LOCAL BREVITIES.

This being a legal holiday the Taxing District offices will remain closed.

It began raining about 9 o'clock last night, and no one complained. The dust disappeared.

The banks, Cotton Exchange and Merchants' Exchange will be closed today in honor of the centennial celebration.

Tuesday, April 30, being a National Holiday, the Postoffice will close at 10 a.m., carriers making one delivery and collection.

A meeting of cotton factors will be held at 10 o'clock this forenoon at the Exchange committee rooms to consider matters of vital importance to the trade.

There will be an entertainment or concert given at the Fourth Street Cumberland Church on Thursday and Friday nights next, for the benefit of the church.

Capt. Hackett has received a letter from L. M. Biglow, Palmyra, Wis., inquiring about one William, or Bill George, who was a familiar figure in Memphis in 1863.

The lady members of the Committee on Music for Memorial Service at Elmwood on Saturday next will meet this morning at the residence of S. Mansfield, No. 90 Madison street, promptly at 11 o'clock.

John Cooper, colored, was arrested on suspicion by officer Plummer yesterday. Cooper had disposed of a fine mule for $42, and it was learned, after his arrest, that the property was stolen from Crittenden County, Ark.

There was music and stage rehearsal of "Chimes of Normandy" at the theater last night. It went off in a style which promises another triumph for the Athletic Association and the friends who are aiding them in the opera.

Cannot the force of street cleaners and sweepers contrive some way to lay the dust before prosecuting their work in the day time? The work is well done and essential, barring the clouds of dust created when the streets are crowded by pedestrians.

A great deal of excitement was created out on Union street yesterday afternoon by a semi-clad white man fleeing from a negro with an open knife. The colored man had surprised the Caucasian male in a too familiar position in his home alone with his helpmeet.

A conference is to be held at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at the Taxing District office, between a Legislative District committee, a committee from the Board of Undertakers and another from the architects of the city to devise new building laws to prevail here in the future.

John H. Clark, foreman of the Memphis Brick Company, some ten days ago met with a painful accident, an iron bolt running through his right hand while he was attending to the machinery. Yesterday he died at his residence at Fort Pickering of blood poisoning. He leaves a wife and several children.

There will be an interesting gospel meeting and service of song in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 297 Main street, tonight at 7:45 o'clock. Young men cordially invited. After the gospel services are over the class in gymnastics will meet in the gymnasium. All young men welcome and cordially invited.

The Rainbow Festival to be given by the Women's Christian Association on the 2d, 3d and 4th of May, is commanding the attention of the ladies, and active preparations are being made in the way of constructing rainbows and various illuminated devices for the occasion. Fifty cents will be paid for admission and refreshments. No extras.

A Musical Treat. The concert of Messrs. I. Samelson & Co. at their Cigar Palace, 310 Main street, rendered by Mr. Vincent Campiglia's celebrated parlor orchestra, was a most pronounced success. Several hundred people were in attendance and the unanimous verdict was that it was an artistic rendition and a musical treat. Samelson & Co. do nothing by halves—they represent only what they will do—they employ no penny talent and can always substantiate what they advertise. They have just received a large shipment of Henry Clay, Flor de Samelson and Diligence Cigars direct from Havana in bond to Memphis.

Tris, the last and closing day of the Jockey Club meeting of 1889, will be the brightest and best of the season.

Invalid Lifter. Wanted—Perfectly helpless invalids to know that they can be lifted and moved from a bed to rolling chair, from a chair to a carriage, or from one position to another with the greatest ease and safety by the use of the Cutting & Neill Invalid Lifter. A great blessing to physician, nurse and invalid. Please mention this to some helpless invalid friend. H. D. STEELE, Box 60, Pueblo, Col.

Breastmen brighten! They fade, and as the racking season of 1889 draws to a close it promises to go out in a blaze of glory. Five first class races and a steeplechase.

PERSONAL POINTS.

CAPT. PETER McARTHUR is in the city. J. A. SYLVESTER and wife have returned from a trip to Alabama.

M. L. SABRETT, traffic manager of the Memphis Route, has returned to Kansas City.

EXAMER ROOS, late night clerk at the Western Union telegraph office in this city, died at his home, No. 99 Alabama street, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains will leave by train tonight and be buried at Early Grove, Miss., tomorrow. He was young and inexperienced, but thoroughly reliable and faithful to every trust. By his honorable bearing he made many friends, who will be grieved to hear of his death.

That Deadly Scourge! Tubercular consumption is simply lung-scurf—a active and dangerous disease of a taint in the blood. The grand blood-cleansing botanic principles contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery specially fit it to purify the blood, and prevent the formation of ulcers in the lungs and bronchial tubes. Liver complaint, skin disease and sores are also cured by it. All druggists.

SHE WON'T TELL.

A Woman Assaulted With a Knife Professes Profound Ignorance. "Winkie Dot," a variety actress, known to the world as Mrs. William Tanner, was assaulted at noon yesterday by some one, who cut her clothing in three or four places and her body on the breast and hip. She admitted to a policeman at first that her husband was the guilty party, but afterwards she declared to several newspaper reporters that she did not know who was her assailant. She says some one struck her and when she returned to conscious ness she was alone in her room and does not know who cut her.

THE CENTENNIAL

of six beautifully engraved cards tied with yellow and blue ribbons. On the first one was an embossed picture of Washington, on the second an engraving showing his landing in New York in 1789, on the third a picture of St. Paul's in 1789, on the fourth a picture of the Capitol building, on the fifth a picture of the Capitol building, on the sixth a picture of the Capitol building, on the seventh a picture of the Capitol building, on the eighth a picture of the Capitol building, on the ninth a picture of the Capitol building, on the tenth a picture of the Capitol building.

President Harrison was introduced to the guests at the banquet table by Hamilton Fish, President Harrison merely bowed in recognition of Mr. Fish's remarks, and this ended the formal reception, the guests almost immediately taking their departure, though in this they were somewhat impeded by the enormous crowds in the building.

The guests ate lunch at the Equitable building was scheduled to end at 3 o'clock p.m. Another minute after that time, to the air of "Hail to the Chief," by Cappa's Band, President Harrison emerged from the massive granite portals and again entered his carriage for the journey to the City Hall.

The Vice-President Morton and Edward T. Geary following in the next vehicle. The order of the procession and guard of honor was substantially the same as that which made the march from the foot of Wall street. As the various organizations arrived at the City Hall they drew up in line before the front of the marble stairs leading up to the municipal building and stretching away into the roundabout double line of white-clad public school and normal college girls, each with a basket of flowers, from which they strewed the path of the distinguished men. There were July 200 scholars, among them being the following:

Arrived at the top of the stairs, President Harrison was tendered an address of welcome, delivered by Miss Annie A. Albrham's at the conclusion of which he was given a monster bouquet of La France roses.

President Harrison, arm in arm with Mayor Grant and Gov. Hill, Vice-President Morton and Committee then entered the City Hall.

The distinguished party were escorted to the Governor's room where the President began receiving the visitors. He stood on a slightly raised platform which was backed by a brass railing and in the rear of which was the President's chair. Beside this was Washington's written desk. President Harrison took his position on the right-hand side, with Vice-President Morton, Gov. Hill and Mayor Grant beside him to the left, in the order named.

The throng of people were so accommodated and came in a steadily moving body for nearly an hour.

The throng was largely made up of strangers in this city, a fact which was too apparent in many instances. The sexes were about equally represented, and the number of children whose proud parents were present in the Governor's room of Gen. Washington was difficult to count. One of the visitors was a District Telegraph boy, who bore a message for the President. He managed to read it without interfering with the reception. It was as follows:

"CHICAGO, Ill., April 29, 1889. "Seventy-five thousand people of Illinois in mass meeting will expect some sentiment from the President of the United States tomorrow. Please telegraph us today. CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE."

At five minutes before 5 o'clock the President returned to his carriage, and with Vice-President Morton and Gov. Hill were driven to Mr. Morton's residence, where he and Mrs. Harrison will be guests during their stay.

IN THE CITY.

The Extraordinary Scenes in the Nation's Metropolis. New York, April 29.—New Yorkers scarcely knew their own city today. The resident is crowded to the wall and is glad of it. He welcomes all strangers. Everybody generally greets every other body. The spirit of the occasion and the democratic impulses of a hundred-year-old Republic were with and under, and pervaded all places. The atmosphere was the choicest feature of the early day. At 5 o'clock, level bars of leaden clouds had descended low down on the eastern horizon, and so on to the broad forenoon the sunshine was broken by clouds that seemed not to have departed, and there was a stay. But, meantime, in the early morning, and all through the night, the city was restless and awake. Every variety of travel was contributing to the throngs which this week will, it is believed, aggregate 1,000,000 of strangers in the city. Troops of men with arms and accoutrements, marching through avenues and streets, seeking places assigned them; while hundreds who had been assigned places and who had deposited their luggage were trailing through the streets, viewing the decorations by lamplight. Boisterous groups of cavalcades and merry militiamen jogged the night echoes, and there was all through the city from dusk of yesterday to dawn today, a feeling that there was little use retiring, small need for sleep when only three days should mark a century's growth. And the big city teemed in the blue light.

The blue coats of the large army of National Guards that will enter New York in full force today gave a touch of color to the streets yesterday. A large number of troops had arrived during the day and the arduous and hazy where the commands are going to camp were rapidly filling up. The corridors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where the Army Committee has its headquarters, were thronged with officers of the regular army and the National Guards.

The quartering of such an army of visiting militia even has been a serious problem, but every detail of it has been carefully attended to, and the visitors will all be properly housed and fed. Few of them, however, will sleep on spring mattresses, and in some of the halls the men will have to be satisfied with the soft side of a board and a blanket to cover them.

Only a small part of the troops can be accommodated in the armory, and in addition to the hotels and halls the steamer Grand Republic will shelter those companies of the Fourth Brigade that are unable to find quarters in the Twelfth Regiment armory.

The United States naval and revenue warships on the coast, the great naval yard, which has been gathering like a flock of birds from all along the coast, will get into place yesterday. The flag ship, Chicago, and the historical Kearsarge, which both lay in the navy yard, got under way early in the morning and they steamed out on the stream without accident. The Chicago cast anchor in the head of the two mile long provision. She lies in the deep water off Biddle's Island, almost on a line with the battery.

The ships formed a pretty sight as they lay in a long oblique line toward Robin's Key, across the sun tipped waters of the bay.

Cardinal Gibbons Coming South.

Baltimore, Md., April 29.—Cardinal Gibbons will leave Baltimore tomorrow afternoon for New Orleans in President Meyer's private car. Among those who will accompany the Cardinal are Maj. John D. Kelley, of New York; Bishop Kane, of Wheeling, W. Va.; the Rev. Messrs. Boland and Caughy. They will remain in Cincinnati one day to see Bishop Elder. Bishop Elett Jermans will receive the pallium May 8. On May 12, the Cardinal will leave New Orleans for the Hot Springs, N. C., and will reach Baltimore on May 17.

THE HON. JOHN R. CAMERON.

Sharkey County, Miss., Democrats Indorse Him for Governor.

Special Dispatch to the Appeal. ROLLING FORD, Miss., April 29.—The Democracy of Sharkey County in convention assembled this day passed the following resolutions:

"Whereas the people of Madison County in convention assembled did on the 8th ult. present to the citizens of the State the name of the Hon. John R. Cameron as a suitable candidate for Governor. Be it

"Resolved that it is the sense of this convention that the people of Madison County have made no mistake in thus presenting the name of one whom the people of Sharkey County would delight to honor. That in Mr. Cameron we recognize the man of ability, the practicable business man, the successful farmer, the high-toned, courteous Southern gentleman, one who served his country in the City Hall, and who has gallantly maintained his place in each. That the county of Sharkey indorses the candidacy of Mr. Cameron fully and recommends him to his sister counties as worthy of support, one whose honesty of purpose and integrity can be relied on at all times, and one who if entrusted to fill the high position to which he aspires, will give to the State such a strong, able and pure administration that all its citizens will have just cause for pride."

The beauty and loveliness of fair Memphis will be at the races today, and will divide the attention of the city. God's best gifts with the attractions of the beauties of the turf.

IN MEMORIAM.

Robbie B. Hill, Died April 29, 1889, aged 16 years. Gently close our darling eyes. Cross the hands upon our breast; Never more will she arise. From that day, we never rest. Brush the glowing curls of black from that face so broad and fair; Never shall we see her smile. Death has placed his silver thine. Oh, 'tis hard to part with thee! Yet, while gazing o'er our loss, Jesus whispers, 'Rest in peace. I will help you bear your cross. Come with grieving o'er your loss. Lift up your heads no longer down. Only when we meet the cross. Can expect to wear the crown. R. K.
