

DEATH OR DISGRACE.

A Young Man Who Could Not Pay His Hotel Bill Takes a Dose of POISON TO END HIS TROUBLE.

A Denial of That Alleged Big Independent Ohio Oil Deal.

ALL THE NEWS FROM NEARBY TOWNS

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

WARREN, November 15.—A fashionably dressed young man, named Charlie Perkins, accompanied by a young son of Banker Teters, of Alliance, has been putting up at the best hotel here, and having a general good time for the past two weeks. Perkins' ostensible business was selling fine engravings, but his receipts never materialized to the extent of his being able to meet his hotel bill.

Shortly after being asked to pay up this afternoon he was discovered in an unconscious condition by his roommate, and only the prompt work of doctors saved his life. He had taken three-quarters of an ounce of laudanum. His employer, J. B. Kelly, 102 Fourth street, Pittsburgh, was telegraphed and will be here to-night.

NOTORIOUS BURGLARS CAPTURED.

Allentown Officers Make a Raid on Tramps and Capture Three Crooks.

ALLENTOWN, November 15.—For the past few months robberies have been numerous in this and adjacent counties. While the perpetrators managed to elude capture, yet it was evident that the work was being done by an organized gang of professionals. The robberies were generally committed at country stores. During Monday night the store of Joseph Taylor, of Cassanuga, was robbed and the following night the store of T. F. Bergstrom, at Old Zionville, was visited.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

JOHNSTOWN, November 15.—The force at work searching for the dead began at a new place to-day on the banks of the Conemaugh just below Lincoln street bridge, and the labor was rewarded by finding two victims of the flood. It is thought that many more bodies will be found at this place, as it has not been touched up to the present time, and dynamite had to be used to-day to loosen up the debris.

ONLY A POOL INTENDED.

Nothing in the Story of a New Independent Oil Corporation.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

FREEDAY, November 15.—The story of the big deal reported from here last night to the effect that J. C. McClellan, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and New York and Philadelphia capitalists had secured 200,000 acres of oil territory and that the company would start reentries and operations as an independent concern, the land being situated in this immediate vicinity, is pronounced by John Fox and the others alleged to be in the deal as without foundation—in fact, purely sensational. The only thing that could have given color to the dispatch is the negotiations now pending looking toward the consolidation of the independent refiners in this field into a pool for mutual benefit, in the way of preserving the territory they now control against the encroachments of the Standard. This sort of deal has been on for several days, but has not yet reached an issue.

A QUESTION OF POISONS.

Mrs. Rabbit's Death a Mystery Owing to an Undertaker's Heist.

WILKESBARRE, November 15.—On November 14, Mrs. Bridget Rabbit, of Pittston, died suddenly with symptoms very like those due to arsenic poisoning. She is the sister-in-law of Edward Glynn, now in jail here awaiting trial on the charge of poisoning his mother and mother-in-law to obtain her life insurance money and was an important witness against him. A coroner's jury was impaneled and an investigation begun. Through some mistake, however, the undertaker proceeded to embalm the body before the autopsy was made. He injected a solution containing arsenic into the veins. This rendered it impossible to ascertain whether she had been poisoned. The jury, however, to-day rendered a verdict that she came to her death from some poison, the nature of which was unknown. They censured the undertaker.

A Verdict That Caused Surprise.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

WILKESBARRE, November 15.—William Snigley, who has been on trial here for the murder of Frank Solinsky, last August, was acquitted to-day. The verdict caused much surprise.

KEELY, THE MOTOR MAN.

Has Now Applied for a Patent for a Pneumatic Gun.

PHILADELPHIA, November 15.—Inventor John W. Keely, has applied for a patent for a pneumatic gun, which he claims will prove much more effective and economical than Lieutenant Zalkin's gun. A trial of it was made a few days ago. Keely's gun, on the farm of James McCann, and those who witnessed it, stated that it was entirely new. The gun, which was a brass tube about five feet long with 1 1/2-inch bore, was fired by compressed air admitted from two heavy iron cylinders, in which the pressure was 250 and 170 pounds to the square inch. Twelve shots were fired, three or four of which were carried over a mile. Keely was so pleased with the workings of the gun that he decided to have one 12 feet long, and which bore half an inch, which will be capable of throwing six to eight pounds of dynamite to a distance. This will be tried at the Government testing station at Sandy Hook.

LANCASTER'S INSTITUTE.

Governor Beaver Makes a Speech With Some Terse Criticisms.

LANCASTER, November 15.—The attractions at the Teachers' Institute, here, both Governor Beaver and State Superintendent Higginson, of whom delivered addresses. The courtroom was crowded and hundreds were turned away from the doors. The Governor said that the common sense which he would apply to the schools would be to take more off the top of the system and put it in the bottom. He would have every child taught the practical affairs of life, and if they want accommodations in the common schools, he claimed that there was too much high pressure in our High Schools, and strongly urged the establishment of industrial schools and the increasing of that idea in the common school system.

Some Critics of the Preliminary Age.

TRENTON, N. J., November 15.—Dr. C. C. Abbott, of Trenton, has found many feet beneath the surface of the ground, in a railroad cutting at Morrisville, where Trenton, numerous fine specimens of palaeolithic—rudely fashioned tools and instruments of an earliest prehistoric age. The specimens were first discovered by Dr. F. W. Putnam, of Cambridge University, who removed them from a quarry, and they were removed to Peabody Museum at Cambridge.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

will find some very interesting features in to-morrow's DISPATCH.

THE WAS UNMARRIED.

So She Saved Enough to Buy a Husband and is Now Missing.

NEW YORK, November 15.—Bessie Koller, a cloakmaker in the employ of Abraham Levy, at 57 Ludlow street, has been reported missing. On September 1 she started to visit a brother in Shady Gap, Pa. She never reached there, and has not been heard of since. The circumstances of the case are peculiar. Bessie is 35 years old and unmarried. The latter fact worried her exceedingly. In order that she might obtain enough money to make it an inducement for some man to marry her, she worked hard, made money quite rapidly, and saved every penny possible. She denied herself proper clothing. More than that, she went without proper nourishment in order to accumulate money more rapidly. In consequence of this, she was seized with a fever that usually accompanies starvation. Lery, not knowing the exact cause of her complaint, became fearful that it was something contagious. On this account he advised the woman to stop work and rest at her home until she became well again. She refused to consult a physician, grudging the expense. Levy became an alarmed man, and finally concluded to go away for a rest. She has a brother in business at Shady Gap, Pa., and decided to visit him. He has heard nothing of her. It is likely she has been overcome by exhaustion on her journey, and is now in some hospital.

LIVED WITH A BROKEN NECK.

Mrs. Massey Dies of Bright's Disease a Year After Injury by a Fall.

WILMINGTON, DEL., November 15.—An autopsy that was held on the body of Mrs. Henry P. Massey shortly after her death, which occurred on Monday, near Smyrna, revealed that the seventh vertebra was completely dislocated, and that a fracture at the base of the neck. The fracture had healed, and neither the neck nor the dislocation would have caused the death, as her demise was due to an attack of Bright's disease, which was superinduced by a concussion of the spine. The concussion, dislocation and fracture were caused by a fall down a flight of stairs at her home on October 15, 1888. She was 57 years old.

BAREHEADED WOMEN EXCLUDED.

St. Paul's Rules Strictly Enforced at a Washington Wedding.

WASHINGTON, November 15.—Dr. R. F. Rodgers, surgeon, United States navy, formerly of Lancaster, Pa., was married to-night to Miss Hester Ramsay Hill, granddaughter of General Ramsay, at the residence of Commodore Ramsay, in the presence of a fashionable company at St. James' Episcopal Church, Capitol Hill. The rector, who holds all the Pauline teachings, strictly refused to allow any of the women to appear in the church with uncovered heads. So even the bride and her bridesmaids had to wear altitudes large enough to cover the head.

HAD THE IMMORTAL BARD

Lived a few hundred years later, and read the advertisements with which the newspapers are now so everlastingly flooded, he'd surely have made Prince Henry add: "O more monstrous still! but one penny's worth of substance to this intolerable deal of gas!" It's a mistake to talk unless you've something worth talking about. It's a mistake to advertise unless you've something worth advertising. Many clothing firms seem to forget this. They seem to imagine that long-winded harangues anent their "TRUTHFULNESS" and their "ORIGINALITY" will cause people to swallow their "FAKE" stories, will satisfy the souls of a clothing-craving community. BUT THEY WON'T! Pittsburghers want substantiality, not verbosity. They are quick to detect the true from the false, and the sooner the "FAKE SALE" clothiers tumble to this fact the better it'll be for 'em.
