

NEXT SATURDAY

THE DISPATCH WILL COMMENCE THE PUBLICATION OF A New and Brilliant Story of Love and War, Romance and Adventure.

G. A. HENRY, AUTHOR OF

"The Lion of the North," "With Clive in India," "True to the Old Flag," "A Tale of the American War," "Through the Fray," "A Story of the Lullabies," "In Freedom's Cause," "With Wallace and Bruce," "Under the Stars," "The Brave," "The Dragon and the Raven," "Facing Death," "The Reign of Terror," "The Name and Fame," etc., etc.

The publication of this thrilling novel will be commenced on Saturday, June 12, 1898. And will be continued weekly.

Our new and forthcoming work of fiction will be entitled

THE CURSE OF CARNE'S HOLD, A Story of Adventure.

And from our perusal of the manuscript we have no hesitation in declaring that the story will be enjoyed by all classes of readers. The sympathies will be at once aroused in the characters first introduced, and in the circumstances attending a lamentable catastrophe, which breaks up a happy household in grief and despair. The hero of the story, a heart and a despairing foe to the Cape, determined if possible to lose his life in battle. He joins the Cape Mounted Rifles and in active service finds the best solace for his dejected spirits. Romance is again infused into his life by his success in rescuing from the Kalfers a young and beautiful lady, whom he gallantly bears on horseback beyond reach of their spears.

From this point the story takes up novel and startling developments. The hero's affairs in the old country are adjusted by a surprising discovery, and "The Curse of Carne's Hold" is brought to a happy and satisfactory conclusion.

The Dispatch.

ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY 8, 1858.

Vol. 44, No. 125.—Entered at Pittsburgh Postoffice, November 14, 1897, as second-class matter. Business Office—97 and 99 Fifth Avenue. News Rooms and Publishing House—75, 77 and 79 Diamond Street.

Average net circulation of the daily edition of The Dispatch for six months ending June 3, 1898, 27,824.

Copies per issue.

Average net circulation of the Sunday edition of The Dispatch for May, 1898, 47,468.

Copies per issue.

TERMS OF THE DISPATCH.

POSTAGE FREE IN THE UNITED STATES.

DAILY DISPATCH, ONE YEAR, $5 00. DAILY DISPATCH, PER QUARTER, $1 50. DAILY DISPATCH, PER MONTH, $0 50. DAILY DISPATCH, INCLUDING SUNDAY, ONE YEAR, $6 00. DAILY DISPATCH, INCLUDING SUNDAY, ONE QUARTER, $1 50. DAILY DISPATCH, INCLUDING SUNDAY, ONE MONTH, $0 50. WEEKLY DISPATCH, ONE YEAR, $2 50. THE DAILY DISPATCH IS DELIVERED BY CARRIER AT 25 CENTS PER WEEK, INCLUDING THE SUNDAY EDITION, AT 25 CENTS PER WEEK.

PITTSBURG, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1898.

BOUND TO GO AHEAD.

The action of the Exposition Board, yesterday, in deciding to go on with the work on the machinery building and hold the exposition this fall, shows that the society is determined to rule the situation and not permit the situation to rule them. There is no doubt that the policy of this action is the correct one. If there are dangers of slackness in business, the best remedy is to take a course which will attract people to the city and stimulate activity on a sound basis. No better method of reaching that end can be devised than the work which the Exposition Society is to do, and Pittsburgh should be prompt to recognize the public service which the society undertakes to perform.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars are needed to build the machinery hall. During the musical festival the public had an opportunity to become acquainted with the ample proportions and attractive character of the main exposition building. They can see that with the addition of the second building, it will have accommodations for such an exposition as has never been seen in Western Pennsylvania. The returns from these buildings will be prompt and permanent; and, as a business investment, the enterprise of the city should be prompt in furnishing the funds.

Let the work go on energetically; and for that purpose let Pittsburgh be equally energetic in putting up the money for it.

LEVELING THEM UP.

The action of the Amalgamated Association in extending its lodges to the Eastern mills is an effort in the direction of removing the one just cause of criticism concerning its effect on Pittsburgh. There has always been some force in the fact that the scale wages in Pittsburgh is so much above the rate in Eastern mills that it permitted work to go in which should have been turned out in this city. The ironworkers do not doubt felt quite certain that this hardship could be endured from their standpoint. But the public interest was necessarily affected by the existence of wages in Eastern Pennsylvania so low as to rob Pittsburgh of some of its natural and legitimate business. The Amalgamated Association shows no appreciation of the hardship; but instead of leveling Pittsburgh wages down it proposes to level Eastern wages up. Everyone in Pittsburgh will wish it success in its endeavor.

POSTMASTER VERSUS PRESIDENT.

The postmaster of Bridgeport, Conn., appointed by the Republican administration seems to be ambitious of emulating the work of Wilson and Stevenson during the last administration in reducing the reform pledges of the President to a by-word and a humbug. He recently called before him a clerk who was left in the office from his predecessor, and stating that the clerk did his work admirably and much better than his could be expected, and that his duties could be better performed, informed him that, as he was not "with us in politics," the papers were made out and signed for him. While the clerk was thus given to understand that he had got to go, he was requested to stay and instruct his successor in the duties of the office.

Here is a deliberate statement that a clerk, who was exceptionally capable and trustworthy in performing the public duties for which the office was established, was to be turned out to make room for some one less capable and untrained, solely on

THE TOPICAL TALKER.

Some Small Incidents of the Days Succeeded by the Great Disaster. INCORPORATED incidents have come to light in great numbers amid the horrors and fearful scenes at Johnston. Their incongruity—little bits of joyous color against a hideously black background—seems to justify the telling of some of them.

For instance, two days after the flood had devastated Johnston, Mr. Oliver R. Richardson, the Pittsburgh attorney, was serving out cold pipes and tobacco, which some kind hearted soul had sent among the relief stores, when a young man presented himself before him. The man, who had been made up of men prior to this, and Mr. Richardson asked the girl, who was extremely pretty and refined in appearance, what she wanted with a pipe. She blushed and repeated that she wanted a pipe. "Why, you do not smoke?" said Mr. Richardson.

"No, but please give me a pipe." "If you will tell me what you are going to do with it, I'll give you one." The girl hesitated, and then raising her hand to her forehead, she said, "I want to curl my hair."

She got the stem of a broken pipe and went away laughing, and yet she had only been given the money to buy a pipe. The pipe was almost on the verge of starvation, and when she sought the pipe to curl her hair was evidently paid in need of curling.

One of the ladies who are doing the noblest kind of charitable work in Johnston spent Monday at her home, and while there told a good deal of the Johnston sufferers that she has present value.

"You would be astonished," she said to me, "to see the very bad judgment and lack of foresight with which the people are proceeding in some of the poor people up at Johnston. In one package which I opened I found the remains of a green silk dress, out of which I had seen the wreck of water. The dress was very dry, cut low with a square collar, and no sleeves to speak of; a pair of worn out tennis shoes and two silk stockings. It would require great dexterity to put them to their proper use. These things were literally useless; yet they were evidently sent by a wealthy woman. But they were not alone. There was a mass of stuff sent. There is need still of sensible gifts of clothing. Underwear of any kind for women is particularly desirable."

The California man who recently shot and killed his wife when she was reading a poem of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's to him, used unnecessarily severe measures. It ought to be adequate in such a case to correct the offender with a poker.

The annual report of the Grain Exchange shows a gratifying enlargement of business and a good financial condition for that organization, which, while not a very large one, occupies a very creditable position among grain exchanges of doing business in the United States and elsewhere. The report also shows a creditable recognition of a favorable policy on the part of the railroad, which is just as much due to the railroads and the public as to pitch into them for their unfavorable course.

EVERYBODY interested in the expenditure of funds for the Conemaugh Valley should know that a watchful account will be expected by the public. This applies as well to the relief funds as to the State expenditures.

DEVON, the Hackensack weather prophet, is now on hand with the prediction of a cyclone which is fixed for June 17, the anniversary of the battle ofunker Hill, and which will be the culmination of catastrophe on the Atlantic coast. Devos is evidently under the impression that since he missed the Johnston disaster and the Seattle fire, he must keep on predicting catastrophes until he happens to hit the right one.

It is a mitigation of the gloomy baseball situation to observe that when the Allegheny team get out of the Chicago representatives for the first time at last struck something they can beat.

WHEN the New York Stock Exchange sums up the total result of its recent great stroke in the line of abolishing the ticker service, and finds out that it consists in permitting Jay Gould to charge $25 for tickers where he previously got $10, it may deem it worth while to inquire whether the Stock Exchange has any other object of existence than the enhancement of Mr. Gould's income.

HAVING got its Johnston work pretty well closed up, Pittsburgh can once more tackle the problem of getting that pond at Minersville pumped out.

In referring to the fact that there have been strictures on Governor Beaver's "financial management at Johnston," the esteemed Washington Star fails to catch the true inwardness of the complaints. The criticisms are based on the absence of financial management on the part of the Governor, and his prolonged absence of body from Johnston.

UNLESS we can have two consecutive days of bright weather before long there will be grave doubts as to whether the administration is a success.

THE information that three Paris editors are in jail for saying hard things concerning the President of the French Republic, is calculated to make American editors catch their breath. A legal system of that sort in this country would put the State in the business of furnishing free editorial quarters for the entire press of the country.

PUBLIC PEOPLE PARAGRAPHER. Mrs. OGDEN WILSON is one of the most popular women orators in England.

THE Vice-President and Mrs. Morton are at their summer home near Rhinebeck.

It has been discovered that M. Eiffel is a direct descendant of William Tell.

DOUGLASS says that he likes the Londoners, but he can't admire their climate and dinners.

JUNES FERRY is beginning to show his age. An American who saw him recently in Paris says: "He is bent and gray and has aged ten years in the last year."

It appears that the heroic self-sacrifice of Father Damien is not absolutely unique. In 1818 a Moravian missionary and his English wife undertook the charge of a leper hospital for the South African Hottentots. In 1837 a similar work was commenced at Jerusalem, and four Moravian missionaries are now doing the same work. Both these leper hospitals are still in operation.

KING HUMBERT is something of a wit. His hair grew white almost of a sudden three years ago. He is a great smoker and fruit eater. The queen seems to drink nothing but a little weak claret and water. Coffee and tea are forbidden beverages to him, as they excite his nerves. When outboating or manœuvring with troops he seems to live mostly on bread, apples and oranges. His favorite amusement is billiards; but he likes chess and whist, and plays a very good rubber.

OUR MAIL POUCH.

A Survivors' Association, Strongly Recommended—Prospects of Early Need for It. Reason or something else has resumed its throne. The Governor, his Adjutant, the Dictator, the committee and others have at length taken the time to consider the matter, and on the Sabbath day. Ten days had passed since the greatest disaster of modern times had taken away the lives of 5,000 of his subjects, before the Governor and his cabinet could find time to order the ruins.

It was too late for reanimations. It was time for an understanding as to what was going to be done in the future. For instance, in the SUNDAY DISPATCH had evidently stirred all up to a sudden sense of the error of clearing up the ruins of Johnston. The Governor, by contract, with the money donated to the sufferers, which was rapidly diminishing. The project of a survivors' association was suggested, but how? We are familiar with the suggestion that the Governor should sign a note for $1,000,000, and have the State Treasurer lend the money, and the Legislature would pass an act to authorize the Governor to do so.

Some other plan will have to be tried after all has failed; and meantime the sufferers must be kept supplied with food and clothing. It is not too much to say that within historic times the greatest calamity by flood and earthquake has killed or maimed more than 5,000 people. Of all that has occurred in recent years the times of the survivors' association are the most desperate.

INSPECTING RUINED TRACKS. Pennsylvania Railroad Officials Look Over Their Damaged Property. JOHNSBURG, June 11.—The wrecked condition of the Pennsylvania Railroad was viewed to-day by a party of distinguished officials. President Roberts, First Vice-President Thomson, Assistant Superintendent Brown, and Superintendent Richards, and General Superintendent Robert Pettit came to South Fork from the viaduct, where they left their private car. At bridge No. 8, which was recently destroyed, they were entertained by Superintendent Robert Pettit, General Superintendent of Transportation Hugh and General Manager McCrea. A consultation was then held. President Roberts expressed himself as being very much interested in the progress made in repairing the damage. He was assured that trains would be running over the bridge to-morrow.

This afternoon they arrived in Johnston. They took a walk of the ruins, but did not wander far from the railroad, not liking the prospect of seeing the ruins of the bridge. They were accompanied by Superintendent Pettit for South Fork, whence they will journey eastward in the morning.

In the few moments they were in Johnston a correspondent interviewed Vice-President Thomson. He could give no estimate of the company's loss, but said this was the hardest loss the Pennsylvania Railroad had ever known. He thinks it will soon recover, however, as the work of repair is going on with remarkable rapidity. He said that the great work on the Conemaugh Valley and Williamsport branches, which the middle division is in something appalling.

Water Versus Whisky. A Whisky Advocate Bares Testimony and Formulates His Creed. There was another meeting in the Allegheny District last night in the interest of Constitutional amendments, and the auspicious occasion was held in the parlors of the Allegheny Hotel. The meeting was presided over by Mr. L. Moony, C. L. Rose made an appeal to the workmen. He pointed out the great number of benefits that would result from the adoption of the amendments. He said that the State would be benefited in many ways. He said that the State would be benefited in many ways. He said that the State would be benefited in many ways.

ONE OF THE GENTLEST MEN. An Incident Illustrating the Exquisite Delicacy of Father Field. Special Telegram to The Dispatch. The delicacy of Father Field, of the Society of St. John, now acting as chaplain of the Red Cross Relief Corps at Johnston. The order of St. John is an English society of little known in America. It is a society of little known in America. It is a society of little known in America.

FOR WOULD-BE GREAT READERS. The Madness of Fostering the Development of Abnormal Mental Conditions. The London Lancet, commenting upon Mind Reader Bishop's case, says: "There is, finally, a third subject connected with this case which has attracted attention, and that is, we mean the madness of fostering the development of mental conditions leading to states so abnormal as that which late Mr. Irving Bishop cultivated, practiced and did his best to disseminate."

EVERY DAY IMPRESSIONISM. How to be Charitable to the Man Who Enlarges—Is an Impressionist. Impressionism is a good and righteous and a good many proceedings in ordinary life are often, but mistakenly, blamed, says the London Globe. There is the man, for instance, who is in a bad mood, and who, in his daily conversation—talks the stories and the most astounding adventures. We are apt, in plain and private thought, to blame him for his mood, and to regard him as an impressionist. He endeavors so to paint upon you that they shall make the most impression upon you as they do upon himself, and he only enlarges his mood, and he knows that you will enlarge upon it.

CATHOLICS' OPEN MEETING. The C. M. B. A. Had a Pleasant Time at St. Paul's Cathedral Last Night. An open meeting of the C. M. B. A. was held at St. Paul's Cathedral last evening. The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Father Field. The meeting was a very successful one. The C. M. B. A. had a pleasant time at St. Paul's Cathedral last night.

Car Works Completed to Quit. LIMA, O., June 11.—The Lafayette Car Works of this city, employing 300 men, were today notified to quit. The works were completed to quit. The works were completed to quit.

ANOTHER COMPARISON.

The Flood of Bengal, in 76, in Which 250,000 Persons Were Drowned. At first flush it was stated, and half believed that, with the exception of great flood disasters in China, a few years ago, and of some sort of great inundation in India, more than a decade past, the Conemaugh calamity was the worst in its results of anything at all like it in modern times, on any continent. That was true. Still it may be interesting in illustrating such comparisons to recall the exact published proportions of the flood in Bengal in 1876, which is done by quoting from the files of this journal for that year, as follows:

The awful calamity of Bengal, intelligence of which comes to us by cable, is unparalleled in history. The river Meena, which in part of its course is a mere stream, and in part a wide, shallow, submerged by a storm-wave, on the 15th of October, 1876, rose to a height of 100 feet above the normal level. As the water swept onward for five or six miles, it carried with it 250,000 souls. The number of persons who were drowned was not less than 250,000 human beings were swept into the sea. The number of persons who were drowned was not less than 250,000 human beings were swept into the sea.

The only other convulsion of nature which can be compared to the Bengal disaster is the earthquake of Lisbon, which probably caused the death of 100,000 persons. The earthquake of Lisbon was a large part of Europe. Originating under the sea, it followed the coast of the Atlantic, and destroyed the city of Lisbon. On the morning of November 1, 1755, the sea retired, leaving a principal part of Lisbon, the sea retired, leaving a principal part of Lisbon, the sea retired, leaving a principal part of Lisbon.

INSPECTING RUINED TRACKS. Pennsylvania Railroad Officials Look Over Their Damaged Property. JOHNSBURG, June 11.—The wrecked condition of the Pennsylvania Railroad was viewed to-day by a party of distinguished officials. President Roberts, First Vice-President Thomson, Assistant Superintendent Brown, and Superintendent Richards, and General Superintendent Robert Pettit came to South Fork from the viaduct, where they left their private car. At bridge No. 8, which was recently destroyed, they were entertained by Superintendent Robert Pettit, General Superintendent of Transportation Hugh and General Manager McCrea. A consultation was then held. President Roberts expressed himself as being very much interested in the progress made in repairing the damage. He was assured that trains would be running over the bridge to-morrow.

This afternoon they arrived in Johnston. They took a walk of the ruins, but did not wander far from the railroad, not liking the prospect of seeing the ruins of the bridge. They were accompanied by Superintendent Pettit for South Fork, whence they will journey eastward in the morning.

In the few moments they were in Johnston a correspondent interviewed Vice-President Thomson. He could give no estimate of the company's loss, but said this was the hardest loss the Pennsylvania Railroad had ever known. He thinks it will soon recover, however, as the work of repair is going on with remarkable rapidity. He said that the great work on the Conemaugh Valley and Williamsport branches, which the middle division is in something appalling.

Water Versus Whisky. A Whisky Advocate Bares Testimony and Formulates His Creed. There was another meeting in the Allegheny District last night in the interest of Constitutional amendments, and the auspicious occasion was held in the parlors of the Allegheny Hotel. The meeting was presided over by Mr. L. Moony, C. L. Rose made an appeal to the workmen. He pointed out the great number of benefits that would result from the adoption of the amendments. He said that the State would be benefited in many ways. He said that the State would be benefited in many ways.

ONE OF THE GENTLEST MEN. An Incident Illustrating the Exquisite Delicacy of Father Field. Special Telegram to The Dispatch. The delicacy of Father Field, of the Society of St. John, now acting as chaplain of the Red Cross Relief Corps at Johnston. The order of St. John is an English society of little known in America. It is a society of little known in America. It is a society of little known in America.

FOR WOULD-BE GREAT READERS. The Madness of Fostering the Development of Abnormal Mental Conditions. The London Lancet, commenting upon Mind Reader Bishop's case, says: "There is, finally, a third subject connected with this case which has attracted attention, and that is, we mean the madness of fostering the development of mental conditions leading to states so abnormal as that which late Mr. Irving Bishop cultivated, practiced and did his best to disseminate."

EVERY DAY IMPRESSIONISM. How to be Charitable to the Man Who Enlarges—Is an Impressionist. Impressionism is a good and righteous and a good many proceedings in ordinary life are often, but mistakenly, blamed, says the London Globe. There is the man, for instance, who is in a bad mood, and who, in his daily conversation—talks the stories and the most astounding adventures. We are apt, in plain and private thought, to blame him for his mood, and to regard him as an impressionist. He endeavors so to paint upon you that they shall make the most impression upon you as they do upon himself, and he only enlarges his mood, and he knows that you will enlarge upon it.

CATHOLICS' OPEN MEETING. The C. M. B. A. Had a Pleasant Time at St. Paul's Cathedral Last Night. An open meeting of the C. M. B. A. was held at St. Paul's Cathedral last evening. The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Father Field. The meeting was a very successful one. The C. M. B. A. had a pleasant time at St. Paul's Cathedral last night.

Car Works Completed to Quit. LIMA, O., June 11.—The Lafayette Car Works of this city, employing 300 men, were today notified to quit. The works were completed to quit. The works were completed to quit.

A DAY IN THE METROPOLIS.

Gathered Together Once More. There were some moments of intense excitement on the next two days. General Johnston last night. The pastor, who will soon sail for Europe, tried to provide his flock in 15 minutes with religion enough for three months of his absence. His fervor was contagious, and the whole congregation groaned and shouted in the midst of the turmoil. Mrs. Mary Stinson tried to tell her experience. At the end of her fourth sentence she staggered into the aisle. As she fell back in the arms of two women who hurried to her assistance, she shrieked, "O Lord!" and died. Heart disease, rendered acute by the exertion of the love feast, was the cause of her death.

A Perilous Love Feast. There were some moments of intense excitement on the next two days. General Johnston last night. The pastor, who will soon sail for Europe, tried to provide his flock in 15 minutes with religion enough for three months of his absence. His fervor was contagious, and the whole congregation groaned and shouted in the midst of the turmoil. Mrs. Mary Stinson tried to tell her experience. At the end of her fourth sentence she staggered into the aisle. As she fell back in the arms of two women who hurried to her assistance, she shrieked, "O Lord!" and died. Heart disease, rendered acute by the exertion of the love feast, was the cause of her death.

A Natural Consequence. Gas from a leaking meter filled the cellar of a Green Point tenement house to-day. Bertha Mann, 24 years old, entered the cellar with a lit candle. The explosion which followed killed her. The whole building was shaken. The interior wall of the cellar was blown away. Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Charles Sabbath and two little children were blown from their beds. The explosion was caused by the gas from a leaking meter. The explosion was caused by the gas from a leaking meter.

Sankey's Summer Residence. Ira D. Sankey, the singing evangelist, has taken a new and beautiful site on a little island at a point between Eastport and Little Neck creek, near Eastport, L. I. Here he will build a handsome residence. He is negotiating for about 75 acres more adjoining, and will then have one of the finest farms in Suffolk county, with plenty of good fishing in the south bay.

Has Not Been Sober Since. James Driscoll was sent to the Island for three months to-day because he beats his wife and gets drunk. A short time ago his brother died, leaving him an estate of $80,000. Driscoll has not had a sober minute since.

Looks Like a Fish. Fredericks Epinger, 33 years old, of 341 East Eighteenth street, was paroled in the Penitentiary for a term of 18 months for a charge of boarding infants at her home without a license from the Board of Health. Officers Gardner and Grant, of Mr. Gerry's Society, arrested the woman, and found three infants in the house. One of the children was found dead. It is now in the society's charge. The officers found that it was singularly deformed, and resembled a fish. Its head recedes from the eyes, and protruding lips, that are kept constantly in motion, as the child breathes in short gasps. The arms are connected to the sides by thin membrane, and have the appearance of fins. The legs are bent together by a similar ligature, and the feet turn outward.

More Girl Graduates. Annual Commencement Exercises of Little Washington's Seminary. WASHINGTON, Pa., June 11.—The graduating exercises of the Little Washington Seminary were largely attended this morning. The services were opened by prayer by Rev. I. N. White, of Fairview, O., and closed with the benediction of Rev. J. W. Fredericks, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city. It was a late hour when they adjourned.

A Chinese Doctor's Prescription. From the Northwest Herald. A Chinese doctor in New York prescribed for one of his countrymen who had taken an overdose of opium, "pickled lizard, two pairs; one-half ounce Ginseng root, half a dozen wild onion crickets skin, one ounce sweet potato vine, one-quarter ounce cinnamon bark, one-half ounce devil fish toes, one-half ounce elm bark, one-half ounce coffee nails, one-quarter ounce bird claws," and three or four other "drugs," the whole "to be boiled with two quarts of water until only half of the water is left, and then drink it as a preliminary dose." And yet the doctor's bill was not as long as that of some American physicians who simply feel the patient's pulse and look at his tongue.

An Interesting Social Question. From the New York Tribune. What is the reason of the growing tendency in the direction of committing suicide in a dress suit? More than one case of the kind has been reported lately, and the thing seems to be becoming a craze. Probably we shall soon hear of a poor man struggling hard to raise the money to buy a dress suit, so that he could follow the proverbial rule, "to get out of how it is made." How is it? Is it an interesting question for the student of social philosophy?

Ready for the Battle of Bismarck. CANTON, O., June 11.—The sports county Democratic Convention held here to-day nominated the following ticket: Resolute: Resolute, John E. Monnet, Candor, and Rev. E. E. Dwyer, for Governor; Resolute, John E. Monnet, Candor, and Rev. E. E. Dwyer, for Governor; Resolute, John E. Monnet, Candor, and Rev. E. E. Dwyer, for Governor.

Proof of Its Truth. An attempted "special" contradiction, from Chicago, of THE DISPATCH news of yesterday morning regarding the shutting off of Chicago's flood gates, was refuted by the reliable Associated Press articles from that city. In that contradictory message, Mr. Chas. H. Brown, secretary of the Chicago committee, is quoted as saying: "We retained the floods because the money was needed to relieve the suffering. It was not only, and if it had been turned over on our arrival there (in Pittsburgh), part of it would have gone to pay for the relief of the sufferers who had accumulated in the river and at the bridge. It was not only, and if it had been turned over on our arrival there (in Pittsburgh), part of it would have gone to pay for the relief of the sufferers who had accumulated in the river and at the bridge."

Down at the Top. Domestic skeletons are usually formed of bones of contention. THE WITCHING HOUR. When the mantle of night o'er the earth is spread, And the sky with its twinkling gems is stained, Again on the roof of the backyard shed The falling snows are seen to descend. Then the neighboring windows are upward raised, And white-robed forms through the gloom we spy. And with the hands of men half-crazed The showers of boots and bootjacks fly. Hushed for a while are the inmates. And the wretched people go back to bed; But ere we sleep the wretched wretches, who are composed of men who are entirely above respect and are action is in no sense a reflection on them.

EDUCATIONAL EGOTISMS. The High School Building Growing Too Small—General Remarks. The Central Board of Education met last night. Secretary Hider reported the enrollment of 378 teachers employed. The total enrollment of pupils in May was 25,200, and the average attendance was 22,000. The High School Building, reported 57 pupils enrolled, with an average attendance of 50. The Board of Education recommended that steps be taken to enlarge the High School building. Major J. H. Brown, secretary of the High School Committee, with instructions to report a plan and estimates of the cost. It is proposed to enlarge the building. The building will be placed in the halls for lack of accommodations in the study rooms.

FORGET AND A BRIDAL SUIT. The Two Are Considered Quite Incompatible Out at Franklin. FRANKLIN, June 11.—This afternoon, while Mr. W. W. Perry was taking out a marriage license, he was arrested on the charge of forging a check which had been issued a Franklin tailor to accept in payment for his wedding outfit, and in default of $500 had been jailed. The marriage is indefinitely postponed.

O'Brien Was in Johnston. At the meeting of the Humane Society yesterday there was no business done, owing to the absence of Agents O'Brien in Johnston. The resignation of Mrs. O'Brien from the Board of Managers was received, but not accepted. Donations were received from Mrs. Strong, McKelvey, and from George A. Brown, $5.

Car Works Completed to Quit. LIMA, O., June 11.—The Lafayette Car Works of this city, employing 300 men, were today notified to quit. The works were completed to quit. The works were completed to quit.

THE WITCHING HOUR. When the mantle of night o'er the earth is spread, And the sky with its twinkling gems is stained, Again on the roof of the backyard shed The falling snows are seen to descend. Then the neighboring windows are upward raised, And white-robed forms through the gloom we spy. And with the hands of men half-crazed The showers of boots and bootjacks fly. Hushed for a while are the inmates. And the wretched people go back to bed; But ere we sleep the wretched wretches, who are composed of men who are entirely above respect and are action is in no sense a reflection on them.

EDUCATIONAL EGOTISMS. The High School Building Growing Too Small—General Remarks. The Central Board of Education met last night. Secretary Hider reported the enrollment of 378 teachers employed. The total enrollment of pupils in May was 25,200, and the average attendance was 22,000. The High School Building, reported 57 pupils enrolled, with an average attendance of 50. The Board of Education recommended that steps be taken to enlarge the High School building. Major J. H. Brown, secretary of the High School Committee, with instructions to report a plan and estimates of the cost. It is proposed to enlarge the building. The building will be placed in the halls for lack of accommodations in the study rooms.

FORGET AND A BRIDAL SUIT. The Two Are Considered Quite Incompatible Out at Franklin. FRANKLIN, June 11.—This afternoon, while Mr. W. W. Perry was taking out a marriage license, he was arrested on the charge of forging a check which had been issued a Franklin tailor to accept in payment for his wedding outfit, and in default of $500 had been jailed. The marriage is indefinitely postponed.

O'Brien Was in Johnston. At the meeting of the Humane Society yesterday there was no business done, owing to the absence of Agents O'Brien in Johnston. The resignation of Mrs. O'Brien from the Board of Managers was received, but not accepted. Donations were received from Mrs. Strong, McKelvey, and from George A. Brown, $5.

Car Works Completed to Quit. LIMA, O., June 11.—The Lafayette Car Works of this city, employing 300 men, were today notified to quit. The works were completed to quit. The works were completed to quit.

THE WITCHING HOUR. When the mantle of night o'er the earth is spread, And the sky with its twinkling gems is stained, Again on the roof of the backyard shed The falling snows are seen to descend. Then the neighboring windows are upward raised, And white-robed forms through the gloom we spy. And with the hands of men half-crazed The showers of boots and bootjacks fly. Hushed for a while are the inmates. And the wretched people go back to bed; But ere we sleep the wretched wretches, who are composed of men who are entirely above respect and are action is in no sense a reflection on them.

EDUCATIONAL EGOTISMS. The High School Building Growing Too Small—General Remarks. The Central Board of Education met last night. Secretary Hider reported the enrollment of 378 teachers employed. The total enrollment of pupils in May was 25,200, and the average attendance was 22,000. The High School Building, reported 57 pupils enrolled, with an average attendance of 50. The Board of Education recommended that steps be taken to enlarge the High School building. Major J. H. Brown, secretary of the High School Committee, with instructions to report a plan and estimates of the cost. It is proposed to enlarge the building. The building will be placed in the halls for lack of accommodations in the study rooms.

CURIOUS CONDENSATIONS.

Ball Lake has lost 9 per cent of its saltiness in the last two years. The month of May, in England, in 1881, probably took rank as the wettest on record. Thirty soldiers were lately required to keep the crowd in order at the WLD Weston show. A mouse nest, made of old-fashioned ship planks, was found in a drawer of a bank in Fiskville a few days ago.

Boys digging in sand at Haverrast one day recently came upon bones supposed to be those of a Revolutionary soldier. Fourteen young frogs were dug out of holes and killed in the vicinity of Thompson's Island, near the city of New York. Three of the richest merchants in the country are comparatively young men. Wasmaker is 51, Marshall Field, of Chicago, 53, and C. D. Walcott, of New York, 54.

There was a "Dead Horse" postoffice. It was ordered to take a new name, and it took that of "Live Horse." The department was changed, but it was changed to "Live Horse." Mr. Benjamin Crane, of Chicago, is endeavoring to win a one-day race by the performance of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" for 30 consecutive nights without losing his money. A woman at Covington who applied for a divorce told the Judge that she had been 23 years trying to get her divorce up to the point where she was sitting on the ground and pounding and abusing her husband.

The grandmother of the Emperor of China is 89 years old, blind, deaf and a cripple, and is still able to do her own work. She is seated her 600 singing birds, 100 silk dresses, and 100 musical instruments. Mrs. Todd Lattie, of Bronson, Mich., evidently is a very blind for 15 years, suddenly regained her sight. Two German men, the first person she saw was her daughter, and she exclaimed: "My, how you have grown!" A company has been formed in Gloverville, S. C., to raise a flock of 200,000 turkeys. The chase and sale of eggs, separating the yolk from the white, and preparing the same for domestic and culinary uses.

The English company who are working the Nacoochee mine in Georgia took out the other day a nugget of gold weighing 300 pennyweights and containing 100 pennyweights of pure gold. They took one nugget that weighed 30 pennyweights and another of 50 pennyweights. Such a large quantity of gold has not been found in a single strike in any other mine in the world. G. T. Williams, of Montezuma, Ga., evidently is the owner of one of the most genuine Texas ponies on record. At noon one day he was riding on the streets of Montezuma, and failed to tie, and repaired to the shade of the trees on the hill for a nap. When he awoke, he found his horse had been stolen, and he was carrying it across the river, where the fields were greener and the grass grew higher.

A