Female Academy, MADISONVILLE, TENN. Miss C. B. MELVILLE, Principal. NEXT Summer Session will commence on Tuesday, the 1st day of April, the Winter Session having closed with half its intended term.

Exercises in the Academy were, for a short time, suspended by the illness of Miss Lasso-Melville, a most promising pupil, whom her devoted teacher and mother watched by night and by day, during her sickness. After her death at her low lying home, Miss Melville, both needed and desired, for a time, retired from the labors of the school room, and the Trustees in deference to consideration as well worthy of regard adopted the change which we trust, give entire satisfaction inasmuch as the Summer Session will thereby commence at the most appropriate season of the year.

The past session was, during its continuance, eminently prosperous, both as regards the number of pupils and their rapid improvement. A full school being anticipated next session, the necessary assistant teachers will be provided. It is important to facilitate the formation of classes, that pupils commence with the session.

The Trustees are much gratified at the manifestation that parents properly appreciate the superior advantages here afforded for the education of their daughters.

Boarding may be obtained on reasonable terms in several families, and one commodious and convenient building is being fitted up expressly for the purpose.

School Books

PUBLISHED BY CADY & BURGESS, Booksellers and Stationers, 60 John St., New York.

SMITH'S FIRST BOOK IN GEOGRAPHY is a simple, concise, comprehensive, and useful treatise for children. It begins with the very first elements, and proceeds step by step at a pace adapted to that of a child. He is made to understand that he learns. It is illustrated with 125 Engravings and 20 elegant Maps.

Smith's Quarto, or Second Book of Geography.—The arrangement and plan of this work is very generally approved by teachers—the maps standing upright in the book and facing the text, printed from steel and copper plates with great clearness and distinctness, made so by bright and distinct coloring, the letter-press being the finest of school book work, and the whole in style and beauty superior to other Quarto Geographies.

Smith's Geography and Atlas.—This work, so favorably known to the public, forms the third book of the series, and is designed for those who desire a more extended course than is contained in the foregoing books.

Smith's Introductory Arithmetic, consisting of Questions and Tables to employ the mind and fingers only, to go before the slate and prepare for it.

Smith's Practical Mental Arithmetic.—Containing Mental Arithmetic with the use of the slate. This work has long been before the public, and is well known to most teachers.

Key to the above for teachers. Smith's New Arithmetic.—12mo., in which the whole of Arithmetic is embraced in one book, divided into Three Parts. It is adapted to all classes of learners. There are many things new in this work, and of practical utility to men of business.

Key to the above for teachers. Chazel's Education, or Education Made Easy.—Containing rules and selections for declamation and reading, with figures illustrative of arithmetic.

The American Expositor, or Intellectual Deliverer, designed to promote the general adoption of a systematic course of instruction in the English language. TOWER'S SERIES.

The Gradual Primer, or Primary School Educator. Part I. The Child's First Step taken in the right place. A new plan of teaching the alphabet, combining the advantages both of the old and the modern methods, and avoiding the disadvantages of each—with full directions to teachers for the correct and distinct utterance of the elementary sounds—one elemental at a time.

Introduction to the Gradual Reader, or Primary School Educator. Part II. The Child's Second Step at the right time. The pupil is gradually introduced to the simple consonant combinations, the points, &c., by progressive exercises kept distinct from the Reading Lessons—that only one thing may be taught at a time.

Intermediate Reading, or Primary School First Class Book, with Elementary Exercises in articulation and the First Principles in Education; designed to follow the Introduction and to precede the Gradual Reader.

The Gradual Reader contains besides the Reading Lessons an original system of articulation, consisting of exercises upon every vowel and consonant element, and every vowel and consonant combination in the language—the first ever published, and the only complete system. Also, Tables for simultaneous practice.

The Second Class Reader, the Fourth Book of Tower's Series for Common Schools, developing principles of Education, practically illustrated by Elementary Exercises, with Reading and Lessons in which references are made to those principles; designed to follow the Gradual Reader.

First Class Reader, or Fifth Book of Tower's Series for Schools, in which the higher principles of Education are explained and illustrated by appropriate exercises; designed to follow the Practical Reader.

The Gradual Speller, and Complete Educator, being the first attempt to arrange words in separate classes, by the consonant combinations, with a new and simple method of indicating the sounds of the vowels and diphthongs—and to offer the greatest facilities for teaching Orthography and Pronunciation, including a distinct articulation.

Gradual Lessons in Grammar, or Guide to the construction of the English Language, by the analysis and composition of sentences, with a Sequel in the same book, containing a clear development of the principles of Grammar, on a new plan, which will command itself as rational and philosophical to every teacher. This book, so teachers say, will produce a great change in the instruction given in this science; beginning in the right way, and proceeding step by step as the child's understanding leads him on.

Intellectual Algebra, or Oral Exercises in Algebra for Common Schools and Academies. This work is on a new and original plan, and is the first attempt so to simplify and illustrate this science that it may be taught orally. As a discipline of the mind in teaching a child to think and reason, Algebra is pre-eminent, and this work places it in the power of younger classes to be benefited by such mental exercises. It divests the science of its mystery and respectability, and brings its principles clearly before the mental vision, so simplified and illustrated that they can be readily comprehended by most pupils from ten to twelve years of age.

Jekerman's Natural History.—The design of this work is to awaken a spirit of inquiry in the minds of youth, by bringing before them, in as condensed and simple manner as possible, some of the most interesting portions of the History of the Animal Kingdom. It is intended as a Reading and Recitation book, and is already extensively used in the first class of public schools.

Guerney's History of the United States of America.—Designed for Schools; extending from the discovery of America by Columbus to the present time; with numerous Maps and Engravings, together with a notice of American Antiquities and the Indian Tribes. By Egbert Guerney, A. M. Two introductory chapters are introduced, containing an account of American antiquities and a History of the Indian tribes. In colonial history no important point has been passed over; while a larger space has been devoted to the Revolutionary War than is usual in school histories.

The biography of each President of the United States is given in connection with his administration. Throughout the entire work the mind of the pupil is particularly directed to an overruling Providence, whose protecting care has been so often manifested in our national existence. The work is printed on large open type, well bound, and contains 450 pages 12m.

New and elegant book on Astronomy, in quarto form. Smith's Illustrated Astronomy—designed for the use of the Public or Common Schools in the United States.—Illustrated with numerous original Diagrams, by Asa Smith, Principal of Public School No. 12, of the city of New York.

It has been the object of this Manual of Astronomical Science to present all the distinguishing principles in physical astronomy with as few words as possible, but with such ocular demonstrations, by way of diagrams and maps, as shall make the subject easily understood. The letter press descriptions and the diagrammatic illustrations will invariably be found at the same opening of the book; and more explanatory cuts are given and at much less price than have been given in any other elementary astronomy.

Dr. Christie's Galvanic Belts. McMINN CO., TENN., March 4, 1851. Dr. J. H. Christie—Dear Sir: I have been afflicted for the last 20 years with rheumatism, and had tried nearly all the known remedies, but without a cure. I at length procured one of your Galvanic Belts and a bottle of the Magnetic Fluid from your Agents, G. W. Ross & Co., Athens, Tenn. This was about the 10th of March, 1850. At that time I was unable to attend to any business, and was an object of commiseration—my whole system had become decayed and I was fast sinking under general debility—in this situation I commenced the use of your Galvanic preparation, and I almost fear to state facts lest I should be charged with exaggeration, but in a few days, nay, in a few minutes after applying the Belt moderately tight around the waist and using the fluid pretty freely, on the afflicted parts, I felt the most strange yet agreeable sensations—my whole system was acted on as by magic, and that night I never closed my eyes, although the pain was considerably diminished, and next night I slept soundly. I continued to use the fluid three times each day for two weeks, and though it may seem unreasonable yet I feel bound to state facts, as I believe your Galvanic preparations to be amongst the greatest blessings ever bestowed on an afflicted world, and let those interested judge for themselves. At the expiration of that time I was entirely relieved from pain, my appetite much improved, and digestive powers active, bowels regular, and I was at least four inches smaller round the waist, could go erect and attend to my business with alacrity and delight. In two months the numbness of my right leg was removed, and up to this writing I continue free from pain and enjoy better health than I have for years. I have thus given a brief statement of my case and the wonderful effects of your preparation, without going into many particulars, which would be interesting to some, but I have stated facts, not to advance the pecuniary interest of any, but that the afflicted may be benefited. It will be a pleasure to me at any time to give further particulars if desired. With sentiments of the most profound esteem I remain your grateful friend, SAM'L W. THOMPSON, P. S. In order that those unacquainted with me may know what estimate to place on the foregoing statement I give the following references: Rev. W. F. Forrest, Rev. R. Gregory, John Matlock, sr., Esq., Rev. William Hunt, and a host of others that could be given, but I consider it unnecessary. S. W. T. March 21, 1851—11 130
