

THE CANVASS IN GEORGIA.

GORDON AND BACON RULLED OFF THE TRACK. But the Bitterness Breaks Out in the Congressional Districts--Ambitions Candidates.

The Savannah correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier, writing on the 23d instant, says: Nearly everybody here approves of the action of the "second" of the two gubernatorial aspirants in taking their principles as an end to the joint quarrel--for it could not be considered a discussion. Another week of such a canvass would have destroyed the chances of both Gen. Gordon and Maj. Bacon for the nomination. The people were disgusted with personalities and vituperation and instead of campaigning year-long, most of the old wounds have been healed, and it is desired that they be not broken open again. The portions of the State in which the joint disputes have occurred have been made pretty warm, politically, but the people were generally in favor of the speakers, most of them kept in a good humor.

GOING TO ALOPE. The candidates will now make their own appointments, and the canvass, it will, doubtless, be something like fighting with short swords at long range. During the past week Gen. Gordon and Maj. Bacon have said some pretty hard things about each other, and it looked once or twice as if a personal collision would be certain, but fortunately such an issue was averted. After all that has been said and done, the charges these distinguished gentlemen have made against each other--when examined dispassionately--look very much like "mud" ad about nothing, and the incidents were unworthy of the speakers and of the occasion. This shows how really excellent and honorable men may say and do things in the heat of debate, especially when they're speaking in their own interests, and that they ought to be sorry for and ashamed of.

BOTH VERY EXCELLENT MEN. The people of Georgia know that both Gen. Gordon and Maj. Bacon are much better men than they give each other credit for being, and much other men than they would appear to be from their petulant manner of carrying out what should be a discussion of questions relating to the welfare of the State. In the meantime there are the candidates of Georgia who hope the day will come when men will make high efforts on the hustings or solicit preferment to them. At present, however, that day appears to be a long way off. A commercial note has become the unwritten law of politics: "If you don't see what you want, ask for it."

TO RULE THEM OUT. Thousands of people in Georgia have come to the conclusion that neither of the present candidates should be nominated, and there is plenty of room to doubt whether either of them will win the prize. About twenty delegates only have been chosen, and these may be considered as having been selected prematurely--the convention not having been called by the Executive Committee. Twelve of these delegates are said to be for Bacon, two for Gordon, six for Col. Jenks Jones of Burke county, and two unknown--generally supposed to be for Simmons. Now that the time and place of holding the convention has been appointed (July 25 at Atlanta) no doubt many delegates will select delegates as soon as possible in order to break a heat of canvass.

SOME OF THE DARK HORSES. Among the available men who have been named as possible nominees in case Gen. Gordon and Maj. Bacon's campaign should be a kind of "Kilkenny cat fight," are Col. Jenks Jones of Burke, who has been put forward by his countrymen; Mr. McDaniel, who is industriously stronger than when he was nominated to break the deadlock two years ago; Maj. Lester, Col. J. H. Hill and Gen. Lawton of Savannah, Dr. Felton of Bartow, Col. Evans Howell of Atlanta, Col. Pat Walden of Anderson, Congressman Turner of the Second and the names of lesser prominence. It will be rather strange if several of these gentlemen do not have friends in the convention to watch the chances, and make chances, if possible. It may be that the shadows of coming events will begin to be seen within twenty or thirty days.

THE SAVANNAH DELEGATION. Will undoubtedly be strongly anti-Gordon, though it is not certain that it will be for Bacon. It is more than likely that it will be instructed, and that it will be composed of gentlemen who will see that Savannah's supposed interests are properly represented in the event neither of the avowed candidates is nominated in the earlier stages of the contest. Augustus and Marion will, of course, stand on the side of the convention, and it is presumed that the Atlanta delegates will be for Gordon, as he is charged with being the champion of the "Atlanta ring." Christian Bluh, Felton, Edmund and Burke are six-delegate counties. The only other six-delegate county in the State is Floyd, and it is not certain how it will go, as Dr. Felton has a good deal of influence there.

THE GUBERNATORIAL CONVENTION. Will consist of 350 delegates, or two for each member of the House of Representatives. Six counties (the named) will have six delegates each, twenty-six counties will have four delegates each, and the other counties will each have two delegates. It is more than likely that the majority will be for Bacon. The two-thirds rule was about the only thing killed by the 3d of the convention of 1883, and the subsequent rule was so between Columbus and New York, and it will probably stand for a long time. Were the two-thirds rule to be adopted in the coming convention it could be morally certain that neither Gordon nor Bacon could be nominated.

The Contents of the Congressional Districts. An Atlanta dispatch to the New York Times says that taking their time to do so, the gubernatorial canvass, the Congressmen are growing quite bitter. Strong is enough the contest fight promises to be in the Fourth and Seventh District, which Dr. Felton forms the sitting member, and as a Clements is the rival. It is more than likely that the majority will be for Bacon. The two-thirds rule was about the only thing killed by the 3d of the convention of 1883, and the subsequent rule was so between Columbus and New York, and it will probably stand for a long time. Were the two-thirds rule to be adopted in the coming convention it could be morally certain that neither Gordon nor Bacon could be nominated.

THE FISHERIES DISPUTE.

HOW IT IS REGARDED BY IRISH-AMERICANS. What They Propose to Do in Case of Trouble Between the United States and Canada.

New York, May 26.--The Herald this morning says: Several Irishmen who have taken an active part in Irish revolutionary matters both in Ireland and America were asked yesterday to give a synopsis of what was done at the conference in Pittsburg. First they answered that the conference was a matter of no public importance, but on being assured that their names would not be made public they became more communicative. "The possible action of the American government on the fisheries question," said one gentleman, "has been discussed by the delegates. For the past ten years the physical force party has been directing its energies to forming a purely military organization, which in the event of England getting into a difficulty abroad would be utilized to harass her at a moment's notice. Should this government get into trouble with England we can furnish at a moment's notice 35,000 Irishmen to move on Canada. New York is our greatest recruit center. Next come Chicago, then St. Louis, Boston, Rochester, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cincinnati and Pittsburg. I do not mention other places. All these places were represented at the conference. At that conference the opinion was that the American government, if left to itself, would back down on the fishery question; but the sentiment of the American was so strong that the government would have to push the matter strenuously. The delegates said they had felt the pulse of the people in their respective cities, and the feeling was strong against allowing the English to bulldoze the American government. The meeting was informed that several Irish merchants in our ranks had agreed to furnish enough money to fit out a vessel. The 'Irishman's Hope,' which was fitted out about twenty years ago and sent to Ireland with officers and arms, was mentioned, and the Boston delegate said we could do much better now, and send a more formidable vessel to fit in Canada waters. "A proposition was made to fit out a fishing vessel and dare the English Canadian to interfere. It was thought that a crisis could be precipitated in this way. The proposition was not adopted, and there was a disposition to lay it over, for there is to be another meeting shortly, but not in Boston."

Several members said it would be a good idea to make the Imperial Government show its hand. If the English did not think Canada worth fighting about, the Canadians would be left to themselves and then would follow annexation to the States, for there is a strong annexation feeling in Canada. A Canadian View of the Sisters' Seizure. Toronto, May 26.--The Globe says: The people of the United States, we hope, will not approve of the seizure of the Nova Scotia schooner, Sisters, made at Portland, Me., Monday. The master of the Sisters proved by going to the customs-house to make the usual entry that he had no idea of acting illegally. When the fishery clause of the Washington treaty ceased to be operative, the Canadian Government did not drive United States fishing vessels out of its waters at once, or seize those that persisted in taking fish. It contented to make an arrangement which allowed Americans to fish from the first of July to the close of the season without compensation. When, at the opening of the present season, Canada found it necessary to enforce the tenor of the treaty of 1818, ample warning was given to all concerned. If the United States Government saw fit, by way of reprisal, to require Canadian fishing vessels taking their catch of fresh fish to a United States port to be provided with manifests, they should have given timely notice to those who must be affected by a strict enforcement of the law in this respect.

THE SUPREME COURT. AS LAUD'RDAL COUNTY WANTS IT ORGANIZED. Folks of Memphis, Caldwell of Clarksville, Fritzel of Nashville, and Ingersoll of Knoxville. Ripley News: Of the gentlemen named by the favor of the Legislature in the convention, composed, as it was, of the oldest citizens and men of the highest standing in the county, it may not be out of place to speak. W. C. Folkes was born and reared in Virginia. While a mere youth he entered the Confederate army and lost a leg at the battle of Malvern Hill. He removed to Memphis after the war, and married a daughter of the late Judge Archibald Wright, with whom he was in partnership at the time of Judge Wright's death. He is president of the Tennessee Bar Association, and is recognized as one of the ablest lawyers in the State. Mr. W. C. Caldwell is a native of Obion county, Tennessee, where he resided on a farm up to his nineteenth year, when he removed to Trenton. He has been a Judge of the Referee Court about two years, and his rulings and decisions have marked him a man of great acquirements and sound judgment. Mr. H. H. Ingersoll was born in Clarksville about forty-one years ago. About twelve years ago a vacancy occurring in the office of Chancellor in the district in which Clarksville is located, the Clarksville bar, which is the strongest one of the kind in the State, unanimously recommended his appointment to that office, which he filled up to a few years ago, when he resigned, much against the wishes of the bar, and has since practiced law at Clarksville. His ability and legal acquirements are second to none. Mr. John Fritzel is a native of Franklin county, near Winchester, where he resided up to 1870, when he removed to Nashville. He served upon the Referee bench at Knoxville about two years, and made a fine reputation as a painstaking judge. He has filled many high positions in the Memphis and other orders, but nobody's money ever stuck to his fingers. He is an honest, upright man. Mr. H. H. Ingersoll is a native of Ohio, and was a gallant soldier in the Federal army. After the war he settled at Jonesboro, where he practiced law for several years, when he removed to Knoxville. He has often sat as special judge, and his opinions are regarded by those competent to know as second to none in the Tennessee reports. When the war was over, and the courts and jails in East Tennessee were packed against the Confederates, Mr. Ingersoll was the faithful friend of the latter. He defended them at the risk of his life, and at one term of the Supreme Court he reversed sixty-three judgments against them, raising in amounts from $500 to $20,000. Such are the men whom the Democracy of Lauderdale county desire to see on the Supreme bench of the State. Their choice is excellent, and we trust it will receive the approval of the State convention.

THE BURNING OF THE CONFEDERATE. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 26.--Two burglars entered the house of Christopher Kohlmeyer, a saloon-keeper on Grand avenue and Twenty-fourth street at an early hour this morning. Mr. Kohlmeyer was a wined and had a struggle with the men in a dark hall during which one burglar shot the other. Both escaped, and later this morning the wounded man was found lying under a tree near the house with a bullet-hole in his breast. He will die.

THE FIRST SIGN.

Of falling health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health. Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.--Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Miss.

Dyspepsia Cured. It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my indigestion ceased, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.--Mary Harkey, Springfield, Mass.

Special Notice.

ON WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1886, we will sell for non-resident owners, at public auction, on the premises, that desirable property known as the "Claybrook Subdivision," lying between Poplar street on the north and Union avenue on the south, and just beyond the residence of John Green, Jr., on Union avenue. The property has been divided into lots as to suit the wants of purchasers buying much or little. It is convenient to the street cars on Poplar street, and the street and road bed is being prepared for grading, the road in front of it on Union avenue. We believe it to be the most suitably property for residences on the north and south ends of the city, because it is not cut up by railroads as in the northern and southern portions of the city.
