

CAST FOR HARRISON.

Pennsylvania's Electoral College Meets and Registers Its Vote

FOR THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

Chairman Dolan Congratulates the Keystone State On

THE PART IT TOOK IN THE CAMPAIGN.

Governor Beaver Feels a Delicacy in Attending the College.

OFFICIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

HARRISBURG, January 14.—It took the Pennsylvania Electoral College three hours to complete its work to-day, notwithstanding the fact that all the papers required to be signed by the several electors had been fully prepared by the Chief Clerk of the State Department, Mr. Gearhart.

In presiding Thomas Dolan, Chairman of the college, wisdom was displayed, and in the selection of Wilson M. Gearhart, Chief Clerk of the State Department; Russell E. Chief Clerk of the Senate; and John C. Delaney, Senate Librarian, as secretaries, Mr. Dolan made a brief speech, in which, after gracefully thanking the college for the honor bestowed on him, said, to the evident satisfaction of his colleagues:

PENNSYLVANIA'S VICTORY.

We have much for which to congratulate ourselves and the State for the result of the election. While our duties are not arduous, they are very important, and the trust reposed in us by our fellow electors is a heavy responsibility. While Pennsylvania always cast her vote for the Republican candidates she is not always the power to determine who shall be elected. Our State, however, in the late election saw the impending danger that threatened her by the election of a man who would be a giant of the Union, and with the vigor of a giant he is an accepted fact that without the efforts made by Pennsylvania we should not be here to-day to cast our votes for the next President and Vice President of the United States.

The sergeant-at-arms was Thomas M. Jones, of the Harrisburg Telegraph, and he and the three clerks each voted $50 for their services. H. H. Seidel, of this city, was chosen assistant, and he was allowed $25, and the doorman (H. H. W. Ward) and the messenger (Warren Jackson, colored), $25 each. The assistant doormen (Prof. Howard Day, colored, and E. J. Snickpole, of the Harrisburg, colored, and received smaller amounts. Rev. Thomas J. Everett, Governor Pattison's private secretary, who says he retained leave for the Republican party while employed under the Democratic administration, opened the college with a fervent prayer, in which he invoked the Divine blessing for the protection of the industry and the arts of this country, and committed the incoming administration to the care of the Almighty.

FILLING THE VACANCIES.

Messrs. Pugh, of Sharon; Taggart, of Philadelphia, and Shiran, of Pittsburgh, were appointed a committee to wait on the Governor, inform him of the readiness of the college to receive any necessary communication from him and to invite him to seat in the college. The committee Secretary Pearson had submitted the certificates showing the election of all the Republican electors, the roll was called and two electors failed to respond to their names. These were Thomas Heaver, of Montour county, a near relative of the Governor, and Joseph Thomas Jones, of McKean, who was unable to present on account of illness. The vacancies were quickly filled by the selection of H. W. McCann, of the Harrisburg Telegraph, as the elector in the place of Mr. Jones, and Robert H. Woolley, of Danville, to represent Mr. Heaver's district in the college.

Nearly two hours were consumed in signing the various certificates, one of which must be delivered to the President of the United States Senate, one to Judge Butler of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern district of the State of Pennsylvania, and the third mailed to the Senate postoffice for the President of the Senate. Elector Newmeyer, of Fayette county, was elected to the office of Secretary of the college to deliver one to Judge Butler, and another to the postoffice at Washington, to deposit one in the postoffice in this city.

BEAVER FELT HEAVY.

Meanwhile Governor Heaver arrived and took a seat on the platform. Chairman Dolan made a few remarks, in which he said he had a delicacy to appear before the college because he doubted his right to do so. He then read a resolution, in which the President was cast separately in a sealed tin can, each elector writing the name of Harrison or McKinley on a separate slip of paper, and the ballot was then placed in the tin can. Mr. Pugh, of Sharon, offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the President of the college to send congratulatory telegrams to Harrison and McKinley, and Mr. Morton at Poughkeepsie, announcing the action of the Pennsylvania electors.

Mr. Taggart, of Philadelphia, thought it a good idea for all the electors of the college to be present at the inauguration of the next President, and submitted a proposition that not only they but the college meet at Washington on the 4th of March, and that Chairman Dolan make the necessary arrangements. The resolution was unanimously adopted. The accounts of the members of the college were then adjusted, each one being allowed $3 for his work in the college, and other expenses, including mileage from and to their homes.

WELLVILLE TO THE FRONT.

Some Hesters Tell a Story Which Will Bear Examination.

WELLVILLE, January 14.—The town is somewhat excited over the killing of a fat young black bear near town last night by a party of hunters. Where Mr. Brain came from is a mystery, for there has been none heard of in the county for 25 years. The fact that it was young—about 6 months—proves the existence of a mother bear, and our hunters will not rest till they get her skin.

DETAILS OF THE WRECK.

Eight Persons Killed and a Dozen Injured in a Railroad Disaster—Fire Added Horror to Scene—Un-guarded Treasure.

AKRON, January 14.—At 2 o'clock this morning train No. 8 east bound, rounding the sharp curve 1 1/2 miles east of Tallmadge came suddenly upon part of freight train No. 12. Engineer Robert Huntington had just time to reverse his engine when the dreadful crash came, and in the instant he yielded up his life. The freight engine and brakeman jumped and escaped serious injury, the engineer receiving several cuts. The passenger engine was crushed into bits and mingled with the wreckage behind it. The freight engine reared up and stood almost on end. Engineer Huntington and Fireman Walters, of the express, were terribly crushed. The heavy engine was dismembered, his head crushed and his limbs broken and doubled up. The passenger train consisted of a combination baggage and express car and smoker, a common coach and two sleepers. The greatest horror was when the cab and car and smoker, which telescoped with the common coach, took fire. After the accident the two telescoped coaches appeared as if piled up by fire, the wreckage of the passenger cars came the groans and shrieks of the unfortunate. Then came the scene of terror, the strong struggling to escape the horrible death by fire, the weak and helplessly wounded praying for succor from the flames that were fast enveloping them.

In the smoker were eight Chinamen. Five of them were killed, but one died from his wounds. Three were never seen after the crash, and bones and bits of charred flesh gathered up in a bag were all that were found of them. One of the most pathetic of all scenes was that of a tenderly death of little Mary Ann Lyon, an orphan who was being sent from Idaho on a second class ticket to relatives in Cherry Creek, N. Y.

The express car carried a large quantity of fine silver and base bullion, and a treasure safe said to be filled with fine gold. Strange to say, the treasure-seekers reappeared in the wreckage, and they were unguarded for a time. Later a strong guard was thrown around the wreckage that contained them.

The killed are: Robert Huntington, Galion, passenger engineer; William Walters, Galion, passenger fireman; J. F. Rusford, of Galion, freight brakeman; William J. Lundy, of Salamanca, N. Y., Wells, Fargo & Co. Express messenger; three Chinamen; Mary Ann Lyon, of Idaho, second class passenger; and a man from Cherry Creek, N. Y. There are 12 injured.

The two detached sleepers were pulled back to Akron and in them were brought the wounded. The remains of the Chinamen and the remains of the little girl were brought here, as were those of Fireman Walters. The wrecking trains from Kent and Galion worked all night and until 1 o'clock, when the track was cleared. The passengers in the rear Pullman sleepers were hardly aroused by the concussion. In fact no one was comprehending the danger until the officials informed them of the casualty, and bade them make hasty toiles.

JIMMY WONT LAST LONG.

Young Blaine's New Companions Size Him Up in a Hurry.

WATERVILLE, Me., January 14.—James G. Blaine, Jr., to-day began his career as an apprentice in the repair shop of the Maine Central Railroad, clad in the regulation overalls, which contrasted strangely with the dainty cigarette which he incautiously puffed throughout the day. Otherwise his conduct was in keeping with his chosen work. He arose bright and early, and trudged to the shops at 7:30 o'clock, like any other apprentice. He was first placed under John Ellis, master workman of the department, where he will be instructed in the various technicalities of the department. At first it will, naturally, be a little hard with him, and he will probably not work his full eight hours. He began work a little awkwardly. His handling of the tools was not, of course, as easy as it might have been, but showed a determination to master the work.

AN IMPORTANT FAILURE.

Several Prominent Politicians Interested in a Defeat Akron Firm.

AKRON, January 14.—The King Varnish Company, one of the leading manufacturing establishments, made an assignment to-day. Liabilities are $100,000 to $125,000, and assets $70,000. D. L. King, President of the company, is Vice President of the Valley Railway Company and one of the foremost citizens of Akron. The King Varnish Company is a director of the company. A mortgage deed in favor of D. L. Paice for $48,190 was filed. The preferred claims are $38,500 in favor of Congressman George W. Cronce, $7,000 in favor of D. R. Paice, and $1,500 in favor of Judge E. P. Green. President King turns over his homestead and all personal property.

ECHOES OF THE DISASTER.

Reading Busy Burying the Dead and Relieving the Injured.

READING, January 14.—Six more of the victims of the cyclone were buried to-day. They were John Reber, Geo. A. Shaeffer, Sallie Bickel and Sallie Harzer, killed at the silk mill, and John Foreman and John U. Kahler, who met their death at the railroad point shop. The estimate is made to-day that the property destroyed by the tornado in this city is about $100,000. There have been no more deaths among the 10 injured.
