the sacrifice record for the year, having struck twenty-two to his credit.

For some reason not generally known to the public, Dick Cadey manages to get himself pretty well disliked wherever he goes.

It is not unlikely that Jack Dwyer, of the Cincinnati, will lead the batting average of the League this year. Out of the twenty-four games in which he has officiated he has won all but four.

Charley Nichols, the star pitcher of the Boston, has a great fielding average so far this year. He has yet to make an error in the record.

Tommy McCarthy is said to be casting long eyes toward Cleveland. It did not take him long to tire of his berth in Brooklyn.

The Cincinnati Reds were the last in the League to submit to a shutout this season and their papers in Evansville take great pride in the record.

Joe Sullivan has almost entirely recovered from his sickness and will be able to resume his position in the Browns' outfield in a few days.

In case of an emergency should release McMahon he would have no trouble catching elsewhere. His habit of coming in at the finish will be remembered.

Captain O. Teban has again altered his views on the League race of 1896. He thinks Boston and Cincinnati will fight it out for third place. Knowing fellow is fat.

Teban is having his troubles. There are many men in the league who are candidates for the bottom position in the batting order that he does not know which one to put there.

Herman Long may figure in an exchange deal. Several favorites of the Louisville outfielders, though he doesn't say which one, and is willing to exchange Long for an outfielder.

Who started all this baseball trouble? We want to reply, Mr. Wagner. We're not getting along swimmingly and was not everybody happy until "The Texas Steer" was turned out to graze?

Rumors are being around and fast that there is a going to be a shake-up in the Brooklyn team. President Byrne says he knows of no such scheme. It is there is probably nothing in the story. That Kennedy and Stein have both "gone wrong" at the same time is unfortunate, but it is probably nothing to be worried about. It is probably nothing to be worried about. It is probably nothing to be worried about.

If Foutz should be released as manager he could easily get 30,000,000 in the following Milwaukee paper shows: "Milwaukee wants Dave Foutz as manager next season."

Washington enthusiasts made such a howl over the exchange of Joyce for Farrell that J. Earl Wagner has come out with the following excuse in the endeavor to "square" himself for making the deal: "Mr. Wagner takes upon himself the entire responsibility of the trade by which Charley Farrell and Carney Flynn became Senators and Joyce became a New Yorker. Mr. Wagner said that he had heard of several in which Joyce and several other players took part, but which Joyce denied. He was certain, however, that team work was the thing to be done. Mr. Wagner was with the club for a week," said Mr. Wagner, "and satisfied myself that Joyce as a manager was a sad, dismal failure. I had given him a job and support, employed all the players he desired, including O'Brien, and yet his work was going from bad to worse. Discussion had long been going on as to whether or not he existed for many seasons was gone, and the alternative was forced upon me to make a change or stand by and see the hard work of several players go to naught.
