DEATH IN A FLOOD.

Many Lives Washed Out by the Raging Waters of the Little Kanawha.

A DELUGE FROM THE SKIES

Swells Small Streams to Torrents, Spreading Wreck and Rain.

A CONE MAUGH VALLEY IN MINIATURE

Houses Hurled Together and Dashed to Pieces—Bridges Washed Out—Buildings Set Down in Fields—More Than Eleven People Lost at One Place—A Family of Four Carried Away in a Boat—Dead Bodies Found—A Train Crossed Through a Bridge—Thousands of Logs Washed Away—An Immense Amount of Property Destroyed.

From Parkersburg come the meager details of what is in all probability the greatest disaster that ever visited the Valley of the Little Kanawha. A cloud burst swelled all the neighboring streams to raging torrents, and there has been great loss of life and property. A village near the head of Tucker creek seems to have been treated on a smaller scale like Johnstown. Houses were carried away and dashed together, and how many lives were lost can only be surmised.

PARKERSBURG, July 19.—The greatest disaster that ever befall the Little Kanawha Valley came last night in the shape of a terrible cloud burst, which has completely flooded the county, destroying many lives, carrying off thousands of dollars in property and ruining the crops for many miles. The deluge from the clouds fell here about dusk and continued to fall in torrents, doing much damage in the city. The worst of the storm struck the lower side of the Kanawha, filling small tributaries from bank to bank, and ending in the worst flood within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants. In three hours the Kanawha rose six feet and ran out with such velocity that it carried everything before it. The worst story of all comes from Morrisown, a small village near the head of Tucker creek, where the cloud burst concentrated in all its fury.

A Mississippian Johnstown. It came down in the devoted village about midnight and totally destroyed it, together with many of its people. The first report gave the loss at 11, but later news seems to fix the loss at a greater number.

The houses of the citizens are said to have been picked up and hurled against each other in such a short space of time that no chance to escape was given. Among those lost at Morrisown are Jake Kiger, his brothers, Joseph and Thomas, a man named Bailey and Orville West, wife and child. The body of a man believed to be another Morrisown victim was found on the Richardson farm this morning in a pile of brush. All the bridges and culverts are washed out, and it is impossible to reach or communicate with that point or any other on the upper waters. It is impossible now to estimate the loss even here, as the river is still rising and tearing everything loose.

A family boat containing three or four persons went out during the night, and it is believed all are lost, as the last seen of them was when the woman took up a child in her arms and beckoned for assistance as they disappeared in the flood.

A freight train on the Ohio River Railroad broke through a trestle at Harris Ferry, completely wrecking the train and fatally injuring William Neptunes. The wreck was caused by a heavy washout. B. & O. trains are delayed by washouts at Kanawha station. It is reported late tonight that Lock No. 1, above the city on the Little Kanawha, has given way before the flood.

At this point thousands of logs and a number of boats went out or were sunk. The Little Kanawha Lumber Company lost 2,000 logs; West's Mill, 10 rafts; Barringer, several boats; W. P. Padden, 5 barges of fire wood; several of which were caught below. Keever & Co. lost 4 barges of coal, wrecked against the Ohio Railroad bridge; Miller, 3 rafts and 2,000 ties; Taylor, 1 fleet of timber; Charles Wells, 4 barges and 1 full flat.

Terrors of the Flood. In one hour 5,000 logs went out. Mrs. Isaac Tucker, Martin Lawless and an unknown man were drowned. Above, the destruction was still greater. Big Tygart Valley is completely ruined. The big mill near its mouth went out and took the Tygart bridge along with it. In the valley all the fences, crops and much live stock was lost. At Chesterville, a small town about ten miles above, half the residences were carried off bodily and left in some fields many yards distant. In the Clay district a fine church and three dwellings were wrecked. About noon information was received that the steamer Onida had been wrecked and sunk at Enterprise, above. Still later a report came that the steamer C. C. Martin was sunk at Burning Springs. Little Tygart was also reported completely ruined. Heatherington's store, Captain Spencer's residence, C. P. Cooper's residence and that of J. W. Smith were completely demolished, but no lives are reported lost as yet.

QUAY AND CLARKSON TALK OF HARMONY

And Every Day Appears to Have Been Made a Great Deal Happier.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—It will be necessary to add a new chapter to future editions of "The Handy Political Letter-Writer" to insure its sale in Michigan. Politicians in that State, including the Democrat who objects to leaving office and the Republican who aspires to assume office, have taken to writing would-be sarcastic letters to Washington, each seemingly having in mind the old adage: "Perhaps it is right to dissemble your love, but why did you kick me downstairs?"

One of these dissatisfied gentlemen, a Congressman from Michigan, has written a letter to the President, in which he has expressed his indignation at the changes on the faults of the administration, and their imprudence in not giving him a better place, but finally he decided to follow Senator Ingalls' example when he wrote to the designer of Hancock, and, therefore, put his sarcasm in two lines, which he hid. He says most truly, R. G. HORN.

Another and most interesting letter from a disappointed Michiganander was received to-day. It is from the Democratic Collector of Internal Revenue in the Grand Rapids district. He addressed his letter to plain Sen. Harrison, President of the United States, and says:

Your letter of the 11th that, notifying me of the delay of Michiganander was received to-day. The information is not a surprise to me, as I have seen by the press dispatches that you had appointed my successor. I am suspicious, however, as to the reasons for your appointment, and I therefore regret that you have seen fit to appoint a person to succeed me who has not only been in sympathy with the Union cause during our late civil war, but an old soldier and a man who would be glad to see an old soldier appointed to relieve me, and who would be glad to accompany you with you and me who were at the front.

Very respectfully, GEORGE N. DAVIS, Late Captain Company D, First Michigan Sharpshooters.

Citizens of Grand Rapids now in Washington bear out Mr. Davis' assertions, and say that Steketee was not only a copperhead, but has never been a true blue Republican.

INTERESTED IN HOGAN.

Jackson People Know the Air Navigator Well—A Telegram to His Wife. JACKSON, MISS., July 19.—The people of Jackson are deeply interested in the fate of Prof. Hogan, the celebrated aeronaut, who started out Tuesday from New York in Campbell's air ship. Opinion is largely divided as to his fate. Many think he has gone down in the ocean, while others are of the opinion that he is in hiding somewhere for the purpose of creating a sensation, and securing advertising. Still others believe him safe and that he will turn up all right in a few days. Hogan is known to be a man of iron nerves, and no matter in what predicament he finds himself, never loses self-control. He was deeply interested in the airship and before leaving Jackson expressed his utmost confidence in its success.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hogan received a despatch from Campbell as follows: "Have heard from Hogan he is all right and may be here to-day. When heard further particulars will give you the news to-morrow. Mrs. Hogan had heard nothing further. She is anxiously awaiting news, and it is impossible to reach or communicate with that point or any other on the upper waters. It is impossible now to estimate the loss even here, as the river is still rising and tearing everything loose.

THE GOVERNMENT WINS.

Mr. Ryan Not Permitted to Crawfish Back Home—Property Restored. MARQUETTE, MICH., July 19.—A jury in the United States Court to-day rendered a verdict in favor of the Government in the case of the United States vs. Thomas Ryan. Ryan made the Government an offer to sell certain real estate at Sault Ste. Marie as a site for the new Fort Brady for $12,000. The Government accepted the offer, but found flaws in the title. During the delay occasioned by the investigation of the title the great "boom" struck Sault Ste. Marie and real estate rapidly appreciated. Ryan's property had attained a valuation of $80,000, and his attorneys notified the Government of the withdrawal of his offer to sell for $12,000, but the Government claimed the proceeds had reached a stage where Ryan had no power to withdraw. In the meantime Ryan had conveyed to the city of Sault Ste. Marie a strip of land 80 feet wide through the property for street purposes. The Government insisted on the forfeiture of the Government's favor.

He Leaves Washington for Philadelphia and Will Stop Off at Harrisburg. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senator Quay and his private Secretary, Mr. Leach, left Washington this afternoon for Philadelphia. The Senator made two or three calls at the department this morning, and had a brief interview with the President, but no action was taken in regard to any appointments that were sufficiently definite to make the Senator will probably stop off in Harrisburg on his way home to call on Senator Cameron.

NO PARDON FOR HARPER.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The report in the case of E. L. Harper, of the late Fidelity Bank of Cincinnati, who has made application for a pardon, has been returned to the Department of Justice by United States District Attorney John Herron. The application for pardon on Harper's part was accompanied by a number of petitions, which his wife and other friends had circulated throughout the judicial district of Southern Ohio and a number of signatures were obtained on each petition. These were sent to the Department of Justice, and by direction of the President referred to the District Attorney for his opinion, and also those of Circuit Judge Jackson and District Judge Sage. After the papers were received in Cincinnati, the new District Attorney forwarded them to Judge Jackson at his home in Tennessee. He returned them with a statement of the case which, it is said, is altogether adverse to granting Harper a pardon. The papers were then referred to Judge Sage, who added another chapter, more severe even than that of Judge Jackson. To this Mr. Herron added a third chapter, in which he declines to recommend a favorable action.

EXERCUTION AGAINST STATE FARMERS.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company After Its Cash.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—George De B.

Keim, Stephen A. Caldwell and Austin Corbin, receivers of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, to-day issued an execution against the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society, on a bond and warrant dated July 18, 1884, for $25,000.

The suit is for money loaned the society for the purpose of erecting buildings when the great Republicans were in power. The society was not allowed to have free and open conventions in precinct, county and State; that the Chairman of the party convention held on the 22d of August is so broadened as to give the protection thus asked. It provides that the precinct and county conventions shall elect their own officers, and the four officers named Chairman and Secretary shall certify the delegates elected to the Chairman of the State Convention. Without letting anyone else know of his arrival, he managed to get word to Johnston, who joined him in the wagon. There was a rank for the doors and windows.

IN SOMEWHAT OF A HURRY.

The Sullivan party stepped quickly to the baggage room, and one of them grabbed a bag by the arm and said: "Get a two-hour cab, and for God's sake be quick about it."

The first intention was to drive about in Jersey City and take the boat after the one which bore the passengers of the limited. But he saw that the crowd was so thick that he would not be able to follow him all over Jersey City, beside stirring up the people, there so determined, as he did, "to get it out, and have it over." On the boat he had a comparative rest, however, and when he reached New York his driver quickly lost those who attempted to follow the Bostonian's party.

He drove across the city and over the big bridge, stopping near the hotel of his backer, Charley Johnston. Without letting anyone else know of his arrival, he managed to get word to Johnston, who joined him in the wagon. There was a rank for the doors and windows.
