Terpsichorean.

We hear it whispered around among those who "know it all," that our little city, which has been somewhat dull for a time in the way of popular amusements, is to be stirred up, and that those who like to "trip the light fantastic toe," will soon have an opportunity to indulge in that pleasant and healthful pastime. Current rumor has it that a committee, composed of gentlemen who know how to engineer such affairs, has been appointed, and will have the necessary arrangements perfected and complete at an early day.

Personal.

Among other acquaintances whom we had the pleasure of meeting at Madisonville in the early part of the week, was our friend and former fellow-townsmen, GEO. W. MAYO, Esq. There are some men who never grow old. Though he has passed more than three score years, there was the same vigorous grasp of the hand, the same look of the eye, and the same hearty and generous laugh as of yore. It would be a terrible thought to know that we had to remain here always, that the time would never come to cast off the heat and burden of the day and lie down to rest; but may friend Mayo live—if not a thousand years, at least as long as life shall be desirable, and each passing year add to his comfort and contentment.

Frightful Accident.

Dr. H. F. Robinson and lady, of Lee county, Virginia, met with a serious accident a few days ago, while visiting some relatives in this section, which came near proving fatal. Mrs. Robinson and her brother, Mr. T. M. Burnett, of Deatur, were travelling in a buggy, accompanied by Dr. Robinson on horseback, when in ascending a steep hill, near Captain Howe's mill, in Meigs county, the horse attached to the vehicle became frightened and unmanageable and finally succeeded in running away. The road where the accident occurred winds round a high bluff, and to avoid what seemed to be immediate destruction, the gentleman caught his sister in his arms and attempted to leap out. But the lady's dress had become entangled in the shattered buggy and both were dashed under the wheels, and in that condition were dragged over the road at a furious rate for some distance. Both were seriously injured, and it is almost a miracle that either escaped with life. Dr. Robinson, who attempted to get control of the maddened animal when he first commenced kicking, was knocked down and also badly hurt. The parties were taken to the residence of Capt. Howe, where they received every possible attention at the hands of that gentleman and his family, and at last accounts all were recovering from their injuries.

Monroe County.

We had the pleasure of spending Monday and Tuesday last at the county seat of Monroe. There was but a small crowd in attendance the first day, and still fewer persons the second, there being but little business in the Court, particularly on the criminal side of the docket. Indeed, the people at last seem to be getting tired of litigation, and there is general complaint among the legal profession of "hard times and worse coming." For several years the fields were broad and ample, and covered with a rank and luxuriant growth, but they have been closely gleaned, until there is scarcely anything but stubble left. With the exception perhaps of trying to publish a radical newspaper among an honest and intelligent people, we know of no business less inviting, or less likely to pay, than a one-horse law-office in a country town. Madisonville does not show many evidences of expansion and improvement, but there is one thing we must say for the people of Monroe county: they have about the largest and most commodious court-house in East Tennessee. It is completely its interior arrangement, and under the supervision of Col. Johnson, the Chairman of the County Court, is kept clean, genteel and comfortable. Col. Johnson is evidently the right man in the right place. There is an immense breadth of wheat in Monroe, and without an accident, the hearts of the farmers will be gladdened by the most bounteous harvest that has been gathered since 1857. From Athens to Madisonville, and from the latter point across to the flourishing town of Sweetwater, there is but one field of "sorry" wheat. Considering the peculiar character of the Spring, corn is also looking well. We must not forget to state that both the Female and Male Schools at Madisonville, are largely attended and in a flourishing condition. We have to return our thanks to our friends for their attention, and for liberal additions to the circulation of the Post in Monroe.

Mr. Married, in McMinn county, on the 9th instant, Mr. Isaac Denton, to Mrs. M. E. Yanzant.

At a meeting of the Commercial men of Athens, on Wednesday, the 6th of May, 1869, W. G. Horton, was called upon to preside, and T. J. Dement appointed Secretary.

The Chairman, who was laboring under severe indisposition, called upon Mr. A. C. Robeson, in a brief and pithy speech, explaining to the meeting the vital interest to our section of securing this great highway to the marts of the old world, and he hoped that the delegates that were to be appointed would see that the interests of our community would be attended to.
